On the Cover

The 74th annual volume of the Green Bay Packers Official Media Guide captures Lambeau Field's new, majestic west face, following a 32-month, $295-million redevelopment project, and the commemorative Rebirth of a Legend logo.

This marks the eighth time that the guide has featured Lambeau Field in some capacity. However, the 2003 edition is the first in more than 40 years to give the venerable stadium an exclusive position on the cover. In addition to Lambeau's first three seasons (1957-59), including Vince Lombardi's first year, the Packers' home served as a recognizable background in 1978, 1988, 1999, and 2001.

STOCKHOLDERS

- ▶ Green Bay Packers, Inc., has been a publicly-owned, non-profit corporation since Aug. 18, 1923, when original articles of incorporation were filed with Wisconsin's secretary of state.
- ▶ A total of 4,748,910 shares is owned by 111,507 stockholders — none of whom receives any dividend on the initial investment.
- ▶ The corporation is governed by a board of directors and a seven-member executive committee.
- ▶ One of the more remarkable business stories in American history, the team is kept viable by its stockholders — its unselfish fans. Even more incredible, the Packers have survived during the current era, permeated by free agency and the NFL salary cap. And, thanks in large part to Brown County's passage of the 2000 Lambeau Field referendum, the club will remain solvent and highly competitive well into the future due to its redeveloped stadium.
- ▶ Fans have come to the team's financial rescue on several occasions, including four previous stock sales: 1923, 1935, 1950 and 1997.
- ▶ To protect against someone taking control of the team, the articles of incorporation prohibit any person from owning more than 200,000 shares.

Packers Move Into New Era With City

'Greatest Thing in Sports History,' Bell

By ART DALLY

The Packers moved into a new era today with the opening of the City of Green Bay. That opening is a sort of a holy trinity—was the opening of the stadium by a renowned Packers player, the opening of the stadium by a renowned Packers player, the opening of the stadium by a renowned Packers player.

Annually, there did seem to be a new home for the Packers. The Packers moved into a new era today with the opening of the City of Green Bay. NEW HOME OF THE GREEN BAY PACKERS

Packers in the
COMMUNITY

PACKERS COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT MISSION

The Green Bay Packers organization is committed to working to improve the lives of people in all walks of life in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

As highly visible members of the community, the Packers' players, coaches and staff acknowledge their unique public role and are devoted to working with charities, schools, civic groups and other outreach sources to make positive contributions throughout the area. The Packers welcome the opportunity to give back to the community that has steadfastly supported the team for more than 80 years.

The history of the Green Bay Packers is rich with on-field accomplishments and a special bond with the community that has supported the organization throughout its 84-year history. As the legend of the Green Bay Packers has grown through time, so has the Packers' responsibility to the community.

Non-profit organizations throughout Wisconsin and Upper Michigan look to the Green Bay Packers for both tangible and intangible assistance for their beneficiaries – help that comes in the form of money, food, clothing, autographs, or simply from smiles brought about by the visit of a youngster's sports hero. The Green Bay Packers organization, along with its players and coaches, willingly accept this responsibility; two full-time employees and one part-time employee spend every working day organizing charitable involvement that comes about through the commitment of the players.

The community involvement takes many forms. The Packers sponsor special fundraising events, make donations of cash and memorabilia to many charitable organizations, make personal appearances and serve on various community boards and commissions.

While it's impossible to list every donation or event, these pages provide an overview of the organization's many contributions.

APPEARANCES

The special bond between the Green Bay Packers and the community is never more apparent than when the players volunteer their time at schools, hospitals, fundraisers and other community events and programs. During 2002, players and coaches made more than 200 special appearances.

DONATIONS

The Packers' reach is unmistakable and provides many opportunities for charities to benefit from the team's success. Donations of cash and merchandise to non-profit groups is yet another Packers tradition. The team's unmatched following creates great demand for autographed memorabilia, which is demonstrated by the fact that signed items donated to more than 4,000 charities raised more than $1.5 million in 2002. The events supported by Packers donations included school fundraisers, benefits for cancer patients, charity auctions and raffles, and community fundraisers. In addition to grants from the Green Bay Packers Foundation, separate cash donations to local charities and fundraisers have topped $4.4 million over the past five years. This includes donations to youth football through the NFL of $2.6 million and $1.1 million to other NFL charities.

COATS FOR KIDS

Lambeau Field has traditionally been a collection point for the Coats for Kids campaign during one regular-season game. Over the last three years fans have donated more than 300 coats and more than $14,000 to the Coats for Kids collection.

PUNT, PASS & KICK

Each year, the Packers host the annual Punt, Pass & Kick competition during halftime of a regular-season game at Lambeau Field. Forty youngsters, ages 8-15, advanced from across the state to compete for the title of Green Bay Packers PPK Team Champion and the chance to move on to the national competition. Before the game, the competitors also got a brief pep talk from Packers tackle Mark Tauscher.

The 2002 Punt, Pass & Kick Packers Team Champions were:

- 8/9 Girls - Nikki Nellen (New Berlin)
- 8/9 Boys - Lucas Weiss (River Falls)
- 10/11 Girls - Brianna Steinmeyer (Menomonee)
- 10/11 Boys - Joshua Davidson (Barron)
- 12/13 Girls - Natalie Baumgardt (Mosinee)
- 12/13 Boys - Ross Eising (Lodi)
- 14/15 Girls - Katherine Eaton (Oak Creek)
- 14/15 Boys - Eric Reimer (Reedsburg)

BOYS & GIRLS CLUB

Through the years, the Green Bay Packers have been very visible at the Boys & Girls Club, as players have volunteered their time to visit with the youngsters at many local sites. The Boys & Girls Club also receives the proceeds from the annual NFL Alumni Dinner and in 2002 was the recipient of a $25,000 donation on behalf of the Packers, the NFL and the United Way.

BISHOP'S CHARITIES GAME

Since 1961, the Packers have designated one preseason game as the Bishop's Charities Game. From this game, the Packers have given a total of $2.7 million to the Catholic Diocese of Green Bay.

DARE

The Packers have supported the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program through donations of autographed merchandise and personal appearances. Players routinely speak about resisting peer pressure and drug abuse.

BACK TO SCHOOL

"I had a great time! Packers rule! Thank you, thank you, thank you!" "Thank you for serving lunch at Holy Family School. We especially enjoyed playing with you at recess." "Thank you for coming to our school. I hope you can come again."

The words of thanks from Green Bay area school children say almost as much as the smiles that light up the room when a Packers player visits an area school.

Packers players and coaches visited dozens of schools in 2002, discussing what it's like to wear the "Green & Gold," signing autographs, talking about the dangers of drugs, posing for photographs or discussing the importance of doing your best.

POP WARNER FOOTBALL

The Packers have supported the young football players in the community through appearances at practices and banquets. The Packers have made donations to Pop Warner leagues throughout the state of Wisconsin.

Mr. Gbaja-Biamila, that a pleasure it was come you to our school.

HOMETOWN HUDDLE

The House of Hope was the focus of the Fourth Annual Hometown Huddle in 2002. The annual event is funded by a $5,000 grant from the NFL, Green Bay Packers and United Way of Brown County.

The 2002 Hometown Huddle took place at the House of Hope in Green Bay in October. Packers players Aaron Kampman, Tony Fisher, Nate Wayne and Cletidus Hunt worked with Willems Landscape Service on various landscaping projects around the building. Players shoveled stones around newly planted bushes and had a little fun driving the skid loader.

The House of Hope is a program of the Salvation Army and the Adolescent Parenting Coalition. The program's mission is to support teen parents by providing community resources necessary for them to succeed in life by becoming self-sufficient members of the community.

Besides the landscaping, a computer, software, desk and other furnishings were donated for the young mothers residing at the House of Hope to assist them in completing their high school equivalency diploma; complete schoolwork assignments; take online courses and learn skills through tutorial software.

The Hometown Huddle concluded with the players signing autographs and enjoying dinner with the young mothers.

BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS

The partnership between the Green Bay Packers and Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Northeast Wisconsin continued in 2002. The Packers gave Big Brothers/Big Sisters a cash donation and also supported the mentorship program through autographed donations, providing a speaker for the organization's annual banquet and sponsoring a hole at the group's annual golf tournament.

CHUNKY SOUP WEIGH IN

It's not often you see an NFL defensive lineman or fullback sitting on a "soup-spoon" scale in the middle of a parking lot. But that's exactly what Packers Gilbert Brown and William Henderson did in August as part of the Campbell's Chunky/NFL Tackling Hunger program. Gilbert weighed in at 30 cases of soup, while Henderson tipped the scales at 24 cases. Campbell's even allowed the media to hop on the scale and, in the end, Campbell's donated nearly 9,800 cans of soup to Paul's Pantry in Green Bay.

In addition, the program encouraged fans to go to the Campbell's Soup Web site and click on the logo of their favorite NFL team.

As a result of the clicks on the Packers "G", nearly 900,000 cans of food were given to food pantries throughout the country.

TOYS FOR TOTS

Each year, Lambeau Field serves as a collection point for the Toys for Tots campaign.

Members of the U.S. Marine Corp Reserves collect new, unwrapped toys, which are given to children in need during the holiday season. The goal of the program is to deliver a message of hope to a needy youngster through a shiny new toy. Through the years, thousands of toys have been collected and distributed.

GREEN & GOLD GALA

The Packers organization has been a strong supporter of the Green and Gold Gala, an annual event that aids the Family Services Association, which offers diverse services to families in crisis and in need. The Packers have donated autographed items and money, and players, coaches and staff members also have made appearances to show their support. President Bob Harlan and his wife, Madeline, served nine years as Honorary Hosts for the charity event. In 2001, Mike and Karen Sherman took over as Honorary Hosts for the event.

SPECIAL VISITS

Some of the Packers' community efforts are so spontaneous that they simply don't fall into any one category. Last year for example, on short notice, players and coaches served lunch at a local school, Donald Driver spoke at a football banquet, Kevin Barry surprised patients in the hospital, and Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila invited a student to a game after the student asked him a thought-provoking question.

CYSTIC FIBROSIS

For more than 15 years, the head coach of the Green Bay Packers has served as the honorary chairman of the 65 Roses Celebrity Golf Tournament.

The Packers' coaches, players and staff have teamed up with Humana to raise more than $300,000 for the fight against Cystic Fibrosis through the annual golf tourney. The money has been used to establish a CF resource center at St. Vincent Hospital, hold semi-annual medical clinics (so patients don't have to travel to Milwaukee or Madison) and train doctors and medical staff in the latest CF treatments.

PACKERS BINGO

The end of the 2002 NFL season couldn't keep wide receiver Donald Driver and offensive lineman Bill Ferrario out of uniform.

Ferrario, Driver and his wife, Betina, proudly donned the "Green & Gold" as they surprised residents of the Grancare Nursing Center in Green Bay with a visit and some friendly competition in Packers Bingo.

Ferrario started the afternoon with the Bingo call, while Driver kept a sharp eye on several game cards. The bingo winners got to choose between Packers shirts and hats, or received much coveted quarters.

CHEERS FOR FISHER

Cheers erupted at ManorCare Health Services in Fond du Lac as Tony Fisher made a grand entrance to the pulsing beat of "Let's Get Ready to Rumble." The Packers rookie running back visited with residents and posed for pictures with residents, family and staff.

Tony came to ManorCare to see two special people — Lorraine, 72, and Gordie, 48 — nursing home residents who had their wishes granted through the Hearts Desire program. Tony spent an hour-and-a-half meeting the residents and staff, as well as visiting several patients in their rooms.

PACKERS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

As the old saying goes "behind every good man, there is a good woman." That saying is fitting when it comes to the women involved with the Packers Women's Association (PWA). Whether it is a wife or significant other of a player, coach, or front office personnel or female staff members, the women of PWA are active members in the community.

While the men are busy preparing for the game, the ladies are the driving force behind the various events PWA embraces each year. Whether it's ringing bells or "adopting" numerous families for Christmas through the Salvation Army, PWA members are willing to "roll-up their sleeves" to help the less fortunate.

PWA members strive to make a personal and positive impact when they get involved with a charity, such as mentoring young ladies at the Marion House; spending time with residents at a local nursing home; or cheering up pediatric patients at Children's Hospital in Milwaukee. Through the generosity of Packers fans, a record number of non-perishable food items and cash were collected for Paul's Pantry during the PWA Annual Food Drive in 2002.

PWA also held its annual charity rummage sale in 2002, participated in the Football 101 Clinic (which teaches women about the basics of football) and supported the YWCA and Railroad Museum by decorating and donating the "Packers Tree" for their Festival of Trees.

Each new season brings the excitement of football, but it also provides an opportunity for the women involved with PWA to show their enthusiasm and dedication for the community.

MAKE-A-WISH

For more than 20 years, the Make-A-Wish Foundation has enriched the lives of children with life-threatening illnesses through its wish-granting work. For some kids, the wish is to visit Disney World, meet a movie star or be a fireman for a day. Others wish to meet a Green Bay Packer or pay a visit to historic Lambeau Field – wishes that the Packers organization works diligently to fulfill.

In 2002, a dozen youngsters had their dreams answered by the Green Bay Packers through the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Several youngsters spent time with the players and coaches at training camp, even joining the team for meals on the St. Norbert College campus. Others met with players and coaches during practices and enjoyed a lunch in the team dining room.

Community

HAMS FOR HUNGER

Packers safety Matt Bowen, guard Bill Ferrario and defensive end Aaron Kampman distributed food to those less fortunate at Paul's Pantry in Green Bay in December. The distribution included 468 Hormel Cure 81 hams, worth more than $4,200 from local grocers Piggy Wiggly, Dick's Supermarket and Fresh Brands.

HIGH SCHOOL COACH OF THE WEEK

Each week during the football season, the Packers honor a high school football coach in Wisconsin. The Coach of the Week program recognizes coaches for demonstrating outstanding leadership on and off the field. Each winner receives $1,000 to be used for the school's football program.

One coach is also named the Green Bay Packers High School Coach of the Year and is recognized at Lambeau Field during one of the Packers' final home games. The 2002 Coach of the Year was Joe LaBuda from Menomonie High School, whose football program was awarded a $2,000 donation.

BELL RINGING

Pro Bowl tight ends, the Packers' Bubba Franks and the Vikings' Byron Chamberlain, faced off in a Salvation Army Kettle Campaign "Ring-off" in December.

Franks took his position in the food court at Simon Bay Park Square in Ashwaubenon, while Chamberlain was stationed at the Mall of America in suburban Minneapolis.

The friendly competition was set up to see who could raise the most money in one hour, with the real winner being the Salvation Army and the people it serves. Packers fans came through once again and helped Franks to soundly "defeat" his Viking counterpart. Donations of nearly $1,775 were collected in Franks' kettle, compared to $365 collected by Chamberlain in Minnesota.

But Franks wasn't satisfied with that one-hour total, so he stayed on to collect an extra $175 before passing the Salvation Army bell on to the next volunteer ringer.

HOLIDAY HOSPITAL PARTY

The sounds of Christmas were heard at St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay during the Green Bay Packers' First Cancer Christmas Party. The true spirit of Christmas spread through the hospital as several Packers players paid a special visit to the hospital's young cancer patients.

The children had a chance to interact with Bubba Franks, Tony Fisher, Mike Wahle, Kevin Barry, Tyrone Davis and Joe Johnson. The players and their new young friends enjoyed singing carols, sharing stories and snacking on treats. They also shared many smiles and a lot of hugs.

Organizers say the after-hours time the Packers spend with the children is very special for the patients, who need an atmosphere to celebrate after their medical ordeals. The initial Cancer Christmas Party gave a real boost of energy, hope and excitement to the young cancer patients, as well as the hospital staff.

MIDWEST SHRINE GAME

For more than 50 years, the Packers have designated one preseason game as the Midwest Shrine Game. Each year at the game, the Packers make a donation to the Shrine Tripoli Temple, which operates Shriners Hospitals for Children in the Twin Cities and Chicago. A large portion of the game's proceeds is split between the two units, where children from Wisconsin are often sent for treatment. To date, the donations have totaled about $2.6 million.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Green Bay Packers have supported various non-profit organizations through public service announcements. Players along with local television stations work together to raise awareness of important issues that affect our community. The following players have devoted their time and support:

- Brett Favre - Boys & Girls Club
- Ahman Green - Wisconsin Tobacco Control Board
- Donald Driver - Citizen Advocacy
- Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila - Bay Area Humane Society and United Way
- Marco Rivera - American Red Cross
- Mark Tauscher - Literacy Council
- Terry Glenn - American Red Cross

READ ACROSS AMERICA

In celebration of National Read Across America Day, several members of the Packers organization visit schools in the Green Bay area every year to promote reading to young school children and to celebrate Dr. Seuss' birthday.

PULASKI MIDDLE SCHOOL

For one day, the library at Pulaski Middle School was turned into a coffeehouse. Or, maybe a hot-chocolate house.

The guest reader was Packers rookie defensive end Aaron Kampman, who rocked in his chair as he read several short stories to students spread out across the floor in front of him.

Kampman also talked with the young students about setting goals, both short- and long-term, and working to meet those goals. He challenged the students to spend some time thinking about what they want to achieve in life and suggested that they write their goals down on paper, to serve as a constant reminder.

Kampman himself is an example that even the loftiest goals can come true with hard work.

FOREST GLEN & ST. MATHEW'S

What better way to spend a day off than to read to young children at Forest Glen Elementary School in Howard and St. Matthew's Catholic School in Allouez. From selected adventures of Clifford the Big Red Dog to "Oh, How I Wished I Could Read" by John Gile, that's exactly what running back Tony Fisher did in December. Fisher's readings were in conjunction with the Reading Is Fundamental program, which teamed up with Coca-Cola to provide books to each student at both of the Green Bay area schools.

The students also had a chance to ask questions of the Packers rookie and learned that Mom's macaroni and cheese is his favorite food, while red is his favorite color (when he's not wearing "Green & Gold").

REBUILDING TOGETHER

For the seventh straight year, the Packers joined forces with the Greater Green Bay Area Rebuilding Together to repair and refurbish a home in the Green Bay area. About 40 Packers volunteers, including helpers from Andy's Roofing and Sheet Metal, worked on the home of an elderly Packers fan in Green Bay.

COMMUNITY QUARTERBACK AWARDS

A community is defined in large part by the volunteer efforts of community members. It's that volunteer spirit that the Green Bay Packers recognize through the Community Quarterback Awards. Established in 2000, the program recognizes individuals whose volunteer efforts made a difference in their communities.

Troy Tyloch, a volunteer at the AIDS Resource Center of Wisconsin, received the Winner Award with a $10,000 grant going to ARCW. Tyloch, who himself is HIV-positive, has spent more than 10,000 hours of his time volunteering at the center, helping more than 200 people cope with the ramifications of AIDS/HIV.

TOAST OF THE TOWN

Madeline Harlan has chaired the annual fundraiser, which features a series of events and dinners at area homes and businesses, for the past two years. The proceeds go to "A Woman's Place" at St. Mary's Hospital, a health resource center dedicated to providing information and community support for women's health issues. The Packers have supported the event through ticket purchases and donations of autographed items. In 2002, Toast of the Town raised more than $75,000.

GREEN BAY PACKERS FOUNDATION

The Green Bay Packers organization has enjoyed tremendous fan support through its long and storied history. The community supported the team in times of need by "passing the hat" at games and by buying stock in 1923, 1935, 1950 and 1997, among other ways. To give back to the community, the team created the Green Bay Packers Foundation in December 1986. The Foundation assists in a wide variety of activities and programs that benefit education, civic affairs, health services, human services and youth-related programs.

"Our unique ownership gives us a strong link with fans and the community, who have supported us for so many years," president Bob Harlan said. "We have fans not just in Green Bay, but throughout the state, and the Foundation is a great way to give something back."

Seed money for the Foundation trust fund was provided by the team. While the Packers' contributions make up the majority of the trust fund, the team also accepts outside donations.

Last year, in its annual distribution of funds, awarded more than $100,000 to 51 civic and charitable groups throughout Wisconsin, Carl Kuehne, chairman of the Foundation committee, announced May 27. With the latest disbursements, totaling $105,125, the Foundation has distributed $1,108,526 for charitable purposes since it was established in 1986 by Judge Robert J. Parins, then president of the Packers Corporation, "as a vehicle to assure continued contributions to charity."

The financial breakdown of the Foundation's contributions discloses that 28 grants — aggregating $74,200 — were awarded to Brown County organizations, among them grants to the Brown County Library, Bellin Foundation, Boys & Girls Club, Jackie Nitschke Center and the Crime Prevention Fund Program of Brown County.

Additional grants, totaling $30,925, were made to 23 other groups around the state, among them Rawhide, Lionel's House, Great Lakes Hemophilia Foundation, My Home Youth Home and the Wisconsin Sports Foundation.

Kuehne made the grants announcement during a press conference hosted by the Nitschke Center, 630 Cherry Street, Green Bay, and attended by Amy Nitschke Klaas, daughter of the late Ray and Jackie Nitschke, who has been closely involved with the work of the Center.

Under the Packers Scholarship Program, established in 2002, an additional $15,000 is being awarded — $7,500 to Scholarships, Inc., for distribution to students in four-year colleges and $7,500 to NWTC for distribution to students in two-year associate degree or apprenticeship trades programs. The scholarship funds come from National Football League Properties which — at the Packers' request — returns to the Foundation royalty fees paid for using the Packers logo on Wisconsin automobile license plates.

In the past year, the Foundation also has distributed an additional $36,000 on behalf of National Football League Charities — $25,000 in "Community Quarterback" awards to civic leaders for contributions to the community, $6,000 in the NFL's "Coach of the Week" program which honors successful Wisconsin high school coaches on a weekly basis throughout the season, and $5,000 in the league's "Hometown Huddle" program.

Administration and COACHES

President & Chief Executive Officer

nization's president and chief executive officer.

And also, to be sure, for the storied Green Bay franchise, ever close to his heart.

Unique and historic because the crowning achievement of Harlan's 14-year tenure — completion of the $295 million renovation of Lambeau Field, a sprawling, three-year project — coincides with the opening of the team's 2003 National Football League season.

And though he would modestly eschew making such a claim, bringing it to impressive fruition has been a truly monumental accomplishment, one initiated and presided over by the Packers' genial chief executive.

Faced with finding a way to assure the team's financial survival in the NFL for the next three decades, it was he who conceived the idea of transforming "Lambeau" into a 365-day-a-year tourist destination — the first such operation in NFL history — then put together the creative and comprehensive plan to make it the stunning reality it has become.

Not that the purposeful lowan needed to enhance his position in the team's distinguished annals. Before undertaking the massive and challenging stadium renovation, he already had been assured of a prominent plateau in the Packers' unique history, in large measure because he — as the team's president and chief executive officer — had been the catalyst in triggering a major competitive revival that brought Green Bay a third Super Bowl championship in the mid-'90s — and a return to perennial contender status — accomplishments spawned by the inspired hiring of Ron Wolf in 1991 to preside over the club's football operations.

In the year of 2000, Harlan achieved even greater eminence among the nine presidents the organization has had over its long history by boldly conceiving, directing and assuring the redevelopment of the stadium, a project clearly critical to the organization's long-term survival in the NFL.

It easily ranks among the most singular achievements in the club's distinguished history, already replete with economic challenges and providential solutions. A key element involved a referendum calling for the outlay of $169.1 million in public funds to complement a $135.9 million contribution from the Packers and, to a substantial extent, its ultimate approval represented a personal victory for Harlan, whose career-long integrity was, unquestionably, a significant factor in the referendum's positive result.

In its wake, and in the light of his previous achievements, there is the perception that Harlan might well have set himself apart from all of his predecessors in the office with this towering addition to his already imposing résumé, one which also includes:

- ▶ The aforementioned hiring of Wolf, initiating an on-field renaissance that has seen the Packers post 10 winning records in the past 11 seasons, including seven straight from 1992-98, and playoff appearances six years in a row — a club record;
- ▶ Presiding over a historic move — the 1994 decision to leave Milwaukee, ending a 62-year stay, and play all home games in Green Bay;
- ▶ Launching the fourth stock sale in the team's history in 1997, a mechanism which produced more than $20 million in "new money" and in excess of 100,000 new shareholders; and
- ▶ Authorizing construction of the Don Hutson Center, the team's "state of the art" indoor practice facility.

- ▶ Joined the organization as assistant general manager on June 1, 1971.
- ▶ He later was named corporate general manager in 1975, corporate assistant to the president in 1981 and executive vice president of administration on February 16, 1988.
- ▶ Elected the ninth president and chief executive officer of the Green Bay Packers, Inc., on June 5, 1989.
- ▶ Is a member of the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, which deals with employment matters with the NFL Players Association and serves as a trustee for the NFL Trust, which approves annual distribution to the clubs of Trust income received from NFL Properties and the amount of contribution to charities from such income.
- ▶ Got his start in sports in 1960 at Marquette University as sports information director, working with legendary basketball coach Al McGuire during the 1964-65 season.
- ▶ In addition to the Super Bowl ring from the Packers' 1996 championship, possesses a 1967 World Series ring, earned while he worked for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Considerable contributions, all, but passage of the stadium referendum — and everything that it represents — may well go down as the hallmark achievement of Harlan's highly-progressive administration, now in its 15th year.

There is the profound impression that the sincerity of his message — his oft-stated conviction that a redeveloped Lambeau Field was the best and only hope to save the franchise and preserve "Lambeau" — was, ultimately, the key factor in putting the "Yes" vote over the top, by a 53-to-47 percent margin.

In the process, the Packers' 66-year-old CEO paid a high price, from the personal standpoint, to deliver it. He had literally dedicated almost all of his waking hours to the project over an eight-month span, beginning on January 22, 2000, when he and John Jones, then the club's senior vice president of administration, unveiled drawings of the proposed Lambeau Field redevelopment at a press conference in the gymnasium of the Packers' administration building.

A tireless and proactive leader, Harlan subsequently became the first president in the team's history to take his case directly to the fans in a very personal, one-on-one manner — even to the point of making appearances at local companies as early as 5:30 a.m. to shake hands with shift workers, deliver his message and answer any questions that might arise. He also could be seen at a high school football game, greeting fans before the game, welcoming their questions and urging them to vote "Yes" in the September 12 referendum.

In the three-year interim and the multi-faceted process of implementing the team's long-term financial plan, Harlan has had the satisfaction of seeing the redevelopment of Lambeau Field pay early and substantial dividends — exceeding even the most optimistic projections — as the additional sources of revenue spawned a record year for club profits. As an impressive result, the Packers rose to 10th place in revenue ranking among NFL teams during the 2002-2003 fiscal year, their highest finish since 1997, a Super Bowl year, when they finished ninth.

In so doing, the team made its initial step toward delivering on a promise made to the community and the fans prior to the referendum — to convert profitability into preserving the franchise and Lambeau Field.

Under Harlan's insightful leadership, the Packers organization also has been accorded national acclaim for its consistently high quality of operation. It has been selected by SportsBusiness Journal as the best-run franchise in all of professional sports and, in a 2003 ESPN The Magazine fan survey, was ranked as the best franchise among the 121 teams in the four major sports. Harris Interactive also named the Packers 'America's Football Team,' ending the Dallas Cowboys' nine-year hold of the top spot, and their broad appeal was further underscored when their merchandise placed among the NFL's top five in sales for the sixth consecutive season.

From an overall perspective, prior to launching the "Lambeau" renovation project, Harlan already had guided the organization through one of the most eventful and challenging decades in its long history — en route to the new millennium — with a sure and steady hand.

Now in his 33rd year in the Packers' front office, one of the longest tenures in team history, Harlan's imposing list of accomplishments has earned him respect throughout the National Football League as a visionary and aggressive leader — and one poised to deal with the major challenges that inevitably arise.

Well suited to his role in the demanding era of free agency and the salary cap, he has responded swiftly and decisively to the diverse and complex problems it has presented, notable among them by the hiring of former agent Andrew Brandt to handle all player contracts and monitor the "cap" — a master stroke.

And to one situation he had not expected to encounter at this point in time — Wolf's retirement as the team's executive vice president and general manager with three years remaining on his contract — after presiding over one of the great turnabouts in pro football history.

Once assured that Wolf would not be changing his mind about calling it a career, Harlan was characteristically decisive and expeditious, carefully weighing his options and then naming Head Coach Mike Sherman to the companion role of executive vice president and general manager on February 1, 2001 — the first such dual arrangement the organization has had since 1980.

It has proven to be a fortuitous decision, Sherman having maneuvered the Packers to back-to-back 12-and-4 records, a division championship and consecutive playoff appearances in his first two years with the joint responsibilities.

Over his tenure as president, Harlan repeatedly has proven to be a man of his word — fulfilling the pledge he made when he took office. When he was elected president and chief executive officer of the Green Bay Packers, Inc., on June 5, 1989, he promptly established an ambitious agenda for himself and the organization, announcing, "I want to move this franchise ahead in every area."

"We've got to be successful from top to bottom to succeed. And," he promised, "we're going to succeed."

Succeed, assuredly, he and the Packers have — beyond all reasonable expectations, both corporately and competitively. The organization he heads up today — currently being cited as a model for franchises across the entire spectrum of professional sports — reigns as one of the NFL's elite, the standard of professional football.

Thus, in his multi-faceted tenure as club president, Harlan has taken his place among the most productive and accomplished chief executives in the Green Bay Packers' long and storied history.

On the field, clearly, the greatest accomplishment of his administration has been the return of the Lombardi Trophy to Green Bay — which became a long-awaited reality in January of 1997 when the Packers triumphed over New England in Super Bowl XXXI. He also is respected throughout the NFL for the extensive and innovative agenda he has implemented since taking over the office of president and chief executive officer.

A member of the club's front office since 1971, the veteran Packers official made two major and historic decisions late in the 1991 season, moves that have had a profoundly positive effect upon the Green Bay franchise and its future. Convinced the organization was merely treading water competitively, he first relieved then-executive vice president Tom Braatz of his responsibilities November 20, 1991, and, one week later, named former Raiders personnel chief Wolf as executive vice president and general manager, with total authority over football operations.

In the light of subsequent events, the latter decision already ranks among the most significant in the 84-year history of the Packers, the NFL's only publicly-owned franchise. Wolf was chosen 'NFL Executive of the Year' following his first full season with the Packers, which saw him hire ex-49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren to replace Lindy Infante as head coach and acquire Pro Bowl quarterback Brett Favre in pro football's most acclaimed trade of 1992. He subsequently "recruited" perennial Pro Bowl defensive end Reggie White, the game's most sought-after unrestricted free agent, in 1993.

During the productive interim, which saw Favre and White provide the foundation for success, the Packers advancing to the playoffs for six consecutive years — the first such accomplishment in franchise history — climaxing their 1996 achievements by reaching and winning the Super Bowl for the first time in 29 years and following that singular achievement by returning to the Super Bowl in January of 1998.

Holmgren had responded to his original challenge by directing the Packers to a 9-7 record — a five-victory improvement over '91 — in his first season, one in which

Favre established himself as the Packers' field general, and to two more 9-and-7 marks in both 1993 and 1994, thus bringing Green Bay three consecutive winning seasons for the first time since 1965-66-67 and the Lombardi Era. He next led the Green and Gold to an 11-5 record in 1995 and their first NFC Central Division title since 1972, surpassed that considerable achievement by escorting them to a record-tying, 13-3 regular-season record in 1996 and the team's first Super Bowl title since 1967, then escorted his defending champions to another 13-3 season en route to a third straight division title in 1997 and a return trip to the Super Bowl. Holmgren closed out his seven-year tenure in Green Bay by leading the Packers to a sixth straight playoff berth in 1998 before resigning to head up the football operations of the Seattle Seahawks.

Although the hiring of Wolf subsequently was to become the centerpiece in a series of key moves Harlan has effected over the past decade, he lost little time initiating his first major project once he was elected, during the organization's annual shareholders' meeting June 5, 1989. Just ten weeks later, in late August of 1989, he announced plans to construct 1,920 club seats — a historic first in Lambeau Field — and 36 new private boxes, an $8,263,000 expansion. It was completed in time for the start of 1990 preseason play.

A firm believer in the importance of ongoing, person-to-person dialogue with the team's fans, Harlan also scheduled and staged the first "Breakfast with the Packers" functions in club history, gatherings for fans selected at random by computer, at which he invited questions and feedback from them about the Packers organization.

Committed to making the fans' day at the stadium as enjoyable as possible, he in 1990 also directed the formation of a comprehensive program designed to encourage responsible drinking by fans in Lambeau Field, and in 1993 implemented a no-smoking policy in the stadium seating areas at all home games. Results in the first 13 years of the responsible drinking program's existence indicate it has been a success, with arrests for misconduct down appreciably from previous years.

While still executive vice president of administration, in early 1989, Harlan was the catalyst in the implementation and development of a long-term marketing program, launched with the hiring of a director of marketing and the opening of an official outlet store in the Packers' administration building. It has become a significant revenue stream for the organization in the intervening 14 years — on the heels of the team's continuing on-field success, making dramatic strides in its new, substantially expanded quarters in the Lambeau Field Atrium.

In 1994, Harlan authorized and directed the construction of The Don Hutson Center — the finest such indoor practice structure in professional football — which was completed in time for use during the '94 season.

Also in 1994, he presided over a momentous move — the decision to leave Milwaukee and play all home games in Green Bay, a potentially sensitive issue since the Packers had had a 62-year presence in the state's largest city since 1933. But as a condition of the transfer, necessitated by addressing an annual $2.5 million disparity in income which resulted from playing games in County Stadium, Harlan made sure Milwaukee's fans were not forgotten, offering them a three-game ticket package in Lambeau Field.

The latter expressed their appreciation in highly positive terms, 96 percent of Milwaukee's 48,000 season ticket holders subsequently availing themselves of the opportunity.

Seven years ago, he facilitated two other major additions to the Packer complex — 90 new private boxes spanning the north end zone of Lambeau Field and the construction of an auxiliary press box to enhance the stadium's accommodations for the media.

In 1997, convinced that the organization was in need of additional capital reserves to be competitive well into the 21st century — via improvements to Lambeau Field

NO. 1 ACROSS ALL OF SPORTS: In its Feb. 3 issue, ESPN The Magazine, using results of a detailed fan survey, ranked the Packers as the best franchise among the 121 teams in the four major sports. The magazine said the Packers return their fans' financial and emotional investments better than any major-league sports team. The Packers finished in the Top 10 of all eight categories: bang for the buck, ownership, stadium experience, on-field leadership, fan relations, affordability, players effort and likability, and championships won/expected to win.

and the team's training facilities — he launched the team's first stock sale since 1950. More than 100,000 shares, at $200 per share, were sold during the offering, initiated in mid-November and concluded on March 16, 1998.

As an impressive result of that development, Harlan was to subsequently schedule and preside over — in July of 1998 — one of the largest shareholders' meetings in the history of the nation's corporate business, a conclave held, appropriately enough, in Green Bay's hallowed Lambeau Field and attended by more than 18,000 shareholders and guests.

It was a concrete representation of a commitment he had made in 1989 when, at the time of his election, the Packers' CEO had addressed what he termed the two key "bottom lines...Obviously, one is winning football games, and the other is keeping the organization financially solvent and strong so it can always remain in Green Bay and compete with the other clubs in this league."

Becoming president of the Green Bay Packers, he also revealed on that historic day, had exceeded his fondest dreams.

"In 1960, when I had just graduated from Marquette University and was working as sports information director at Marquette, just getting started in public relations, I attended a Packer game at Milwaukee County Stadium," he told members of the media following his election. "I made a comment to my wife then that I hope I can grow in the public relations field and become competent enough that some day I can become the public relations director for the Green Bay Packers. When the opportunity came about 11 years later to join this fine organization, I jumped at it...To be associated with the NFL and the Packers, I have been highly honored...That honor has reached a new and incredible level."

The ninth president in the team's 84-year existence, Harlan is the team's first CEO to come up through the ranks. All previous presidents of the NFL's only publicly-owned franchise had come from the business and professional areas of the community as members of the board of directors.

The affable Iowan, who has been involved in every area of the club's operations over the course of his three-plus decades in Green Bay, joined the organization as assistant general manager on June 1, 1971, after serving as director of public relations for the St. Louis baseball Cardinals. He later was named corporate general manager in 1975, corporate assistant to the president in 1981 and executive vice president of administration on February 16, 1988.

In the latter role, he had been responsible for team travel, negotiating radio and preseason television contracts, front office personnel, ticket office operations, purchasing, the leasing of Lambeau Field's private boxes, insurance, game-day entertainment and the scheduling of preseason games.

Prior to 1985, he also had negotiated all player contracts for 14 years.

A rare CEO who answers his own telephone, Harlan already is the third-longest tenured chief executive officer in Packers history. Only Dominic Olejniczak, who served 24 years (1958-82), and Lee H. Joannes, 17 years (1930-47), have headed the corporation longer. With the retirement of long-time video director Al Tremblay in 2001, Harlan also now enjoys the longest continuous employment of anyone in the Packers organization.

Having earned a B.S. degree in journalism from Marquette in 1958, Harlan had a brief tour of duty in the U.S. Army before spending six months as a general reporter for United Press International in Milwaukee. He subsequently became sports information director at Marquette in 1959, serving six years in that capacity, after which he joined the St. Louis baseball Cardinals in 1965, serving as director of community relations and the speakers' bureau for two years and as director of public relations for three-and-a-half years before coming to the Packers.

Born Robert Ernest Harlan in Des Moines, Iowa, on September 9, 1936, he is active in the inner councils of the National Football League as well as the greater Green Bay community. He is a member of the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, which deals with employment matters with the NFL Players Association and serves as a trustee for the NFL Trust, which approves annual distribution to the clubs of Trust income received from NFL Properties and the amount of contribution to charities from such income.

In the Green Bay Community, he is a member of the executive board of the 65 Roses Sports Club, which was created to generate awareness of cystic fibrosis and to raise money for research to find a cure for the dreaded disease.

The recipient of multiple honors, both on a local and state basis, he was honored in 1993 by the Green Bay Rotary Club with its 'Free Enterprise Award' for his numerous contributions to the community, both individually and on behalf of the Packer Corporation. In 1996, he was presented with the Green Bay Visitor and Convention Bureau's annual 'Tourism Recognition Award' for "outstanding contributions to the Green Bay area tourism industry," as well as being saluted as Northeastern Wisconsin's 'Executive of the Year' by Marketplace magazine.

In 1997, he was thrice honored by his alma mater, Marquette University. He was presented with the 1997 Marquette University 'Alumni Community Service Award' during the alumni association's National Awards Week (April 25-27), presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree at the institution's commencement exercises May 18 and, on June 3, saluted as 'Master of the Game' by Marquette's National Sports Law Institute at its annual awards dinner in Milwaukee in recognition of his "humanitarian efforts, commitment to public service, great sense of ethics and integrity as a professional within the sports field."

In 1998, he was presented with the 'Distinguished Service Award' at the first Lee Remmel Sports Awards Banquet for leading the Packers' franchise out of mediocrity to professional football's heights.

Bob and his wife, Madeline, have three sons — Kevin, 43, who is a play-by-play broadcaster on telecasts of NFL games for CBS Sports and the Packers' preseason network, and also 'voices' NCAA Tournament basketball games for CBS as well as NBA games for TNT; Bryan, 41, who is president of Harlan-Kendrick, a public relations and marketing firm, and Harlan Sports Management, in Chicago; and Michael, 34, who is manager of special events for the Milwaukee Brewers and Hefner Field, a youth baseball facility built on the site of old County Stadium.

An ardent golfer, Harlan also is an "involved" fan, closely monitoring the athletic fortunes of the Milwaukee Brewers and Milwaukee Bucks as well as those of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his alma mater, Marquette.

Executive Vice President/
General Manager & Head Coach

Mike
SHERMAN

The football fortunes of the Green Bay Packers, markedly successful over the past decade, could not be in better hands.

The Mike Sherman record in his dual role as general manager and head coach speaks eloquently for itself — and for what he has brought to the Green and Gold, making it abundantly clear he is “the man” to lead the Packers to consistent National Football League heights — now and in the future.

The purposeful New Englander has presided over more victories in his first three seasons than any other head coach in the team's 84-year history — more than team founder Curly Lambeau, more than legendary Vince Lombardi and more than Mike Holmgren, the other winning head coaches in Green Bay's lustrous annals.

In that productive three-year span, he has proceeded to entrench himself in what has become a substantially expanded role (he added executive vice president and general manager to his résumé in 2001 after one season as head coach), escorting Green Bay to three consecutive winning seasons and, in 2002, to its first division championship since 1997 en route to a second consecutive playoff appearance, earning Staples' Coach of the Year honors for the '02 season in the process.

His consistently superior leadership and rock-solid, even-handed performance as head coach subsequently prompted club President Bob Harlan to confer the additional responsibilities upon him following Ron Wolf's surprise retirement in February of 2001. And, literally without missing a step, Sherman shouldered those duties with typically total commitment and has led the Packers to back-to-back, 12-4 records in 2001 and 2002 — the former a single-season mark exceeded by only four teams in the organization's 82-year NFL history and the latter only the second such parlay in team annals.

In the overall process, the 48-year-old Northborough, Mass., native also has proceeded to rival the regular-season accomplishments of the fabled Vince Lombardi over a comparable span, compiling a 33-15-0 mark in his first three seasons (16-game campaigns) compared to Lombardi's 26-12 record over the same span (two 12-game seasons and one 14-game campaign) while he served as the Packers' head coach and general manager (1959-60-61).

Additionally, Sherman equaled another Lombardi accomplishment by leading the Packers into the playoffs in only his second season at the controls.

Along the way, he also has made Lambeau Field an uncomfortable place for NFL rivals to visit. Since he moved into 1265 Lombardi Avenue in 2000, the Green and Gold are a glittering 21-and-3 in “Lambeau” under his leadership — the best home field record in the NFL during that time span — including the NFL's only perfect home record (8-0) in 2002.

While mounting these considerable achievements, he simultaneously has enjoyed conspicuous success in his companion role as general manager, illustrated by his signing of such key players as Brett Favre, Ahman Green, Darren Sharper, Mike McKenzie, Donald Driver, Mark Tauscher, Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila and Na'il Diggs to long-term contracts to ensure the future of the team.

A remarkable rise, admittedly, which began in 2000 when — without benefit of any previous head coaching experience — he maneuvered the Green and Gold to a winning record (9-7) with the aid of an unprecedented sweep of the Packers' four NFC Central Division rivals to close out the season on a sharp upcurve.

Mike Sherman at a glance

- Named Executive Vice President/General Manager/Head Coach on February 1, 2001, just over a year after first being named the 13th head coach in team history (January 18, 2000).
- First tenure with Packers began on February 19, 1997, when he was named tight ends/assistant offensive line coach, a position he served for two seasons (1997-98). He had coached for 16 years in the college ranks before joining the Packers.
- His .688 winning percentage (33-15-0) over his first three seasons as coach is the best first three-season mark in Packers history; Vince Lombardi has the second-best initial three-year percentage at .684 (26-12) over his first three seasons as head coach.
- His 21-3 record in Lambeau Field is the best in the NFL over the past three seasons.
- Made history by leading the Packers to the NFL's first NFC North Division championship in 2002. Earned Staples' NFL Coach of the Year honors in the process.
- Played collegiately at Central Connecticut State University (1974, 1976-77), his freshman year as a defensive end and his final three seasons as an offensive guard/tackle. Inducted into the CCSU Hall of Fame in 2001.

Harlan, openly impressed with Sherman's performance in his dual capacities, says of him, “I think Mike has adapted very well to handling both jobs. He surrounds himself with good people and he's not afraid to let other people express their opinions. He knows they've been out looking at talent and he gives them their full say.”

“I also think he has great courage. He's not afraid to make moves — what he feels is best for the football team. I think he does a lot of homework before he does anything. Overall, I think it's the time he spends on everything. I'm also impressed with how much he digs into the draft.”

Equally important in Harlan's eyes is Sherman's deep and prideful commitment to the Packers' storied history and tradition.

“He feels it's an honor to be a Packer,” the Packers' CEO observed, “and he tells the players that.”

Sherman had initially manifested his admiration for the organization and the team's legendary history during his first tour of duty with the Packers as tight ends coach (1997-98), Harlan noted.

"I didn't really know him when he was here earlier as an assistant coach," he said, "but I remember when he left here (to accompany Holmgren to Seattle), his coming into my office to express his appreciation for the opportunity to coach here. But he went even further. He said, 'My only regret is I didn't have a chance to coach here longer because this is such a special place.' I've never forgotten that."

NEW RESPONSIBILITIES

Openly convinced that Sherman is the ideal choice to direct the team's football operations, on and off the field, Harlan says with obvious satisfaction, "Mike Sherman is family, he's religion and he's Packers. Maybe more so than any other franchise in this league, these things are important here... That's a great quality he has."

"To me, Mike Sherman is Green Bay."

Formally named to his broad and dual responsibilities by the Packers' CEO on February 1, 2001, Sherman thus became the first Packers coach to wear both hats since Bart Starr served as head coach and general manager in 1980 — and only the third Green Bay coach to also serve as team vice president.

Harlan, observing at the time that he would not have offered both jobs "to everybody," explained, "This happens to be the individual who's here now. The timing is perfect. Mike brings the strength to the job that many others would not have had. In some situations, I would have been forced to go in a different direction. Ron and I were able to visit throughout the fall about the attributes of Mike Sherman. He is so solidly behind Mike and what Mike's future is. That's the thing that impressed me so much. Ron kept saying, 'The guy has got a great future in this league.' That hit home with me and it helped me a great deal."

Sherman, in taking over the general manager's role, was quick to acknowledge in turn, "I don't assume to be Ron's equal in personnel matters. He's the best, probably the best ever. But I do have a very high capacity to learn, and I will learn."

"I am, however, Ron's equal in regard to my passion for the Packers, my commitment to getting a championship team in Green Bay, and my intense desire to go to the Super Bowl and bring the Lombardi Trophy back here to Green Bay."

Subsequently, in commenting on how he planned to balance the two roles, Sherman said, "(You can) if you surround yourself with good people... and I think I have a knack for picking good people to surround myself with, I feel confident in that... And I feel very confident in my capacity to learn at a very fast pace."

In the process of surrounding himself with top people, Sherman has earned high marks for the Packers' personnel department, Pro Football Weekly in its January 18, 2003, issue naming his staff as No. 1 in the league, ahead of such respected staffs of New England, Denver and Miami.

Although new to the general manager's perspective, Sherman brought to his Packers role a basic understanding of the position's demands — and related need for superior time management — because of the year (1999) he spent in Seattle under Holmgren, who had become executive vice president, general manager and head coach of the Seahawks and taken Sherman with him as offensive coordinator.

Wolf, for one, expressed total confidence from the outset that Sherman would be equal to his multiple responsibilities... whatever they might entail.

"He can handle it," the Packers' retired general manager asserted then with characteristic certainty. "He has a passion for the game...He's dedicated to the traditions of pro football and, more importantly, to the tradition of the Green Bay Packers. He respects the people who have gone before him, and that's rare in today's game."

Wolf also cited Sherman's "work ethic and his passion — and coupled with that he's an extremely bright person. Everything he does is well thought out. He's all about football. I think guys like that — I think people like discipline. I think people want to be disciplined. He's a taskmaster who is also an extremely hard worker."

Historically, Sherman is the third man in Packers annals to hold the title of vice president, general manager and head coach. His predecessors include team founder Curly Lambeau (1940-49) and Gene Ronzani (1950-53). Four others — Vince Lombardi (1959-67), Phil Bengtson (1969-70), Dan Devine (1971-74) and Bart Starr (1975-80) — have held the title of general manager and head coach.

ASCENT TO THE TOP

From the overall perspective, in relative terms and brevity of time frame, Sherman's rise in the Packers' organization has been little short of meteoric. He arrived in Green Bay just six years ago, fresh from a two-year tour of duty as offensive line coach at Texas A&M, to become tight ends coach for the Packers under Holmgren, a role in which he helped the Packers to qualify for Super Bowl XXXII against the Denver Broncos in San Diego.

A year later, he accompanied Holmgren to Seattle as his offensive coordinator and, shortly after that 1999 season, was invited to Green Bay for an interview with Wolf, then seeking a successor to Ray Rhodes. Subsequently disclosing that Sherman "blew my socks off" in their meeting, Wolf called him the following day to offer him the position and, 48 hours later, formally named him the 13th head coach in Green Bay's distinguished history (January 18, 2000).

DEBUT SEASON, 2000

Justifying Wolf's confidence, Sherman proceeded to put his personal stamp upon the team and the organization, the Packers winning more games against teams with winning records (six) than any other team in the league. They also:

- In going 4-0 in December, were matched by only the Tennessee Titans and New York Giants, AFC Central and NFC East champions as well as the No. 1 seeds in their respective conferences for the playoffs;
- Posted a 5-2 record against playoff teams;
- Won their last five games in Lambeau Field, reclaiming the home-field advantage they enjoyed for most of the '90s; and
- Shared the best record within the division with Minnesota, on the heels of a sweep of the NFC Central at the end, at 5-3.

In the process, at 9-7 Sherman became only the fourth head coach in team history to post a winning record in his first season on the job, joining heavyweights Lambeau, Lombardi and Holmgren.

Having solidly established his program, Sherman then proceeded to effect a three-victory improvement upon that performance in 2001, his second season, leading the Packers to as many as 12 victories for only the fifth time in the team's NFL history.

Along the way, the Green and Gold punctuated their imposing won-lost record with some singular accomplishments:

- The defense set a team record by amassing 52 sacks, led by second-year pro Gbaja-Biamila with a team-high 13½;

Best since 1993

In 1993, the NFL adopted its current collective bargaining agreement. That CBA has given pro football more labor peace and prosperity than any major league sport. The compromise gave the owners a salary cap, and the players unrestricted free agency. But that agreement has also created parity, challenging front offices and coaches more than any era in history.

From 1993 through the end of the '02 regular season, NFL teams have made 74 coaching moves. And since the dawn of the salary cap and unrestricted free agency, Mike Sherman's .688 winning percentage represents the league's most successful tenure. Among those tenures that began 1993 or later, only 24 have posted at least a .500 record over more than one season:

How hard is turning around a team?

Well, consider that the aggregate winning percentage of all 74 tenures that began 1993 or later is just .484 (1,754 wins; 1,867 losses; five ties).

Also consider, obviously most clubs change coaches to turn around their teams. Of those 74 moves, 54 were to either launch expansion squads, or revive teams that finished .500 or below the previous year (seven took over in-season and 13 took over winning teams). The Packers were a disappointing 8-8 in 1999, before Sherman's arrival.

And of those 54 coaches who didn't inherit a winning team, only 39 tenures have reached a third season. In that group, only Sherman has shown the consistency to post winning seasons over the first three years with his team.

Three tenures in that 39-member group — Wade Phillips (Buffalo), Bill Parcells (N.Y. Jets) and Mike Shanahan (Denver) — strung together one .500 season and two winning campaigns.

- ▶ The offensive line, on the other side of the equation, permitted only 22 sacks over the 16-game season, the fewest a Green Bay team has allowed since 1974, when NFL teams played a 14-game schedule; and
- ▶ The team's plus-30 sack ratio, between those made and those allowed, was Green Bay's largest ever.

In building on those imposing achievements with another 12-4 record in 2002, Sherman may well have done his finest coaching job to date, demonstrating the ability to extract optimum performance from his players despite myriad injury problems, developments which forced starters from the lineups 71 times over the season — offensive tackles Tauscher and Chad Clifton for 15 and seven games, respectively; defensive linemen Joe Johnson (12) Vonnie Holliday (six) and Gilbert Brown (four) for a total of 22 games; and safety Antuan Edwards for four games, among others.

Despite these substantial handicaps, Sherman deftly guided the Packers to the NFC North Division championship with record dispatch, executing the earliest clinching of a division title in team history (with four games to play) since the advent of the NFL's 16-game regular-season schedule in 1978. The Packers' earliest previous clinching(s) had come in the Super Bowl years of 1996 and 1997, when they sealed back-to-back title acquisitions with two games remaining to play in each case. (The Green and Gold earlier had clinched with three games to play in the 14-game, 1967 season).

In additionally sharing the league's best regular-season record with the Super Bowl champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the NFC East champion Philadelphia Eagles while gaining the playoffs for the second year in a row, the Packers also:

- ▶ Led the NFL in takeaways (45); and
- ▶ Led the league in passing touchdowns (29)

The injury factor, however, ultimately and inexorably took its toll, the Green and Gold falling to the Atlanta Falcons and the remarkably talented Michael Vick in the opening game of the league's Wild Card playoffs, 27-7, thus ending their perfect (13-0) home field record in the postseason (11-0 in Lambeau Field).

PHILOSOPHIES, STYLE, BACKGROUND

A 25-year veteran of the coaching profession, Mike Sherman has coached at every level — high school, college and professional — over his varied career. He was associated in tutoring eight bowl teams during 16 seasons in the college ranks prior to being named to the Green Bay staff in 1997 by Holmgren. He brought with him, among other assets, an intimate knowledge of the "West Coast" offense in which Favre has flourished over the past 11 years, becoming the National Football League's first three-time "Most Valuable Player" in the process.

Beyond that, however, he came to his responsibilities with a highly developed agenda for returning the Packers to NFL heights following a one-year absence in 1999, when the Green and Gold fell short of the playoffs for the first time in seven years with an 8-8 record.

"I feel very confident in what I want to get done here," Sherman let it be known from the outset. "Right from the beginning, I wanted to be organized, structured and disciplined, both with the players and coaches. I want to generate a genuine concern with the team for each other. I think that it is important that the chemistry factor on our team is where it should be in order for us to have success.

"Whatever it is, we're going to have a plan. And I think with detailed organization, well thought out plans, and a commitment to discipline, that you can create an aura of confidence in players and coaches — and I think confidence is a necessary component of what it takes to be successful."

Though impeccably organized and the possessor of a well-defined strategy, Sherman early on demonstrated he will not be what he described as "a textbook coach," having surprised his players in the midst of the team's fourth and final mini-camp in 2000 by canceling practice, without notice, and busing his team to the bowling alley for an outing.

"I'm not hesitant to try things that are different," he later said in addressing that surprise development. "If something needs to be done that I think can help our football team at that time, I will do it. I realize you open yourself up to criticism sometimes, but my job is to address the needs of this team as I see them."

Good as his word, Sherman proceeded to further document his "different" approach during the team's third and final mini-camp of the 2001 offseason, calling an audible on the fifth day of the camp, one which saw him cancel the morning's practice and bus the players out into the wooded countryside for a paintball shoot which pitted the offense against the defense in three different games of "Capturing Championship Flags."

Among others with similar responsibilities

He continued his "change-of-pace" agenda in 2002, ferrying his players and coaches out to an area country club for an 18-hole round of golf to wrap up the first week of the team's final mini-camp in early June, then returned to his original idea this year when he surprised his athletes by busing them to a local bowling establishment — augmenting the surprise factor by moving up the event to mid-week instead of waiting until the final practice day of the mini-camp's opening week.

Like Holmgren before him, Sherman had taken on his current coaching challenge without benefit of previous head-coaching experience at any level — but with quiet confidence. He made that explicitly clear the day he was hired to succeed Rhodes, posing and answering the key question himself.

"Is Mike Sherman, with limited NFL experience and no head coaching experience, ready to be the head football coach for one of the cornerstone franchises in the NFL," he rhetorically queried during his initial press conference. "My answer to that emphatically is, yes, I am...I've been doing this for 21 years. Twenty-one years ago, I was an English teacher and an assistant coach in Stamford, Conn. At that time, I was preparing for this day."

A TASTE OF COACHING

An English major and political science minor in college, Sherman became a coach quite by chance — he originally wanted to be a sports writer or a lawyer.

"I figured I was going to be one or the other," he recalled. "But when I was getting out of college, my college coach told me there was a high school teaching and coaching job open in Stamford (Conn.), and that I should give it a try. Once I got my taste of coaching, I knew that was what I wanted to do."

And a coach he has been ever since. Following that initial year at Stamford High School (1978) and two years at Worcester (Mass.) Academy (1979-80), Sherman entered the college ranks at the University of Pittsburgh in 1981. After two years as a graduate assistant at Pitt, he joined the Tulane staff in 1983 as offensive line coach. Sherman later moved to Holy Cross in 1985, again to coach the offensive line, before becoming the offensive coordinator of the Crusaders' "run-and-shoot" offense in 1988.

He then spent five years as offensive line coach at Texas A&M (1989-93) before moving to UCLA in the same role for one year. He returned to A&M as offensive line coach in 1995 and was named offensive coordinator for the Aggies following the 1996 season.

Before he could take over the latter assignment, however, Holmgren lured him to Green Bay to become the Packers' tight ends/assistant offensive line coach and his days as a college football coach were behind him.

A SPECIAL PLACE

As might be expected, in light of his long-time love affair with the Packers, Sherman said of himself, "The tradition is a big part of it for me. Coaching is exciting anywhere, but being here with all the history, tradition, all the following of the fans and all the expectations, it makes it a very special place."

In further testament to his respect for the storied tradition of the franchise, and more specifically to its venerable stadium, Sherman paid close attention to design of the club's new facilities in the redeveloped Lambeau Field, ensuring the proper aura would emanate from its walls. In a element to that end, he asked that a door and its frame from Lombardi's former office be relocated to serve as the primary entryway to his new office and that a section of the concrete floor from the north tunnel that teams previously used to take the field be preserved and incorporated in the team's new entryway, a tunnel in the southeast corner of the stadium. Both components are to serve as a connection to the people and past teams that have made the franchise such a historic one.

Sherman, who has a deep admiration for Lombardi and is known to have read books on discipline and success as a youth, also credits Holmgren with having had a major influence on his development as a coach and a person.

"Mike Holmgren has taught me as much about life and dealing with people as he has about football," the Packers' field leader said. "My association with him is huge."

Sherman likewise feels indebted to Wolf for having selected him as the successor to Rhodes, as well as for the day-to-day experience of working with one of Wolf's stature in the professional football world.

GROWING UP

One of five children in the family of Frank and Claire Sherman, he was a three-sport athlete in high school (wrestling and track in addition to football) and was consistently involved in athletics, also playing baseball, basketball and hockey on local town and church teams.

Later, as a collegian, Sherman was an offensive guard/tackle and defensive end for three seasons at Central Connecticut State University (1974, 1976-77), redshirting in 1975. After playing defensive end his freshman year, he transferred to the offensive line for his last three years.

"I wasn't All-American — just a plugger, a guy who loved to play — I even loved to practice!" he said with a self-effacing chuckle. "I was an overachiever who loved the game of football, but someone who thrived on and cherished the challenges, successes as well as failures, and the friendships and camaraderie that developed along the way."

In honor of his CCSU career and his subsequent contributions to the game of football, Sherman was inducted into the school's hall of fame in the spring of 2002.

SOLID & CONSISTENT

Tom Rossley, the Packers' offensive coordinator and previously a coaching colleague at Holy Cross for two seasons (1986-87), succinctly sums up what Sherman brings to every challenge.

"With Mike Sherman," Rossley said, "you get a solid guy, a solid coach and a solid person. And you get the same thing every day. He's going to be there working when you get there, and he's going to be there when you leave."

PERSONAL

The Packers' 13th head coach, described by his mother as "a man of few words," was born Michael Francis Sherman in Norwood, Mass., December 19, 1954. He and his wife, Karen, have four children — daughters Sarah (born 5/18/83) and Emily (born 1/3/87), and sons Matthew (born 1/19/89) and Benjamin (born 9/10/92).

He and Karen have been involved in their local parish as well as in the community with the annual YWCA Families of Distinction Dinner, she serving as the event's honorary chairperson. The Packers' coach also annually hosts the 'Mike Sherman Celebrity Invitational Golf Tournament' to benefit Cystic Fibrosis in May and has been actively involved annually in support of Marion House, a licensed group home in Green Bay for pregnant and parenting teens and their children.

Personally fond of water sports, such as scuba diving, fishing and water skiing, Sherman says that, for the most part, "I like to spend time with my family" during leisure away from Lambeau Field.

"My faith, my family...and the Green Bay Packers," he assured, "are the most important things in my life."

Chief Operating Officer

John M.

levels to his role as executive vice president and chief operating officer of the Green Bay Packers.

Appointed to the then-new position in the club's corporate structure by Harlan on October 16, 2001, with the approval of the Packers' executive committee and board of directors, Jones complements his extensive background with impressively high energy and infectious enthusiasm for his challenging and multiple responsibilities.

Harlan, who will retire in four years, already had the succession plan in mind when he hired Jones away from the NFL Management Council in 1999 as Green Bay's Senior Vice President of Administration.

"I think one of my responsibilities is, first of all, to make sure the transition does go smoothly," Harlan said, "and secondly, to make sure that the proper people are in place that when I go we don't skip a beat. And I think we're in that position."

"As the fully redeveloped Lambeau Field opens in 2003, the Packers are turning a page to the next chapter of our unique story. It's incumbent upon us to ensure the success of that story."

"The work of J.J. and our strong management team is going to help us achieve our goals."

In guiding the Packers' financial plan for the future, Jones' and the team's efforts paid initial dividends as the club realized a dramatic impact of a redeveloped Lambeau Field and its added revenue streams in 2002. On the strength of a record year for profits, the Packers moved to a 10th-place revenue ranking among NFL teams during the 2002-03 fiscal year, their highest finish since the Super Bowl year of 1997, when they finished ninth. The performance is the beginning step toward delivering on the team's promise to the community and its fans — turning profitability into the preservation of the franchise and the stadium.

In addition to financial stewardship, Jones has led the organization to develop a new, fully encompassing strategic plan, including the ongoing leadership development of the club's management team. As part of the enhanced corporate vision, the Packers held an organization-wide strategic planning session on May 28, 2003, that was attended by every employee in the organization — management, coaches, front office employees, etc.

From the league perspective, Jones recently was named to the board of directors of NFL Business Ventures, the League entity governing its for-profit businesses, including NFL Properties, NFL Enterprises, NFL Films and NFL International.

Also continuing his professional development, Jones participated in the NFL's business development conference this summer at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business.

Jones assisted the Packers' negotiating team, including marketing and corporate sales director Craig Benzel, public relations director Jeff Blumb and corporate counsel Jason Wied, in creating a new local broadcast partnership that is regarded as an NFL model for year-round brand extension. The new partnership joins WFRV-TV in Green Bay and WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee with CBS Sports and Viacom to produce Packers' preseason games, create year-round TV programming and promote tourism at Lambeau Field. The agreement also provides for outdoor billboard advertising and other media supporting Lambeau Field as a year-round destination venue for family entertainment, dining and Packers football excitement.

John Jones at a glance

- ▶ Promoted to executive vice president and chief operating officer on October 16, 2001, with responsibility for salary cap supervision and management of the organization's administrative staff and business operations, including the Lambeau Field Atrium, finance, stadium operations, ticketing, public relations, marketing, community relations and retail. Originally joined the organization February 10, 1999, as senior vice president of administration.
- ▶ Guided the organization's financial rebound in 2002 to rank 10th in NFL revenue, thus ending a five-year decline bottoming at 20th in the 2001 season.
- ▶ Assisted in creating a new local broadcast partnership joining WFRV-TV in Green Bay and WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee with CBS Sports and Viacom to produce Packers' preseason games, create year-round TV programming and promote economic development/tourism at Lambeau Field.
- ▶ Is a member of the board of directors of NFL Business Ventures.
- ▶ During a 10-year tenure with the NFL Management Council, was a member of the league's negotiating team that forged the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement and created the salary cap system in 1993.
- ▶ Also spearheaded the NFLMC's development of an intranet site on the World Wide Web in 1999 and with it a new electronic contract reporting system used by every club to report player signings by e-mail.
- ▶ Attended graduate journalism school at the University of Wisconsin, developing early ties to the Packers, leaving school in 1974 to become editor of Ray Nitschke's Packer Report, a position he held through 1975.

He also served as the Packers' lead negotiator in the parallel and challenging task of working out a 30-year stadium lease with the City of Green Bay and the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football District, contracts essential to proceeding with the Lambeau Field construction project in early 2001.

In addition, Jones coordinated execution of the organization's successful $13 million loan from the National Football League for the Lambeau Field redevelopment.

Harlan noted that Jones had been "tremendously valuable during the stadium referendum (of 2000) and with negotiations involving the City of Green Bay and the Brown County Professional Football District."

In the latter situation, critically important to the organization's future, the purposeful New Orleans native proved to be a front office leader/warrior of the highest order when called upon to serve as in that highly intricate process.

Just a year following his arrival in Green Bay, Jones found himself utilizing his considerable skills to help Harlan guide the organization through the complicated political maneuvers for achieving a proposed $295 million redevelopment of Lambeau Field — a project that would require $169.1 million of public money to complete and voter approval of a tax to make the renovation possible — with an eye to assuring the team's economic survival in the National Football League for the next three decades and beyond.

Throughout the challenging eight-month process that followed, the indefatigable Jones was at Harlan's side every step of the way — accompanying him to Madison for frequent meetings with state lawmakers, to a host of other sessions with Green Bay city officials and also joining the Packers' CEO in door-to-door, get-out-the-vote campaigns through Green Bay's residential neighborhoods — interspersed with numerous media interviews and public appearances.

Named as senior vice president of administration by Harlan February 10, 1999, Jones joined the Packers following a 10-year tenure at the NFL Management Council — with extensive knowledge of the salary cap, an element critical to success in today's NFL, and significant experience as both a negotiator and administrator.

In the process, Jones was a member of the league's negotiating team which secured a global settlement of player lawsuits against the NFL in January of 1993 and therefrom subsequently forged the Collective Bargaining Agreement and created the salary cap system.

As a key member of the Packers' front office, the 51-year-old Jones is responsible for supervision of the salary cap, including compliance with the 1993 CBA, and contract management — as well as management of the organization's administrative staff and business operations, including the Lambeau Field Atrium, finance, stadium operations, ticketing, public relations, marketing, community relations and retail.

Earlier, while with the NFL, one of the architects of the salary cap computer software, Jones trained executives from every club in the league in using the new technology to manage the cap. More recently, he spearheaded the Management Council's development of an intranet site on the World Wide Web, providing a broad range of salary cap and club management information to club executives, and with it a new electronic contract reporting system now used to report player signings by e-mail.

Jones had begun his 10-year, two-stage career with the NFL Management Council in 1987 as director of public relations, serving as spokesman for the NFL during the player strike of that year. Later, after Paul Tagliabue became commissioner in 1989, he was named director of operations for the Council.

He left the NFLMC in 1994 to become executive director of administration for the Jacksonville Jaguars, then entering the league as an expansion team. He returned to the Management Council in 1996 as director of administration and information, the post he held when invited to join the Packers organization.

Prior to entering employment in the NFL office, Jones spent 11 years as a teacher and journalist following graduation from Loyola University of the South in New Orleans, from which he received a degree in journalism in 1973. He attended graduate journalism school at the University of Wisconsin before returning to New Orleans to serve as an instructor of journalism at Loyola from 1976 to 1978.

Jones subsequently embarked on a journalistic career with the New Orleans Times-Picayune, earning a dozen first-place awards from the Louisiana Sports Writers' Association for writing, editing and design over a nine-year span.

While at the University of Wisconsin, Jones developed early ties to the Packers, leaving school in 1974 to become editor of Ray Nitschke's Packer Report, a position he held through 1975.

Jones, born February 6, 1952, in New Orleans, and his family have other Wisconsin connections. John's wife, Cindy, a native of Cedarburg, Wis., received her bachelor's degree in psychology from Loyola and a master's degree in social work from Tulane University. She works as a psychotherapist at Family Services in Green Bay.

The Jones' daughter, Sarah, a 1996 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Madison in political science, as well as a 2000 graduate of the New York University School of Law, is now a fourth-year associate attorney at the New York City offices of the Morgan, Lewis and Bockius Law Firm. Their son, Blake, 22, graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in December of 2002 with a bachelor's degree in economics and is employed in the NFL's department of game operations. Sarah's husband, Jonathan Bergman, is a graduate of the UW business school and is a certified financial planner and investments executive in Scarsdale, N.Y.

Active in the Green Bay community, Jones is a member of the boards of directors of the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame, the Green Bay Boys & Girls Club, Bellin Health in Green Bay and M&I Bank in Green Bay.

Formerly a long-distance runner during leisure time — he has run three marathons — Jones now has reluctantly confined himself to long-distance cycling following knee surgery. In the latter pursuit, he completed the Miller Lite Ride for the Arts in Milwaukee (75 miles) in June, the 100-kilometer Tour de Cure (in support of the American Diabetes Association) in Green Bay in May and several 50-mile events, including the Titledown Challenge in Green Bay. Exercise aside, Jones also is an avid movie buff and enjoys reading, particularly "history and fiction."

Vice President of Football Operations

HATLEY

A veteran and highly respected personnel executive with a league-wide reputation as a superior judge of talent, Mark Hatley is in his third year as the Packers' vice president of football operations.

His substantial expertise in his chosen field was impressively underscored in 2001 by Chicago's drive to the NFC Central Division championship, considering that all 22 of the Bears' starters in that project were acquired during Hatley's previous tenure in the front office of the Midway Monsters (1997-2001).

The 53-year-old Texan, who brings 16 years of scouting knowledge and experience to his comprehensive responsibilities, was named to his position in the Packers' football operations hierarchy by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman May 17, 2001, in completing his restructuring of the personnel department following Ron Wolf's retirement as executive vice president and general manager.

In his multi-layered role, Hatley is responsible for overseeing all of the team's scouting efforts, including the college scouting department, directed by John Dorsey, and the pro personnel department, headed by Reggie McKenzie, as well as coordinating with John Schneider, personnel analyst to general manager, in channeling the flow of information to Sherman. In addition to working with Dorsey, McKenzie and Schneider — as well as reporting directly to Sherman on all personnel matters — Hatley also spends substantial time on the road scouting top college players, a major area of expertise.

In bringing Hatley into the Packers' football operations, Sherman emphasized the depth of the inexhaustible Texan's commitment to his profession, observing, "In setting my objectives, I first wanted to find someone who was a tireless worker and has a true passion for football. Secondly, I wanted someone who could not only fit into our present structure and work cohesively with our current personnel staff, but also add to the chemistry, the focus and the commitment of that department. Lastly, I wanted someone who shared with me a tremendous respect for the Green Bay Packers and their tradition, but also someone who had a vision and a desire to contribute to the future. I met these objectives in Mark Hatley."

Prior to joining the Packers organization, Hatley had served as the Bears' vice president of player personnel for four years (1997-2001). Previously, he had spent 10 years with the Kansas City Chiefs (1987-97), playing a key role in helping to develop the club into a perennial playoff contender in the 1990s.

In Kansas City, where he served as director of pro personnel for his last five seasons, Hatley's efforts contributed to eight winning records and six trips to the playoffs. Prior to taking on that role, he had spent four seasons (1988-91) as a scout and one year (1987) as linebackers coach. In 1992, he also directed the Chiefs' college draft and, in 1991, assisted when personnel director Whitey Dovell temporarily relinquished his position due to illness.

While in Chicago, Hatley supervised the Bears' scouting efforts at both the college and professional levels, directed the team's draft and oversaw the team's free agent activity.

His success in those responsibilities, in addition to being well-documented by the Bears' title-winning performance of 2001, is further underscored by the fact that his 2000 and 2001 drafts produced back-to-back Associated Press NFL 'Rookies of the Year' — linebacker Brian Urlacher as 'Defensive Rookie of the Year' in 2000 and running back Anthony Thomas as 'Offensive Rookie of the Year' in 2001, marking one of the few times in league history that a team has had back-to-back 'Rookie of the Year' selections.

In addition to Urlacher, who earned trips to the Pro Bowl in each of his first three years, Hatley's 2000 draft produced two other NFL all-rookie performers, safety Mike Brown and placekicker Paul Edinger. Earlier, safety Tony Parrish — from Hatley's 1998 draft — was an NFL all-rookie selection.

Also effective in the trade and free agency markets, Hatley brought in several starters — Blake Brockermeyer, Jim Miller, Glyn Milburn, Mike Wells, Phillip Daniels and R.W. McQuarters, with Milburn's performance in 1999 earning All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors.

Earlier, while Kansas City's pro personnel director, Hatley had substantial success scouting players in the NFL and other professional leagues, helping the Chiefs to acquire, among others, Marcus Allen, Derrick Walker, James Hasty, Dan Saleaumua, Elvis Grbac, Pete Stoyanovich, Kimble Anders and Mark Collins (team MVP in 1996), as well as Tamarick Vanover and Vaughn Booker of the CFL and Tracy Simien of the WFLA.

Before joining the Chiefs, Hatley launched his NFL career during a two-year stint with the New Orleans Saints (1984-85), his duties in 1984 including scouting and quality control. He subsequently coached the Saints' secondary in 1985 under Bum Phillips and later joined the Chiefs as linebackers coach in 1987.

A linebacker as a collegian, Hatley played at Oklahoma State, leading the Cowboys in tackles during his 1971 senior season, before beginning his coaching career as a member of the OSU staff (1973-75). Stops at Tulsa (1976), Texas Christian (1977-82) and Baylor (1983) followed before he joined the Saints' coaching staff in 1984.

Born September 19, 1949, in Borger, Texas, Hatley was honored in March of 2000 when he was inducted into the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of his outstanding career at Phillips (Texas) High School. He also was saluted as one of the area's 'Top 100 Athletes of the 20th Century.'

Mark and his wife, Claudia, have one grown daughter, Eliza. In his spare time, he enjoys playing golf and fishing.

Vice President of Player Finance/
General Counsel

BRANDT

Now enjoying his fifth year with the Green Bay Packers, Andrew Brandt is in his second full season as the team's vice president of player finance/general counsel.

Brandt was promoted to the position by team President Bob Harlan on October 11, 2001, who in making the announcement cited the Washington, D.C., native's outstanding work in Salary Cap management and excellent negotiating skills.

A tremendous asset to the organization who possesses an extensive background in player representation and management of a professional football team, Brandt originally joined the team on February 16, 1999, when he was named director of player finance by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

Brandt, who has primary responsibility in the organization for negotiating player contracts, dealing with player representatives and managing the complex and all-important Salary Cap, continues to skillfully mold contract numbers to fit under the cap while avoiding shortcuts that may hinder future success, a fate that regularly constrains a handful of NFL teams each year.

In his continuing reference to "fitting pieces in a puzzle," Brandt was able to continue his impressive track record of keeping the nucleus of the Packers intact for years to come. From the latter part of the 2002 season through the offseason, Brandt's efforts have led to the Packers retaining important core players such as wide receiver Donald Driver, offensive tackle Mark Tauscher, defensive end Kaber Gbaja-Biamila, defensive tackle Cletitus Hunt and linebacker Na'il Diggs. This continued the club's efforts that bore fruit during the previous year, a period that witnessed the Packers sign center Mike Flanagan, cornerback Mike McKenzie, guard Mike Wahle and fullback William Henderson to new contracts and/or extensions. In addition, the 2002 offseason saw Brandt negotiate the major free agent signing of Pro Bowl defensive end Joe Johnson.

During the 2001 offseason, Brandt and the Packers re-signed key free agents such as Pro Bowlers Darren Sharper and Ahman Green and placekicker Ryan Longwell; creatively restructured the contracts of important veteran performers like Marco Rivera and Frank Winters; as well as the final — and most important — piece, ensured that franchise quarterback Brett Favre would retire as a Packer by virtue of a long-term contract extension. The success in this arena by Brandt and the Packers over the past three offseasons, as well as the lack of training camp holdouts, has been widely noted.

Brandt serves as GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman's top advisor on cap and contract matters. An attorney, he also handles football-related legal matters for the organization. In addition, Brandt is the club's liaison with the NFL Management Council and also works very closely with the team's football operations and player personnel staffs.

He began his professional career with ProServ, Inc., one of the nation's leading sports management and marketing firms, after graduating cum laude from both Stanford University and Georgetown University Law School. While at ProServ, he managed a number of NBA and NFL players, among them Michael Jordan, Patrick Ewing, Boomer Esiason, Chris Doleman and former Packers wide receiver James Lofton.

In 1992, Brandt became the first general manager of the Barcelona Dragons of the World League of American Football (now the NFL Europe League), then becoming the youngest general manager in a major professional sports league. During his tenure, the Dragons were the league's winningest and most successful franchise, with an average attendance of 30,000.

Brandt subsequently taught sports law and sports business at both George Washington and American University in Washington, D.C., and created and designed a program in sports management/sports law at the University of Illinois, a program that now serves as a model for the Big Ten Conference.

In 1996, Brandt became vice president of Bob Woolf Associates, a leading player representation firm located in Boston and, in that role, was responsible for the football division, representing players such as Heisman Trophy winner running back Ricky Williams, former Packers quarterback Matt Hasselbeck and Super Bowl XXXVI hero kicker Adam Vinatieri.

Over the years, he has made frequent radio and television appearances as a commentator on contract and negotiating issues. He has hosted "The Business of Sports" on syndicated radio networks and has been a regular columnist for Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal. Brandt also makes numerous speaking engagements throughout Wisconsin as he shares the philosophies and strategies for the Packers' success.

Professionally, Brandt remains a member of the Sports Lawyers Association and the Entertainment and Sports Committee of the American Bar Association. He also serves on the editorial boards of The International Sports Journal and The Sports Lawyer.

On the community front, Brandt helped arrange for the Green Bay Packers and New Line Cinema to host the Midwest premiere of the motion picture I Am Sam, starring Sean Penn and Michelle Pfeiffer, in Green Bay on January 23, 2002, with proceeds — more than $10,000 — going to N.E.W. Curative Rehabilitation Inc.

A tournament-level tennis player, he still plays competitive tennis and enjoys hiking, biking and running. Brandt also is an accomplished jazz pianist and is active with the American Heart Association. Director of College Scouting

John
DORSEY

John Dorsey, now in his 13th year in the NFL's player personnel world, this season enjoys year four as the Packers' director of college scouting — his third tenure in Green Bay.

An effective player for the Packers during the 1980s,

Dorsey oversees the college side of Green Bay's scouting operations, and also is actively involved in the area of pro personnel.

Packers General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman, in one of the key early moves of his administration, signed the highly-respected Dorsey to a contract extension through the 2004 season on May 9, 2001.

Brought back to the team as director of college scouting on May 8, 2000, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf, Dorsey earlier had been a key component in Green Bay's personnel operations for eight highly-successful years. First hired as a college scout in May of 1991 with a focus on linebackers, he was retained by Wolf the following year and, ultimately, was promoted to head up the Packers' college scouting department February 27, 1997, succeeding John Math, who retired.

Hired as director of player personnel for the Seattle Seahawks on January 26, 1999, as he followed former Packers coach Mike Holmgren to the West Coast, Dorsey resigned that position just over a year later, leaving shortly after the 2000 NFL Draft.

The 43-year-old Dorsey earlier had scouted the midlands and southwest territories for Green Bay before focusing on the all-important southeast region in the final years of his second Packers tenure.

Selected by Green Bay in the fourth round of the 1984 draft, beginning his initial Packers employment, Dorsey played five seasons for the team (1984-88) at linebacker and on special teams before spending a final year on injured reserve in 1989. He totaled 130 tackles as a pro, in addition to 2 fumble recoveries and 1 pass defended. Dorsey led Green Bay's special teams in solo tackles in three of his first four seasons, a level of play which helped earn him selection as the Packers' special teams captain. Possessor of a streak of 76 consecutive non-strike games played, Dorsey saw that string end when he suffered a freak knee injury in pre-game warmups of the team's '89 season opener.

A four-year starter at the University of Connecticut (1980-83), Dorsey was named 'Defensive Player of the Year' in the Yankee Conference during each of his final two collegiate seasons, also earning Division I-AA All-America recognition as a senior. In 1998, he was selected to the school's 100th Anniversary All-Time Football Team. In 2002, he was inducted into the Anna & Rundel (Maryland) County Sports Hall of Fame.

Heavily involved in the community throughout his playing career, especially with the Wisconsin Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, he was voted as the Packers' 'Man of the Year' in 1987 for his civic contributions. He currently serves on the board of 65 Roses and is an active member of the DePere, Wis., High School stadium redevelopment committee. At the professional level, he serves as a member of the NFL College Advisory Committee.

Born August 30, 1960, in Leonardtown, Md., Dorsey is the father of two sons, Bryant, 16, and Austin, 12.

In his spare time, Dorsey enjoys water skiing, reading and running — this year having successfully completed his second marathon.

Streak speak

LONGEST SINCE '63: After a loss at New Orleans last Sept. 15, the Packers answered with seven consecutive victories. It marked the team's longest streak within a season since 1963, when the Packers dropped their opener, then won eight straight. The team won nine straight regular-season games from Nov. 23, 1997, to Sept. 27, 1998. And, excluding playoffs, the team's longest overall winning streak is 11 (twice: 1928-29, 1961-62).

RARE LOSING STREAK: In late November last year — Nov. 17 at Minnesota and Nov. 24 at Tampa Bay — the Packers lost consecutive games for the first time in more than two years. The stretch, which began following a pair of losses Oct. 1-8, 2000 (vs. Chicago, at Detroit, respectively), was in its 38th week prior to the loss at Tampa Bay. It was the NFL's second-longest active streak, behind Philadelphia, which hasn't dropped consecutive games since Sept. 10-17, 2000 (the 9/17/00 contest was Mike Sherman's first career victory).

GAMES-PLAYED STREAKS: Injuries in 2002 ended two of the team's three longest active games-played streaks, and posed a serious threat to the NFL's most prominent streak — the one held by Brett Favre. A knee injury ended William Henderson's run at 114, when he didn't play in Week 4 vs. Carolina. Then, in Week 14 vs. Minnesota, a nagging hamstring injury halted Tyrone Williams' streak at 108. Earlier, the state of Wisconsin held its collective breath in Week 7, when Redskins linebacker LaVar Arrington forced Favre from the game with a sprained left lateral collateral ligament, the quarterback's first lifetime knee injury. Favre, however, returned to start the Packers' next game, vs. Miami Nov. 4. The team's longest active regular-season streaks, entering 2003:

Brett Favre	175
Ryan Longwell	96
Rob Davis	87
Marco Rivera	67
Mike Flanagan	63

FAVRE: The quarterback's starting streak, which enters 2003 at 173 (57 more than previous NFL quarterback-record holder Ron Jaworski), in 2002 became the longest active among all league players.

Director of Pro Personnel

Reggie
McKENZIE

Reggie McKenzie, now in his ninth year in Green Bay's pro personnel department, this season enters his sixth campaign as director of pro personnel for the Packers.

McKenzie oversees Green Bay's scouting efforts of all professional football leagues, including the NFL, Canadian Football League, NFL Europe, Arena Football League, as well as all other pro leagues. He also plays an integral role in judging the Packers' current players as well as providing evaluations of potential free agents. McKenzie also contributes to the scouting of college players in assisting GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman prepare for the annual draft.

Sherman, in one of his initial key moves upon being promoted to General Manager/Head Coach in early 2001, ensured the continued Green Bay tenure of the highly-respected McKenzie with a contract extension through the 2004 season on May 10, 2001.

A one-time National Football League linebacker himself for seven seasons (1985-90, 1992), the 39-year-old McKenzie initially had been promoted to director of pro personnel by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf in May of 1997 after originally joining the Packers as a pro personnel assistant in 1994.

A 10th-round draft choice out of the University of Tennessee in 1985 by the then-Los Angeles Raiders, McKenzie went on to win all-rookie honors and was the team's second-leading tackler during each of his first two seasons. After four years with the Raiders (1985-88), McKenzie spent two seasons (1989-90) with the Phoenix Cardinals and one year (1992) with the San Francisco 49ers before a knee injury forced him to retire. Prior to signing with the 49ers, he played with the World League's Montreal Machine in the spring of 1992.

While out of football in 1991, McKenzie spent a season as a defensive coach for Dorsey High School in South Central Los Angeles. Led by Sharnon Shah, who would later change his name to Karim Abdul-Jabbar and become a Miami Dolphins running back, the school captured the league championship that year.

Personnel Analyst to General Manager

John Schneider, a 10-year NFL personnel veteran, is now in his second year as the Packers' personnel analyst to general manager — his second tenure in Green Bay.

Named to his position by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman March 1, 2002, Schneider serves as strategic counsel to Sherman, addressing and evaluating the needs of the team in both free agency and in the draft, incorporating a long-range planning process that examines the Packers' roster, as well as the rosters of all NFL teams, and takes into account the potential effects of injuries and salary cap issues, and explores possible trade scenarios.

The 32-year-old Schneider rejoined the Packers after spending three years with the Kansas City Chiefs (1997-99), one year with the Seattle Seahawks (2000) and McKenzie returned to Tennessee and served as an assistant under head coach Phil Fulmer in 1993. While back in Knoxville, he also pursued a master's degree in education administration.

Born in Knoxville, Tenn., February 8, 1963, McKenzie earned a bachelor's degree in business administration with an emphasis in personnel management at Schneider moved on to the Kansas City Chiefs in 1997 as director of pro personnel, replacing Mark Hatley who had resigned to become vice president of player personnel for the Chicago Bears and currently serves as the Packers' vice president of football operations. It was in Kansas City that Schneider first worked with Marty Schottenheimer (now head coach of the San Diego Chargers), whom he would later join in Washington. With the Chiefs, Schneider oversaw the scouting of all players with pro playing experience, including NFL Europe, the CFL, as well as the NFL. He also conducted advance scouting of all Kansas City opponents and assisted in free agent acquisition, playing a significant role in the signing of consecutive team MVPs Andre Rison (1997) and Glenn Parker (1998).

In 2000, he signed on as director of player personnel for the Seattle Seahawks, hooking up with Mike Holmgren, with whom he had worked in Green Bay.

Schneider joined Schottenheimer with the Redskins in 2001 as vice president of player personnel, overseeing all aspects of the player personnel department, including college scouting, the college draft, pro scouting, free agency and the day-to-day player personnel evaluations and operations. His duties included assembling and managing Washington's scouting staff, a process which involved the hiring of 15 personnel staff members and implementation of a new scouting system. In his role, Schneider advised Schottenheimer on all personnel matters.

Schneider earned a degree in history and also studied education at St. Thomas, playing football for one year before a shoulder injury cut short his career.

Born May 25, 1971, Schneider was an all-conference running back at De Pere's Abbot Pennington High School and finished as one of the school's all-time leading rushers, playing on the same team and graduating in the same class (1989) with fellow Packers staffers Mike Jelenic and Aaron Popkey. He and his wife, Traci, reside in Green Bay with their son, Benjamin (born 1/4/02).

Executive Director of Public Relations

Lee REMMEL

Lee Remmel is in his 30th year as a member of the Green Bay Packers' front office, having served previously as director of public relations in 1974 and from 1980 through 1988, and as director of publicity from 1975 through 1979.

He was named executive director of public relations in March of 1989 by Bob Harlan, then executive vice president of administration, with responsibility for overseeing the public relations, marketing and community relations. Prior to joining the Packers on March 24, 1974, Remmel was a sports writer and columnist for the Green Bay Press-Gazette for 29½ years.

In the course of his two "careers," he has been involved in staffing all 37 Super Bowls played, the first eight representing the Press-Gazette, the next 22 as a member of the NFL's auxiliary media relations staff, the 1996-97 seasons with the Packers' front office and again the last five years with the NFL.

Remmel also has been a member of the NFL public relations directors' Professional Football Writers of America liaison, statistics and NFL Films committees.

While at the Press-Gazette, he was the only sports writer in Wisconsin to have been directly involved in coverage of the Packers throughout all of the team's coaching regimes to that point, beginning with Packers founder E.L. "Curly" Lambeau and continuing until the naming of Bart Starr in 1975. His personal longevity may be best illustrated by the fact that he witnessed his 100th Packer-Bear game on November 12, 1995, in the 150th regular-season meeting of the arch enemies. He since has attended 14 additional Packer-Bear contests, swelling the total to 114.

Remmel's better than half-century of close association with the Packers was duly recognized on March 30, 1996, when he was inducted into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame. An additional honor was bestowed upon him in August of 2003 when the Packers' press box at the redeveloped Lambeau Field was named, "The Lee Remmel Press Box."

NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, in recognizing Remmel's impact on the team, its fans and the league as a whole, recently said, "Lee Remmel has played an important role in National Football League history. From the 1940s when he began covering the Packers for the Green Bay Press-Gazette to his role today as the club's top public relations official, Lee has spent his career informing Packers fans about their team. The NFL serves more fans than any other sport, and Lee has served Packers fans longer than anyone else in club history — for more than half a century. His tremendous depth of Packers knowledge is immensely valuable both to the club and the league. The Packers are a vital part of the NFL tradition and no one is more synonymous with the Packers than Lee Remmel."

Remmel, a native of Shawano, Wis., where he was born June 30, 1924, began his career as the sports editor of a weekly newspaper while a Shawano High School freshman. He and his wife, Noreen, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on August 21, 1998.

Active in the community, the annual Lee Remmel Sports Awards Banquet, honoring Wisconsin professional, collegiate, amateur and prep athletes, has been held the past six Aprils, raising over $97,000 for scholarship funds at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, St. Norbert College and area high schools.

He and his wife also served as honorary co-chairs of the annual Brown County Humane Society's "Fur Ball" in 2000 and 2001 and are members of the executive committee of the Brown County Civic Music Association. Lee additionally is on the executive board of the 65 Roses Sports Club (cystic fibrosis) and the board of directors of the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame.

Assistant Head Coach/ Defensive Backs

- 12th season in NFL
- Fourth season with Packers

Bob Slowik, an 11-year NFL coaching veteran, is now in his second year as the Packers' assistant head coach and fourth year overall with the club as coach of the defensive backs.

In his role as assistant head coach, Slowik assists Green Bay General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman with issues relating to the team and football as they come up during the year.

Sherman, in naming Slowik to his new position on April 27, 2002, said, "Bob's tremendous work ethic, experiences, his people skills and his ability to see the big picture are the attributes I feel I can tap into."

Slowik's efforts with the defensive secondary, along with the work of assistant defensive backs coach Lionel Washington, in 2002 helped the passing defense to a third-place ranking in the NFL, its highest standing since leading the league in 1996. Along the way, Green Bay's defenders intercepted 24 passes, the third-best total in the NFL, and ranked fifth-best on third-down defense, holding opponents to just a 33.9-percent conversion mark. Overall, the Packers' made a league-leading 45 takeaways, six more than any other NFL team and Green Bay's most in 21 years, since 1981 (54).

His successful work in 2001 manifested itself as the secondary contributed to a defense that allowed only 237 points, the fifth-lowest total in the league. Protecting the airways, the Packers' defense permitted just 10.3 yards per pass play, the second-lowest total in the NFL and best in the NFC.

A year earlier, Slowik successfully led his charges through the implementation of coordinator Ed Donatelli's new defense, the secondary contributing to the unit's 21 interceptions, the third-highest total in the NFC.

On an individual level, safety Darren Sharper posted a breakthrough year under the tutelage of Slowik in 2000, making a career-best nine interceptions to lead the NFL — the first Green Bay player to do so in 38 years — while earning consensus All-Pro honors and a trip to the Pro Bowl. He has maintained the high level of play, returning to the Pro Bowl in 2002, earning several All-Pro accolades the past two seasons and ranking as the NFL's leading interceptor over the past four seasons with 25 picks.

Originally named defensive backs coach on February 10, 2000, by Sherman, Slowik joined the Packers after serving as defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns in 1999.

Familiar with the NFC's Central Division, Slowik previously was defensive coordinator for the Chicago Bears for six years (1993-98) before moving to the Browns. Under Slowik's direction, the Bears finished in the top half of the NFL in total defense in five of his six seasons. In addition to duties as defensive coordinator, Slowik coached the secondary during his first three years in Chicago and headed up the linebackers his final three seasons.

Slowik joined the Bears after spending the 1992 season with the Dallas Cowboys as a defensive assistant, a campaign that saw the Cowboys finish 16-3 and win Super Bowl XXVII. In his first NFL season, Slowik primarily oversaw the Cowboys' stingy 'nickel' defense, the NFL's top unit in 1992 while limiting offenses to an NFL-low 27.2 percent success rate on third-down conversions. Additionally, the Cowboys' defense led the league in fewest yards allowed that year.

Prior to entering the NFL, the Pittsburgh native coached the outside linebackers at East Carolina for two seasons (1990-91). With Slowik's help, the 1991 Pirates finished with an 11-1 record and a No. 9 national ranking, both tops in school history. Slowik was named as

BONAMEGO

With a wealth of special teams coaching experience, and success, John Bonamego joins the Green Bay Packers in 2003 as their special teams coordinator.

Bonamego, the 15th special teams coach in club history, was named to his position by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman January 27, 2003. He succeeds Frank Novak, who retired January 10.

A veteran of 15 years of coaching, including four seasons at the NFL level, Bonamego's exceptional skills with special teams are the result of working with the units during 11 seasons of his career.

He joins the Packers after four seasons (1999-2002) with the Jacksonville Jaguars, serving the 2002 season as the club's special teams coordinator. Bonamego's units were ranked third in the NFL last season in the Dallas Morning News' annual special teams rankings. The Jaguars' kickoff coverage team led the AFC, and finished second in the NFL overall, allowing just 19.5 yards per return. Its punt return unit finished fifth in the conference, averaging 11.1 yards per return, including a memorable 69-yard touchdown return by Bobby Shaw that provided Jacksonville its eventual winning margin in a 28-25 victory over Philadelphia, October 6. Bonamego's troops also blocked 4 kicks, recorded 1 touchdown and 1 safety. Additionally, Jacksonville was one of only two NFL teams in 2002 to not surrender both a return touchdown and a blocked kick.

On an individual level, Bonamego (pronounced boh-nah-MAY-go) helped mold punter Chris Hanson, a relatively unknown free agent, into a Pro Bowl selection. Hanson led the AFC in both gross average (44.2, second in NFL) and net average (37.6, fourth in NFL).

The 39-year-old Bonamego first joined the Jaguars in 1999, and worked for three seasons as assistant special teams coach under Larry Pasquale (1999) and Frank Gansz (2000-01) — considered two of the league's best-ever special teams minds — until his promotion last year following the retirement of Gansz.

Bonamego joined Jacksonville after six seasons at Army, where he first assisted in coaching the outside linebackers (1993) and subsequently headed up special teams and recruiting (1994-98). During his tenure, he helped develop some of the top punters, kickoff returners and placekickers in school history. While living in West Point, Bonamego lived at 1010 Bartlet Loop, in the same home that once housed Vince Lombardi, who also later would go on to coach in Green Bay.

Bonamego broke into college coaching in 1988 at Maine, where he spent four years, two as a graduate assistant (1988-89) and two as wide receivers/special teams coach (1990-91).

Ed

Ed Donatell embarks upon his fourth season as the Packers' defensive coordinator in 2003.

Known for its aggressive nature, Donatell's defense is keyed on making the big play and creating takeaways.

Over the past two seasons the Packers have done just that, leading the NFL with 84 takeaways (44 interceptions, 40 fumble recoveries), seven better than Tampa Bay's 77 (59 INT, 18 FR). Additionally, Green Bay's 95 quarterback sacks over the past two years ranks third in the NFL and is the highest two-year total in franchise history.

The 2002 season witnessed Donatell's defenders play a featured role in a league-leading 45 takeaways. The total was six more than any other NFL team and the Packers' most in 21 years, since 1981 (54). Overall, the Packers' defense ranked 12th in the NFL, including a passing defense that ranked third in the league, its highest standing since leading the league in 1996. Along the way, Green Bay's defenders intercepted 24 passes, the third-best total in the NFL and ranked fifth-best on third-down defense, holding opponents to just a 33.9-percent conversion mark. In the red zone, the Packers forced nine takeaways, the league's best mark.

The past season's success came on the heels of a productive outing in 2001, the Packers ranking second in the league in creating takeaways with 39, including a league-high (tied) 19 fumble recoveries, and finishing fifth overall in scoring defense. Green Bay's defenders surrendering just 237 points over the course of the season. Always attacking and creating pressure, Donatell's corps also surpassed the team sack record in 2001, posting 52 quarterback takedowns to finish third in the league and break the club mark of 50 set in 1998. With strong pressure on the quarterback, the Packers' defense allowed only 10.3 yards per pass play, the second-lowest mark in the NFL and tops in the NFC. Overall, Green Bay allowed an average of 4.7 yards per play, the sixth-best total in the league.

In 2000, Donatell successfully implemented a new style of play in his inaugural season as coordinator. The Packers were strong against the run, ranking eighth in the NFL, and gave up just seven rushing TDs, the second-lowest mark in the NFL that season as well as the second-fewest yielded by a Green Bay team since 1962. Against the pass, Green Bay registered 21 interceptions in 2000, tied as the sixth-highest total in the NFL.

On an individual level, safety Darren Sharper posted a breakthrough season in 2000 under Donatell, finishing with a career-high and NFL-leading nine interceptions while earning All-Pro and Pro Bowl honors in the process. He has maintained the high level of play, earning several All-Pro accolades the past two seasons and ranking as the NFL's leading interceptor over the past four seasons with 25 picks.

Donatell, who was named to his post by Mike Sherman on January 26, 2000, is a veteran of two Super Bowl victories and owns an 8-4 overall record in playoff games during his 12 seasons in NFL coaching ranks.

Before joining the Packers, the 46-year-old Donatell led the defensive backfield of the Denver Broncos for five seasons (1995-99), helping the club capture World Championships following the 1997 and 1998 seasons, including a Super Bowl XXXII victory over Green Bay.

Donatell's defensive backs played a key role in the Broncos' defensive success over his five seasons in the Mile High city. Denver finished in the top half of the NFL during his final four years after ranking 15th in 1995, his first season tutoring the defensive backs, which was up from 28th in 1994, the year prior to his arrival.

Specifically against the pass, Donatell's pupils were particularly strong during his tenure, ranking in the top 10 in four of his five seasons as coach, including an eighth-place ranking in 1999, helping propel Denver to a seventh-place finish in total defense.

Denver defensive backs turned in an especially strong performance en route to the club's first Super Bowl crown in 1997 as the defense finished fifth in the league against the pass. The standout season included an NFL-high five interceptions returned for touchdowns.

The defensive backfield again played a key role in 1998 as the Broncos captured their second straight NFL championship. Donatell's troops intercepted seven passes in three postseason contests to help advance the club to the title.

Earlier success saw the Broncos finish ninth against the pass in 1995 and 10th in 1996, contributing to a fourth-place league ranking overall. Two of Donatell's players, safeties Steve Atwater and Tyrone Braxton, earned Pro Bowl recognition during his tenure.

Prior to his time in Denver, Donatell tutored the defensive backs for the New York Jets (1990-94).

Donatell began his coaching career in 1979 at Kent State, spending two seasons as a graduate assistant. A two-year stint as a graduate assistant at the University of Washington (1981-82) followed before he moved on to University of the Pacific for three seasons as defensive backs coach (1983-85). Tenures at Idaho (1986-88) and Cal State-Fullerton (1989) as defensive backs coach preceded his move into the professional ranks.

A collegiate defensive back himself at Glenville (W.Va.) State, Donatell was an all-conference selection as well as team captain and a four-year letter winner. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education at Glenville State and, later, a master's degree in administration from Kent State.

Born February 4, 1957, in Akron, Ohio, Donatell played football and basketball at nearby Stow (Ohio) High School. He and his wife, Shari, live in Green Bay with their three children — a daughter, Brenna (born 1/28/87), and sons, Thomas (born 3/29/89) and Steven (born 3/5/94). Tom ROSSLEY

COACHES

Now in his 28th season of coaching, Tom Rossley begins year four of heading up the Green Bay Packers' offense.

During a successful 2002 outing, the Packers' offense scored 398 points, produced 318 first downs and gained 5,560 yards, all representing the team's best totals since 1998. On the ground, the offense pounded out 120.8 yards per game, the most by Green Bay since 1985, to rank fifth in the NFC. Rossley's unit led the league in passing touchdowns with 29 and boasted nine different players with a TD reception, the second-highest total in the NFL. In the process, Rossley successfully indoctrinated a mostly-new corps of receivers as well as overcame a slew of injuries to both the offensive line and running backs that caused him to utilize several younger players, including two rookie free agents, in key roles.

On an individual level, quarterback Brett Favre, running back Ahman Green and tight end Bubba Franks continue to flourish in Rossley's scheme, all earning Pro Bowl honors for the second consecutive season last year. Favre's quarterback rating over the past two seasons, 89.7, is his highest two-season mark since the 1997-98 campaigns. Green's 2,627 rushing yards over the 2001-02 seasons is the club's second-best, back-to-back season total, behind the 2,781 yards churned out by Jim Taylor over the 1961-62 outings. The 16 touchdown receptions posted by Franks during the past two years is the sixth-highest, two-season production for an NFL tight end over the last 20 years. Additionally, wide receiver Donald Driver recorded a breakout year in Rossley's offense, posting 1,064 receiving yards and nine TDs in an effort that earned the 1999 seventh-round pick a trip to the Pro Bowl.

Since arriving in Tittletown, Rossley's offense has performed consistently well, ranking among the NFL's top ten in several categories over the past three seasons. From 2000-02, the Packers ranked fourth in passing touchdowns (82) and in TD-to-INT ratio (1.74), fifth in passing first downs (581) and sacks allowed (83), sixth in completions (1,023), seventh in overall touchdowns (128, tied), points scored (1,141) and net passing yards/game (230.7) and ninth in completion percentage (60.5).

In 2001, Rossley directed the offense to the sixth overall ranking in the league, an improvement from 15th place in 2000, including a passing game that finished third. His corps ranked in the top five in three other categories, finishing third in touchdowns (43), up from a tie for 12th in 2000; third in red zone touchdown percentage (57.4), up from 15th; and fifth in points per game (24.4), up from 11th.

Originally named to his post January 26, 2000, the 57-year-old Rossley has had a long association with success during his coaching career, a dossier that includes six seasons as a head coach at the major college level and eight seasons as an offensive coordinator.

Prior to joining the Packers, Rossley coached quarterbacks for the Kansas City Chiefs in 1999. Under his direction, Elvis Grbac finished with the AFC's fifth-best passer rating (81.7) and the conference's second-best, third-down rating (89.3).

The Painesville, Ohio, native earlier had made his first foray into the NFL in 1990 as the quarterbacks coach of the Atlanta Falcons. Under Rossley's direction, quarterback Chris Miller directed an Atlanta passing offense that ranked fourth in the NFC and sixth in the NFL.

In 1991, Rossley moved on to become head coach at Southern Methodist University, where he had served earlier as an assistant coach. His daunting assignment was to rebuild a program which had been shut down by the NCAA's death penalty. After an initial 1-10 season, the Mustangs posted a 5-6 record in 1992, the school's largest one-season turnaround since 1968, earning Rossley Southwestern Conference 'Co-Coach of the Year' honors in the process. In five of his six years as coach, the Mustangs averaged over 300 yards of total offense per game.

Later, between his second stint at SMU and his time in Kansas City, Rossley enjoyed a two-year stretch with the Chicago Bears (1997-98), beginning his first season as a talent evaluator before finishing the campaign as wide receivers coach. In 1998, he coached tight ends.

Also serving in the college ranks as an offensive coordinator, Rossley first worked in that capacity during two seasons at Holy Cross (1986-87). Under Rossley's guidance, the Crusaders went a combined 21-1, including an 11-0, Division I-AA national championship season in 1987 that saw the team lead the nation in both points (46) and yards (522) per game.

Rossley then held the same position for two seasons at SMU (1988-89), his first stint at the university, serving under Forrest Gregg, a Hall of Fame offensive tackle for the Packers who later would coach the same NFL team for four seasons.

Rossley entered the college coaching ranks on a full-time basis in 1976 as an offensive assistant at Rice University. After a one-year stint as wide receivers coach at his alma mater, Cincinnati, in 1977, Rossley returned to Rice (1978-81), as passing game coordinator.

Rossley's first professional coaching job would follow in 1982, when he served as running backs/wide receivers coach for the Canadian Football League's Montreal Concordes. He then coached for the San Antonio Gunslingers of the United States Football League in 1985 and served a season (1987) on the offensive staff of the Arena League's Denver Dynamite.

A standout player as a collegian at the University of Cincinnati, Rossley was a two-year letter winner (1967-68) at wide receiver after beginning his career as a quarterback. He garnered All-America honors in 1968 after ranking second in the nation with a school-record 80 receptions, also setting the Bearcats' single-game records for receptions (13) and receiving yards (254) in the process. Rossley received a B.S. degree in 1969.

Rossley began his coaching career in the fall of 1969 at Chardon (Ohio) High School. He later coached two years at Eastlake (Ohio) North High School (1970-71) and three seasons at Lake Worth (Fla.) High School (1973-75). A one-year stint as a graduate assistant at the University of Arkansas came in 1972.

Born August 9, 1946, in Painesville, Ohio, Rossley was an all-conference quarterback at the city's Harvey High School (alumni including Pro Football Hall of Fame coach Don Shula), also playing basketball and baseball. He and his wife, Kristine, live in Green Bay and have three children — grown sons Max (with wife Lauren and sons, Chase, 2, and infant Blake) and Mick (with wife Diane and infant twins, Luke and Kate), and a daughter, Kristi, who is a college junior at Kansas. In his spare time, Rossley enjoys playing golf.

Larry

Now in his fifth season of coaching the Green Bay Packers offensive line, sage Larry Beightol is enjoying his 19th National Football League campaign in 2003.

In the midst of his 36th season in coaching overall, the Pittsburgh native's ability to cultivate young talent has been especially evident during his tenure in Green Bay, as he has been instrumental in the development of the Packers' fine young offensive line — Chad Clifton, Mike Wahle, Mike Flanagan, Marco Rivera and Mark Tauscher.

The highly respected Beightol's teaching skills and ability to adapt to adversity paid off in 2002, a season that presented many injury-based challenges, including the starting of three different right tackles — Tauscher, Earl Dotson and undrafted rookie Kevin Barry — and the shifting of center Flanagan to left tackle for the injured Clifton. The O-line's performance was solid in spite of the injuries, the Packers rushing for 120.8 yards per game, the most in 17 years. The ground game ranked as the NFL's 12th best, the club's highest finish since 1997. On the pass protection front, the Packers allowed only 27 sacks, ninth-fewest in the league, including a league-low four sacks on first down.

The line's output paved the way for another 1,000-yard season for Ahman Green, the fourth-consecutive campaign Beightol's corps have produced a 1,000-yard rusher, and Brett Favre authored another Pro Bowl season.

Beightol's pupils forged an impressive 2001 campaign, holding the line for an offense that ranked sixth in the league overall (up from 15th the year before), including the third-ranked passing attack. The latter statistic was attributable, in no small part, to the effective pass protection of the Green and Gold's trench men, who, along with the rest of the offense, yielded only 22 sacks — the third-fewest in the league and the fewest by a Packers offense since 1974 when 17 were surrendered. Furthermore, the group was responsible for only five holding calls all season long, with two players — Flanagan and Tauscher — not flagged once.

Beightol (pronounced BECK-tull), who originally joined the Packers in 1999 and subsequently was retained by new Head Coach Mike Sherman the following year, came to Green Bay after three successful seasons with the Miami Dolphins. In 1997, his offensive linemen gave up only 22 sacks, the second-lowest yield in the NFL. His 1998 squad surrendered only 24 QB

Larry Beightol is the 19th offensive line coach in Packers history. However, Beightol (4) and Tom Stidham (1) are the only O-line coaches to garner 1,000-yard rushers in every season with Green Bay. Most 1,000-yard gainers by line coach:

drops, the league's third-fewest total. In 1996, his linemen helped pave the way for 1,116 rushing yards from Karim Abdul-Jabbar, a Dolphins rookie rushing record and the first Miami 1,000-yard ground total since 1978.

Prior to joining the Dolphins, the 60-year-old Beightol enjoyed tenures with five other NFL teams — the Atlanta Falcons (1985-86), Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1987-88), San Diego Chargers (1989), New York Jets (1990-94) and the then-Houston Oilers (1995). During his 1989 season with the Chargers, he also served as offensive coordinator, in addition to coaching the offensive line.

In 1993, his New York Jets offensive line surrendered a league-low 21 sacks and did not allow a quarterback takedown in a club-record eight of 16 games, an impressive reduction from its total of 62 sacks in 1989, the year before Beightol took over.

Before breaking into the NFL with Atlanta in 1985, Beightol coached 17 years at the collegiate level, practicing his trade at William & Mary (1968-71), North Carolina State (1972-75), Auburn (1976), Arkansas (1977-78 and, later, 1980-82), Louisiana Tech (1979 — as head coach) and Missouri (1983-84).

Beightol, a guard and linebacker himself as a collegian, played at Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C., from 1960-63, serving as team captain. A two-time all-conference and all-region selection, he was inducted into Catawba's sports hall of fame in 1993. After earning a B.A. degree in physical education from Catawba in 1964, Beightol went on to William & Mary and earned a master's degree in education in 1967, beginning his college coaching career at the school a year later.

Earlier, Beightol had enjoyed a highly successful prep football career at West Branch High School in Morrisdale, Pa., earning induction into the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame (Western Division).

Born November 21, 1942, in Pittsburgh, Beightol lives in Green Bay with his wife, Marian. The couple has one daughter, Kristin, 36.

Darrell
BEVELL

Now in his fourth season with the Packers and in the NFL, Darrell Bevell takes over as quarterbacks coach for Green Bay in 2003.

Promoted February 4, 2003, by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman, Bevell will oversee Green Bay's passers, as well as assist offensive coordinator Tom Rossley with offensive strategy and game planning.

Sherman, in making the announcement, said, "Darrell has developed into an excellent quarterbacks coach. My original plan three years ago was to elevate him to this position if I felt confident in his abilities, and I do. He has done an outstanding job working with our offense and the quarterbacks since he's been here. I'm confident that will continue."

In his role last season as offensive assistant with particular attention to the quarterbacks, Bevell was instrumental in the development of Craig Nall, working with the fifth-round pick and cultivating his transition to the pro game. Nall proceeded to flourish in NFL Europe in 2003, finishing the season as the league's top-rated passer while directing the top-rated Scottish Claymores' offense.

In his eighth season overall in the coaching profession, Bevell will continue contributing his talents behind the scenes, breaking down the Packers' offensive game video — "self scouting" — and setting up Green Bay's vast array of computerized teaching tools, including the Pinnacle digital video system.

The son of a high school football coach, the 33-year-old Bevell originally joined the Packers on March 7, 2000, after four years of developing his coaching skills in the collegiate ranks, including two seasons (1998-99) at the University of Connecticut as wide receivers coach. Under his direction during the 1998 campaign, senior wideout Carl Bond registered a school-record 11 touchdown receptions and teamed with sophomore receiver John Fitzsimmons to each post 1,000-yard seasons — the first such tandem in school history.

Bevell is best known to football fans in Wisconsin as the field general who led the Badgers to victory in the 1994 Rose Bowl, a feat which culminated the storybook 1993 regular season which saw Wisconsin finish 10-1-1 and claim a share of the Big Ten Conference championship — the school's first league title since 1962. The four-year starter (1992-95) finished his career in Madison as Wisconsin's all-time leading passer with 19 school records and two Big Ten marks.

After graduating in 1995, Bevell embarked upon his coaching career with his first assignment coming at Westmar University in Lemars, Iowa (the college has since closed). He served as the passing game coordinator at Westmar in 1996, and also tutored the school's quarterbacks. Bevell moved on to Iowa State the following season (1997) as a graduate assistant, coaching the wide receivers.

Born January 6, 1970, in Yuma, Ariz., Bevell played for his father, James, at Chaparral High School in Scottsdale, Ariz., laying the groundwork for his interest in later joining the coaching profession. He began his college career at Northern Arizona in 1989, spending the year as a redshirt before leaving the school for a two-year Mormon mission in Cleveland (1990-91). He then transferred to Wisconsin in the spring of 1992.

Bevell resides in De Pere, Wis., with his wife, Tammy, and the couple's two daughters, Kylie (born 10/2/96) and Morgan (born 4/1/99). He enjoys spending time with his family, outdoor activities and playing golf in moments of leisure. Heavily involved with charity work while in college, Bevell remains actively involved in his community and enjoys speaking to a variety of groups.

Front office and coaching staff turnover

Mike Sherman's football operations staff, tabbed best in the NFL by Pro Football Weekly, has lost no one since training camp 2001. Sherman has made just one move in that span and it was an addition — hiring personnel analyst to general manager John Schneider, during the '01 season. This year marks the first time since 1993, when Green Bay ended an 11-year playoff drought, that the Packers have made no changes to neither their pro personnel nor scouting department.

In 2002, Green Bay returned 100 percent of its coaching staff for the first time since 1993. Mike Holmgren returned all 13 members of his original '92 staff (including future head coaches Ray Rhodes, Jon Gruden, Dick Jauron, Steve Mariucci and Andy Reid).

After the 2002 season, the Packers lost three coaches: Bo Pellini (linebackers, became Nebraska defensive coordinator), Pat Ruel (assistant offensive line, became Bills' O-line coach) and Frank Novak (special teams, retired). Mike Sherman replaced them with Mark Duffner (linebackers), Joe Philbin (assistant offensive line) and John Bonamego (special teams).

Sylvester
CROOM

Sylvester Croom begins his 17th season in the NFL coaching ranks in 2003, his third season heading up Green Bay's running backs.

The possessor of extensive offensive experience, Croom spent his entire 16 previous NFL seasons on the offensive side of the ball, serving either as a running backs coach or offensive coordinator.

In 2002, Croom's backs contributed to a Packers' rushing effort that averaged 120.8 yards per game, the most by a Packers team since 1985, to rank fifth in the NFC. His work with lead pupil Ahman Green continued to pay dividends, the five-year veteran earning his second consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl on the heels of a third-straight 1,000-yard season. Croom's tutoring of undrafted rookie Tony Fisher furthered his reputation as a successful teacher, the Notre Dame product capably stepping in when injuries felled Green and Najeh Davenport. Fisher finished with 283 yards, the most by a Green Bay rookie in 16 years.

Croom's first season in Green Bay, 2001, was successful as well, Green posting a second-consecutive 1,000-yard season and leading the Packers in receptions for the second straight year. Green finished second in the NFC in both rushing yards (1,387) and total yards from scrimmage (1,981) — both career highs — and was named the team's Most Valuable Player, earning a slew of postseason honors, including his inaugural trip to Hawaii and second-team All-Pro selection by the Associated Press.

Named to his position by Packers General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman on January 30, 2001, Croom came to Green Bay after four seasons as offensive coordinator for the Detroit Lions (1997-2000) and tenures with three other NFL teams.

Croom achieved noted success during his four years at the helm of the Lions' offense, with his 1997 troops ranking second in the NFL, running back Barry Sanders becoming the third person in league history to crack the 2,000-yard barrier, rushing for 2,053 yards, and both Herman Moore and Johnnie Morton posting more than 1,000 yards receiving. In 1999, Morton and Germaine Crowell combined for 161 receptions and 2,467 yards. Tight end David Sloan also performed well in '99, earning a trip to the Pro Bowl on the strength of 47 receptions for 591 yards, the best production from a Lions tight end in 20 years.

Prior to his tenure with the Lions, the 48-year-old Croom tutored running backs for five seasons with the San Diego Chargers (1992-96). In 1994, under Croom's guidance, second-year back Natrone Means set team records with 1,350 yards rushing and a string of five consecutive 100-yard rushing games. It was in San Diego where Croom first joined the staff of Bobby Ross, whom he followed to the Lions in 1997 as offensive coordinator.

Croom broke into the NFL as running backs coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1987, coaching there for four seasons before spending one year (1991) in the same role with the Indianapolis Colts.

The Tuscaloosa, Ala., native launched his profession in his home state, coaching at his alma mater, the University of Alabama, for 10 seasons (1977-86). Croom oversaw both inside (1977-81, 1984-86) and outside linebackers (1982-83) during his tenure with the Crimson Tide and enjoyed back-to-back national championship seasons in 1978-79. In addition, Alabama led the Southeastern Conference in total defense during the 1979-80 seasons.

Croom enjoyed a measure of teaching success with the Tide, with four of his players developing into National Football League first-round draft picks: E.J. Junior (1981), Mike Pitts (1983), Cornelius Bennett (1987) and the late Derrick Thomas (1989).

Croom first enjoyed achievement at Alabama as a player under Bear Bryant, starting two years at center (1973-74) and helping the Tide to a 22-2 record. Along the way, Alabama captured three straight SEC titles and the national championship in 1973. As a senior, Croom was named All-SEC and a Kodak All-American, in addition to earning the 'Jacobs Award' as the best offensive lineman in the conference. Before settling at center, Croom had stints as a linebacker, tight end and tackle. At Alabama, he earned a bachelor's degree in history with a minor in biology in 1975 as well as a master's degree in educational administration in 1977.

Croom signed as a free agent with the New Orleans Saints in 1975, playing one NFL season before going back to Tuscaloosa to gain his first experience with the Alabama staff as a graduate assistant in 1976, helping to coach the centers.

Born September 25, 1954, in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Sylvester Croom Jr. starred at Tuscaloosa high school as a linebacker and tight end. 'Sly' and his wife, Jeri, live in Green Bay. The couple has a daughter, Jennifer (with husband Ira Bates and infant daughter, Ryan).

Lombardi's pupils

Offense Quality Control/ Assistant Special Teams

- Third season in NFL
- Third season with Packers

Stan Drayton, the Packers' offense quality control/assistant special teams coach, is now in his third season in Green Bay, also his third in the NFL overall.

Named to his position by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman on May 7, 2001, Drayton assists the Packers' offensive staff with film breakdown and practice preparation, in addition to aiding John Bonamego with Green Bay's special teams units, including scout team assignments.

Possessor of eight years coaching experience in the college ranks, Drayton enjoyed tenures at Villanova University (1996-2000), the University of Pennsylvania (1995), Eastern Michigan (1994) and Allegheny College (1993). Prior to joining the Packers, Drayton had just finished the spring practice session as running backs and special teams coach at Bowling Green, a position he had accepted in January of 2001 and subsequently resigned to join Green Bay's staff.

While at Villanova, Drayton's coaching contributed to two nationally-ranked Division I-AA teams (11th in 1996 and 1st in 1997) and oversaw a fantastic 1998 season for Brian Westbrook, the sophomore running back setting a I-AA record for all-purpose yards in a season with 3,206. In the process, Westbrook became the first college player — at any level — to amass more than 1,000 yards rushing and receiving, and has since gone on to success in the pro ranks after being chosen in the third round by Philadelphia in 2002. During Drayton's first season at the school (1996), he helped Curtis Sifford become the first Villanova running back to top the 1,000-yard rushing mark.

Before coaching at Villanova, the Cleveland native spent the 1995 season at the University of Pennsylvania as the director of football operations and assisting with running backs, after serving as a graduate assistant during the 1994 season at Eastern Michigan, working with the running backs and wide receivers. Drayton launched

The current replay system is in place at least through 2003.

Prior to the two-minute warning each half, a Coaches' Challenge System will be in effect. After the two-minute warning, and throughout any overtime period, a Referee Review will be initiated by a Replay Assistant (RA) from a Replay Booth.

► Reviews by Referee: All reviews will be conducted by the Referee on a field-level monitor after consultation with the other covering official(s). The Referee will reverse a decision only when he has indisputable visual evidence available.

► Coaches' Challenge: Each team gets two challenges to initiate reviews. Each challenge requires a time out. If a challenge is upheld, the time out will be restored. A challenge will never be restored. A team must have at least one timeout to challenge.

► RA's Request for Review: After each two-minute warning, and overtime, RAs initiate reviews. The RA has no limit to his challenges. There is no limit to the number of RA reviews. His ability to initiate a review will be unrelated to the number of time outs that either team has remaining, and no time out will be charged for any review initiated by the RA.

► Time Limit: Each review will be a maximum 90 seconds, timed from when the Referee begins his review of the replay at the field-level monitor.

- ▶ Seventh season in NFL

A coaching veteran of 28 seasons, Mark Duffner joins the Green Bay Packers staff in 2003 as linebackers coach. Owner of a wealth of experience, he served 11 years as a college head coach and two seasons as an NFL defensive coordinator.

Named to the position by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman on January 23, 2003, the talented Duffner succeeds Bo Pelini, who resigned to become defensive coordinator at the University of Nebraska.

Duffner comes to the Packers after six seasons (1997-2002) with the Cincinnati Bengals, coaching the club's linebackers for four years (1997-2000) before being promoted to defensive coordinator in 2001, a position he held the past two seasons. During the latter tenure, while continuing to coach the linebackers, Duffner directed a defense that allowed 315.5 yards per game, the club's lowest two-year total since 1987-88.

One of Duffner's pupils, linebacker Takeo Spikes, ranked 10th in the AFC with 171 tackles and tied for the NFL lead with four fumble recoveries in 2002. Duffner's defense, with the linebackers playing a key role, led the NFL by ending five goal-to-goal drives via takeaway and its five red-zone takeaways were the third-most in the AFC. Also, the Bengals held opponents to negative yardage on 65 carries, tied for second-most in the league, as well as just 1,305 yards after the catch, first in the conference.

In 2001, the Bengals delivered their best defensive performance in more than a decade, allowing the fewest points (309) and posting the best NFL yardage ranking (ninth) of any Cincinnati defense since the 1989 season. Additionally, the '01 Bengals defense allowed the fewest yards per game (302) since 1983 and set a franchise, single-season record for sacks with 48.

Prior to joining the Bengals staff, Duffner was head coach at the University of Maryland from 1992 through 1996, compiling a 20-35 record that included an 11-11 mark over his final two seasons, the school's best two-season record since 1984-85.

While at Maryland, Duffner acquired the Terps' first national ranking in nine years when his team rose as high as No. 17 in 1995. His Maryland teams also set more than 100 school offensive records. In the overall process, Duffner improved Maryland's player graduation rate, with three classes in a row ranking among the nation's best (1994-96).

Earlier, as head coach at Holy Cross (1986-91), he enjoyed the most successful era in the school's football history, posting a remarkable 60-5-1 record that included two 11-0 seasons (1987 and 1991) during his six-year tenure. Duffner was chosen for five national coach of the year honors while at Holy Cross, a period during which his 1987 team was ranked No. 1 in the nation in Division I-AA by the Associated Press. He also was chosen 'New England Coach of the Year' five times. He initially served as defensive coordinator for five seasons at the school (1981-85).

He began his coaching career at Ohio State in 1975-76 as a graduate assistant to the legendary Woody Hayes. In 1977, he was named defensive coordinator at the University of Cincinnati, becoming — at age 23 — the youngest defensive coordinator in the Division I ranks; he worked for three seasons as a Bearcat (1977-80), before moving on to Holy Cross.

Duffner played college football at William & Mary, where he was a defensive lineman and was named to the Southern Conference All-Academic team as a senior. He later was inducted into the William & Mary Hall of Fame in 1990.

Born July 19, 1953, in Annandale, Va., Duffner and his wife, Kathy, live in Green Bay. The couple has three children: daughters Christina, 24, a public relations assistant with the Atlanta Falcons, and Carolyn, 22, a resident of Washington, D.C., and son, John, 19, a sophomore at the University of Notre Dame. In his spare time, Duffner enjoys spending time with his family.

Jethro
FRANKLIN

Jethro Franklin, one of Green Bay's more animated teachers, enters his fourth year of coaching the team's defensive line in 2003.

In 2002, Franklin's troops contributed to the Packers' defense finishing third in the NFL against the pass, the club's highest such ranking since the '96 squad ranked No. 1. En route, Green Bay finished with 43 sacks, the sixth-best mark in the NFL. Over the last two seasons, Franklin's unit has contributed to 95 quarterback take-downs, a Packers record for sacks in two consecutive campaigns. Also stout against the run in the red zone, Green Bay's D-line helped the defense to allow touch-downs on just 63.9 percent of goal-to-goal series, the third-lowest rate in the NFC.

On an individual level, Franklin's efforts have paid dividends with defensive end Kaber Gbaja-Biamila, who continues to develop into one of the league's top young pass rushers; his 12 sacks in 2002 marked the second-consecutive season (13½ in 2001) of double-digit sacks, the first such foray since Reggie White's efforts over the 1997-98 seasons. Franklin's tutoring also impacted defensive tackle Cletidus Hunt, the Kentucky State product playing well in his first year as a starter in 2002 after three seasons of valuable backup work.

In helping the Packers' defense surrender only 237 points in 2001, the fifth-lowest total in the league, Franklin's linemen contributed to a team-record 52 sacks, good for third in the NFL. The constant pressure up front led to the defense allowing just 10.3 yards per pass play, the second-lowest figure in the NFL.

Franklin's work in 2000 — his first year in Green Bay — was similarly successful, the defensive line acclimating to a new one-gap scheme and playing a crucial role in the Packers' defensive performance, serving as the front line for a unit that surrendered just seven rushing TDs — the second-lowest total in the NFL and the second-fewest amount yielded by the Packers since 1962.

Originally named to his post February 15, 2000, Franklin joined the Packers with a résumé containing nine years of coaching at the college level and two All-America seasons as a player at Fresno State.

Prior to joining the Packers, the 37-year-old Franklin coached the interior defensive line at UCLA for one season (1991), which followed eight campaigns of heading up the D-line at his alma mater, Fresno State (1991-98).

A coach in three bowl games at Fresno State,

Franklin's tutoring produced several all-conference players. His 1992 defensive front played a crucial role in setting a new Bulldog record for tackles for loss (67).

Also a veteran of two NFL coaching fellowships, Franklin worked with the Buffalo Bills in the summer of 1994 after receiving the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr., Minority Coaching Fellowship, and in the summer of 1995 interned with the Cleveland Browns.

A standout defensive lineman at Fresno State, Franklin earned back-to-back All-America honors in 1986 and '87 while finishing his career with 31½ sacks, second on FSU's all-time list. He set a then-school record with 19½ sacks as a junior and, as a senior, was named Pacific Coast Athletic Association 'Defensive Player of the Year' and the Bulldogs' 'Most Valuable Player.' He later earned a bachelor's degree in criminology from Fresno State in 1989.

Prior to transferring to FSU, Franklin played two seasons at San Jose (Calif.) Community College (1984-85), earning junior college All-America recognition in 1985.

An 11th-round draft choice of the Houston Oilers in 1988, Franklin went on to play for the Seattle Seahawks in 1989. He later was the No. 1 draft choice of the San Antonio Rough Riders of the World League of American Football (WLAF) in the winter of 1991, but instead opted to start his coaching career.

Franklin was born October 25, 1965, in St. Lazaire, France, where his father was stationed in the military. He and his wife, Cherise, live in De Pere, Wis., with their two children: a son, Khalil (born 3/20/97), and a daughter, Takara (born 6/6/99).

Jeff JAGODZINSKI

Wisconsin native Jeff Jagodzinski in 2003 embarks upon his fifth season in Green Bay as tight ends coach, his troops regular contributors to the offensive success of the Packers, both on the ground and through the air.

Fourth-year tight end Bubba Franks has continued his successful development under Jagodzinski, earning second-consecutive Pro Bowl honors in 2002. Franks' 54 receptions in 2002 marked the first 50-plus catch season by a Packers tight end since Mark Chmura nabbed 54 in 1995 and fell just two shy of Paul Coffman's club-record 56 (1979). The 16 TD catches posted by Franks during the past two campaigns is the sixth-highest, two-season total for an NFL tight end over the last 20 years. He also is considered one of the NFL's promising young blocking tight ends, an area in which Jagodzinski has spent considerable time helping him grow.

Originally joined the Packers in 1999 and retained by Head Coach Mike Sherman the following season, the 38-year-old West Allis, Wis., native also coached for 14 years in the college ranks.

Jagodzinski (pronounced jay-gah-ZIN-ski) enjoyed a successful run at Boston College, his offenses averaging over 400 yards per game in both 1997 and 1998. In addition, his Eagles offense allowed the fewest sacks in the Big East during both seasons of his tenure.

In 1998, Jagodzinski saw one of his pupils gain All-America status as running back Mike Cloud (Patriots) earned first-team honors and ranked third in the country in rushing; Cloud subsequently was drafted in the second round by Kansas City in 1999. One of his linemen, All-Big East center Damien Woody, was a 1999 first-round draft pick of the New England Patriots, the 17th selection overall. Jagodzinski also coached Seahawks quarterback (and former Green Bay backup) Matt Hasselbeck during Matt's 1997 senior season at BC.

Prior to joining the Boston College staff, he coached tight ends and offensive line at East Carolina (1989-96), offensive line at Louisiana State (1987-88) and Northern Illinois (1986), and running backs at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater (1985), his alma mater.

Before becoming part of the UW-Whitewater staff as a coach, Jagodzinski was a three-year starter and four-year player (1981-84) at fullback for the Warhawks. He earned a B.S. degree in education at Whitewater.

Jagodzinski attended West Allis (Wis.) Central High School, where he played football and baseball, earning all-conference honors in football and participating in the Shrine game, the state's all-star contest, following his senior season.

In his spare time, Jagodzinski enjoys playing golf and spending time with his family. He also makes many appearances on behalf of the Packers, speaking to a variety of civic and youth groups in the area.

Brad
MILLER

Brad Miller, now in his third season in Green Bay, takes on expanded duties in 2003 as assistant defensive line coach.

Miller will take a more active role in assisting Jethro Franklin, the Packers' defensive line coach, as well as aiding John Bonamego, Green Bay's special teams coordinator.

In addition to his on-field work, the 40-year-old Pasadena, Calif., native, carries out extensive duties studying opponent tendencies and integrating the club's Pinnacle digital video system with PowerPoint to further enhance the team's teaching of its players.

Miller, who is in his 18th year of coaching overall, initially was named as the club's defensive assistant/quality control on February 22, 2001, by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman. He spent six seasons tutoring defensive players in the Canadian Football League before coming to Green Bay.

Before moving to the NFL, Miller coached five seasons on the staff of the Edmonton Eskimos (1996-2000), serving in 2000 as the team's assistant head coach/defensive coordinator/linebackers after coaching the D-line (1996, 1998-99) and defensive coordinator/secondary (1997) in his initial four years with the club. His 1996 D-line contributed to the Eskimos' top-ranked defense on the way to an appearance in the Grey Cup and boasted three all-division players, including Leroy Blugh who was named 'Canadian Player of the Year.' The next season, Edmonton finished with the third-ranked defense and LB Willie Press was named the CFL's 'Defensive Player of the Year.' In 2000, Miller helped tutor LB Terry Ray to Western Conference 'Defensive Player of the Year' honors.

Miller made his CFL debut in 1995 with the Birmingham Barracudas as linebackers coach.

Before tutoring in the professional ranks, Miller launched his coaching career at California's Riverside Community College in 1986 as the school's defensive secondary coach. During an eight-year stint at Riverside, including three seasons as secondary coach (1986-88) and five campaigns as receivers coach (1989-93), the college won four league championships, appeared in five bowl games and captured a national championship in 1989.

Miller moved on to coach linebackers at Portland State in 1994 before joining Birmingham a year later.

Joe

A possessor of 19 years experience in the college coaching ranks, Joe Philbin joins the Green Bay Packers in 2003 as assistant offensive line coach, his first foray into the NFL.

Named to his position by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman on February 10, 2003, Philbin comes to the Packers from the University of Iowa, where he had served as offensive line coach the past four seasons (1999-2002). He replaces Pat Ruel, who resigned Jan. 21 to become the offensive line coach for the Buffalo Bills.

Under Philbin's stewardship, Iowa fielded one of college football's finest offensive lines in 2002, helping the Hawkeyes finish second in the Big Ten Conference in rushing at 214.2 yards per game. In the process, three of Philbin's pupils — guard Eric Steinbach, tackle Robert Gallery and center Bruce Nelson — earned three of the five first-team All-Big Ten linemen spots. In addition, Steinbach earned consensus All-America honors. Philbin's two other starters garnered postseason honors as well, tackle David Porter earning second-team All-Big Ten accolades and guard Andy Lightfoot earning first-team academic All-America honors. Steinbach (2nd round, Cincinnati), Nelson (2nd round, Carolina) and another Philbin charge, guard Ben Sobieski (5th round, Buffalo) were selected in this year's NFL draft.

Philbin's 2001 crew helped the Hawkeyes lead the league in scoring (32.6 points per game), third-down conversion percentage (48.7) and red zone offense, scoring on 47 of 52 possessions (90.4 percent). Iowa also was second in the conference in passing efficiency that season.

Prior to coaching at Iowa, the 42-year-old Philbin served as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach for two seasons at Harvard (1997-98). Under his direction in 1997 the Crimson established 15 offensive records, including marks for total offense (4,236 yards) and first downs (217). Five members of his offensive squad earned All-Ivy League honors, including lineman Matt Birk, later a draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings who earned Pro Bowl berths following the 2000 and 2001 seasons.

Earlier, the Springfield, Mass., native was offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Northeastern University from 1995-96, helping the Huskies during the latter campaign to their first winning season in a decade.

Philbin spent four seasons at Allegheny College (1990-93), serving as offensive coordinator, offensive line coach and recruiting coordinator. During his tenure, the Gators earned postseason berths following the 1990, '91 and '93 seasons, highlighted by an NCAA Division III national championship in 1990. The 1990 and '91 squads celebrated undefeated regular seasons. Barry
RUBIN

Now in his fifth season as the Packers' strength and conditioning coach, Barry Rubin is in his ninth season overall in Green Bay.

One of Mike Sherman's initial coaching staff appointments, he was named to the position

January 19, 2000, and retained from the previous staff.

Rubin, who is widely respected among his coaching peers and players alike, was inducted this summer into the USA Strength and Conditioning Coaches Hall of Fame in recognition of his contributions to the field.

The Monroe, La., native first became the Packers' strength and conditioning coach in 1999 after serving the previous four seasons as the club's strength and conditioning assistant.

Possessor of a 22-year background in his field, Rubin oversees the team's comprehensive strength and conditioning program that also includes nutrition and weight control. He also assists the team's medical staff with the rehabilitation of injured players.

The 46-year-old Louisianan originally joined the Packers organization May 19, 1995, following a third tenure as head strength coach at Northeast Louisiana University, thus becoming the first full-time strength and conditioning assistant in club history.

Rubin began his career in the strength and conditioning field in 1981 as a graduate assistant at Northeast Louisiana following his graduation from Northwestern (La.) State University. In addition to seven years of service at Northeast, in three separate stints, he also spent two years as head strength coach at Louisiana State, one year as a personal trainer to then-Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Bobby Brister and four years at a health club in Monroe, La.

Rubin was a tight end and punter as a collegian at Northwestern (La.) State from 1978-80, where his teammates included future NFL performers Bobby Hebert, Mark Duper, the late Joe Delaney and Gary Reasons. He was named to the Jewish All-America football team as a senior in 1979, a year in which he set a school record with a 75-yard punt.

Prior to his career at Northwestern State, Rubin attended Louisiana State University from 1976-77, playing running back and punting in '76 and then redshirting the next year, before transferring to Northwestern (La.) State for the 1978 season.

Earlier, as a prep, Rubin was an all-district running back and punter at Neville High School in Monroe, La., for long-time coach Charlie Brown. A three-year letterman in football, Rubin also lettered three times each in baseball and basketball as well as twice in track.

Ray SHERMAN

Now in year 16 of his NFL coaching tenure, Ray Sherman begins his fourth year tutoring Green Bay's wide receivers in 2003, looking to build on the success his revamped corps experienced last season.

Sherman, who has 29 total seasons of coaching experience overall, oversaw the development of a fresh group of regular contributors in 2002, a cast that saw a significant amount of turnover from the year before, including two new starters and primary backups. His charges contributed to an offense that led the NFL with 29 TD receptions. Known for their excellent downfield blocking, his receivers supported a Green Bay rushing game that averaged 120.8 yards per contest, the club's best output since the 1985 season.

On an individual level, Donald Driver experienced a breakout season in 2002 under Sherman's guidance. The one-time seventh-round draft pick exploded for 1,064 yards and 9 touchdowns on 70 receptions, earning a trip to the Pro Bowl in the process. Driver became the eighth player in club history to crack the 1,000-yard barrier, the first to do so who was drafted in the seventh round or later. Second-year receiver Robert Ferguson and first-round pick Javon Walker each contributed in meaningful measure as well.

Sherman, who was named to his current post on February 4, 2000, had previous tenures on the offensive staffs of six NFL teams, coaching wide receivers, running backs and quarterbacks, in addition to serving as offensive coordinator for three clubs. In 15 NFL seasons, he has been involved in offenses that finished in the top 10 nine times in both points and total yardage.

Familiar with the NFC's North Division, Sherman spent three recent seasons on the staff of the Minnesota Vikings, serving as the club's quarterbacks coach from 1995-97 and as offensive coordinator in 1999.

Under Sherman's direction, the Vikings' offense ranked third in the league in 1999, including the No. 5 passing attack. Four Minnesota offensive starters were selected to the Pro Bowl, including wide receivers Cris Carter and Randy Moss, performers at the position Sherman tutors with the Packers.

Sherman discovered similar success during his first tenure with the Vikings, when quarterback Warren Moon threw 33 touchdown passes in 1995, a personal high for the veteran passer. In 1996 Sherman guided the development of Brad Johnson, who ranked third in the league in passer rating (89.4), fourth in completion percentage (62.7) and guided the Vikings to four wins in their final six games to capture a playoff berth. Johnson's development continued in 1997 as he finished fourth among NFC passers with an 84.5 rating and third in touchdown passes with 20.

As the Steelers' offensive coordinator in 1998, Sherman oversaw an offense that ranked seventh in the league in rushing.

Sherman made his first foray into NFL coaching in 1988 with the then-Houston Oilers, heading up the running backs. In 1989 Sherman coached the team's wide receivers.

Moving on to the Atlanta Falcons in 1990 as assistant head coach-offense, Sherman worked alongside current Packers offensive coordinator Tom Rossley and helped the Falcons finish 10th in the league in both scoring and total offense.

Three seasons in San Francisco followed, beginning with the 49ers' running backs in 1991, followed by two seasons as the club's wide receivers coach (1992-93).

Sherman then joined the staff of the New York Jets in 1994 as offensive coordinator.

The Berkeley, Calif., native honed his coaching skills during 14 years in the college ranks, beginning in 1974

A wide receiver and defensive back during his college playing days, Sherman spent the 1971-72 seasons at Fresno State after two All-America wideout seasons (1969-70) at Laney Junior College in Oakland, Calif. Sherman had a brief stint as a safety in the 1973 Green Bay Packers training camp under then-Head Coach Dan Devine. He later earned a B.S. degree in education at San Jose State in 1975.

Born November 27, 1951, in Berkeley, Calif., Sherman went on to become an all-city wide receiver at Oakland (Calif.) High School, where he also played basketball and ran track.

Sherman and his wife, Yvette, reside in Green Bay with their two children: Erica (born 7/20/91) and Alana (born 3/19/98). Ray and Yvette's first child, Ray II, passed away this May.

In his spare time, Sherman enjoys playing racquetball and tennis as well as fishing and hunting. Also active in the community, he takes pleasure in speaking to a variety of groups and has worked on behalf of the American Cancer Society in the past. This May he joined a group of players who participated as instructors at Marco Rivera's youth football camp in Puerto Rico.

Lionel WASHINGTON

Lionel Washington, possessor of 15 years NFL playing experience at defensive back, is now in his fifth season as assistant defensive backs coach in Green Bay, imparting his vast knowledge of the position to the Packers' cover men.

A very effective teacher of both technique and strategy, Washington assists Bob Slowik, the Packers' assistant head coach/defensive backs.

Washington's work with the secondary continues to pay dividends for the defensive unit as a whole, as the Packers finished with the NFL's third-ranked passing defense in 2002, their highest ranking since leading the league in 1996. In addition, Green Bay's 24 interceptions tied for third in the league.

The Packers' cornerbacks remain the staple of Washington's work, with many of the younger cover men contributing to the team's effort. Under Washington, Mike McKenzie continues to develop as one of the league's top "shutdown" corners.

Washington, who originally joined the Packers in 1999, was retained by Head Coach Mike Sherman for his Green Bay staff on February 10, 2000.

Benefited not only by his tremendous tutoring skills, the 42-year-old Washington was able to help the Packers' secondary in its transition to Ed Donatelli's defense with the knowledge he personally absorbed while playing two seasons (1995-96) under the present Green Bay defensive coordinator who then was defensive backs coach for the Denver Broncos.

Working primarily with the cornerbacks during his inaugural season in the coaching profession, 1999, Washington saw three on-field rookies make significant contributions to Green Bay's defensive efforts. The Packers' secondary was responsible for 21 of the team's 26 interceptions, the overall total the third-best mark in the NFC. Then-rookie cornerbacks McKenzie, Edwards and Fred Vinson provided 12 picks in a very non-rookie-like fashion.

McKenzie's performance was especially rewarding for Washington, the third-round pick taking aback many Green Bay observers with a strong and consistent training camp performance to earn a starting job. The former Memphis Tiger finished the season as the team leader in interceptions (six) and passes defended (18), with the latter amounting to the second-highest rookie total in team annals.

Originally a fourth-round selection of the then-St. Louis Cardinals in the 1983 NFL draft out of Tulane, Washington enjoyed one of the longest playing careers for a defensive back in pro football history, appearing in 205 games with 165 starts with the St. Louis Cardinals, Los Angeles/Oakland Raiders and Denver Broncos. He snared 37 career interceptions, returning four for touchdowns. In his career, Washington intercepted at least one pass in 13 of his 15 seasons, with at least three in each of five different campaigns, including a career-high eight in his rookie, 1983 season.

After playing four years with the Cardinals (1983-86), Washington was traded to the Los Angeles Raiders in 1987 and played for the Silver and Black through the 1994 season. In 1995, he signed with Denver and spent two years with the Broncos before returning to the Raiders in 1997 for one final season. Washington was out of football in 1998.

Washington was a three-year starter and four-time letterman at Tulane (1979-82), earning all-conference honors as a junior and senior. He also served as co-captain of the team his senior season. A sports administration and physical education major, he additionally lettered in track, running indoor and outdoor sprints — the 60-, 100-, 220- and 440-yard dashes.

A three-sport star at Luther High School in New Orleans, Washington lettered four years each in football, basketball and track. Also an all-state performer in football and track, he captured the state 120-yard high hurdles championship as a prep senior.

Born October 21, 1960, in New Orleans, Washington and his wife, Karen, live in Green Bay with their daughter, Jordan (born 11/15/01). Washington also has two other children: a daughter, Lakaia (born 12/13/78), and a son, Deron (born 12/12/85), a senior guard on the basketball team at National Christian Academy in Fort Washington, Md.

Special Teams Consultant

- Fourth season with Packers

Frank NOVAK

After three seasons in Green Bay and 34 years overall in coaching, amiable Frank Novak retired January 10, 2003, but will remain with the Packers as a consultant as the current campaign gets underway.

In his new role, Novak assisted the coaching staff in preparing for the 2003 draft and has helped new special teams coordinator John Bonamego in his transition to the team.

As for his career in coaching, and for his time in Green Bay, Novak has sweet memories.

"There's nothing like being part of something that's bigger than yourself," Novak said upon announcing his retirement. "That's what a team is. And I've been privileged to be part of football with the Green Bay Packers."

A man who exemplifies class and professionalism, Novak leaves behind a legacy of achievement and success, both with the Packers and during his entire career.

Green Bay's special teams have been regular contributors to the club's success during Novak's tenure, his 2002 kickoff coverage team ranking fourth in the NFC, limiting opponent returners to an average of 21.7 yards per runback, and the punt coverage unit seventh in the conference, holding opponents to an average of 8.7 yards per return. It marked the third consecutive year the punt coverage unit had ranked in the NFC's top ten.

Additionally, under Novak in '02, two players ranked among Green Bay's all-time special-teams tackles leaders. Paris Lenon posted 22 stops, the most by a Packers player in 12 years and tied for fourth all-time, and Torrance Marshall turned in his second straight 21-tackle season, tying for sixth on the career list.

The 2001 season witnessed strong punt coverage teams which allowed an average of only 8.5 yards per return, tied for eighth-best in the league, and a game-winning play, Allen Rossum's 55-yard punt return for a touchdown to beat the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (Nov. 4). The unit's success was buoyed by the efforts of punter Josh Bidwell, who had a stellar year under Novak's direction, finishing with a 36.5-yard net punting average which ranked third in the NFC and marked the second-best effort in team history.

Novak's corps similarly realized success in 2000, including the first three game-winning field goals of placekicker Ryan Longwell's playing career and Rossum's two game-winning kickoff returns.

Head Coach Mike Sherman named the widely-respected Novak to the position February 9, 2000.

Of his 34 years in the coaching ranks, Novak spent a total of 19 on the college level and 14 at the professional level, including two seasons in the USFL.

Before joining the Packers, Novak most recently headed up the special teams of the San Diego Chargers (1997-98), overseeing a unit that scored five TDs during the 1997 season — a total that ranked as the highest one-season output of the 1990s. Novak subsequently coached through the first week of the 1998 regular season before resigning and spending the remainder of the year, as well as the 1999 campaign, out of football.

Prior to his stint with the Chargers, the Leominster, Mass., native spent two seasons (1995-96) as special teams coach of the Detroit Lions.

Novak broke into the NFL in 1989 as the running backs coach of the then-Houston Oilers for five seasons (1989-93), before leading the club's special teams in 1994.

Novak began his college coaching career at his alma mater, Northern Michigan University, in 1966. He spent five years (1966-70) as the school's offensive backs/receivers coach before two seasons as offensive coordinator (1971-72).

Tenures followed at East Carolina (1973), the University of Virginia (1974), Western Illinois (1976-77) and Holy Cross (1978-83).

Shaun
HEROCK

Shaun Herock, the Packers' longest-tenured college scout in terms of continuous service, begins his 11th season with Green Bay and his third year as the team's assistant director of college scouting.

Herock, who became a full-time scout for the Packers in 1994, was named to his current position by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman on May 14, 2001, taking on additional duties in the management of the club's college scouting operations.

Continuing to serve as the Packers' Midwest region scout, Herock this season embarks upon his 15th year overall in scouting. Earlier, as a youth, Herock worked summers as a ball boy for both the then-Los Angeles Raiders and Atlanta Falcons.

The 33-year-old Herock began his NFL scouting career by serving four consecutive internships in the Falcons' scouting department during college (1989-92). He followed that up by working as an intern for the Packers in the summer and fall of 1993, joining Green Bay's scouting staff on a full-time basis January 1, 1994. His scouting work this season will be in preparation for his 11th college draft.

A four-time letterman (1990-93) who started for three-and-a-half years on the offensive line at the University of Richmond, Herock played center his first two seasons and offensive tackle during his junior and senior years. He graduated from the school in 1993 with a degree in sociology.

Herock began his prep career at Tarpon Springs (Fla.) High School, where he played two seasons (1986-87) on the offensive and defensive lines. After transferring to Milton High School in Atlanta in 1988 for his junior year, Herock participated in both football and track. During 1988 and '89, Herock played center and offensive tackle, in addition to competing in the shot put during the spring.

Assistant Director

HOWARD

Now in his fifth season in the NFL's player personnel arena, Sean Howard begins his third season as the Packers' assistant director of pro personnel.

Howard, who was named to his position on June 13, 2001, by GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman after spending two seasons in the San Francisco 49ers' player personnel department, assists Reggie McKenzie, Green Bay's director of pro personnel, in a multitude of areas, including coordination of personal workouts for potential Packers players, watching over all league transactions to monitor current NFL players, overseeing the team's scouting of NFL Europe and contributing to the Packers' advance scouting of upcoming opponents.

The 34-year-old Howard, formerly an outside linebacker at UCLA, also offers player evaluations and initiates player and agent contact as part of Green Bay's efforts in free agency. Additionally, he authors special projects in college scouting as assigned.

The possessor of an undergraduate degree in political science from UCLA (1992) and a law degree from the University of Oregon (1996), Howard had joined Catellus Real Estate Development in Los Angeles after completing his legal studies, serving as a leasing and project development assistant from August of 1996 until October of 1997. From there, he became a senior law clerk for Girardi & Keese, Attorneys at Law, also in Los Angeles, where he remained until joining the 49ers in June of 1999.

Earlier, Howard was a three-year letter winner for the Bruins before seeing his playing days terminated by career-ending knee surgery prior to his senior year at UCLA. Subsequently, as a senior law clerk, he discovered that he preferred a career in which he could utilize his football, legal and business experience and thus launched his association with the National Football League as a pro personnel scout for the 49ers.

While attending Crespi High School in Encino, Calif., Howard lettered two years in football and two years in basketball. In football, he was a two-time all-state selection at outside linebacker, was a 'Top 100' selection by Blue Chip Illustrated and earned a spot on the USA Today All-America first team at the conclusion of his 1986 senior campaign.

Possessing ties to the state, Howard's father, Larry, was a defensive end on the University of Wisconsin's 1963 Rose Bowl team, lettered three years in track as a hurdler for the Badgers and later played semi-pro football. His mother, Patricia, meanwhile, was born and raised in Milwaukee. From an athletic family, his brother, Bryan, played collegiately as an offensive guard at the University of Kansas before making an unsuccessful training camp bid with the Denver Broncos.

Born July 15, 1969, in Chicago, Howard and his wife, Amy, reside in De Pere, Wis. with their daughter, Avery (born 10/21/02). In his spare time, Howard enjoys fishing, playing golf and skiing.

NFL's 75th Anniversary Team

The National Football League included six players who played for Green Bay on its 75th Anniversary Team, announced in 1994: offensive tackle Forrest Gregg, linebacker Ray Nitschke, linebacker Ted Hendricks, end Don Hutson, placekicker Jan Stenerud and defensive end Reggie White. In 1994, the league also named three Packers players — Hutson, back Clarke Hinkle and tackle Cal Hubbard — to its all-time Two-Way Team.

College Scouting Coordinator

visits to colleges and heading up the computer operations for the team's annual draft preparations.

Mock gained his first National Football League experience as a member of the Atlanta Falcons' grounds crew from 1980-1985. In addition to his duties on the field, Mock served as a film assistant from 1983-1986. Following three seasons in the film department, the NFL moved to video and Mock was promoted to assistant video director by the Falcons in 1986.

After serving two years in that capacity, Mock turned to the player personnel side of football. For the following nine seasons (1988-96), he acted as the administrative assistant in the Falcons' player personnel department.

Having lived in the South his entire life, Mock headed north when he was named as the Packers' college scouting coordinator by then-Executive VP/General Manager Ron Wolf on June 28, 1997.

The 42-year-old Mock attended Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College (1981-82) in Tifton, Ga., majoring in turf management and business.

Mock earlier had graduated from Duluth (Ga.) High School, where he lettered three times for the basketball team. During his sophomore basketball season, he was a teammate of 1980 Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, who later would go on to star in football at the University of South Carolina. Mock also was elected team captain in basketball for his senior season, leading the school to the state quarterfinals.

Born May 16, 1961, in Statesville, N.C., Mock and his wife, Holly, are the parents of two daughters, Elizabeth (born 2/24/90) and Sarah (born 9/15/93), and reside in De Pere, Wis.

Mock, a member of the National Football Foundation and the Wisconsin Football Coaches Association, also serves as the video cameraman for the De Pere High School football team and coaches a youth girls summer basketball team in his spare time. He competed in his 14th running of the 10-kilometer Peachtree Road Race in Atlanta this summer.

College Scout

Lee
GISSENDANAR

Now in his third season as a college scout in the Northeast region, Lee Gissendanar begins his sixth season overall with the Green Bay Packers.

Named to his current position by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman on May 15, 2001, Gissendanar originally joined the Packers in 1998 as the team's representative in the National Scouting Service and authored preliminary evaluations of all prospective seniors in upcoming NFL drafts during his initial three seasons with the club.

The 31-year-old Gissendanar began his post-football career by serving as a graduate assistant coach for Kent State University (1997) while working toward his master's degree. He subsequently was named to a scouting position with the Packers on July 8, 1998, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

A four-year letterman (1990-93) and three-year starter at Northwestern University, Gissendanar led the NCAA in punt return average (21.8 yards) during his 1992 junior season. That year, he also was named 'Most Valuable Player' in the Big Ten Conference, was a first-team All-Big Ten selection and was voted as Northwestern's team MVP.

He remains the school's all-time leader in career punt return average (14.8 yards) and also is the third-leading receiver in Northwestern history with 156 catches for 1,878 yards and 13 touchdowns. Gissendanar was named to the Big Ten's 100-Year Anniversary Team during the conference's Centennial celebration in 1995.

Gissendanar graduated from Northwestern in 1994 with a degree in organizational management. Four years later, he earned his master's degree in sports administration from Kent State (1998).

Originally chosen in the sixth round of the 1994 NFL draft by the then-Houston Oilers, Gissendanar was released that year at the conclusion of training camp. He then spent the 1995 season with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League and the summer of 1996 with the Scottish Claymores of the World League (now NFL Europe). The one-year stint in Scotland proved fruitful for Gissendanar as he was a member of the '96 Claymores team that claimed the World League championship. In the fall of 1996, Gissendanar returned to the states and reported to training camp with the Vikings, eventually spending the parts of the 1996 NFL season on Minnesota's practice squad.

A four-year letterman in football at Stow (Ohio) Monroe Falls High School, Gissendanar was selected All-Summit County, all-metro area and team MVP at wide receiver during his senior season. A two-time all-metro pole vaulter, Gissendanar earned three additional varsity letters in track. He was inducted to the school's Hall of Fame in 2002. Earlier, in 1999, Gissendanar's accomplishments and community efforts were recognized as he was inducted into the City of Akron/Summit County Sports Hall of Fame.

Born October 25, 1971, in Akron, Ohio, Gissendanar is single and resides in Wilmington, Del. His hobbies include travel, drawing, listening to music and reading — mainly biographies and other nonfiction.

current responsibilities by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman on May 15, 2001.

Possessor of prior professional scouting and college coaching experience upon joining Green Bay on a full-time basis late in 1998, Gutekunst gained his first National Football League experience in the summer of 1995, when he assisted the coaching staff of the New Orleans Saints with the offensive line during training camp. Gutekunst's initial exposure to the Packers came in the summer of 1997, when he worked as an intern in the team's scouting department.

His first full-time appointment in professional scouting was in 1998 as a scouting assistant for the Kansas City Chiefs. After one year with the Chiefs, Gutekunst returned to the Packers when he was named as a college scout for the East coast on December 30, 1998, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

The 30-year-old Gutekunst earlier had played two years of college football for the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse before becoming an assistant coach for the team during his final two years at the school (1995-96) after a shoulder injury cut short his career. Serving as a linebackers coach during the 1995 season, he helped the school to the Division III national championship as the Eagles finished the season with an unblemished record of 14-0.

Playing two seasons (1993-94) as a defensive back at UW-L, Gutekunst was a teammate of former Packers wide receiver Bill Schroeder during Schroeder's only season on the school's football team, 1993. Gutekunst graduated in 1997 with a B.S. degree in exercise and sport science.

Gutekunst prepped at Robbinsdale Armstrong High School in Plymouth, Minn., where he lettered four years for the football team as a quarterback, wide receiver and defensive back. An all-region and all-conference performer in football during his junior and senior seasons, he also earned two letters as a guard for the basketball team.

His father, John, currently serves as the defensive backs coach at the University of South Carolina. The elder Gutekunst previously was the head coach at the University of Minnesota from 1985-92, taking over the reins of the Golden Gophers program when Lou Holtz left to assume the head coaching position at Notre Dame.

Born July 19, 1973, in Raleigh, N.C., Gutekunst and his wife, Jen, reside in Raleigh. In his spare time, Gutekunst enjoys playing golf, reading and spending time at the beach.

An NFL player for six seasons, Alonzo Highsmith is now in his fifth year on the Green Bay Packers' college scouting staff, maintaining primary responsibility for the Southwest region.

Named to his current position by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf on February 1, 1999, Highsmith had originally entered the professional ranks as the third overall pick in the 1987 NFL draft by the then-Houston Oilers, behind only college teammate Vinny Testaverde (Tampa Bay) and Cornelius Bennett (Indianapolis).

The 38-year-old Highsmith began his pro career by playing three seasons in Houston (1987-89), starting 40 straight games with the Oilers. Following offseason knee surgery, he was traded to the Dallas Cowboys prior to the 1990 season.

He was with Dallas for a season-and-a-half before being waived by the Cowboys October 4, 1991. Claimed by Tampa Bay, Highsmith spent the remainder of his pro career with the Buccaneers. Due to a series of knee injuries, he retired from the NFL at the end of the 1992 season.

Highsmith's NFL totals include 65 games played, 283 rushing attempts for 1,195 yards (4.2 avg.) and 7 touchdowns. He also made 42 receptions for 428 yards and 3 TDs during the course of his pro career.

After the conclusion of Highsmith's NFL career in 1992, he turned his sights to boxing. As a professional boxer, he competed as a heavyweight across the country, compiling a 27-1-1 career record over a four-year period.

Earlier a four-time letterman (1983-86) for the University of Miami (Fla.), Highsmith was a member of the 1983 Hurricanes squad which captured the collegiate national championship with a 31-30 triumph over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Highsmith graduated in 1987 with a degree in business administration.

Season openers at home

The Packers open the regular-season schedule in Wisconsin for a seventh consecutive season, and for the 17th time over an 18-year stretch (since 1986). The only season over the last 18 years in which the Packers did not open at home was 1996, the year they won Super Bowl XXXI, kicking off at Tampa Bay. Green Bay is 7-2 over the last nine season-opening games at home, including a 1993 win at Milwaukee County Stadium over the Los Angeles Rams.

College Scout

Sam SEALE

Sam Seale, a 10-year NFL veteran as a player, heads into his eighth season of scouting college players for the Packers, his first position in player personnel. Maintaining primary focus on the West Coast region, he was hired on July 22, 1995, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

The 40-year-old Seale began his NFL playing career after being picked in the eighth round of the 1984 draft by the then-Los Angeles Raiders. After one year as a wide receiver (1984) and three seasons as a defensive back/kick returner (1985-87) for the Silver and Black, Seale headed south to play for the San Diego Chargers for the next four seasons (1988-91).

After becoming a full-time starter (at cornerback) for the first time in his pro career in 1989, Seale appeared in all 16 games for San Diego in both 1990 and '91. He then returned to the Los Angeles area in 1992 to play one additional season for the Raiders and his final year in the NFL (1993) with the then-Los Angeles Rams.

In 121 career games, Seale recorded 11 interceptions, returning one for a touchdown in 1985. He also scored once on a fumble recovery (in 1988 with San Diego).

A four-time letterman (1980-83) as a running back for Western State College (Colo.), Seale averaged 5.3 yards per carry as a collegian while leading the team twice each in rushing and receiving. three leagues.

Lillibridge's scouting responsibilities center on the Arena Football League, af2 and all other arena leagues. He also oversees Green Bay's scouting of the Canadian Football League, in addition to assisting with NFL Europe, advance scouting of upcoming opponents and free agency evaluations.

He also is involved with special projects in college scouting as assigned.

The 31-year-old Lillibridge began his professional playing career in 1995, signing as a free agent linebacker with the Philadelphia Eagles. Released at the end of training camp, he next joined the Shreveport (La.) Pirates of the Canadian Football League, playing under Head Coach Forrest Gregg, the former Hall of Fame offensive tackle for the Packers.

Lillibridge subsequently spent time with the Buffalo Bills (1996), Miami Dolphins (1996-97), the World League's (now NFL Europe) Amsterdam Admirals (1997) and New Orleans Saints (1998-99). A herniated disc, suffered while making a tackle from his Saints middle linebacker position, ended his career in August of 1999.

Earlier a two-year starter at Iowa State University (1991-94), Lillibridge earned a scholarship as a walk-on transfer after spending his freshman season at Northeast Missouri State University. He graduated from Iowa State in 1995 with a degree in English, and presently is working toward his master's degree in business administration.

Equipment Manager

A veteran in his area of expertise, Gordon 'Red' Batty is in his 10th season as equipment manager for the Green Bay Packers.

Batty is responsible for properly outfitting players with the safest and most advanced equipment, as well as ordering and maintaining all of the team's equipment and sideline apparel. Immediately prior to joining the Packers, he had spent 13 seasons (1981-93) in the same position with the then-Houston Oilers.

Long regarded as one of the best in the business, Batty was named the National Football League's "Equipment Manager of the Year" by vote of his peers in 2002 at the annual NFL equipment managers meetings in San Diego.

A 44-year-old native of Montreal, Batty remarkably is in his 31st season in the equipment field in 2003. He began his career in 1973 at the age of 14, working as a ball boy for the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. Six years later, he was elevated to the position of equipment manager for the Alouettes. During Batty's tenure in Montreal, the Alouettes won two Grey Cups (1974 and '77).

FOOTBALL SUPPORT

Batty subsequently joined the Oilers in June of 1981, in the process becoming the NFL's youngest equipment manager at age 22. He was a participant in the NFL play-offs for an amazing 12 consecutive seasons — from 1994-98 with Green Bay after seven straight postseason appearances with Houston. Batty also purports to be the first native-born Canadian to garner both a Grey Cup and Super Bowl ring, the latter distinction earned when the Packers culminated the 1996 campaign by capturing Super Bowl XXXI.

Upon being named to the Packers' staff on January 24, 1994, Batty became only the fifth person in club history to hold the title of equipment manager.

Born November 18, 1958, in Montreal, Batty (pronounced BAT-ee) and his wife, Joanne, have one daughter, Chelsei (born 8/30/91), and one son, Cameron (born 7/28/96).

A devout fan of the National Hockey League, Batty has had the privilege of working several NHL All-Star Games and roughly 30 other league games. Additionally, he attended the final Canadiens game ever played at his famed home town Montreal Forum. He also continues to play the game of hockey himself.

Director of Player Development

Now in year three of his "second" football career, Edgar Bennett continues to serve as a mentor and source of information for the team's players — both rookies and veterans — as the Green Bay Packers' director of player development.

Bennett, one of the most productive running backs in Green Bay Packers history as a player, originally rejoined the club as its director of player programs on April 10, 2001.

As director of player development, Bennett assists General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman with helping players become acclimated to their roles as Green Bay Packers, both on and off the field, especially in terms of their expected contributions to their teammates, the community and team chemistry.

Bennett also oversees the Packers' wide range of programs designed to meet the needs of the players and their families in today's National Football League, providing a framework of assistance within which players and their immediate family members can address the pressures created by daily life and complicated by the demands of playing professional football. Bennett assists players in taking full advantage of the NFL's many offerings, including those dealing with financial advice, continuing education and professional internships aimed at preparing players for their careers when their playing days are over. He also works in conjunction with the Packers' community relations and family programs departments.

On the field, Bennett lends his experience from his playing days to the Packers' coaches by assisting with the tutoring of Green Bay's running backs and providing game day sideline support. On the personnel front, he assists the organization's scouts by conducting interviews with potential free agents and draft picks and also performs evaluations on selected players.

Bennett, earlier Green Bay's fourth-round draft selection in 1992, is the ninth-ranking rusher in Packers history, the former Florida State athlete having gained 3,353 yards over his five seasons in Green and Gold (1992-96). En route, he in 1995 became only the sixth player in team annals to rush for 1,000 yards in a season (1,067) and the first Packer to do so since Terrell Middleton in 1978. He also continues to hold the club single-season record for receptions by a running back with 78, set in 1994.

After a torn Achilles' heel suffered in the Packers' 1997 preseason opener ended his season, a successfully-rehabbed Bennett signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in February of 1998 and went on to lead the Bears in rushing that season with 611 yards. After one more season with Chicago, Bennett retired from football in 2000.

A four-year starter at fullback for Florida State (1987, 1989-91), Bennett holds a bachelor's degree in political science from the university. Previously, he had been a Class 4A first-team all-state back at Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville, where he was a teammate of former Packers safety LeRoy Butler, who later also would be his teammate at FSU and in Green Bay.

Born Edgar Bennett III in Jacksonville, Fla., on February 15, 1969, he is married to the former Mindy Woldt of Green Bay. The couple has two children, a son, Edgar Bennett IV, 8, and a daughter, Elyse Morgan, 3.

Head Trainer

Pepper BURRUSS

One of the more visible people in the Packers organization, Pepper Burruss embarks upon his 11th season as the club's head trainer, his 27th in the NFL overall. Overseer of the team's medical care on a daily basis, Burruss, a certified athletic trainer and physical therapist, joined Green Bay in 1993 following 16 seasons with the New York Jets as an assistant athletic trainer.

The 49-year-old Burruss was hired by the Jets in 1977 after receiving his B.S. degree in physical therapy from Northwestern University Medical School. One year earlier, he had graduated with honors from Purdue University, where he earned a B.A. degree in health and safety education. At Purdue, Burruss was fortunate to be a student trainer working under a legend in the field, the late William "Pinky" Newell.

The Jets' training staff was twice honored during his stint with the team. In 1985, they were the first-ever recipients of 'NFL Athletic Training Staff of the Year' recognition, an award given by their peers. The staff was honored again at the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) clinical symposium in 1994 by former Jets defensive lineman Dennis Byrd, who credited the team's emergency care as a contributing factor in his miraculous recovery from quadriplegia. Byrd had suffered a fractured neck by virtue of an on-field collision in a 1992 game with Kansas City at the Meadowlands.

More recently — and closer to home — the Packers' medical staff received the second-highest approval rating from its players among all National Football League teams in a 2000 survey conducted by the NFL Players Association, coming out behind only the New York Giants.

Professionally, Burruss has served two terms on the executive committee of the Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society (PFATS), first as an AFC assistant trainer representative, then as the NFC head trainer representative. He currently is the PFATS representative to the NATA Inter-Association Spine Task Force, which has created guidelines for the appropriate care of the spine-injured athlete and distributed that information across the country in the form of published guidelines, a video tape series and numerous educational seminars.

He is a native of Wappingers Falls, N.Y., where he attended Ketcham High School. He was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2000.

Born Thomas Pepper Burruss April 15, 1954, in Beacon, N.Y., he and his wife, Nancy, have one son, Shane (born 10/22/88), and one daughter, Christina (born 9/18/93). Also a medical practitioner, Nancy is a clinical nurse specialist for cardiothoracic surgery, along with serving as an assistant professor at Bellin College of Nursing in Green Bay.

Burruss currently serves on the corporate board of Curative Rehabilitation Center in Green Bay and is active in the Packers' annual "Rebuilding Together" (formerly "Christmas in May") house renovation project, serving as a house co-captain.

A gifted public speaker, Burruss has lectured at seven National Athletic Trainers' Association Clinical Symposia, multiple state, district and college meetings as well as numerous service organizations throughout Wisconsin. His lectures are supplemented with an extensive collection of photos that has recently grown with the addition of more than 5,000 photos of the progression of Lambeau Field's redevelopment. His hobbies include collecting and studying firearms cartridges, slowly detailing and rehabbing a 1973 Corvette Stingray, and any home maintenance project that allows him to work with tools.

Did you know...Most historians credit the Packers as the first football team to film games and practice, something as important to today's game as the ball itself. The routine, carried on by Vince Lombardi (above), first began in 1923, when Otto Stiller used a hand-powered camera to film games atop the Bellevue Park grandstand.

Director of Research & Development

Mike
EAYRS

Now enjoying his third year in Green Bay, Mike Eayrs is the club's director of research and development.

Named by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman to the newly-created position within the Packers' organization on March 9, 2001, Eayrs had spent the previous 16 seasons on the football staff of the Minnesota Vikings.

Eayrs manages databases and develops research reports for coaches, player personnel and management based on the analysis of statistical and tactical trends.

Having developed computer applications within football for 24 years, Eayrs (pronounced AY-ers) is in his 19th season working in the National Football League, the first 16 as director of research and development for the Vikings, a tenure during which the club tallied 201 victories and appeared in three NFC Championship games (1987, '98 and 2000). Also a 13-year coaching veteran, including 11 seasons at the college level, he earned a bachelor's degree in social studies and physical education from Augsburg College in Minneapolis, where he participated in football.

The 52-year-old Eayrs began his coaching career in Winnebago, Minn., before two years later becoming an assistant coach at the University of South Dakota in 1974. He subsequently coached at the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse (1975-80), Mankato State University (1981-83) and Luther College (1984) before joining the Vikings. During his 11 seasons in the college ranks, Eayrs' teams won five conference championships and he received four teaching excellence awards.

Born January 30, 1951, in West Concord, Minn., Eayrs also holds a master's degree in physical education from the University of South Dakota and an education doctorate in physical education and recreation management from the University of Oregon.

Eayrs and his wife, Mary Jo, reside in Green Bay and have three children: Matthew (born 4/28/78), Elizabeth (born 8/15/80) and Brian (born 11/20/81).

Video Director

Bob ECKBERG

Now in his third season as Green Bay's video director, Bob Eckberg is enjoying his 22nd year with the Packers overall.

In 2001, Eckberg became only the second full-time video director in franchise history. Having served as Green Bay's assistant video director since 1982, he had taken over for the retired Al Tremi, who since 1967 had headed up the club's filming/taping operations.

In his position, Eckberg oversees the production and editing of all game and practice tapes for the organization's football operations, as well as the regular exchange of video with other teams. In addition, he is in charge of the purchase and maintenance of the team's vast array of video equipment.

The 52-year-old Eckberg also directs the video department's taping of all workouts on prospective players and maintains a video library of all college games for the previous three years. Additionally, the his staff compiles season-ending tapes for individual players and prepares tapes for use at the NFL draft and continuing education forums. He and his staff also attend and shoot video of prospective players at the National College Scouting Combine, held every February in Indianapolis.

Eckberg began his career with the Packers in the early 1970s while working in the photo department of WBAY-TV in Green Bay. While employed at the station Eckberg processed all of the Packers' game film, then in 1976 started shooting end zone angle coaching film for home games played in Green Bay and Milwaukee. In the early 1980s, videotape technology became standard in the television industry, and in 1982 the Packers purchased the film lab setup from WBAY and hired Eckberg as assistant video director.

In addition to over two decades of NFL games, Eckberg also has shot numerous postseason games, including the 1987 Hula Bowl, the 1982, 1987 and 2001 Senior Bowls as well as Super Bowls XXXI and XXXII. In addition, he served the NFL video directors during the 2000 season as a member of the quality control committee.

Born October 10, 1950, in Green Bay, Eckberg is a 1969 graduate of the city's Premontre High School. He and his wife, Terri, also a Green Bay native, have three sons: Joe (born 11/29/70), Justin (born 9/10/79) and Zac (born 7/8/82).

In his spare time, Eckberg enjoys reading, cooking, fishing, woodworking and spending time with his family on its land.

The Kickoff

1. The kickoff shall be from the kicking team's 30-yard line at the start of each half and after a field goal and try. A kickoff is one type of free kick.
2. A one-inch tee may be used (no tee permitted for field goal, safety kick, or try attempt) on a kickoff. The ball is put in play by a placekick.
3. A kickoff may not score a field goal.
4. A kickoff is illegal unless it travels 10 yards OR is touched by the receiving team. Once the ball is touched by the receiving team or has gone 10 yards, it is a free ball. Receivers may recover and advance. Kicking team may recover but NOT advance UNLESS receiver had possession and lost the ball.
5. When a kickoff goes out of bounds between the goal lines without being touched by the receiving team, the ball belongs to the receivers 30 yards from the spot of the kick or at the out-of-bounds spot unless the ball went out-of-bounds the first time an onside kick was attempted. In this case, the Kicking team is penalized five yards and the ball must be kicked again.

6. When a kickoff goes out of bounds between the goal lines and is touched last by receiving team, it is receiver's ball at out-of-bounds spot.
7. If the kicking team either illegally kicks off out of bounds or is guilty of a short free kick on two or more consecutive onside kicks, receivers may take possession of the ball at the dead ball spot, out-of-bounds spot, or spot of illegal touch.

Strength & Conditioning Assistant

Mark LOVAT

The Green Bay Packers' strength and conditioning assistant, Mark Lovat is now in the fifth year of his third tour of duty with the team, working with Coach Barry Rubin with all aspects of the club's strength and conditioning program.

Named to his current position on January 25, 1999, Lovat previously had served two summer internships (1994, 1998) in the club's weight room, working under Rubin during his second stint.

An accomplished athlete himself, Lovat earned a Division I baseball scholarship to Butler University in Indianapolis, starting three seasons at shortstop and second base for the Bulldogs. He also received the 'Helen Tewksberry Award' for academic and athletic leadership during the course of his playing career.

After graduating cum laude and with high honors from Butler in 1992 with a B.A. degree in Spanish and international studies, Lovat spent six-and-a-half years at Lake Havasu City (Ariz.) High School, teaching Spanish as well as coaching football and baseball.

The son of former Green Bay offensive line coach Tom Lovat (1980, 1992-98), Mark earlier had graduated from Carmel (Ind.) High School, where he was a member of a state championship football team (1986) and captain of the baseball team (1988).

A member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (N.S.C.A.), Lovat became a certified strength and conditioning specialist (C.S.C.S.) in April of 2000 and additionally achieved in 2002 a Level 1 certification through USA Weightlifting, the governing body of the U.S. Olympic weightlifting team. He also is a representative for Forge Strength Systems, a strength equipment company founded by former Packers and current Seattle Seahawks strength and conditioning coach Kent Johnston.

Born October 9, 1969, in Pocatello, Idaho, Lovat is single. He enjoys music and travel in his spare time.

Bruce WARWICK

Bruce Warwick, a veteran football administrator with 12 years experience managing operations at the college and pro level, enters his fourth season in Green Bay in 2003.

In his role with the Packers, Warwick assists General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman with personnel matters as well as organizing all aspects of the team and coaching staff's daily operations, as well as the annual preseason training camp and offseason minicamps.

Warwick first joined the Packers as director of football administration on March 8, 2000, following nine years in football operations at three different schools within the collegiate ranks. He then was promoted to his current position by Sherman on May 14, 2001.

Immediately prior to coming to Green Bay, he had been serving as director of football administration for the NFL Europe League, a position to which he had been named five weeks earlier (February 1, 2000).

The 36-year-old Warwick launched his professional career as administrative assistant/assistant recruiting coordinator at Syracuse in 1991. From there, he served as assistant athletic director for football management at the University of Maryland for two seasons (1992-93), then for two seasons in the same capacity at Clemson University (1994-95), before returning to Syracuse as director of football operations from 1996-99.

Warwick received an undergraduate degree in business administration from Columbia College in Syracuse, N.Y., his hometown. He later earned a master's degree in sports management from the U.S. Sports Academy in Daphne, Ala.

A two-year letterman in football at C.W. Baker High School in Syracuse, Warwick was a first-team all-county selection his senior year as a kicker and punter.

Born January 1, 1967, in Syracuse, N.Y., Warwick and his wife, Debra, reside in Green Bay with their son, Alexander (born 3/31/02). In his spare time, Warwick enjoys reading and running.

Riding bikes to practice

No one is sure exactly when it started, but Packers players have been riding kids bikes to training-camp practice for more than 30 years.

The tradition is believed to have originated in 1961, when the Packers constructed a new administration building on the stadium's north concourse.

Vince Lombardi was the first coach to ask his players to ride bikes to practice, in an effort to further the Packers' unique relationship with its fans.

Weight Room Assistant

Vince WORKMAN

Vince Workman, a former Green Bay running back and a veteran of eight seasons as a player in the National Football League, enters his third year as a weight room assistant for the Packers in 2003.

Now in his fifth year with the organization in an off-the-field capacity, Workman previously spent two years (1999-2000) as an assistant in the pro personnel department.

Named to his current role by General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman on May 15, 2001, Workman actively monitors player workouts in Green Bay and out of town, working under the supervision of strength and conditioning coach Barry Rubin.

He originally had re-joined the team on July 12, 1999, when he was hired for the pro personnel department by Ron Wolf, then the Packers' executive vice president/general manager. While in pro personnel, Workman coordinated personal workouts for potential Packers players, kept an eye on current NFL players by monitoring all league transactions and handled some advance scouting work of upcoming opponents.

Workman, 36, began his NFL playing career as a fifth-round draft pick of Green Bay in the 1989 NFL draft. He was a running back for the Packers for four seasons (1989-92), pacing the team in touchdowns in 1991 with 11. Workman led Green Bay in rushing in 1992, when he gained 631 yards as the Packers' starting halfback. He continues to hold the club single-game record for most receptions by a running back, 12, set in 1992.

After Green Bay, Workman moved on to play for Tampa Bay (1993-94), Carolina (1995) and Indianapolis (1995-96). Over his 106-game pro career spanning eight seasons, he carried 467 times for 1,737 yards and 13 touchdowns, while also making 179 receptions for 1,294 yards and 7 TDs.

Earlier a two-year starter and three-time letterman at Ohio State (1985-87), Workman rushed for 1,882 yards and 13 touchdowns on 412 carries as a collegian. He also was a member of the Buckeyes' track and field team as a 1986 sophomore, running hurdles. Workman currently is completing work on a degree in sports management.

Known as 'Pookie' since his childhood, Workman was a two-time all-state pick as a running back at Dublin (Ohio) High School, rushing for 4,070 yards and 68 touchdowns. He was a Parade All-America selection as a 1984 senior, when he had 1,793 yards and 31 TDs on the ground. A four-year letterman for the school's track team in addition to his three football letters, Workman was an all-state hurdler in 1984.

Born Vincent Innocent Workman in Buffalo, N.Y., on May 9, 1968, he is single and resides in Green Bay. He has three children: Vince III (born 3/20/90), Jaque (born 5/7/91) and Troy (born 9/6/96). In his spare time, he enjoys music, playing video games and reading.

ANDERSON

Exciting playmaker, made immediate contributions last year to the Packers' defensive efforts in his inaugural NFL season in Green Bay...Lined up as the Packers' starting strong safety for most of the year and earned 'Pepsi NFL

Rookie of the Week' three times on his way to being one of five finalists for 'Pepsi NFL Rookie of the Year,' ultimately finishing third...In an opportunistic fashion, registered 2 defensive touchdowns (both interception returns) — one shy of the team rookie record of 3, set by Darren Sharper in 1997...Also was honored as the Green Bay Packers' 'Defensive Rookie of the Year'...He's certainly around the ball... Packers assistant head coach/defensive backs Bob Slowik says. "He's a playmaker, a tough hard-nosed kid. He filled in nicely and took advantage of his opportunity"...Received his first real chance early in the year when he took on a role in the 'dime' defense with Antuan Edwards sidelined by a fractured forearm...Responded with an interception return for a touchdown in victory at division-rival Detroit in his first contest as a pro...Later was promoted to the starting strong safety job just before midseason after filling in well at free safety earlier in the year...No doubt has the ability to flourish in the pro game given his accomplishments in 2002, but Packers coaches will be looking for him to put a consistent, full season together in 2003 after struggling a bit down the stretch last year... "As a rookie, he did hit a bit of a wall, just as many do," Slowik confirms. "Some of the plays just didn't come as easy later in the year. He'll grow with the experience...and needs to be healthy — No. 1. He'll grow in his knowledge of the scheme and only get better..." Will open the 2003 training camp competing with Edwards for the starting strong safety position.

2002 SEASON Played in 14 regular-season games, starting the last 11 (nine at strong safety, two at free safety), after being inactive for the team's first two contests...Also started at strong safety in playoff game against Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Posted 2 defensive touchdowns (both interception returns) — one shy of the team rookie record of 3, set by Sharper in 1997...Was third in interceptions among NFC rookies with 4...Ranked seventh on the team in tackles with 61 (41 solo), he also tied for fifth on the club in passes defended (7)...Additionally had 2 fumble recoveries and 1 special teams stop...Was inactive for each of Green Bay's first two contests, against Atlanta (Sept. 8) and at New Orleans (Sept. 15), before making an impressive NFL debut in Week 3 at Detroit (Sept. 22)...Intercepted a Joey Harrington pass (tipped into the air by teammate Steve Warren) midway through the first quarter and returned it 78 yards for a touchdown to tie the game at 7; later recovered a Cory Schlesinger fumble in Lions territory in the eventual 37-31 victory...In the process, became the first Green Bay player to score a defensive touchdown in either his initial NFL game or in his Packers debut since 1950...Personal efforts against Detroit made him a finalist for rookie of the week recognition...Made 3 stops in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7), playing much of the fourth quarter at free safety in place of an injured Sharper (hamstring) in addition to his normal 'dime' responsibilities; earlier he had batted down a Brian Urlacher pass on a fourth-down trick play by the Bears...Responded to his first NFL start (at free safety in place of injured Sharper) with a career-high 12 tackles at New England (Oct. 13), he also intercepted the Pats' Tom Brady at the Green Bay 13-yard line late in the third quarter of eventual 28-10 win over the defending Super Bowl champions; earned 'Pepsi NFL Rookie of the Week' honors over four other nominees...Continuing in the place of Sharper, captured league rookie of the week award a second straight game after leading the Packers' secondary in both tackles (9) and pass breakups (2) in 30-9 victory over Washington (Oct. 20), helping to hold the Redskins' potent passing attack without a touchdown...Registered 9 tackles in Monday night triumph Against Carolina, he made a big play with a big catch and even against Atlanta in the playoffs, he did some good things — I’m very pleased and happy with Karsten.”...A sure-handed and elusive player, his physical play makes him compete for more playing time at receiver...“He’s a guy that can play all the positions and is going to be in the right place and do the right things,” continues Sherman. “Right now he’s the No. 4 receiver, but he could easily be the No. 3. He’s going to get some playing time and he’ll be able to help us.”...Won a roster spot in training camp last season due to his special teams performance, an area where he became an asset to the squad...His work ethic and athleticism gives the Packers coaching personnel confidence in his game...“He has a good first step and I’m just glad we got him last year after he was in Seattle,” says Sherman. “He’s really stepped up in the last year and I wouldn’t have a problem with him being in the ballgame because he will bring something to the table.”...Originally the second of two third-round picks (82nd overall) by Seattle in 1999, he played the 1999 and 2000 seasons with the Seahawks before being out of football in 2001...Has appeared in 18 career games over the course of his three NFL seasons in Seattle and Green Bay, registering 9 receptions for 88 yards and 1 TD, also totaling 4 special teams tackles.

UNDRAFTED ROOKIE STARTERS: The Packers in 2002 were the only playoff team to start multiple undrafted rookies — Tony Fisher and Kevin Barry. Across the league, only San Diego (4) started more. Dallas, Baltimore and Minnesota also started two. At season's end, Green Bay listed two undrafted rookies (Fisher, Barry) in its two-deep. Excluding kickers, only San Diego (3) and Baltimore (3) had more. The Giants, Eagles, Texans and Colts also listed two.

UNDRAFTED ROOKIES ON ROSTER: Three undrafted rookies — Fisher, Barry and linebacker Marcus Wilkins — made the 2002 Opening Day roster. Not since 1994 (cornerback Lenny McGill, linebacker Mark Williams and tight end Jeff Wilner) have more undrafted rookies entered the season on a Packers roster. Plus, from 1995-2001, only five undrafted rookies — cornerback Matthew Dorsett (1995), guard Joe Andruzzi (1997), linebacker Jude Waddy (1998) and running backs Basil Mitchell (1999) and Herbert "Whisper" Goodman (2000-01) — saw as much time on the Packers' roster. Erwin Swiney, a fourth undrafted rookie, also saw playing time in 2002.

ROOKIES, OVERALL: In 2002, five rookies started 23 combined games. In 2001, Green Bay rookies started only nine contests (Bhavoh Jue 7, David Martin 1, Torrance Marshall 1). Eight rookies played, including Najeh Davenport, Wilkins and Swiney.

WHAT'S MORE: The Packers fielded in 2002 — and will field in 2003 — one of the league's youngest teams:

- Of the team's 22 playoff starters, one was a rookie, six had less than four years experience, and 13 had less than six years in the league.
- During the 2002 regular season, 60 percent of starters were age 27 or younger (210 of 352 starts).
- Take out Brett Favre and Green Bay's original Pro Bowl selections averaged 26.75 years with 5.25 years experience.
- At season's end, Green Bay's two-deep contained 25 players age 27 or younger.
- Entering 2002, only one other team, the Niners, had more starters from its 2000 draft. Green Bay had four — Na'il Diggs, Bubba Franks, Mark Tauscher and Chad Clifton. San Francisco had five. The Packers' list doesn't include 2000 draftee Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila, who started 12 games for an injured Joe Johnson in 2002.

end up starting because of problems to Earl Dotson late in the year is remarkable," says Larry Beightol, Packers offensive line coach. "A lot of people didn't feel like he would be able to learn the pro game and he's certainly dispelled that..."The broad Wisconsin native performed solidly as a backup last season and skillfully stepped in for injury-related absences to start the final three games at right tackle, a position where he will find himself again this season..."I'm looking for more production out of Kevin this year," says Beightol. "The starter is Mark Tauscher and it would be difficult for anyone to beat him out, but that doesn't mean it can't be done. Mark is rehabbing and coming off a serious knee injury and it's comforting to have a young man in the wings like a Kevin Barry..."Played in 14 regular-season games overall, including his three late-season starts..."I think in the future, he has an opportunity to become a starter for the Packers and he will do a terrific job," continues Beightol. "He's already played extremely well for us as a solid run blocker and a gifted pass blocker, and when you put that all together along with his size and athleticism, it makes for a good situation."

in training camp...Posted a career-high 26 punts 'Inside the 20' last year after recording the second-best net average in team history in 2001...Had 16 of his punts downed as a 2000 rookie, an NFL high...Josh has got a very, very strong leg," says John Bonamego, the Packers' first-year special teams coordinator. "You can't coach that. I've been impressed so far (in mini-camps) with what I've seen of his hang times. He gets the ball up very fast with a low drop. He's able to hold the ball low in the 'drop table' and still get the ball up in the air and hang, which is something that really helps a player in windy conditions — like he's been raised in and that you'll find here, especially late in the season. That low drop is critical. If a guy drops the ball real high there's more distance to cover to when he makes contact with the foot, and that leaves more time for the ball to blow inside or outside an inch, which can make a huge difference. If you watch Josh, he keeps the ball real low in the drop — he almost kicks it out of his hand. You don't find many guys who can do that. We still want him to get better at directional punting, which he has been working very hard on and has shown improvement at."...Is on the verge of breaking the 23-year-old team record for most consecutive punts without a block — 274 by David Beverly (1977-80)...Enters the 2003 season with 239 straight punts devoid of a block — the third-longest string in club record books, behind only the 254 of Donny Anderson (1967-71) and Beverly's 274..."Josh is efficient with how he handles the ball," continues Bonamego, referencing the streak. "He's obviously worked on his hands, getting better at catching the ball. I also think some of that credit has to go to Rob Davis, who gives him a very accurate and fast snap with a spiral that's easy to catch. But Josh also is good with his handling times and efficient with his stepping pattern."...Did have a punt blocked during the 2002 playoffs — the lone block of his first three NFL seasons...Remains as the fifth-ranking punter in Packers history on a career average basis (40.9 yards per punt), having qualified by reaching the 150-punt minimum late in 2001; could push No. 4 Max McGee (41.6 avg.) and others with a strong 2003 campaign...Raised his gross average by a full 4 yards between his first and second seasons, jumping from a 38.5-yard average in 2000 to the 42.5-yard mark in '01...In 1999, when he was chosen in the fourth round out of the University of Oregon, became the first punter drafted by Green Bay since 1991 (Jeff Fite) and the highest punter taken by the Packers since Ray Stachowicz was picked in the third round in 1981...Now, apparently having beaten his testicular cancer, he only must undergo once-a-year checkups to verify his continued good health...Remains interested in promoting testicular cancer awareness with the message being early discovery through self diagnosis...Though he has yet to do so on a regular basis during his first three NFL seasons, going back to his college career has been an accomplished holder for placements.

Put together a second straight solid season, finishing in the top half of NFC punters in both net average (35.7 yards; seventh) and punts 'Inside the 20' (a career-high 26; fifth)...Kept his touchbacks to only 6 among 79 punts and never had more than a single touchback in any one game...Finished 10th in the conference in gross average (41.7; 79 for 3,296 yards)...Saw action in all 17 games, including playoff loss to Atlanta...Averaged a career-best 53.3 yards per punt (min 4 att.) — also tying him with Boyd Dowler for the fourth-best, single-game performance in team history — at New Orleans (Sept. 15), when he kicked 4 times for 213 yards with 2 'Inside the 20'...Also enjoyed a season-high 42.3-yard net average and a season-long 57-yard punt against the Saints...Was exceedingly consistent in maintaining a 48.7-yard average over 7 punts at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24) with a long of only 54 yards; ended Bucs contest with a 42.1 net average...Established a career high with 4 punts 'Inside the 20' in victory over Carolina (Sept. 29) while averaging 42.6 yards on a season-high 8 kicks...Dropped 3 'Inside yards over the previous season (to 42.5, after averaging 38.5 yards in 2000) to place seventh in the conference on that basis... Enjoyed a real strong mid-season stretch, where he averaged 47.0 yards per punt over a three-game period, he later punctured nearly as well in the postseason... Was named NFL 'Special Teams Player of the Week' after punting 3 times for gross and net averages of 47.7 yards, including 2 'inside the 20,' in NFC Wild Card playoff win over San Francisco (Jan. 13); his 47.7 net average represented a career best and was the highest in a playoff game (min. 3 punts) since the Steelers' Craig Colquitt had a 48.3-yard net average vs. Houston in the '79 postseason... Pinned the 49ers at their own 11-yard line with his first punt of 57 yards, saw his second punt (of 42 yards) downed at the S.F. 14 and kicked his third one 44 yards — none were returned... Subsequently averaged 43.7 yards on 3 punts (2 'inside the 20') in Divisional playoff game at St. Louis (Jan. 20), finishing a strong postseason with 6 punts for 274 yards — a 45.7-yard gross average — and a net average of 44.7 yards with 4 'inside the 20' and no touchbacks... Averaged a season-high 47.8 yards on 4 punts vs. Atlanta (Nov. 18), including a 43.3-yard net and 2 'inside the 20'... Followed that up with his second- and third-best performances of the regular season... Had his initial punt of 60-or-more yards in the pros four days later at Detroit on Thanksgiving Day (Nov. 22) while averaging 46.5 yards on 4 kicks... Subsequently nailed a career-best 68-yarder among 7 punts for a 46.9-yard average in Monday night win at Jacksonville (Dec. 3)... Had dropped second-half punts at the Buccaneers' 1- and 5-yard lines in Tampa (Oct. 7) in posting a regular-season career best net average of 44.0 yards... Later, in 21-20 rematch victory over the Bucs (Nov. 4), he averaged 46.3 yards on 4 fourth-quarter punts as field position played a big role in determining the final outcome... Had 3 punts 'inside the 20' in three different games — vs. Washington (Sept. 24), at Tennessee (Dec. 16) and against Minnesota (Dec. 30)... Held off the training camp challenge of Green Bay native Kevin Stenke with a 44.4-yard average on 17 punts during the preseason.

2000 Won Green Bay's punting job left open when Louie Aguiar was not re-signed, beating out veteran Tom Hutton with a steady training camp performance... Punted 78 times for 3,003 yards (38.5 avg.) in his first NFL season on the field... Led the league by having 16 of his punts downed... Posted a 34.6-yard net average while dropping 22 of his 78 punts 'inside the 20' — a respectable 28.2 percent — with only 5 touchbacks... Played in all 16 games... Managed to maintain gross and net averages of 41.5 and 41.1 yards, respectively, in the finale against Tampa Bay (Dec. 24) despite punting a season-high 8 times in 15-degree temperatures... Had hit a season-long 53-yard punt a week earlier in win at Minnesota (Dec. 17)... Made a strong statement early in the year with a stellar performance at Buffalo

(Sept. 10), punting 7 times for a 42.7-yard average, including a season-best 42.3-yard net and 3 'inside the 20' with no touchbacks... Later also had 3 punts 'inside the 20' in three other games — at Tampa Bay (Nov. 12), at Chicago (Dec. 3) and in the rematch with the Buccaneers (Dec. 24)... Turned in a season-high 44.8-yard average (4-punt min.) vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17)... Pinned the Colts at their own 6-yard line, leading to an early Green Bay safety and the eventual winning margin, in 26-24 win over Indianapolis (Nov. 19)... Was voted the 2000 'Ed Block Courage Award' by his teammates for his "commitment to the principles of sportsmanship and courage" in returning to the field after testicular cancer... Had begun punting again in late January in preparation for the 2000 season.

1999 Missed his entire rookie season after being diagnosed with testicular cancer Sept. 1 on the eve of the team's final preseason game... Was placed on the reserve/non-football illness list on Sept. 5... Having discovered the cancer in its early stages, he began a whirlwind period in his life with an initial surgery on Sept. 1 to remove a tumor... Subsequently underwent a second surgery later that month, in Portland, to remove roughly 25 cancerous lymph nodes and then went through two cycles of intensive chemotherapy, which were completed in late November of 1999... Eventually rehabilitated in Eugene, Ore., as he worked to regain the nearly 40 pounds he had lost during the treatment process... Was supported throughout his treatment by Tour de France champion cyclist Lance Armstrong, who had used the same surgeon and chemotherapist in his own successful battle with testicular cancer... Armstrong's support, often in the form of exchanged emails, typically included counsel on what to expect as the treatment process unfolded... Also received emotional and monetary support from his Packers teammates throughout his ordeal... When it was found that he was ineligible for the NFLPA insurance program — Bidwell's cancer was discovered 11 days prior to the first regular-season game, when his insurance coverage would have begun — his teammates, particularly kicker Ryan Longwell, worked to raise nearly $100,000 to help defray his anticipated medical expenses, including roughly $70,000 in personal cash contributions... A team-wide golf tournament to help cover his costs also was held on the players' off day... Before his cancer diagnosis, he had punted 11 times for 440 yards (40.0 avg.), with a long of 58, in three preseason games... Struggled early in training camp, but seemed to find his true form in the team's third preseason contest, at New Orleans (Aug. 28), averaging 43.6 yards on 6 punts... Was the second of two fourth-round draft choices (133rd overall and the first punter) by Green Bay in 1999, he was selected with a free agency compensatory pick.

COLLEGE Became Oregon's punter midway through the first game of his redshirt freshman season when the incumbent suffered what turned out to be a career-ending injury... Lettered the next four years (1995-98) for the Ducks... Had redshirted in 1994, playing as much tight end as punter for the scout team... Was concentrating on his duties as a backup wide receiver when punting opportunity presented itself early in '95 campaign... Punted 229 times for 9,350 yards — a 40.8-yard average, third-best in school history — with 61 punts 'inside the 20,' 18 'inside the 10,' a long of 69 and a 38.1-yard net average over his collegiate career... Enjoyed a true breakout season in 1998 as a fifth-year senior, when he averaged 46.0 yards per punt (51-2,346) to shatter the school's single-season record (previously 43.7) and finished second in the nation in gross average...Also posted a remarkable 41.8-yard net average, he was a second-team All-America selection by the Associated Press and Football News...

Additionally earned first-team All-Pacific 10 Conference recognition for the initial time and won the

'Gordon Wilson Award' as the Ducks' special teams player of the year...Socked 37% (19 of 51) of his 1998 punts 50 yards or better, including a career-long 69-yarder against Washington...Had the lone punt blocked of his collegiate career in '98 Stanford game, snapping a string of 189 punts without a block...Was thrust into role as the school's punter when incumbent Matt Belden tore a thigh muscle in opening game at University of Utah; luckily he had been on trip as a member of traveling squad in his then-role as a backup wide receiver...Was 1/3 on field goal attempts and 1/1 on PAT tries while filling in for Belden vs. Utes on an emergency basis; hit 42-yard field goal midway through third quarter to tie game at 20 in eventual 27-20 victory over Utah, later adding a successful extra point on Ducks' go-ahead touchdown...Had opportunity to play in the 1996 Cotton Bowl, the 1997 Las Vegas Bowl and the 1998 Aloha Bowl...Holds a B.A. degree in English.

PERSONAL Given name Joshua John Bidwell...Born in Roseburg, Ore. ...Married to Bethany...Was an all-state pick by The Oregonian as both a placekicker (second team) and punter (third team) his senior season at Douglas High School in Winston, Ore., when he averaged 45.6 yards per punt despite missing the final three games due to an appendectomy...Also earned all-conference honors three times as a kicking specialist...Served as the school's option quarterback his junior and senior years, he also had started at free safety early in his prep career — a role he relinquished upon becoming the signal with only one concern when assessing No. 93's potential contributions to the '03 cause: his game-to-game availability...He is aware the 10th-year professional has missed a total of nine contests over the past two seasons after earlier putting together back-to-back 16-game seasons in 1998 and 1999 (he sat out the 2000 campaign)... "Obviously, what concerns us the most is his being healthy for an entire season," Franklin observes. "There are just things that happen — things that you can't control. (But) we still feel that he is a force when he's in there. We just have to do — from a monitoring standpoint — everything we can to make sure that we're taking every way possible to assure that he is in there. I feel good about him as a player — we'll see how it goes. His weight's been real good, the last couple years, so he's shown the dedication there alone. His experience is the biggest asset which makes him a leader of this team, and that's something he will be doing a fine job at this season."...Franklin also acknowledges that Brown sets an emotional tone for the defense. "He makes a big play and he does the old 'grave-digger' routine," he chuckles, "and gets everyone all fired up. It sends a message, you know."...The mountainous Detroit native, allowed to sit out the 2000 season because of weight and related injury problems, resurrected his playing career in 2001, committing himself to a strict diet and a new lifestyle in the '01 offseason in an all-out bid to regain a berth on Green Bay's defensive line...Accordingly, he worked out and lived for a time with Fred Roll, his former strength and conditioning coach at the University of Kansas, and subsequently returned to Green Bay for training camp in July a perceptibly more svelte 339 pounds — and once again equipped with his former quickness...He had been re-signed by the Packers on March 23, 2001, after which Brown announced, "If I didn't think I could do this anymore, I wouldn't be here. I'm not playing games — I'm here to do my business. Don't judge me for what I did before — judge me now."

Productive when healthy over the past two seasons, he enters the '03 campaign with 111 career regular-season games played and 89 starts to his credit...Has registered 278 tackles (175 unassisted), including 7 sacks, with 4 passes defended and 3 forced fumbles...He also has played in 14 postseason contests (13 starts) and shares third place on the Packers' all-time career postseason games played with five other players — LeRoy Butler, Mark Chmura, Dorsey Levens, Mike Prior and Reggie White...Easily one of the most dominant "inside" defensive players in the National Football League in the latter half of the '90s, "The Gravedigger" developed into a continuing force in the Packers' defensive line over a five-year span (1995-99)...And, while entrenching himself in the heart of the front four, he had become both a fan favorite and something of a folk hero in the process — in part because of his ability to consistently knock offensive linemen off the ball...When in good health and physical condition, he has effectively controlled the line of scrimmage, as best demonstrated in 1996 — as a first-time starter — he opened all 16 games and played a major role in the Packers' miserly defense, which yielded only 19 touchdowns over the regular season to set a league record...Originally drafted by Minnesota in 1993, he subsequently was waived by the Vikings on the final cut-down that year and claimed by the Packers...Later a much-coveted unrestricted free agent following the 1996 season, he chose to re-sign with Green Bay (Feb. 18, 1997)... "Everybody knew how I felt," Brown said of his decision to remain with the Packers. "Nobody really gave me a chance once Minnesota let me go. Green Bay gave me a chance and my loyalty is to Green Bay. My heart is here."...Continued to maintain a residence in Green Bay during the 2000 season, while he was out of the NFL, staying in contact with several of his former teammates.

ensuing games with Chicago (Dec. 1), Minnesota (Dec. 8) and at San Francisco (Dec. 15) because of foot injury...Came in as a reserve against Buffalo (Dec. 22), helping to hold Bills RB Travis Henry to a paltry 2.3-yard average on 20 rushing attempts (for 46 yards)...Totaled 5 tackles at the N. Giants (Jan. 6)...Made a season-high 7 tackles in rematch victory over the Buccaneers (Nov. 4), playing through a painful groin/quad strain suffered two weeks earlier at Minnesota, as the Packers held Tampa Bay to only 2.5 yards per carry on 24 rushing attempts...Subsequently was limited to five plays at Chicago (Nov. 11) when strain lingered, but made 1 tackle in Bears contest despite minimal action...Earlier had turned in 6 stops in win at Carolina (Sept. 30), a total matched three weeks later in contest at Minnesota (Oct. 21)...Contributed 3 solo tackles in Monday night victory over Washington (Sept. 24), playing a big role as Green Bay shut down the Redskins' Stephen Davis early in the contest...Also had 3 stops at Tampa Bay (Oct. 7) and vs. Baltimore (Oct. 14)...Contributed 2 stops at Jacksonville (Dec. 3)...Provided a big boost by returning to the field for the NFC Wild Card playoff against San Francisco (Jan. 13) after missing four of the last five regular-season games...Drilled 49ers QB Jeff Garcia into the ground for a sack (his first since 1997) on the first play from scrimmage among 6 total tackles as Green Bay held the Niners' potent running game — tops in the NFC during the regular season — to only 71 yards and a 3.4-yard average per carry...Also started the following week at St. Louis in Divisional playoff (Jan. 20)...Missed about two weeks of work in training camp after spraining the medial collateral ligament in his left knee during practice on Aug. 1.

2000 A free agent following the '99 season, he did not sign with an NFL team and remained out of football.

1999 Played in all 16 games at nose tackle for the second straight year (and the third time as a pro), starting all but one (when Green Bay opened with six defensive backs on the field)...Served as an effective run stopper throughout the year, finishing with 39 tackles — the second-highest total of his pro career...Also had 1 forced fumble...Forced a fumble among a season-best 5 tackles (all solo) against Seattle (Nov. 1)...Later matched his season high with 5 stops in win over his hometown Lions (Nov. 21)...Earlier had recorded 4 tackles at Detroit (Sept. 19), vs. Minnesota (Sept. 26), at Denver (Oct. 17) and at Dallas (Nov. 14), including a key goal-line stop in Broncos contest...Received a level of notoriety for his fiery speech to teammates at halftime of 23-20,

1998 Relatively injury-free and in excellent cardiovascular shape throughout the season as the result of a rigorous conditioning program, was aided by the Packers' rotation system across the defensive line which allowed him to be spelled periodically by Bob Kuberski and Billy Lyon...Recorded 30 tackles while starting all 16 regular-season games, plus playoff loss to San Francisco, at nose tackle...Was especially effective down the stretch in the Packers' three cold-weather games to close out the league schedule, totaling one-third of his '98 stops in that span...Made a season-high 4 tackles in initial meeting with Bears (Dec. 13) at Lambeau Field...Had 3 stops a week later as the Packers held Tennessee running back Eddie George to just 30 yards rushing on 15 carries (Dec. 20)...Forged 3 tackles at Chicago (Dec. 27) in regular-season finale, including an important stuff of the Bears' James Allen for a 1-yard loss on third down at the Green Bay 2-yard line; Chicago was forced to settle for a short field goal which tied the game at 13 in the eventual 16-13 Packers victory...Matched his season high with 4 tackles in NFC Wild Card playoff contest at San Francisco (Jan. 3)...Earlier had been a key component of a Green Bay defensive line which distinguished itself in the first three weeks of the season, holding the Lions' Barry Sanders to 70 yards rushing in the opener to snap his personal streak of 100-yard rushing games at an NFL-record 14 (Sept. 6), then limiting Tampa Bay's formidable running attack to just 50 yards in a 23-15 victory (Sept. 13), and restricting Cincinnati to only 28 yards rushing in a 13-6 win (Sept. 20)...Helped hold the Panthers' offense to a modest 230 yards in Green Bay's victory at Carolina by way of 3 tackles (Sept. 27)...Contributed 3 stops at Detroit (Oct. 15), but suffered a slight ankle sprain...Had suffered a groin injury during training camp (Aug. 21) of an unnecessary block, on an interception return, that he did not see coming...Though no surgery was required for the badly sprained pelvis he incurred in the Packers' Nov. 24 game at Tampa Bay, his comeback efforts were hindered by a pair of unrelated offseason operations...Underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Jan. 31, 2003, to address cartilage damage tied into an MCL sprain from the 2002 season, he later had his right elbow scoped this past April 14 to remove multiple loose bodies...Spent the entirety of the offseason arduously rehabilitating his pelvic injury with hopes of being ready to return to the field by the first day of training camp...Strives in '03 to become as well known for his on-field performance as he currently is for being carried off the field (in Tampa)...Chad is a guy with enormous talent and abilities," says Green Bay offensive line coach Larry Beightol. "He is a large man that is very, very quick and light on his feet. When he wants to be, he's as good a left tackle as there is in the National Football League. He has a terrific first step, he has a great pass set, he plays upright and can use his hands. He, without question, is one of the better left tackles, not only in our division but in the National Football League. And that says a lot about him. I know he's anxious to get back in the mix, and though we've got to be patient I don't think last year's injury is going to be a problem. I think what we will see this season is a hungrier Chad Clifton than maybe what we saw last year. I still believe that he has the chance to be as good of a tackle as there is in the National Football League..." In 2001, had a big hand in Green Bay allowing the third-fewest sacks in the league (22), a figure that additionally qualified as the least by a Packers team in 27 years...The towering Tennessean had been thrust into the starting lineup seven games into his 2000, rookie campaign, immediately shoring up what had been a trouble spot for Green Bay early in the year...Was not intimidated by the hostile crowds or noisy domed stadiums — situations he had encountered earlier as a standout at the University of Tennessee — while holding his own against some of the game's better pass rushers...Also helped shepherd the Packers to a 39-yard per game improvement running the football following his insertion as a starter...A second-round draft choice of Green Bay in 2000, joined fellow rookie Mark Tauscher in the lineup that year to give the Packers their first pair of starting rookie offensive tackles in 48 years.

Turned in several notable performances before his personal season was ended by a pelvic injury after 11 games...Neutralized the Dolphins' Jason Taylor — who had been named AFC 'Defensive Player of the Week' days earlier and who would go on to finish as the NFL sacks leader with 18½ — while playing the last two-and-a-half quarters of Monday night win over Miami (Nov. 4)...Earlier had shut out the Panthers' Mike Rucker — the league's leading sacker entering the contest and the eventual NFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' — in victory over Carolina (Sept. 29)...Also was playing well at New England (Oct. 13), according to Beightol, before he sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee early on, an injury that caused him to be inactive for the following week's game vs. Washington (Oct. 20) and not start ensuing Dolphins contest...Played in 10 of Green Bay's first 11 games, making nine starts at left tackle, and was inactive twice...Had his year come to an abrupt end when he was blindsided by an unnecessary block during a third-quarter interception return at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24)...Sprained the bones of his pelvis so severely that he was hospitalized for nearly a week (in both Tampa and Green Bay) and was unable to walk on his own for roughly another six weeks before beginning a full off-season of rehabilitation...Was placed on injured reserve Dec. 4 after being inactive for Bears contest three days earlier...Had missed one series of initial meeting with Chicago (Oct. 7), in Champaign, Ill., due to a neck "stinger" that occurred on the Packers' first PAT try.

2001 Played in 14 games, starting 13, in his first full season as the starter at left tackle...Also opened both playoff contests...Was inactive for one regular-season game and dressed for the other, though he did not play...Played a central role as Green Bay allowed the third-fewest sacks in the NFL (22) and the least by a Packers team in 27 years (17 in 1974)...Held future Hall of Famer Bruce Smith without a sack in Monday night victory over Washington (Sept. 24)...Later, despite playing with a left hamstring strain suffered a week earlier at Tampa Bay, shut out the Ravens' Michael McCrary, one of the AFC's top pass rushers, in triumph over defending Super Bowl champion Baltimore (Oct. 14)...Sprained his left ankle early in rematch with the Buccaneers (Nov. 4), causing him to be inactive for the ensuing contest, at Chicago (Nov. 11)...Was available for backup duty vs. Atlanta (Nov. 18), but did not see any action...Returned to the field, in a reserve capacity, for Thanksgiving Day battle at Detroit (Nov. 22), rotating in for Barry Stokes in the first half before taking the majority of snaps after halftime...Was inserted back into the starting lineup for 2000 Moved into the starting lineup at left tackle in the seventh game of his rookie season, taking over for Mike Wahle...Played so well down the stretch against some of the NFL's best pass rushers that he drew serious consideration for all-rookie honors...Helped Green Bay average 117.3 yards rushing per game over the final 10 contests — a 39-yard improvement over the 78.3 yards per game the Packers put forth in the first six weeks when he wasn't starting...Saw action in 13 games, starting the last 10, he was inactive for two contests and did not play in another...Played the majority of the second half at left tackle at Detroit (Oct. 8) after Wahle went out due to a calf strain, holding up well against Tracy Scroggins, who had generated 1½ sacks and significant pressure before Clifton got onto the field...Subsequently made his first NFL start the next week vs. San Francisco (Oct. 15)...Held his own against the Dolphins' Taylor, whose 14½ sacks ended up second in the AFC, at Miami (Oct. 29) in his initial significant challenge since becoming a starter...Twice held the Buccaneers' Marcus Jones (fourth in the NFC with 13 sacks) without a sack, preventing him from making even a single tackle at Tampa Bay (Nov. 12)...Shut down the Vikings' John Randle in upset victory over Minnesota (Dec. 17) inside the noisy Metrodome...Had seen his rookie season get off to a slow start when he suffered a mild sprain of his right MCL during one-on-one pass-blocking drills in practice on Aug. 16, causing him to miss the Packers' final two preseason games and to be inactive for the first two regular-season contests...Dressed, but did not play, vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17), before making his NFL debut on Sept. 24 at Arizona, seeing late-game action at left tackle in a 29-3 blowout win...Along with Tauscher, gave Green Bay its first pair of starting rookie offensive tackles in 48 years (Tom Johnson-Bob Dees, Nov. 16, 1952, at the N.Y. Giants had been the last such occurrence) when he entered the lineup beginning with the 49ers game...Drafted in the second round (44th overall) by Green Bay in 2000.

can do after he learns the Packers' offense... "I want to see what he can do when he's comfortable with what we're doing," Bevell says. "I want to see if the athletic ability can take over — the arm strength and footwork — then he doesn't have to think anymore."...After being drafted in the third round (95th overall) by the Rams in 2002, he retired from football on Sept. 12 as the physical strain of injuries and mental strain of learning a new position — wide receiver — prompted a change of heart and raised questions about whether an NFL career was the right decision...Sat out the 2002 season after announcing his retirement to rethink his career goals, allow his injuries to heal and spend time with his family...Has worked extensively and diligently to learn the 'West Coast' offense after orchestrating an 'Option,' run-first offense at Nebraska... "It will take awhile for him to get to that point where he doesn't have to think of every little thing and can go out and just react to everything he sees," continues Bevell, who describes Crouch as "a very talented athlete" who "shows good arm strength and has great feet"...A dedicated player who ultimately chose to pursue a career in the NFL only after his injuries healed and he was able to give a completely committed effort, both physically and mentally.

Where Titledown meets Tinseltown

Najeh Davenport plays a nightclub owner in the movie Blood Money, starring Busta Rhymes and 50 Cent, due out this fall. But that's not the first instance of Hollywood's long relationship with the Green Bay Packers. Among many examples:

- Actor Matthew McConaughey's father was drafted by the Packers. The team selected James (Jim) McConaughey, an end, out of the University of Houston in the 27th round (319th overall) of the '53 draft. The elder McConaughey didn't see action in a league game. The younger McConaughey is known to be a Packers fan.
- Alan Autry, who played Captain Bubba Skinner in the hit series In the Heat of the Night, also was drafted by Green Bay. GM/Head Coach Bart Starr drafted him in the 12th round (296th overall) of the 1975 draft. During training camp, Autry met director Robert Altman, who would give him a small part in the 1978 film Remember My Name. Autry's legal name was Carlos Brown (including his 1975-76 Packers tenure) until 1981, when he changed it while filming Southern Comfort, after meeting his biological father. Autry now owns a production company, and produced and starred in his first full-length film, The Legend of Jake Kincaid, last year.
- The Packers were the subject of a 1937 MGM/UA movie, Pigskin Champions (above, Don Hutson and Arnie Herber collect autographs from one of their "co-stars," Pete Smith, while in Hollywood).
- On Dec. 13, ESPN is scheduled to premiere The Ice Bowl, based on the legendary 1967 NFL championship game. Screenwriter Joe Eszterhas (Basic Instinct, Flashdance, Jagged Edge), the NFL and ESPN collaborate on the project, which also will depict events outside of football, going on around the country at the time. The script researcher contacted several Packers fans who attended.
- Brett Favre made a cameo in the comedy There's Something About Mary (Cameron Diaz, Ben Stiller), as Mary's mysterious boyfriend.
- Gary Knafelc, Lambeau Field's current public address announcer who also caught the game-winning touchdown in the stadium's inaugural game, was an actor as well. Using the screen name Gary Kincaid, he had roles in Palm Springs Weekend (1963) among other films.
- Ray Nitschke had roles in The Longest Yard (1974), starring Burt Reynolds, and Head (1968).
- Joe Johnson is the executive producer of the movie The Playmaker, which will feature Terrell Owens and Jason Taylor, as well as current Monday Night Football sideline reporter Lisa Guerrero.

(first round in 2000) as the only two players from Miami (Fla.) drafted by Green Bay in the past 37 years.

2002 SEASON Emerged early in the regular season as a high-quality backup to Green at halfback after beginning the year as the Packers' reserve fullback...Rushed for 184 yards (third on team) and 1 TD on 39 carries — for an impressive 4.7-yard average...Also was an occasional deep man on kickoffs, returning 6 for a 21.7-yard average, before his season ended prematurely due to an eye injury...Additionally made 5 receptions for 33 yards and 4 special teams tackles prior to

when he came out of college, and he was just developing into a blocker. But as we got into the course of training camp, what happened was that it became more apparent that he was going to be the best guy to give us depth at halfback. In the process of putting him there, he did surprise us with his running skills. We realized that he had better-than-average tailback running skills, even though he had not run the ball in college for almost three years. Even though he was still rusty, he showed some natural running instincts right away. It really showed up in the first Detroit game. When he had to play most of the game, he did some good things. That's when we got encouraged that he could be a true tailback in this league, so we continued to work him there....Posted better than 85 percent (157 of 184) of his rushing yards last year against the Detroit Lions, including a career-best 84 yards in the Ford Field opener in Week 3...Became one of Green Bay's most valued reserves by midway through the 2002 season, spelling Green on a fairly regular basis, before a freak eye injury cut his year short...Enjoyed an impressive 4.7 yards-per-carry average before getting hurt, he also had shown potential as a kickoff returner...When Najeh got hurt in the Minnesota game, that really hurt us going down the stretch," Croom continues. "The entire offseason with him has been to increase his conditioning and really get him honed in on trying to refine his skills as a runner, to get him to be a more polished runner as far as his reads, steps, instincts and vision. He's progressed and things are starting to happen a little more naturally for him, but he still needs a lot of repetition. I don't think he's even scratched the surface of what he's capable of, and I don't think he even fully understands it..."Had been a highly-recruited tailback when he came out of Miami Central High School in 1996...Subsequently got stuck behind future NFL stars Edgerrin James and Clinton Portis, among others, in his bid to become the Hurricanes' next great runner and eventually accepted a move to fullback...Davenport's potential, along with his physical skills, leaves Croom imagining ways to utilize the dreadlocked Floridian..."The sheer power that Najeh has is something that always will have to be dealt with by opposing defenses," says Croom, "particularly in the Red Zone, short-yardage and goal-line, and at the end of ballgames. Maybe by the time the defense is a little worn down, Najeh can come in and really put the hammer to them and finish things off..."Joins TE Bubba Franks

- The fact that he averaged 4.7 yards per carry in 2002 as an NFL rookie should have come as no surprise since Davenport was a highly-recruited tailback coming out of high school, but he was forced to split time at Miami (Fla.) with future high NFL draft picks Edgerrin James, James Jackson and Clinton Portis before moving to fullback on a permanent basis for the last year-and-a-half of his collegiate career.
- Posted better than 85 percent (157 of 184) of his rushing yards last year against the Detroit Lions, including a career-best 84 yards in the Ford Field opener in Week 3.
- Was a captain on Miami's 12-0, national championship team in 2001, though he missed the title game after breaking a bone in his foot during Rose Bowl preparations.
- Tends to gravitate toward more interesting "summer" jobs. This year he utilized his degree in theatre to garner a role as a nightclub owner in the upcoming movie Blood Money, starring Busta Rhymes and 50 Cent, which is scheduled for release in September of 2003. Previously, while in college, he had worked as a paralegal assistant and sold cutlery during the summer months.
- First name is pronounced NAH-jay.

being hurt...Enjoyed his top two games of the year against Detroit...With Green (quadriceps) inactive, saw his first significant action as a pro when he split time at halfback with Rondell Mealey in Ford Field opener (Sept. 22); ran for a career-best 84 yards (on 22 carries) and caught 4 passes for 31 yards in 37-31 Green Bay victory...Later, in rematch with the Lions (Nov. 10), had a team-high 73 yards rushing — including a career-long 43-yard run up the right sideline — on just 10 attempts (7.3 avg.) in relief of Green, who had been forced out in the second quarter by a mild concussion...Also posted a season-high 2 coverage stops in second Detroit contest before going out himself late in the third period, when he suffered a right ankle strain after being bent backwards over a pile...Returned to the field the next week for game at Minnesota (Nov. 17), but his health was short-lived; fractured his left eye socket while covering the opening kickoff, an injury that occurred when he laid a heavy hit on Vikings return man Nick Davis...With surgery necessary (Nov. 20), was placed on injured reserve the same day...Finished rookie year with eight games played as a reserve...Also was inactive for two contests (Oct. 13 at New England and Oct. 20 vs. Washington) after initially pulling his right hamstring in an Oct. 3 practice, then aggravating the injury four days later in Monday night win over

Chicago at Champaign, Ill. ...Had carries of 5 and 3 yards on consecutive plays immediately prior to Ryan Longwell's game-winning field goal in 37-34, overtime triumph over Atlanta in the season opener (Sept. 8), having entered the game with Green (cramps) and Mealey (hamstring) sidelined...Missed roughly three weeks of practice near the start of training camp due to pain and soreness associated with the left foot surgery required following his final collegiate season...Was selected in the fourth round of the 2002 draft (135th overall) with a free agency compensatory pick.

COLLEGE Was a four-time letterman (1998-2001) at the University of Miami (Fla.) following a redshirt season in 1997...A highly-recruited tailback coming out of high school, initially split time with future high NFL draft choices James (Colts, first round in '99), James Jackson (Browns, third round in '01) and Portis (Broncos, second round in '02) before moving to fullback on a permanent basis for the last year-and-a-half of his collegiate career...Averaged 5.3 yards per carry, rushing 156 times for 830 yards and 13 TDs...Also made 35 receptions for 381 yards and 3 TDs, in addition to returning 14 kickoffs for 346 yards (24.7 avg.)...Played in 32 games as a collegian with 16 starts, including 11 as a senior...Served as a captain on Miami's 12-0, national championship team in 2001, though he was forced to miss the Hurricanes' blowout of Nebraska in the Rose Bowl after breaking the fifth metatarsal bone in his left foot during a Dec. 21 practice...Playing fullback on a full-time basis for the first time in '01, he helped to pave the way for a 1,200-yard rushing year by Portis and was honored following the season with the school's 'Unsung Hero' award...Had rotated between tailback and fullback for much of his junior season, making a career-best 15 receptions (for 149 yards and 1 TD) to go along with his 308 yards and 4 TDs rushing...Received the school's 'Jessie Armstead Comeback Player of the Year' award in 2000, recognizing his return from knee injury that limited his '99 season to one game...Rushed for 81 yards on 13 carries (6.2 avg.) in 1999 Kickoff Classic vs. Ohio State at the Meadowlands before tearing the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee...Enjoyed career highs in yards rushing (387) and rushing TDs (6) in 1998 as a redshirt freshman (team-leading 7.0 avg.)...Ran for a career-best 92 yards in consecutive weeks, vs. East Tennessee State and at Cincinnati, to open the '98 campaign...Set a Big East record with 208 kickoff return yards (on 7 runbacks) in 1998 contest at Syracuse...Worked with the Hurricanes' scout team during 1997 redshirt season...Also won four letters (1998-2001) as a sprinter on the Miami track team, competing in the 100-meter dash and 4x100-meter relay; was a member of the Hurricanes' 4x100 relay team that was the 1999 Big East champion...Earned a B.A. degree in theatre, with a minor in education.

Rob

Poised, unassuming, eighth-year NFL veteran...The most important least-known player on the roster...Forms key component in the Packers' kicking game...Shrewd player, now in his seventh Green Bay season, competes in a high-pressure world where his goal is to remain unnoticed...Unlike a "skill" player, any errors he commits — few and far between since his arrival in '97 — are magnified because a game's momentum can swing dramatically after a kicking-game miscue... "He's just a solid, reliable, dependable rock," Packers special teams coordinator John Bonamego says. "The No. 1 thing you need at that position is consistency. And, from what I've seen, there's been no dropoff in his performance over the years..."

PRO CAREER

In fact, almost to his credit because of that virtually spotless track record, no other player carries as much pressure to successfully complete his responsibility... "The part that's often overlooked is his ability to make tackles on the punt team," special teams consultant Frank Novak says. "And inherently, even when he doesn't make the tackle, he enables other people to make the tackle..." Posted 7 special-teams tackles in 2002, his most in a Packers uniform (10 in 1996 with Chicago)... "He moves extremely well for a big man," Bonamego adds. "He's also has tremendous accuracy and velocity in his snaps..." One of only nine current Packers who played for Green Bay in its last Super Bowl (also Gilbert Brown, Tyrone Davis, Brett Favre, William Henderson, Ryan Longwell, Marco Rivera, Darren Sharper and Frank Winters)... Now one of the team's leaders (elected one of the Packers' captains during the 2001 playoffs), proud veteran struggled to get his career off the ground in the mid 1990s... "Really what separates him is his professionalism," Novak says. "He takes his job seriously and takes pride in performing under pressure, and in inclement weather. He's a leader by example..." Initially came to Tittletown midway through the '97 season, and increasingly has become part of the fabric of his team and community... A true team player, willingly assists in all areas of game-week preparation, including the scout-team defense... One of only a handful of pure NFL long snappers, mistakenly listed as "center" and "defensive tackle" by many outlets, taught himself his humble trade, then refined it into an art during his seven prior NFL seasons... Has earned the confidence of specialist Ryan Longwell, the most accurate kicker in Packers history, who has spent all but nine games of his pro career with Davis... Has worked with four punters in six Packers seasons and four holders for placements... Re-signed by the Packers as an unrestricted free agent on March 20, 2001... Had labored three years for an opportunity to play in the NFL, spending two training camps with the N.Y. Jets (1993-94), a year with the CFL's Baltimore Stallions (1995) and a preseason with Kansas City (1996)... Is the first player ever from Shippensburg (Pa.) University to play in the NFL.

2002 SEASON Completed his fifth full season as the Packers' long snapper... Extended his games-played streak to 87 (94 including playoffs) — having not missed a game since coming to Green Bay — the third-longest active streak among Packers, behind Brett Favre (175) and Longwell (96)... Remains a willing participant in kick coverage duties once his initial, snapping responsibilities are completed, having tallied 7 tackles in 2002... Matched his career high with 3 coverage stops in win vs. Buffalo (Dec. 22)... Had contributed 1 assisted tackle on special teams in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7), he subsequently recorded a coverage stop six days later at New England (Oct. 13)... Also tallied an assist at Minnesota (Nov. 17) and in rematch vs. the Bears (Dec. 1)... Sprained his right big toe early in Monday night win vs. Miami (Nov. 4), but still played six days later against Detroit (Nov. 10) and through the last half of the season — though the injury was severe enough to warrant off-season surgery (Jan. 20).

- Owns Green Bay's third-longest active streak of games played, 87, behind only Brett Favre (175) and Ryan Longwell (96).
- Has made more than 25 community appearances since arriving in Green Bay in 1997.
- Interned with Smith Barney, the investment and financial-planning company, this summer in Green Bay.
- Has 30 career special-teams tackles, including seven in 2002, his most since he had 10 in 1996.
- One of just nine current Packers who played in Green Bay's last Super Bowl.
- First from Shippensburg (Pa.) University to play in NFL...
- Wants to be dean of a university after his playing career.

2001 Finished his fourth full season as the Packers' long snapper... Continued to provide excellent coverage on punts after executing his snapping responsibilities... Played in all 16 games for the fourth straight year and fifth time in his NFL career (also in 1996 with Chicago)... Also saw action in both playoff contests, serving as one of Green Bay's six postseason game captains... Contributed 3 tackles on special teams.

2000 Expertly handled snaps for all field goal tries and punts for a fourth consecutive season... Helped Longwell to tie the Packers' single-season records for most field goals made (33) and most points, no touchdowns (131), while in the process becoming the league's all-time most accurate placekicker at season's end... Contributed 3 tackles on punt coverage... Recovered a fumbled punt, which had been muffed by the Vikings' David Palmer, in the fourth quarter of overtime triumph over Minnesota (Nov. 6).

1999 Packers' full-time long snapper, provided valued consistency to Longwell, who made 25-of-30 field goal tries... Contributed 5 special teams tackles (3 solo)... Made season-best 2 coverage stops at Minnesota (Dec. 20)... Also assumed a small role on the Packers' return teams.

1998 Was the team's long snapper for punts and field goals throughout the season... Played in all 16 games and in NFC Wild Card playoff at San Francisco... Bothered by lower-back problem during the offseason, he underwent corrective surgery July 1, then missed the initial three weeks of training camp and two preseason games... Placed on physically unable to perform list on July 8, he returned to the active roster Aug. 10 after passing the team's physical.

1997 Signed with Green Bay as a free agent Nov. 4, after a back injury sidelined usual punt snapper Paul Frase...Handled all long-snapping duties the last seven regular-season games, starting with win over St. Louis (Nov. 9), as well as all three playoff games, including Super Bowl XXXII...Had been waived by Chicago (Aug. 27) and was out of football until joining Green Bay.

1995 Served as the long snapper and as a backup nose tackle for the Baltimore Stallions of the Canadian Football League after joining the team in April.

1994 Failed to make the Jets' roster in his second attempt...He was waived on Aug. 22...Returned to coach at Shippensburg following his release...Had resigned with New York on May 2.

1993 Waived by the Jets Aug. 24, he spent the year out of football...Signed by the New York Jets as an undrafted free agent May 10.

Reality television: Wisconsin football fans rule ratings

Packers games receive unparalleled television viewership. Not even popular reality-TV programming can compete. Over at least the last two seasons, Green Bay and Milwaukee, respectively, have led the NFL.

Nielsen Media reports that, on average, an estimated 500,000 viewers tune in to watch the Packers in their two home markets — Green Bay and Milwaukee. Green Bay, monitored for only four Packers contests in November 2002, averaged a 54 rating for those games, meaning about 54 percent of all televisions and more than half the area's population, were following the team's fortunes. Milwaukee, recorded all season, had an average of 42. Pittsburgh and the Steelers came in third with a 40.

According to Variety, the Packers drew a 19.2 rating for their regular-season game against the Jets (Dec. 29, 2002). The FOX rating was the best for a regular-season game in more than six years, on any network.

The loyalty is not just local, either. During the 2002 regular season, the Packers made eight combined national appearances on ABC, ESPN, FOX and CBS during the 17-week period. Only the Philadelphia Eagles made more, with nine.

Beyond football, two of the largest national audiences since Sept. 5, 2002 (the league's first regular-season game) belonged to the Packers. The estimated 26.3 million viewers for the Jan. 4 playoff game against Atlanta topped The Bachelor finale on ABC Nov. 20 (25.9 million) and American Idol on FOX Jan. 29 (25.8 million). The Packers-Jets game had more than 25 million viewers, edging American Idol on Fox Jan. 22 and Survivor: Thailand finale on CBS Dec. 19 (24.0 million).

A consistent playmaker who has become a veteran leader as he enters his fourth season with the Packers... Dependable and unswerving, started all 16 games for the second consecutive season despite a sprained right knee just over halfway through the year... Named the NFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' for December as the Packers went 4-1 down the stretch... "He's a real mature player and I'm impressed with the maturity he's displayed as a young player, only going into his fourth season," says new Green Bay linebackers coach Mark Duffner. "He's already accomplished quite a bit being a three-year starter, including his player of the month honors last season. He's a leader by example and I'm anxious to work with him and help his game reach an even higher plateau..." A steady performer who became the strong side linebacker after winning that position as a rookie in 2000, might see a different view for the upcoming season at the weak side... "We're looking at him as a weak outside linebacker, not because he hasn't been productive on the strong side, but we're looking at guys in different spots and seeing if they can be more productive in different positions," Duffner continues. "The exposure to the weak side will only help his play and help our team gain depth..." A very active player who finds a way to be around the ball, was the Packers' second-leading tackler last season... "I see him as a real cerebral guy," Duffner says. "He's fluid and does a good job getting off of blockers as well as maintaining a strong pass rush talent. With his confidence and with his play-making ability, he's got even more productivity ahead of him as a player..." Originally a 2000 fourth-round draft choice, surprised many observers by being able to play right away as a rookie due to remarkable mental preparation he initially exhibited... Has appeared in 45 career games with the Packers, with 44 starts, registering 257 tackles (175 solo), 5 sacks and 17 passes defended... Played in three postseason games, totaling 16 tackles (10 solo) and 1 sack for 9 yards... Enters 2003 needing 43 tackles for career No. 300... By starting the team's initial nine games, would become the first Packers linebacker in seven years to start 43 consecutive games; George Koonce started 49 straight from 1993-96... A restricted free agent after the 2002 season, he was signed to a four-year contract April 2, 2003; the Packers matched an offer sheet presented to Diggs by the Detroit Lions.

PRO CAREER2002 SEASON

Started all 16 regular-season games for the second consecutive season... Also started postseason contest with Atlanta, adding 5 tackles and a quarterback pressure... Production also included 2 interceptions, 1 forced fumble, 2 fumble recoveries, 7 passes defended (also career high) and 1 stop on kick coverage... Named the NFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' for December after racking up 37 tackles (30 solo), 1 interception, 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery and 2 passes defended during the Packers' 4-1 final month... Held opposing team's starting tight end to a total of

No-quit wideout enters fifth NFL season, and second as featured target in Packers offense...Jumped from top backup to top receiver during 2002 training camp, then turned into the feel-good story of the year when he played in his first Pro Bowl, having originally overcome steep odds just to make the NFL...Named as team's 'Most Valuable Player' in 2002...Agile, unwavering veteran with perennial work ethic...Key weapon in 'West Coast' scheme, with strong self-esteem... "He has tremendous burst and great explosion," Packers offensive coordinator Tom Rossley says. "He's playing with great confidence now. When you have that burst, it allows you to have confidence. It allows you to make plays."...Some of that confidence comes from versatility: Packers' most versatile pass catcher, capable of starting at all three receiver spots, and tapping electric speed out of backfield...Owns some of the surest hands on team, able to absorb Brett Favre's high-velocity passes...He's not a passive pass-catcher, either... "He attacks the ball," Rossley says. "He doesn't just wait for it, he goes up to get it."...Has more years in Green Bay — four — than any Packers receiver...Not the tallest receiver, but count on him to make plays every time he's on the field, practice or game...Quiet but self-assured, is one of most respected players in locker room...In 2003, will become the first player since Don Majkowski (10th round, 1987-92) drafted by the Packers in the seventh round or later to play five seasons in Green Bay...Intelligently effective, used his strong knowledge and feel for Packers' version of the 'West Coast' offense, to leap into the spotlight in 2002...Was no coincidence that he made two of the NFL's longest receptions last year, including 85-yard blast against Bears in Champaign... "He can easily find the open area," Green Bay receivers coach Ray Sherman says. "He's a guy who's very athletic and very smart."...Not only is he confident, has also earned team's unyielding trust... "We have full confidence in him, when we need someone to stick in there on a critical play," Sherman says. "He completely understands what we do. We taught him how to play all our positions."...Some of that confidence comes from his third-down productivity, which he flashed in the Packers' 2001 NFC Wild Card win over San Francisco...The team's No. 3 receiver for much of 2000, when he replaced an injured Corey Bradford...Though a low-round draft choice in 1999, initially had carved out a roster spot by regularly making phenomenal receptions in first training camp...Is the possessor of standout leaping ability, which allows him to go up into a crowd and come down with the ball...Enjoyed solid collegiate track career, demonstrating his athleticism with world-class skills in the high jump, reaching 7 feet, 6½ inches...Signed a five-year contract extension, through the 2007 season, Nov. 25, 2002.

Lee, among others, to become a full-time starter for the first time as a pro...Earning his first Pro Bowl trip, he became the lowest-drafted Packers player (seventh round) to participate in the Pro Bowl since Larry McCarren (12th round) in 1983 (Don Majkowski, 10th round, was chosen for the game in 1989, but did not play)...Led the Packers in receptions (70, 14th in the

► In 2002, recorded the 20th 1,000-yard season in Packers history, but the first by a player drafted in the seventh round or later.

► Also became the lowest-drafted Packers Pro Bowler in 19 years.

► Selected as the 2002 Green Bay Packers 'Most Valuable Player'; also honored as team's 'Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year' in recognition of his extensive work in the community.

► Sponsored three events in June to raise enough money to purchase four homes for homeless mothers...His Houston football camp and golf tournament drew several current and former NFL players, including Steve McNair, Ahmad Green, Brad Johnson and Tony Dorsett.

► One of the NFL's most decorated collegiate track athletes (high jump, decathlon, long jump, triple jump), won his conference's 'Athlete of the Year' award three straight years...Likely could have qualified for 2000 Sydney Olympics in high jump had he concentrated solely on track.

► Overcoming countless obstacles growing up has inspired him to become the team's most involved player in giving back to the community...He and his wife last year created the Donald Driver Foundation (www.sundaydriver.net), which targets sick children with unmanageable hospital bills and provides housing for the homeless...In addition, has made more than 315 appearances since 1999, from schools to youth football fields to churches, delivering motivational speeches or offering assistance.

Also threw a key downfield block on Lions S Eric Davis to help spring Terry Glenn's 46-yard catch to the 1-yard line late in the first half...Followed that up with 4 receptions for 121 yards at Minnesota (Nov. 17), including a nifty, 84-yard catch-and-run up the left sideline to tie the game at 21 early in the fourth quarter...Had made 7 receptions (for 78 yards) to lead the team in regular-season opener vs. Atlanta (Sept. 8)...Subsequently had a streak of four games with at least 1 TD catch before string ended at New England...Caught a 26-yard touchdown pass at New Orleans (Sept. 15) among 4 receptions for 51 yards...At Detroit (Sept. 22), scored for the second straight week — getting behind Lions defenders for a 21-yard TD reception early in the second quarter, giving Green Bay a 14-7 lead in the eventual 37-31 win — while catching 5 passes for 94 yards...Enjoyed the initial 2-touchdown game of his pro career in 17-14 victory vs. Carolina (Sept. 29), making 5 receptions (for 97 yards) to tie for the team lead; caught 31-yard TD pass from TE Bubba Franks late in first half of Panthers contest, he later pulled in the eventual game-winning score with 4:10 remaining — a high bullet from Favre that he snared near the 10-yard line before darting across the field and into the end zone...Enjoyed his first career 100-yard effort in Monday night win at Chicago (Oct. 7), making 4 receptions for 120 yards, including a career-long 85-yard catch to open the scoring (tied for the longest play from scrimmage in the NFC in 2002); also rushed once for 13 yards in Bears contest...Later pulled in a 4-yard touchdown pass among 3 catches at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24), along with having a 16-yard run against the Bucs...Had a key third-down reception to the Patriots' 5-yard line, setting up the first Green Bay touchdown in an eventual 28-10 victory, among 3 catches for 43 yards at New England (Oct. 13)...Tied for the team lead with 4 catches (for 44 yards) in win vs. Washington (Oct. 20); he also picked up a key downfield block on Redskins CB Fred Smoot on Ahman Green's 24-yard touchdown run early in the contest...Made 3 two starts (vs. Detroit Sept. 9, at Carolina Sept. 30) when the Packers opened with four wideouts, before he was inactive at Chicago (Nov. 11), vs. Atlanta (Nov. 18) and at Detroit (Nov. 22) due to the after-effects of earlier quad contusion...Returning to action in Monday night game at Jacksonville (Dec. 3), he made his lone catch an important one, pulling in a 10-yard reception to jump-start the Packers' final, game-winning drive in 28-21 victory...At Tennessee (Dec. 16), contributed his first touchdown of the season — a 7-yard reception across the middle — among 2 catches for 17 yards...Sparked the Packers' offense in subsequent, 24-13 win over Minnesota (Dec. 30), dashing 31 yards around left end on a reverse for a touchdown that gave Green Bay a 7-3 lead late in the first half — his initial rushing score in the NFL...Earlier, had made a huge contribution in 31-23 triumph over Baltimore (Oct. 14), matching his season high with 3 receptions (for a season-best 69 yards), including a 37-yarder across the middle to set up the touchdown that gave Green Bay a 24-10 lead late in the third quarter...Suffered a left quadriceps contusion in Ravens contest, however...In final minutes of 21-20 home victory over Tampa Bay (Nov. 4), got a block on the Buccaneers' David Gibson to help spring Allen Rossum's game-winning, 55-yard punt return...In Monday night victory over Washington (Sept. 24), had a 24-yard reception down the right sideline — his first catch of the season.

2000 Served as the Packers' No. 3 receiver for much of year with Bradford sidelined by multiple injuries...Played in all 16 games for the first time, starting twice...Also saw action on the special teams coverage units...Enjoyed an impressive 15.3-yard average per catch on 21 receptions (sixth on team) for 322 yards and 1 TD...Also scored a two-point conversion (at Detroit on Oct. 8) and rushed once for 4 yards...In first NFL start, had 3 catches (for 43 yards) vs. Chicago (Oct. 1), but suffered hip contusion on a key, fourth-quarter reception in Bears territory...Pulled in 2 passes for 58 yards, including a season-long 49-yard grab, at Buffalo (Sept. 10)...Started in place of an inactive Antonio Freeman in season finale vs. Tampa Bay (Dec. 24), catching 2 passes (for 23 yards); also gained 4 yards on his initial NFL carry...At Carolina (Nov. 27), caught a rocket-like, 32-yard touchdown pass from Favre in Monday night game, tying the score at 14 late in the first half...Against San Francisco (Oct. 15), made a key downfield block on Freeman's 67-yard TD reception to open the scoring; he later drew a third-down pass interference penalty in the end zone to set up the Packers' final touchdown in the eventual 31-28 victory...In win vs. Indianapolis (Nov. 19), had a 24-yard reception and drew a 33-yard pass interference call, both on a second-quarter TD drive.

1999 Saw action in six games as a rookie, primarily on special teams; he was inactive for nine contests and did not play in the other...Made 3 receptions for 31 yards and 1 TD...Inactive for the first eight games, made his pro debut at Dallas (Nov. 14), playing as the fourth receiver and on special teams...Got added playing time the following week vs. Detroit (Nov. 21), coming in as the No. 3 receiver with Freeman sidelined by a concussion...Made his first NFL catch a memorable one, pulling in an 8-yard touchdown pass from Favre among 3 total receptions against Carolina (Dec. 12)...Considered a long shot to make the team, he consistently impressed the coaching staff during training camp, meriting a roster spot...Was the second of two seventh-round draft choices (213th overall) by Green Bay in 1999, a pick obtained from Chicago in 1998 for return specialist Glyn Milburn.

The new Packers Pro Shop

Over the years, the Packers organization has created many benchmarks that others have tried to match. It's no surprise, then, that the Packers Pro Shop is now setting the standard for the rest of the league.

The inaugural NFL Hardlines Retail Summit this past February gave other team representatives a peek at the new Packers Pro Shop, now in the Lambeau Field Atrium. NFL Properties chose to stage the three-day event in Green Bay because the Packers' store is becoming a model for other team shops.

Total merchandise sales for the NFL have risen to $100 million. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 2003, Packers merchandise earned $11.1 million, believed to be at least second in the NFL. Kate Hogan, the team's director of retail operations, and the rest of the organization are hoping to erase all doubts and solidify the Packers' hold on the No. 1 spot this year.

A new design, coinciding with the renovation of Lambeau Field, upgraded the store from a 1,750-square-foot establishment to a spacious, 6,500-square-foot wonderland. Wood fixtures carved with the club's logo, green 'G' carpeting and a football chandelier are just a few of the features that provide an upscale shopping atmosphere mixed with a football fan's paradise.

The shop is also unique in its merchandise. A customer can buy Lambeau memorabilia, pillows, quilts and other Packers items not typically found in other stores. Of course, visitors also have no problem getting their hands on their favorite Packers player's jersey or the classic Cheesehead.

Brett FAVRE
Pro Bowl Selections (7): 1992-93, 1995-97, 2001-02

Profoundly competitive and possessor of intestinal fortitude of the highest caliber, quarterback Brett Favre launches his 12th season in Green Bay in 2003...With each passing year, redefines the standard to which all future signal-callers will be held...Impact due in large measure to the astonishingly high level of play he has maintained for over a decade at the Packers' controls...In the process, his intense and fearless approach to the game has garnered the utmost respect from his coaches and teammates, as well as that of his opponents...And of equal importance, the readily apparent enjoyment he derives from playing fuels his fans' admiration of his work and stands as a powerful reminder of the simple pleasure that America's favorite sport can elicit...The swashbuckling Mississippian authored a second-consecutive Pro Bowl season in 2002, yet another illustration of his continuing command of the game; will look to build on that success this year, directing a productive offense that boasts a collection of young and talented players...In addition to the club's fine offensive tools and his impressive personal resources, success stems from his everyday work at his trade — a leadership trait noticed by all...“His approach to practice is what really sets him aside from everyone else,” says Tom Rossley, Green Bay's offensive coordinator. “Although our team is very young, he practices younger than anyone else on the field. They look up to him in age, but yet he leads them with his practice approach.”...Retains legendary arm strength that gained him notoriety early on, but also has developed other, subtle facets to his approach...“He continues to impress with his velocity on the ball,” observes Rossley. “You look for a drop-off, but each session we come back, it seems to increase. The thing that he gets better at is he continues to throw with great anticipation. Some throws, you look and say, ‘Wow, how did he know to let the ball go then?’ Receivers are making cuts and he's got the ball on the way. Every quarterback does that to an extent, but he's got a great feel for it. That anticipation got him in trouble at times with the younger receivers, because maybe they didn't get the exact depth or make the right cut, but it's more and more evident that our young receivers are getting to his level.”...Author of a living legacy that has long since been well established, shows no signs of slowing down...“There's no equal in competitiveness and want-to,” confirms Rossley. “I think he has many years left to excel and get us to the Super Bowl.”

Such observations are good news, no doubt, to the legion of Packers fans who appreciate his workmanlike approach to the game, a staple of his popularity...“I do not know what the Gallup polls would say,” says Mike Sherman, the Packers' general manager and head coach, “but if you polled Americans on what player they would most like to be, I believe Brett Favre would be a near-unanimous choice.”...Gallup notwithstanding, a January 2003 Harris Poll, in a survey of American sports fans, named Brett Favre as the nation's favorite NFL player; among all sports figures, he finished third, behind Michael Jordan and Tiger Woods.

STILL ON TOP

The NFL's only three-time ‘Most Valuable Player’ winner nearly won the award again in 2002, finishing as runner-up to the Raiders' Rich Gannon for the yearly Associated Press honor...After leading Green Bay to second consecutive 12-4 record and the team's fourth division title and eighth playoff trip in his 11 years at the helm, the Kiln, Miss., native earned further accolades...Chosen NFL ‘Player of the Year’ by Sports Illustrated...Received NFL MVP recognition from the Dallas Morning News...Was voted to the Pro Bowl (as a starter) for the seventh time in 11 seasons with Green Bay, though he later was forced to withdraw due to the foot/ankle/knee injuries from the season that had taken their toll...For the second year

- An avid golfer, possesses a handicap in the “one to two” range, down from a 15 he carried as recently as 1998.

in a row, was the leading vote-getter in fan balloting for the Pro Bowl...Also was a second-team All-Pro selection of AP, named All-NFC by Pro Football Weekly and chosen as NFC ‘Offensive Player of the Year’ by the Kansas City Committee of 101...Posted a passer rating of 100-or-more in six games, second-most in the NFL in 2002...“Brett is at a stage of his career where there is not a whole lot happening out on the field that he has not experienced at one time or another,” explains Sherman. “This experience, along with his God-given talent and never-ending passion to play, are what puts him in a league of his own.”...A veritable sage in the ‘West Coast’ offense with over a decade of experience, is equally valuable off the field for his game-planning contributions as he is on it with his patented spirals...“He's got great command of the offense,” says Rossley. “We're always making changes with G the offense, whether it's with protection or route running, and he's into it. He's got a great knowledge of the game and we value his contributions."...Not one to rest on his considerable laurels, the Southern Miss Hall of Famer approaches each day on the field determined to better his skills by continually working on fundamentals such as footwork, position in the pocket, etc.

STANDS AMONG THE ALL-TIME GREATS

Considered in the upper echelon of the NFL's all-time passers for some time, ranks fifth all-time in passer rating at 86.7, based on 3,652 completions in 5,993 attempts for 42,285 yards and 314 touchdowns with 188 interceptions; only the Rams' Kurt Warner (98.2) and a trio of 49er QBs — Steve Young (96.8), Joe Montana (92.3) and Jeff Garcia (89.9) — stand in front of him...In the process, he solidified his standing among the game's all-time elite by earning the NFL's 'MVP' honor a record three times, capturing the AP award over the 1995, 1996 and 1997 seasons...Honored in "co-status" with the Detroit Lions' Barry Sanders in 1997, he became the first player in league history to win the award three times, let alone in three consecutive years...Preeminence of the strong-armed Southerner is further evidenced by his selection in 2000 to the 1990s NFL All-Decade second team as voted by the Pro Football Hall of Fame Selection Committee...Also ranked as the ninth-best player in 'NFL Player of the Century' voting, which was conducted on nfl.com during the 1999 season...A testament to his consistently high production level, his completions, attempts, yards and touchdown totals are tops in the league over the past 12 seasons (1991-2002).

GREEN BAY IS THE PLACE

Is assured of finishing his career in Green Bay upon the signing of a "lifetime" contract on March 1, 2001...Sherman, calling the signing day "historic," commented on the uniqueness of Favre's relationship with the Packers' organization and fans, saying, "No player in the NFL identifies, or is more closely linked to, a specific team like Brett Favre is to the Green Bay Packers. He embodies the spirit and character of Packer fans everywhere. I do not think there is a player in the NFL that experiences a relationship with the fans like Brett Favre does. That is very, very special."...Favre echoed the sentiment, saying, "I enjoy it here. I don't want to move. I enjoy the fans and I just want to stay. I couldn't envision myself playing for another team."

VICTORIOUS FIELD GENERAL

In a time when personal statistics and individual accolades are often placed ahead of team success, the perennially productive field general desires nothing more than to lead his team to victory, a pursuit at which he has excelled in over a decade at the helm of the Packers...Now has won 115 games as a starter — fifth-most in NFL history and only two victories behind No. 4 Montana (117) — after surpassing Terry Bradshaw (107) in 2002...With a career record of 115-58, he possesses the third-highest winning percentage (.665) among starting QBs who have begun their careers since the 1970 league merger (min. 100 starts); only Montana (.713) and Bradshaw (.677) have won at a higher rate...Across the league, the 115-58 won-loss mark is tied with San Francisco for the NFL's best over the span (9/27/92 through the 2002 season)...Along the way, he's won at least eight games an NFL-record 11 consecutive seasons (1992-2002), far ahead of the eight straight of Stabler (1973-80) and the seven consecutive of Bart Starr (1961-67), Roger Staubach (1973-79) and Young (1992-98)...Has the most regular-season victories (115) of any active quarterback in the league, easily outdistancing No. 2 Vinny Testaverde (80)...His tenure consists of eight playoff berths, including a club-record six in a row (1993-98), three straight NFC Central Division crowns (1995-97), three consecutive NFC Championship Games (1995, 1996, 1997) and back-to-back Super Bowl appearances, including a 35-21 victory over New England in Super Bowl XXXI, returning the Lombardi Trophy to Green Bay for the first time in 29 years...Is one of only five current NFL starting quarterbacks to have won a Super Bowl (along with the Rams' Warner, the Seahawks' Trent Dilfer, the Patriots' Tom Brady and the Bucs' Brad Johnson)...Upon defeating Chicago in December of 2000, became the third-fastest player in the NFL since 1970 to reach 100 regular-season victories, doing so in his 153rd career start; only

Favre in 2003

On the NFL's all-time passing list...

- Needs 35 completions to surpass No. 4 Fran Tarkenton (3,686) and 337 to surpass No. 3 Warren Moon (3,988). Favre enters 2003 with 3,652 career completions.
- Needs 756 yards to surpass No. 5 Dan Fouts (43,040). Favre enters 2003 with 42,285 career yards.
- Needs 475 attempts to surpass No. 4 Tarkenton (6,467). Favre enters 2003 with 5,993 career attempts.
- Needs 29 touchdowns to surpass No. 2 Tarkenton (342). Favre enters 2003 with 314 career touchdown passes.
- Counting all recorded consecutive-starts streaks, needs to start the season's first two games to surpass No. 10 Winston Hill (174, 1963-76) and the first five games to surpass No. 9 Aeneas Williams (177, 1992-2002). Favre enters 2003 having started 173 consecutive games, already the league's longest active streak, and longest ever among quarterbacks.

- With a 13-3 record, would increase his winning percentage to .6725 (128-61) and barely surpass No. 2 Terry Bradshaw (107-51, .67721) among quarterbacks who launched careers after the merger. Montana (117-47, .713) owns the best percentage.

On Green Bay's all-time list...

- Needs to play in the first 13 games to surpass Forrest Gregg (187) for the longest consecutive-games played streak in franchise history. Gregg's streak began in 1956, then picked up in '58 after his year in the Army, and lasted until 1970. The NFL granted Gregg a military exemption for missing the last game of '56 and the entire '57 season. Favre enters 2003 having played in 175 straight.

- Needs seven games played to surpass No. 4 LeRoy Butler (181), 13 to surpass No. 3 Gregg (187) and 16 to surpass No. 2 Ray Nitschke (190). Favre enters 2003 with 175 games in a Packers uniform, and Bart Starr's franchise record, 196, would be on the slate for 2004.

And finally...

- With 20 touchdown passes, would match Dan Marino's NFL record for most consecutive seasons with at least 20. Marino did it 10 straight years, from 1983-92.
- If the Packers make the playoffs, with a touchdown pass in Green Bay's first postseason tilt, would establish the NFL record for consecutive playoff games passing for a touchdown. He and Marino (1983-95) currently are tied at 13.
- With one touchdown pass in a playoff game, would surpass No. 3 Bradshaw (30). Favre is tied with Bradshaw at 30 entering 2003.
- Favre enters 2003 having thrown for a touchdown in nine straight games. If he can extend the streak by six games, he can crack the franchise's Top 5, and ascend one place each with a touchdown in seven, nine and 10 more games. And, with a touchdown pass in his first 14 games, would break Cecil Isbell's 62-year-old franchise record, 22 (1941-42).
- By hitting 62 percent of his passes, should increase his career completion percentage to 62 percent. Should become the only player in NFL history to complete as much as 62 percent of his passes with as many as 6,000 attempts.

► IN NFL HISTORY...

Only about half the NFL teams publish consecutive starts in their records section, partly because early press-box statisticians did not universally and consistently document starting lineups. Even Favre's own team cannot confirm whether his streak is the longest in club history, because lineups were not recorded at every home and road game before 1962. Here are the longest starting streaks on record, as published in team media guides:

► IN MAJOR PRO SPORTS HISTORY...

Brett Favre is the only athlete in the four major sports to have started every game for the same team since Sept. 27, 1992.

Excluding the NFL, Cal Ripken Jr. and Lou Gehrig are the only athletes in major sports history to start every game for their teams over a span of at least 11 seasons. Ripken started all 2,632 games of his streak, from 1982-1998, and Gehrig started every Yankees contest from July 1925 until his illness in 1939.

Gehrig

Because of frequent lineup changes and numerous variables, the National Hockey League does not recognize consecutive starts streaks. The record for most consecutive games played with the same team belongs to Steve Larmer (Chicago Blackhawks, 884 games, 1982-93).

No one in National Basketball Association history has completed 10 consecutive years of starting with the same team. A.C. Green holds the record for most consecutive games played with 1,192 (1986-2001). Green played for four teams over that span.

Montana (139) and Bradshaw (147) got to the century mark quicker over the past 32 years...With eight Lambeau Field victories in 2002, he now possesses a career winning percentage of .860 at home (74-12, including nine games in Milwaukee) — an NFL record for quarterbacks who have launched their career since 1950; is just ahead of the prior record holder, Bradshaw (.848, 67-12)...Also holds the third-best December record by a starting quarterback since the 1970 league merger (min. 20 starts) with a .761 winning percentage (35-11), behind only Joe Theismann (.773) and Montana (.767)...A premier, all-around game manager who deftly utilizes the run effectively, Favre has led the Packers to a perfect 39-0 (2-0 in 2002) regular-season record since 1992 in games where they have more rushing attempts than passing attempts.

PATENTLY DURABLE

Astonishingly resilient, he maintains his impressive durability string, having started 173 consecutive games (190 including playoffs) — an all-time NFL record for a quarterback — what amounts to 10 full league seasons plus 13 games (Game 4 of the '92 season through Game 16 of the '02 campaign)...Through the end of the 2002 season, 159 other quarterbacks have started an NFL game since the date of Favre's initial start (9/27/92 vs. Pittsburgh), according to the Elias Sports Bureau...His 173-game starting string now is the longest active streak in the NFL at any position, 10 games better than No. 2 Tim Brown (163) and 93 games more than the next-closest quarterback, Peyton Manning (80)...Furthermore, he is the only athlete in the four major sports to have started every game for the same team since Sept. 27, 1992, having been presented his opportunity the previous week when Don Majkowski suffered strained ligaments in his left ankle midway through the first quarter of Cincinnati contest...During his remarkable run, 14 different quarterbacks have served as his backup in Green Bay; chronologically, they are Majkowski (1992), Ty Detmer (1992-95), Mark Brunell (1993-94), T.J. Rubley (1995), Bob Gagliano (1995), Doug Pederson (1995-98, 2001-02), Jim McMahon (1995-96), Steve Bono (1997), Rick Mirer (1998), Matt Hasselbeck (1999-2000), Aaron Brooks (1999), Danny Wuerffel (2000), Henry Burris (2001) and Craig Nall (2002); only four times over the course of his streak has a backup had to complete a game due to injury — Oct. 20, 1994, at Minnesota (hip), when Brunell wrapped up the contest; Nov. 5, 1995, at Minnesota (ankle), when Detmer subbed in before injuring his thumb and giving way to Rubley; Nov. 12, 2000, at Tampa Bay (ankle), when Hasselbeck was called upon to finish the game; and Oct. 20, 2002, vs. Washington (knee), when Pederson completed the contest.

RAINS TOUCHDOWNS

With 27 scoring aeriels in 2002, now has thrown 20-or-more touchdowns in nine consecutive seasons (1994-2002)...one shy of Marino's NFL-record 10 such years (1983-92)...In the process, continued to solidify his place among the greatest passers the league has ever witnessed...Ascended to third place in NFL history in career touchdown passes, with 314, in the process becoming only the fourth player ever to reach 300 TDs (on Oct. 13 at New England)...Should he maintain his average of 28.5 touchdown passes per season since coming to Green Bay, he would approach No. 2 Fran Tarkenton (342) late in the 2003 campaign...Owns the sixth-best career TD-to-INT ratio in NFL history (min. 75 TDs) at 1.67 (314 TDs vs. 188 INTs), trailing just Garcia (2.21, 95-43), Young (2.17, 232-107), Montana (1.96, 273-139), Neil O'Donnell (1.76, 118-67) and Gannon (1.74, 171-98)...Deadly against his division foes, now has thrown a touchdown pass in 22 consecutive games against Chicago, the second-longest streak vs. one opponent since 1970; the only longer string against the same foe since the league merger is Marino's 24 straight contests with a TD toss for Miami vs. the N.Y. Jets from 1985-98...Overall, has tossed 44 career touchdowns vs. the Bears, the fourth-most such strikes against one opponent in NFL history; his 39 career TD passes vs. Detroit rank as the seventh-most...In 2001, reached the 30-touchdown mark for the sixth time as a pro, extending his own NFL record (also 1994-98); only he and Marino (4 — 1984-86, 1994) have done it more than twice professionally; his 35 scoring throws in 1997 made him just the fourth player in NFL annals to lead the league in TD throws as many as three consecutive seasons (1995-96-97) and matched him with Hall of Famer Arnie Herber as the only Green Bay quarterbacks to lead the NFL in scoring throws in three different seasons (Herber did it in 1932, '34 and '36)...Has authored two of the five top seasons, in terms of TD passes, in league history — 38 in 1995, followed by 39 in 1996...Owner of 14 career 4-touchdown games — the third-highest total in NFL history behind only the 21 of Marino and the 17 of Johnny Unitas...Remarkably consistent in his production of scoring throws, has thrown for at least one touchdown in 151 of his 173 career starts with Green Bay, failing to do so in only 14 games since the start of the 1995 season...Over his career, has an amazing touchdown-to-interception ratio of almost 10-to-1 (9.55) in the Red Zone — 210 TDs vs. 22 INTs; possesses a 95.6 career passer rating inside the opponents' 20-yard line, based on 446 completions in 765 attempts for 3,191 yards and 210 touchdowns, with only 22 interceptions.

CONTINUES HIS CLIMB

In 2002, became just the eighth player in league history to post 40,000 career passing yards, attaining the plateau in 166 games (on Oct. 7 vs. Chicago) — third-fastest, behind only Marino

(153 games) and Warren Moon (165)...In NFL history, now stands sixth in career passing yards (42,285) — having surpassed Montana (40,551) on Nov. 10 vs. Detroit — fifth in career completions (3,652) and fifth in career passing attempts (5,993)...Extended his own NFL record of consecutive 3,000-yard seasons to 11 (1992-2002), two better than the nine straight seasons of No. 2 Marino (1984-92)...Earlier, in 1999 with 4,091 passing yards, had become only the fourth quarterback in league history to post as many as three 4,000-yard seasons (also doing so in 1995 and '98), joining Marino (6), Moon (4) and Dan Fouts (3); Manning (4) since has become the fifth...With three 300-yard passing performances in 2002, he now has 35 such career outings — tops among active NFL players...Had authored his 30th career 300-yard passing performance in 2001, reaching that plateau fourth-fastest in NFL history — 150 games (tied with Montana); only Marino (84), Moon (110) and Fouts (121) have done so at a more rapid rate...Collaborated with former Packers wide receiver Antonio Freeman for 57 touchdown passes from 1995-2001, the fifth-best such duo in NFL history...With it being impossible for someone to better it, will be the permanent possessor of at least one all-time NFL record — that for longest pass completion — as he hooked up with wideout Robert Brooks for a 99-yard score in a 1995 game at Chicago.

TOP OF GREEN BAY ANNALS

Owner of 18 Packers records, among them career touchdowns (314), pass attempts (5,988), completions (3,652) and yards passing (42,285); he is tied for one other club mark...Led the Packers in yards passing for the 11th consecutive year in 2002, surpassing the club mark of 10 straight seasons that he shared with Starr (1959-68)...Including his initial two appearances in a Green Bay uniform as a reserve, has played in 175 straight contests — the second-longest consecutive games played streak in club history — and is on track to break Forrest Gregg's long-standing team record of 187 consecutive games played (1956, 1958-70), which he would do by playing in the Packers' first 13 contests of 2003...Had passed the consecutive games played streaks of Larry McCarren (162) and Hall of Famer Willie Wood (166) during the course of the '02 season...Also now is fifth on the Packers' all-time career games played list at 175, he is in line to go by No. 4 LeRoy Butler (181), No. 3 Gregg (187) and No. 2 Ray Nitschke (190) by playing a full schedule again this year...Began his streak of 175 straight games played with second-half, mop-up duty in a 1992 loss to the Buccaneers, he then replaced the injured Majkowski the next week against Cincinnati, leading Green Bay to a come-from-behind victory, before initiating his amazing streak of 173 consecutive starting assignments vs. Pittsburgh on Sept. 27, 1992...Lowered his career interception percentage to 3.11 percent (186 INT vs. 5,988 att.) in 2002, main-

On a touchdown pass pace for all-time?

Brett Favre is third in NFL history with 314 career touchdown passes. Should he continue to throw TDs at his current rate — 28.5 per season over his 11 years in Green Bay — Favre will make major inroads into NFL history (illustrated below), ascending to the top spot in four more years. He would climb to second with 29 more TDs.

in his left knee while being sacked by the Redskins' LaVar Arrington...Playing with a brace to protect his knee and a week off due to the Packers' bye week, came back and led Green Bay to a hard-fought, 24-10 Monday night win over a tough Miami defense (Nov. 4), completing 16 of 25 passes for 187 yards and 1 TD with 1 INT — an 83.2 passer rating...Threw for a career-best 295 first-half yards en route to a 351-yard performance in 40-14 trouncing of Detroit (Nov. 10) in rematch of the teams, completing 26 of 39 passes for 2 TDs — without an interception, for a 112.2 passer rating — before departing at the end of three quarters...Was intercepted 3 times at Minnesota (Nov. 17) — his initial multiple interception game of the year — while throwing for 296 yards and 2 TDs on 24-of-43 passing...Subsequently had a 4-INT game at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24), connecting on 20 of 38 throws for 196 yards and 1 TD; had season-long 17-yard run in Bucs contest...Turned in a workmanlike performance in leading Green Bay to season sweep of Chicago (Dec. 1), completing 24 of 42 passes for 221 yards and 2 TDs with 1 INT...Brought Green Bay back from a 19-6 third-quarter deficit to defeat Minnesota 26-22 (Dec. 8), throwing touchdown passes of 21 and 40 yards (both on third down) while leading scoring drives of 67, 54 and 85 yards...Finished with 22 completions in 32 attempts for 214 yards and 2 TDs, with 1 INT (95.1 passer rating), in Vikings contest...Overcame rainy and windy conditions to lead Packers to 20-14 triumph over NFC West champion 49ers at San Francisco (Dec. 15), completing better than 75 percent of his passes (25 of 33) for 201 yards and 1 touchdown without an interception (100.7 passer rating), including 14 of 18 for 151 yards and 1 TD (120.1 passer rating) in the second half when he had 13 straight completions at one point...Hit Driver with 11-yard touchdown pass with 7:23 remaining, helping to seal 10-0 victory over Buffalo (Dec. 22), while struggling with winds that gusted to 30 miles per hour; completed 15 of 33 passes for 114 yards, with 2 INTs, vs. the Bills...Completed 16 of 33 passes for 172 yards and 1 TD, with 1 interception, at the N.Y. Favre's Career Drive Engineering

- Sometime this season, drives engineered by Brett Favre should eclipse 4,000 points.
- On Dec. 29, 2002, at the N.Y. Jets, Brett Favre led the Packers on a scoring drive for the 2,000th time.
- Earlier, on Sept. 29, 2002, vs. Carolina, Favre engineered his 400th career touchdown drive.
- Over his career, Favre has put the Packers in a position to score approximately four of every 10 drives (40.3 percent). Favre's career regular-season drive engineering, including his infamous 1991 debut with the Atlanta Falcons:

the final three regular-season contests of '93 plus the first six games of '94 — until the streak was broken at Minnesota (Oct. 20) when he left the game after the first quarter with a severely bruised left hip...It was the first time since he became the starting quarterback early in 1992 that he had been forced to leave a game due to injury...Put together a similar nine-game string over the final nine contests of the season, throwing for at least one score in each...Mounted one of his finest performances on Oct. 31 at Chicago, running for 1 touchdown and throwing for another in a cold, cyclonic rainstorm...The former came late in the second quarter, when he rolled out to his right and raced 36 yards (diving over a Bear defender into the end zone) to give the Packers a 14-0 lead...Later, in the fourth quarter, he connected with Edgar Bennett for a 13-yard touchdown, raising the Packers' lead to 27-0...His 58 yards rushing against the Bears represented a career high...Turned in excellent performance at Dallas (Nov. 4), throwing 4 touchdown passes while completing 27 of 40 passes — without an interception — for 257 yards against the NFL's then-No. 1 rated defense...Had a big statistical day in a losing cause at Detroit (Dec. 4), completing 29 of 43 passes for season-high 366 yards and 3 touchdowns...Hit on 19 of 31 passes for 250 yards and 3 TDs in a 40-3 win over Chicago (Dec. 11)...Also had a 26-yard run on a scramble against the Bears...1994 PLAY-OFFS: Played a key role in the Packers' 16-12 NFC Wild

Card playoff victory over Detroit in Green Bay's Lambeau Field (Dec. 31)...Moving the chains effectively during a tight defensive duel, he completed 23 of 38 passes for 262 yards — without an interception — mustering 18 first downs in a masterful "ball control" performance...Hit on 18 of 35 attempts for 211 yards, with 1 INT, in divisional playoff at Dallas a week later (Jan. 8).

1993 Started all 16 games — one of only seven NFL quarterbacks to do so...Became the most accurate career passer in Packers history, supplanting the legendary Starr...Finished the year eighth in the NFC with a 72.2 passer rating, completing 318 of 522 passes (60.9%) for 3,303 yards and 19 touchdowns, to give 24 interceptions...Was first among all NFC passers (second in NFL) with 318 completions and his 19 TDs ranked third in the conference (fifth in the NFL)...His 3,303 passing yards were second in the NFC to Young (sixth in the NFL)...Played in the Pro Bowl as a reserve when the Giants' Phil Simms could not take part due to a shoulder problem...Scored game's only TD vs. the Vikings (Sept. 26) as Packers took opening kickoff and marched 85 yards in 14 plays (8:55 elapsed), capped by his diving 2-yard plunge to give Green Bay the early lead...Had highly productive outing at Tampa Bay (Oct. 24) when he completed

20 of 35 passes for 268 yards and a season-high 4 touchdowns (all of the latter to Sharpe), escorting Packers to 37-14 win... Staged gritty performance in leading Packers to 19-17, come-from-behind victory over the Saints in New Orleans (Nov. 14)... Came up with the biggest play of the season to that point when, on a second-and-20 play from the Packers' 27-yard line with 52 seconds left and the Packers down 17-16, he rolled out of the pocket to his left and hit Sharpe with a 54-yard strike that led to a game-winning field goal; closed out day with 18 completions in 32 attempts for 150 yards and 1 TD... Directed Packers to 26-17 win over Detroit (Nov. 21), throwing for 259 yards (24 of 33 — for a season-best 72.7%)... Led Packers to a comeback, 13-10 win over Tampa Bay (Nov. 28) when he engineered a 15-play, 75-yard scoring drive late in the fourth quarter, capping it with a 2-yard TD pass to Sharpe with 1:16 left to produce the victory... On the play previous to his scoring strike to Sharpe he had suffered a deep thigh bruise on a 1-yard rollout to the right sideline, but, even though he was limping noticeably, threw the game-winner on the next play... Finished the Bucs contest with 23 completions in 36 attempts for 159 yards and 1 TD, with no INTs... Set a Green Bay single-game record with 36 completions at Chicago (Dec. 5), breaking the previous record of 35 set by Dickey in 1980... Also threw for a career-high 402 yards vs. Bears — the third-most in team history (behind Dickey's 418 vs. Tampa Bay in 1980 and Don Horn's 410 vs. the Cardinals in 1969)... It also represented the first 300- and 400-yard passing games of Favre's career... Also threw for 2 TDs vs. Bears (an 18-yarder to Sharpe and a 22-yarder to Mark Clayton)... Turned in solid outing vs. Raiders (Dec. 26) in -22 degree wind chill, passing for 190 yards and 1 TD (a 23-yarder to Sharpe in the third quarter) on 14 completions in 28 attempts, with no INTs... Completed 23 of 37 passes for 190 yards and 1 TD (a 39-yarder to Bennett) in season-ending loss to Detroit (Jan. 2), but also threw a career-high 4 interceptions... 1993 PLAYOFFS: Pulled off one of the most spectacular plays in team history in NFC Wild Card playoff at Detroit the following week (Jan. 8)... With the Packers trailing 24-21 in the final minute of play, he scrambled out of the pocket to his left, found an "unguarded" Sharpe in the open and unleashed an across-the-body throw from extreme left to extreme right; Sharpe ran under the football in the end zone with 55 seconds left and the Packers shortly became 28-24 winners... Had thrown 2 earlier TD passes to Sharpe (a 12-yarder in the second quarter and a 28-yarder in the third period) while completing 15 of 26 passes for 204 yards overall... Threw 2 more TD passes in losing effort (27-17) in divisional playoff at Dallas the following week (Jan. 16) — a 2-yarder to Brooks and a 29-yarder to Sharpe... Closed out day with 28 completions in 45 attempts for 331 yards (one yard short of Packers' single-game playoff record) and 2 TDs.

1992 Acquired from Atlanta by Packers General Manager Ron Wolf for a first-round draft selection in an offseason trade (Feb. 10)... Was so impressive in escorting Green Bay to its second-best record in 20 years (9-7) — soaring from designated backup to Pro Bowler in just three months' time — that then-Head Coach Mike Holmgren was prompted to observe, "If Brett can stay healthy, he will be the cornerstone of our football team for many years to come..." Beginning the 1992 season as the understudy to incumbent Majkowski, he was hastily summoned from the bench to replace an injured Majkowski (ankle) in the first quarter of Game 3 vs. Cincinnati (Sept. 20) and proceeded to take a stranglehold on the QB position, staking an immediate claim by leading the Packers to an electrifying, come-from-behind, 24-23 victory over the Bengals, forged by way of a 35-yard scoring pass to wideout Kitrick Taylor with only 13 seconds remaining in the game... Performing in storybook fashion, he went on to compile an 8-5 record as a starter and establish two new Green Bay passing records in the process — single-season marks for passing percentage (64.12%) and most consecutive 200-yard passing games (11)... Named as the third QB for the NFC Pro Bowl squad after finishing fifth among conference passers with an 85.3 overall rating, based on 302 completions in 471 attempts for 3,227 yards and 18 touchdowns with only 13 interceptions... At the time, was the youngest quarterback ever to play in AFC-NFC Pro Bowl (since 1971) at 23 years, 3 months, 28 days of age... His 302 completions tied him with Troy Aikman of Super Bowl champion Dallas for first-place honors in NFC... Also ranked second in the conference (to Young) with his 64.12 passing percentage, which broke Starr's Green Bay single-season record of 63.74, set in 1968... Had third-lowest interception percentage among all NFL quarterbacks (2.76)... Also became only the fourth Packers QB to pass for over 3,000 yards in a season... Had a string of 111 passes without an interception broken at Oilers on Dec. 13... Did not play vs. Minnesota in regular-season opener on Sept. 6, but saw action in relief role the next week at Tampa Bay (Sept. 13), completing 8 of 14 passes for 73 yards in second-half play... Engineered two TD drives in last eight minutes of the game to pull out 24-23 victory over Cincinnati (Sept. 20) after relieving injured Majkowski in opening quarter... Threw for a season-high 289 yards against Bengals on 22-of-39 passing... Made first NFL start on Sept. 27 vs. Pittsburgh and responded by completing 14 of 19 passes for 210 yards and 2 TDs, including a 76-yarder to Sharpe, with no interceptions... Completed 27 of a season-high 44 attempts for 279 yards at N.Y. Giants (Nov. 8) but had 3 interceptions, his first multiple-interception contest of the season... Also forced a fumble vs. the Giants — recovered by teammate Sanjay Beach — in an impromptu role as a tackler, hitting New York's Pepper Johnson after Johnson had intercepted a pass... Staged an inspiring performance vs. Philadelphia (Nov. 15), leading the Packers to a 27-24, come-from-behind victory despite suffering a first-degree separation of his left (non-throwing) shoulder early in the game... Completed 23 of 33 for 275 yards and 2 scores with 2 interceptions in upset of Eagles... Had a 5-yard TD run (his first NFL touchdown) at the Bears a week later (Nov. 22) during a fine overall performance, which saw him complete 16 of 24 passes for 209 yards and 1 TD (a 49-yard strike to Sharpe) in 17-3 triumph... Posted high percentage performance in rematch with Lions (Dec. 6), hitting on 15 of 19 passes for 214 yards and 3 TDs (the first 3-touchdown game of his career) in escorting Packers to a 38-10 victory.

The Trade

CHRONOLOGY OF THE PACKERS' 1992 DEAL FOR FAVRE

April 21, 1991 — On Day 1 of the '91 NFL draft, the Philadelphia Eagles strike a deal with Green Bay to move up. Eyeing Tennessee T Antone Davis, the Eagles ship their '91 first-round choice (19th overall) to Green Bay for the Packers' first-rounder (eighth overall). Philadelphia gets Davis, and the Packers use the Eagles' No. 19 to snag CB Vinnie Clark from Ohio State. The Packers' Tom Braatz and Lindy Infante don't consummate the trade until Philadelphia agrees to throw in its 1992 first-round selection...

Hours later, in Round 2, the Falcons select Brett Favre 33rd overall, breaking the hearts of several teams, including the Jets...Ron Wolf, heading the Jets personnel department, chooses QB Browning Nagle with the next choice, 34th.

Nov., 1991 — Braatz is relieved on Nov. 20. One week later, the Packers hire Wolf and give him full control of Green Bay football operations.

Dec. 1, 1991 — Green Bay's first game after Wolf's hiring is a trip to Fulton County Stadium. Before a 35-31 loss, in pregame warmups, Wolf scouts Favre, the player he missed by one pick in the draft seven months earlier with the Jets.

Feb. 10, 1992 — In his second trade as Packers general manager, Wolf takes the choice acquired in '91 from Philadelphia (17th overall, the Eagles were 10-6 in 1991) and sends it to Atlanta for Favre...

The Falcons later traded that 17th pick to Dallas for the Cowboys' first-round position (19th) and fourth-round choice (104th) in the same draft; Dallas chose CB Kevin Smith from Texas A&M with its pick acquired from Atlanta, through Green Bay; the Falcons chose Favre's former Southern Mississippi teammate Tony Smith (RB) at No. 19 and selected CB Frankie Smith from Baylor at No. 104.

FAVRE'S 34 TOUCHDOWN TARGETS

Brett Favre in 2002 added three teammates to his career list of 34 touchdown targets: Javon Walker (No. 32, Sept. 8 vs. Atlanta), Terry Glenn (No. 33, Sept. 15, at New Orleans) and Robert Ferguson (No. 34, Sept. 22 at Detroit).

The quarterback notched his first two touchdown passes Sept. 20, 1992, vs. Cincinnati. In rallying Green Bay to a 24-23 win, he connected with Sterling Sharpe and Kitrick Taylor, respectively.

Favre's 57 connections with Antonio Freeman represent the fifth-most by any duo in history — and most in Packers annals. In 2001, the pair surpassed Ken Anderson and Isaac Curtis (51), Sonny Jurgensen and Charley Taylor (53), Joe Montana and Jerry Rice (55), Dan Marino and Mark Duper (also 55), and John Hadl and Lance Alworth (56).

continue as one of the Packers' top special teams performers — he may line up as a punt returner, kickoff returner or even both. "We consider him a starter who will be on the field whether it be two- or three-wide receiver sets," says Green Bay offensive coordinator Tom Rossley. "We look for him to play whenever we can, we want him on the field. He's really confident at this point in his career and he's ready to make a big jump. He's prepared himself well and is now playing with experience from last year and we expect great things from him by making big plays on offense and on special teams. His confidence has improved from last year and he knows what he's supposed to do. The speed in which he's playing is right, because he's confident in his assignments and confident in his ability so he's also playing more aggressively, playing faster and attacking the defense. He's not thinking so much about what he's supposed to be doing on the play, but thinking about working off the defensive technique, attacking and trying to make plays."...An athletic receiver, he's expected to continue to develop and become more of a deep threat on offense; also has developed into one of the team's best run-blocking receivers... "I'd like to see us be able to get him the ball deep. He's got that ability to go up strong and take the ball away from a DB because he's shown that he's playing faster," continues Rossley. "He comes to practice everyday just like it's a game and I think he learns a lot of that from Donald Driver — he set the tone and has really rubbed off on Robert, and been a good influence on him. Donald is our oldest receiver which doesn't say a lot about our age, we're still really young at the position, but Robert is now becoming a true veteran receiver and he's right in line to take that step as Donald did a couple years ago."...Has appeared in 17 career games, with 1 start and recorded 22 receptions and 3 touchdowns for 293 yards; additionally has registered 8 career kickoff returns for 145 yards (18.1 avg.) and made 9 tackles and 1 fumble recovery on special teams.

2002 SEASON

Played in all 16 games, with one start — first career start vs. Carolina (Sept. 29) — in his second season with the Packers...Also started in postseason game vs. Atlanta when Green Bay opened with three wide receivers on the field...Ranked seventh on the team in receptions with a career-high 22 for 293 yards and 3 TDs...Posted 9 special teams tackles and 1 fumble recovery while covering kicks...Returned 6 kickoffs for 113 yards (18.8 avg.)...Made

- ▶ Continues a lifetime association with pit bulls by today owning five of the dogs; his mother, Barbara, had four pit bulls while he was growing up.
- ▶ Organized an anti-dogfight group with Green Bay area kennels, that teaches people how to train and control aggressive dogs.

his first NFL reception — a 12-yarder from Brett Favre — at New Orleans (Sept. 15)...Authored a personal breakout performance in Week 3 at Detroit (Sept. 22) while playing for most of the second half for an injured Javon Walker (quadriceps); recorded 2 receptions for 45 yards against the Lions — an 8-yard touchdown pass from Favre — his first NFL TD — and a key, 37-yard catch-and-run on third down to the Detroit 3 that set up Green Bay's ensuing TD...The following week recorded 5 receptions (for 58 yards) in victory over Carolina (Sept. 29), tying Driver for the club lead, as he started the Panthers contest for an inactive Terry Glenn (migraine headaches)...Posted a career-high 2 coverage stops in victory over Detroit (Nov. 10), he also picked up an important downfield block of Lions S Eric Davis on Najeh Davenport's 43-yard run up the sideline early in the second half...Recorded both a catch and a special teams tackle at Minnesota (Nov. 17) and against Buffalo

Bill
FERRARIO

Bearded Bill Ferrario, diligently paying his dues in a reserve role at guard/center as a second-year pro, heads into the 2003 season having come of NFL age...It is a development welcomed and certified by Packers offensive line coach Larry

Beightol...."I think the light turned on for Billy here back in our first mini-camp this year," says Beightol, openly pleased at Ferrario's obvious maturation. "I think this year he started to say, 'Hey, I know exactly what he (Beightol) means...I know exactly how he wants it done...and I can do it'...All of a sudden, it's come together for him, and he had two very good mini-camps, so he's certainly in the mix. We're looking for a guy there, who has that versatility — a guy that can play either guard and also can be a very good football player at center. That's what we're looking for — we have to have that kind of depth and we have to have a player who has that kind of versatility, until he's ready to be the starter. And right now, it's difficult (to break into the starting lineup) with the two incumbents (at guard) being (Marco) Rivera and (Mike) Wahle in there, so it's tough for a younger guy to say, 'Hey, what's my chances of making it'...But if he'll keep working at it, I think he has a chance to be the guy....The maturation process began in 2002, Beightol notes, pointing out, "Billy played some last year. He ended up playing over 200 snaps for us, and that gets him that experience."...Took on center responsibilities early in the 2002 campaign when usual starter, Mike Flanagan, was limited by a thumb fracture, later reprising the role when Flanagan was forced to left tackle by an injury to starter Chad Clifton...Officially, Ferrario played in all 16 games for the first time as a professional, and also saw reserve action in the Packers' playoff contest against Atlanta (Jan. 4)...."Bill Ferrario is a very good technician and he's tough as nails," Beightol says, summing up the third-year pro. "Bill is exactly what you like to see as far as an offensive lineman goes — a high level of production and terrific character."

2002 SEASON

Received the first extended action of his NFL career in Week Three at Detroit (Sept. 22) — on his 24th birthday — playing most of the second half at right guard in the absence of injured starter Rivera (knee)...Spent much of the fourth quarter at right guard in 40-14 thumping of Detroit (Nov. 10)...Played almost the entire game the next week at Minnesota (Nov. 17), filling in for Rivera (knee) at right guard after the starter went out during the second series...Appearing on special teams in every game, he also was employed as a third tight end on occasion....Did not begin working at center until midway through training camp, but his proficiency at the new position ultimately helped him to make the final, 53-man regular-season roster.

2001 Backed up at guard and was inactive for all 16 regular-season games plus both playoff contests...Earlier had demonstrated tremendous development in his pass-blocking skills over the course of training camp...Was a fourth-round selection (105th overall) by Green Bay in 2000.

- ▶ Played in all 16 games in 2002 for the first time as a pro.
- ▶ Day after selected by Packers, hometown honored him by naming him an honorary deputy sheriff, complete with a badge.
- ▶ Considering teaching career after football.
- ▶ A fan of HBO's hit series, The Sopranos, has dog, a black lab/German shepherd mix, named Carmella Soprano Ferrario.

from the bottom of the depth chart...Subsequently became the top backup to starter Ahman Green when fellow rookie Najeh Davenport was felled by an eye injury in mid-November...Had the most yards rushing — 283 — by a Green Bay rookie in 16 years (Kenneth Davis, 519 in 1986) and the third-highest total by an NFC rookie in 2002...Expected to contribute depth to the halfback position and develop as an offensive weapon in 2003...Packers running backs coach Sylvester Croom says, "He plays well on game day. He's dependable and practices hard. He's very intelligent and gives us a solid person at the third spot"...Consistently carries out all duties of the running back position..."His hands are excellent," Croom elaborates. "He's a real good pass receiver. He's a good special teams player. He's versatile. In emergency situations he's played some fullback for us...He's got to improve as a short-yardage runner, but overall I thought he really made a lot of progress over the course of the year. He's a solid pass protector, so we're confident in passing situations that he can protect Brett's backside. He can make plays in the passing game when we go to him..."...Was one of only three undrafted rookie free agents to make the Packers' 2002, 53-man roster, along with Kevin Barry and Marcus Wilkins.

Mike

Veteran center and team leader, selflessly made the switch to the ultra-important left tackle position for more than half of the Packers' 2002 season — a move that very few of the game's snappers could handle — when a series of injuries to starter

Chad Clifton necessitated the change... Now in his prime after an injury-plagued start to his pro career, appears on the verge of emerging as one of the top centers in the National Football League... A great leverage player who uses his hands very well, he also possesses superior athleticism and quickness for someone at his position... "I personally think that Mike is a Pro Bowl center," says Larry Beightol, Green Bay's grizzled offensive line coach. "Last season was a terrific year for him. Even though he missed an awful lot of camp because of a broken bone in his snap hand, it didn't hurt him a lot as far as his play was concerned. Once he got back into the mix, he did a great job at center and then became our ace in the hole later on, particularly when we had to move him out to left tackle. In my mind, he certainly was our most valuable offensive lineman, a guy that could step in and play — and play well — at several different spots. He was able to do that because, number one, he's very smart — he knows the overall scheme. And, number two, he's very athletic; he's not a massive guy, but he's very wiry and has surprisingly good strength. Plus, he's a very good technician and has quick hands for both run and pass. What he did last year is a great credit to him and his talents..." Though he frequently was forced to shuffle positions a year ago, he did not have a holding penalty walked off against him for the second straight season... After missing most of his first three NFL seasons (1996-98), since has played in 63 consecutive games (66 including playoffs) — the sixth-longest active streak on the team, behind Brett Favre (175), Ryan Longwell (96), Rob Davis (87), Marco Rivera (67) and Mike Wahle (65) — to cast aside earlier doubts about his durability... Had received good reviews in 2001 in his first season as an NFL starter after conquering major adversity early in his pro career — a leg injury so serious as a '96 rookie that his football future was seriously threatened... Battled back and returned to the field, backing up veteran Frank Winters for the 1998-2000 seasons, before finally winning a starting opportunity two years ago in his sixth season in the league... Played a pivotal role as the 2001 Packers offensive line allowed the third-fewest sacks in the league (22) and the least by a Green Bay team in 27 years — while not incurring a single holding penalty himself... Is poised to remain the Packers' center for the next several years after signing a four-year contract extension on Nov. 2, 2001, a deal scheduled to take him through the 2005 season... Initially had been slated to become an unrestricted free agent following the 1999 season, but instead opted to sign a two-year contract extension with Green Bay on Nov. 5, 1999... "I have great loyalty to (then-Packers general manager) Ron Wolf and to this team," Flanagan said at the time of his initial re-signing. "They stuck with me during some tough times. I don't know if any other team would have been that patient with me. I think I'd probably be out in the real world looking for work if I was on any other team."... Broke two bones in his leg midway through the preseason of his 1996, rookie campaign... Was hindered over the next two seasons by complications which dictated several additional surgeries related to his original injury... Thanks to a vigorous work ethic, was able to return to the field for unrestrained action in 1998, becoming a full-time contributor in '99 and then a starter in 2001... At UCLA played one season (1994) under Mike Sherman, the Packers' current GM/head coach who during that year worked as the Bruins' offensive line coach.

at a glance...

- Has not had a holding penalty walked off against him in either of the past two seasons since he became a full-time starter.
- Made more starts at left tackle (seven) last season than he did at his natural position of center (six), and Green Bay was 6-1 in the games that he protected Brett Favre's blind side.
- Negating concerns about his durability that arose when he missed most of his first three NFL seasons (1996-98) due to injury, he now has played in 63 consecutive games (66 counting playoffs) — the sixth-longest active streak on the Packers.
- Had current Packers GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman as his offensive line coach for one season (1994) at UCLA.
- Is involved with Canine Companions for Independence (CCI), a non-profit organization that enhances the lives of people with disabilities by providing highly trained assistance dogs and ongoing support, in Northern California.

2002 SEASON Demonstrated his versatility by starting games at two different positions across the line, in addition to reserve duty at a pair of other spots... Played in all 16 regular-season games, making 13 starts — six at center as well as seven at left tackle, filling in for the usual starter Clifton (the Packers were 6-1 in those contests)... Also was the starter at left tackle for Green Bay's playoff game with Atlanta (Jan. 4)... Got limited playing time at both right guard and tight end at other points in the year when injuries necessitated it... In spite of his fairly regular shuffling of positions, he did not have a holding penalty walked off against him for the second straight year... Saw his own season get off to an ominous start when he missed most of training camp after fracturing the thumb on his right (snapping) hand in an Aug. 2 practice... Was able to return to the practice field — with a cast — the week of the regular-season opener against Atlanta, he played on special teams and was available for backup duty at guard for the Packers' first three contests... Made his initial start of the year, at center, in win over Carolina (Sept. 29), but was forced to move to right guard late in the third quarter, replacing Rivera (quadriceps/knee)... Played one series at left tackle early in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7) when Clifton momentarily was sidelined by a neck "stinger"... Received his first extended action at a foreign position when he was forced out to left tackle for better than three quarters in win at New England (Oct. 13) after Clifton sprained his MCL; more than held his own though a relative novice to the critical spot... Faced perhaps the ultimate challenge of his pro career the next week against Washington (Oct. 20), when he started at left tackle for the inactive Clifton, lining up across from the vaunted Bruce Smith; held the future Hall of Famer without a sack or pressure... Also threw a key block on

Veteran Players

Ahrman Green's game-clinching, 8-yard touchdown run late in Redskins contest, crushing Washington DE Renaldo Wynn into the middle to help open a hole for Green...Played the first quarter-and-a-half of Monday night game against Miami (Nov. 4) at left tackle, stymieing the Dolphins' Jason Taylor (who had been named AFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' only days earlier and who finished the year as the NFL's sacks leader with 18½), before moving back inside to center for the balance of the contest; had a hand in blocking Dolphins S Brock Marion downfield on Green's 23-yard TD on a screen pass just before halftime of eventual 24-10 triumph...Returned to his usual spot in the starting lineup at center beginning with the rematch with Detroit (Nov. 10), he picked up an important block of Lions DT Shaun Rogers on Najeh Davenport's 43-yard run up the right sideline early in the second half...Was forced back out to left tackle during second half of game at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24) when Clifton was sidelined by a sprained pelvis...Helped Green Bay run for 181 yards against Chicago (Dec. 1) — its highest output on the ground since Opening Day — in full-time return to left tackle on the heels of Clifton's season-ending pelvis injury; picked off Bears Pro Bowl LB Brian Urlacher on Green's 29-yard run up the right sideline early in the third quarter...Threw a key block on Vikings LB Henri Crockett on Tony Fisher's game-winning, 14-yard touchdown run with 1:06 remaining in 26-22 triumph over Minnesota (Dec. 8)...Earlier had been forced into duty at tight end against the Lions (Sept. 22) with backup TE David Martin out of the game due to a concussion.

2001 Pegged as the likely starter heading into training camp, held off the challenge of the incumbent, Winters, during the preseason to win the starting job at center...Went on to start all 16 regular-season games, plus both playoff contests...Did not incur a single holding penalty in his maiden season as the starter...Played an integral role in the great success of the Packers' offensive line, which allowed the third-fewest sacks in the NFL (22) and the least by a Green Bay team in 27 years (17 in 1974)...Threw a key block, on the Lions' Rogers, on Green's 31-yard TD run to open the scoring in eventual 28-6 victory over Detroit in Week 1 (Sept. 9)...Later picked up an important block on Jaguars CB Fernando Bryant during Green's 42-yard gain on a screen pass in the final two minutes, positioning Green Bay for the decisive touchdown in 28-21, Monday night win at Jacksonville (Dec. 3)...Helped the Packers rush for a season-high 222 yards in snowy victory over Cleveland (Dec. 23)...Took out Rams LB London Fletcher on Green's 49-yard run early in the third quarter of NFC Divisional playoff game at St. Louis (Jan. 20)...Had suffered a right knee injury at Carolina (Sept. 30), but still started the following week at Tampa Bay (Oct. 7), helping to hold the Bucs' Warren Sapp without a sack and to just 2 tackles...Also helped to stymie Sapp (1 assisted stop) in rematch victory over the Buccaneers (Nov. 4)...Played a central role in neutralizing the Ravens' vaunted defensive tackles, Tony Siragusa and Sam Adams, in 31-23 triumph over defending NFL champion Baltimore (Oct. 14)...Was signed to a contract extension through the 2005 season on Nov. 2.

2000 Backing up Winters at center, played in all 16 games for the initial time as a pro, starting twice...Made his first-ever start — and saw his most extensive playing time to that point — when he replaced the injured Winters (strained ankle) in the lineup early in the year at Arizona (Sept. 24)...Also started for Winters the following week against the Bears (Oct. 1)...Later was on the field for most of the fourth quarter of the rematch at Chicago (Dec. 3) after Winters left the game with a biceps injury...Earlier had played two-and-a-half quarters at center vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17) when Winters was forced out due to his bad ankle.

1999 Served as the backup center, behind Winters, throughout the season...Played in 15 games, though mostly in a special teams capacity...Dressed for, but did not play in, the season opener vs. Oakland (Sept. 12)...Received late-game action at center in victories at San Diego (Oct. 24) and at San Francisco (Nov. 29).

1998 Saw his first playing time as a professional following two years on the sidelines...Got into two regular-season games plus the team's playoff loss at San Francisco...Was the No. 3 center behind veterans Winters and Jeff Dellenbach...First took the field Dec. 13 vs. Chicago as part of the field goal protection group...With the Packers down to only one healthy player at the position, briefly lined up as a second tight end the next week against Tennessee (Dec. 20)...Was inactive for 12 of the team's first 13 games before suiting up for the final three contests following a season-ending leg injury to Winters.

1997 Was sidelined for a second consecutive season when the muscle and nerve damage associated with his 1996 leg injury were slow to respond...Initially went on reserve/physically unable to perform during training camp (Aug. 19), forcing him to miss at least the league-mandated first six games...Recovered sufficiently to practice with the team, beginning Oct. 22, for the allowable three-week period at midseason...Subsequently was placed on season-ending PUP Nov. 11 following a determination by the club's coaching and medical staffs that he needed continued rehabilitation.

1996 Spent his entire rookie season on injured reserve after suffering a fracture to both bones in his lower right leg while blocking on the opening kickoff of the team's second preseason game, Aug. 11 vs. Pittsburgh...Underwent surgery the next day to place a stabilizing rod in the larger bone of his lower leg...Later was placed on IR Aug. 19...Was the first of two third-round draft choices (90th overall and second center) by Green Bay in 1996.

COLLEGE Was a three-year starter and letterman (1993-95) at UCLA...Started 32 consecutive games, longest streak on the Bruins, to close out his career...Earned first-team All-Pacific 10 Conference honors as a junior and senior...Also received third-team All-America recognition from Football News in 1995...Was co-offensive winner of the school's 'Kenneth S. Washington Award' for outstanding senior, a season when he registered 79 knock-down blocks...Began

G the '93 campaign as a backup, but started the final nine games of the season after injuries to two players, including Jonathan Ogden (Ravens), created an opportunity...Went on that year to be chosen as one of three offensive winners of the 'Captain Don Brown Memorial Trophy' for most improved player...Played in one game in 1992, but did not letter...Was redshirted in 1991...Earned a spot on the Director's (academic) Honor Roll three times...Holds B.A. degree in history.

Ron Wolf's stamp on Packers history

Ron Wolf arrived in Green Bay Nov. 27, 1991, with a mandate to rescue the Green and Gold from a quarter-century of mediocrity, an assignment which prompted him to assert, 'I was brought here to win.'

And win, in the decade to follow, the Packers did — in large part because of his leadership and the 'cast' he assembled to execute one of the most electrifying turnarounds in NFL annals...rewardingly punctuated by Green Bay's first Super Bowl victory in nearly three decades and back-to-back appearances in professional football's ultimate game.

During the history-making process, he made a more profound impact upon the Packers organization than anyone since the revered Vince Lombardi, who arrived in Green Bay with a similar mission 32 years earlier. Over Wolf's 1992-2000 tenure, the Packers compiled the NFL's second-winningest regular-season record, a 92-52 mark for a .639 percentage, recorded seven straight winning seasons and made six consecutive playoff appearances.

He converted the Green and Gold from perennial also-rans into consistent winners, exemplified by the fact they also have mounted the NFL's best regular-season won-lost record since the 1993 institution of free agency (107-53, .669), and best mark since the 1994 institution of the salary cap (98-46, .681).

Wolf's aggressive stewardship, launched with the hiring of 49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren as head coach and the acquisition of Brett Favre as a franchise quarterback in 1992 is perhaps no better illustrated than by the Packers' immediate, 9-7 turnaround in 1992 — his first year on the job — after the team had been a dismal 4-and-12 in 1991 and 6-and-10 in 1990...a transformation which brought him recognition as 'NFL Executive of the Year' by The Sporting News.

Wolf, reflecting upon the overall record from his perspective on the day he announced his retirement, observed with pardonable satisfaction, 'What people said couldn't happen here...happened here (building a winner in Green Bay)...I'm proud of that.'

Coming off the heels of his second consecutive Pro Bowl year, the Packers' 2000 first-round draft choice continues to evolve as a very effective player in the 'West Coast' offense run by the team...An all-rookie pick in 2000, developed into a Pro

Bowl starter as a second-year player, leading all league tight ends with 9 touchdowns, and repeated his Pro Bowl status last season with an NFC-high 7 TDs...His Pro Bowl participation has not surprised me," says Jeff Jagodzinski, the Packers' tight ends coach. "He's as good as any guy the Packers have had in here at tight end..." A strong element on offense, became the first Packers tight end to have a 50-catch season since Mark Chmura made 54 receptions in 1995, falling just 2 catches shy of Paul Coffman's club, single-season record for receptions by a tight end — 56 in 1979 — and finishing second in receptions in the NFC among TEs... "I see him as being more dominant in our passing game," affirms Jagodzinski. "He'll control the corner in the edge on our running game like he has the last two seasons..." A professional and dependable athlete, his strong blocking experience and good possession in the passing game keeps him as a threat in the Red Zone... "He's able to cover up people at the point of attack and has good possession in short and medium routes," Jagodzinski continues. "Inside the 20-yard line, he's very, very effective..." A young veteran in his fourth season who improves on the field each year, enters 2003 with 17 career TD receptions, one shy of passing No. 3 Chmura and nine to overtake No. 2 Ed West (25) on the team's all-time tight end list... His 16 TD receptions over the last two seasons are the sixth-most in the NFL over a two-year span in the last 20 years (by a TE)... "He's developing into a leadership role," says Jagodzinski. "I love coaching the guy because he listens and he gets better every year. He didn't know what to expect as a first-round pick, but he's matured, knows his role and what it takes to be a professional. Some guys never grow out of immaturity, but he did after his first year..." Has appeared in 48 games, with 42 starts, and tallied 124 receptions for 1,127 yards and 17 TDs... Became only the third tight end ever drafted by Green Bay in the first round — and the first in 30 years (Rich McGeorge in 1970 having been the last) — when the Packers chose him in 2000... Only the fourth tight end in Green Bay history to be chosen for the Pro Bowl, joining Ron Kramer (1962), Coffman (1982-84) and Chmura (1995, 1997-98)... Has never missed a game as a pro and has seen action in 48 straight contests (51 including play-offs)... Was known throughout his collegiate career at the University of Miami (Fla.) for making the one-handed and circus-type catches... Caught a 20-yard pass from President George W. Bush, a fellow West Texan, when the then-Texas governor made a surprise visit to a Packers practice Sept. 28, 2000, during his campaign.

Started in second consecutive Pro Bowl after leading NFC tight ends in receiving touchdowns (7) and finishing second in receptions with a career-high 54 — for a career-best 442 yards... Became the first Packers tight end to have a 50-catch season since Chmura made 54 receptions in 1995; fell 2 catches shy of Coffman's club single-season record for receptions by a tight end — 56 in 1979... Named the '2002 Tight End of the Year' by NFL Alumni, based on a vote of past players in that position... Played in all 16 games for the third consecutive season with 15 starts... at a glance...

- ▶ Has never missed a game as a pro, seeing action in 48 straight contests (51 including play-offs).
- ▶ Including his scoring pass last season, it marked the first time since 1991 that three Packers threw for touchdown (also Brett Favre and Doug Pederson).
- ▶ Fourth tight end in Packers history to be named to the Pro Bowl joining Ron Kramer (1962), Coffman (1982-84) and Chmura (1995, 1997-98).
- ▶ Interestingly, his first touchdown receptions as a collegian (in 1997 at Pittsburgh) and in the professional ranks (in 2000 at Tampa Bay) came on fake field goal attempts.
- ▶ Was only the third tight end ever drafted by Green Bay in the first round — and the first in 30 years (Rich McGeorge in 1970 being the last) — when the Packers tabbed him 14th overall in 2000.
- ▶ Caught a 20-yard pass from President of the United States George W. Bush, like him a West Texas native, when the then-Texas governor made a surprise visit to a Packers practice Sept. 28, 2000, during his presidential campaign.
- ▶ While in college, he worked as a caddy at LaGorce Country Club in Miami Beach during the summer months.

Detroit (Sept. 22), the most catches by a Packers tight end in almost 10 years (Jackie Harris, 9 Nov. 8, 1992, at N.Y. Giants)... Threw a 31-yard touchdown pass to Donald Driver (on first NFL attempt) late in the first half of 17-14 win over Carolina (Sept. 29) and added 4 receptions for 33 yards... Paced the team with 5 receptions for 46 yards in victory over Super Bowl champion New England (Oct. 13), including a 2-yard TD at the back of the end zone, giving Green Bay a 21-3 lead late in the third quarter... Made a key block of Redskins LB Jeremiah Trotter to help open up Ahman Green's 24-yard touchdown run early vs. Washington (Oct. 20), while adding 3 catches for 19 yards... Started in Monday night

Franks in 2003

- ▶ Could become just the second Packers tight end with three consecutive Pro Bowl selections (Paul Coffman, 1982-84), Franks, who has started for the NFC each of the last two years, is the only Green Bay tight end to start a Pro Bowl.
- ▶ With nine TD receptions, would match the most over a three-year span (26) by any NFL tight end over the last two decades (Paul Coffman 1983-85; Tony Gonzalez 1999-2001).

- ▶ Needs two games played and eight starts for career No. 50.
- ▶ Needs 47 receptions to surpass No. 5 Ron Kramer (170), and 65 to surpass No. 4 Mark Chmura (188) on the team's all-time tight ends list. Franks enters '03 with 124 career catches.
- ▶ Needs one TD reception to surpass No. 3 Chmura (17) and nine to surpass No. 2 Ed West (25) on the team's all-time tight ends list. Franks enters '03 with 17 career TD catches.

Jets (Dec. 29)...Did not catch a pass in win over Buffalo (Dec. 22), the only time he failed to do so in 2002, snapping a 21-game reception streak.

2001 Was selected to his first Pro Bowl — as a starter — after leading NFL tight ends with 9 touchdown receptions...Also was a second-team All-Pro selection of College & Pro Football Newsweekly...Caught 36 passes (for 322 yards) to rank fourth among Packers...Scored every fourth time he caught the ball during the regular season (9 times among 36 receptions), ranking sixth in NFC scoring among non-kickers in the process with 54 points...His 9 TD catches represented the most by a Green Bay tight end since Keith Jackson posted 10 during the Packers' 1996 Super Bowl season.

PRO CAREER

Relentless pass rusher, possesses a high-speed football motor that never quits...Continued his development as one of the NFL's top young sack artists in 2002, as well as proved he could very effectively perform as an every-down player, a necessary situation after starter Joe Johnson suffered a season-ending triceps injury early in the year...Until then, had served as an outside pass-rushing specialist in long-yardage and other obvious passing downs...Will open the 2003 campaign at the 'Elephant' defensive end position — the spot at which he started the last 11 contests in 2002 — while Johnson moves over to 'Power' end after the free agent departure of Vonnie Holliday...“He's worked hard to get to this point,” observes Jethro Franklin, Green Bay's defensive line coach. “He wants to prove to everyone that he's an all-around player. In my mind he is. In his mind he is. He's out there to eliminate all doubt. He's got a whole lot of upside to him yet. He'll get better.”...With 12 sacks in 2002, including 9 takedowns over the final 11 games as a starter, became the first Green Bay player to post consecutive double-digit sack seasons since Reggie White did so over the 1997-98 campaigns; is one of just seven NFL players overall to accomplish the feat over the past two years (others are John Abraham, Leonard Little, Michael Strahan, Patrick Kerney, Roosevelt Colvin and Simeon Rice)...Of Gbaja-Biamila's pass-rushing skills, Franklin observes, “His first two steps are phenomenal. Plus he has leverage and athleticism, but everyone is a pretty good athlete. His first two steps are fast and powerful and they gain ground in a hurry. He moves upfield on you fast.”...Named as the Packers' winner of the ‘Ed Block Courage Award’ in a vote of his teammates in 2002, recognizing his “commitment to the principles of sportsmanship and courage.”...Furthermore was honored by the NFL Players Association with the Packers' ‘Unsung Hero Award,’ acknowledging his “determination and commitment that transcended the playing field”...Both honors were particularly meaningful to Gbaja-Biamila in light of the personally trying stretch he experienced late in the season; he and his wife, Eileen, experienced the joy of the birth of their first child early the morning on Dec. 1, ‘KGB’ then went on to play in the victory over the Chicago Bears later that day, then learned later that night of the tragic death of his mother, Bola, in a car accident...Through his faith, determination and the support of his teammates, made it through the challenging times...A tireless worker, is often seen spending extra time on the field after practice honing his pass-rush skills with Franklin and also frequently can be found in the film room, poring over extra footage of his opponents — both in a never-ending effort to improve his skills and further his contributions to the team...With 10 sacks in 2003, would become the first player in Packers history with double-digit figures over three consecutive seasons...With 27 career sacks, ranks seventh on Green Bay's all-time sacks list; needs 9½ to surpass No. 4 Tony Bennett (36)...Initially displayed impressive pass-rushing skills down the stretch as a 2000 rookie, prompting Head Coach Mike Sherman to speculate at season's end that he could become “a dominant pass rusher who can go out there and really put fear in people's eyes.”...Acknowledging that Gbaja-Biamila was then “undersized at 248 (pounds),” Sherman was moved to observe, “(He) has maybe potentially that type of ability...He is a guy that could be that type of player.”...Says Franklin, “The one thing you can't measure with Kabeer is his heart. The guy has the heart of a lion.”...Has now played in 38 career games,

History of the sack statistic

In 1947, the NFL implemented a new team statistic, yards lost attempting to pass. The new category allowed the league to separate gross yards passing from net yards, to more accurately reflect a team's passing performance. Net passing yards included yards lost by backs tackled on passing plays.

In 1963, Seymour Siwoff, president of the league's official statistical company, the Elias Sports Bureau, made a suggestion. Recognizing the 'yards lost attempting to pass' figure needed a complement, he argued for a new category: number of times losing yards attempting to pass. The league agreed, and one of the NFL's top executives, Jim Kensil, first coined the term "Sack," which in the early 1960s was a dark-ages word, meaning to plunder a captured town. Kensil, who handled NFL public relations among other responsibilities, popularized the term in his stories and publicity materials.

In 1982, convinced by member team PR directors (many of whom were convinced by their players), Elias and the NFL agreed to make individual sacks an official number. New rules were written, such as only two players can share in a sack.

Today, it's arguably the game's most popular stat. Siwoff, whose bureau also tracks official numbers for MLB, the NBA and NHL, still has the final word on every challenged sack, spending Tuesday or Wednesday in the film room at the league office.

GREEN

One of the NFL's top running backs, sixth-year juggernaut forcefully paces Green Bay's effective ground game... Possesses lethal mix of superior speed and punishing power, a combination not readily enticing to the opponent; results of open-field meetings often end in one of two ways: No. 30 either blowing by or running over would-be tacklers...An outstanding component of the passing game, offers an excellent receiving target as well as assignment-sure pass protection — the perfect back-field accompaniment to All-Pro quarterback Brett Favre and the Packers' aerial attack... Authored another superb season in 2002, despite being slowed by injury more than in the previous two campaigns... "Ahman had an outstanding season," confirms Sylvester Croom, Green Bay's running backs coach. "He started off great. Injuries slowed him down a bit at the end of the season. There's no question his numbers would have been higher had it not been for the injuries, but he still had an outstanding year..." Voted to his second straight Pro Bowl in 2002 — making him the first Green Bay running back in 29 years to make the league's annual all-star contest in consecutive years (John Brockington, 1971-73) — though he ended up canceling his trip to Hawaii due to his late-season knee/quad tendon injury... Improved his personal game yet again last season; subtle nuances are increasingly becoming second nature to the former Nebraska Cornhusker... "We just want him to continue to improve," says Croom. "I thought his patience was much better in his running. He's getting more experienced in the offense and understanding the blocking schemes better and knowing when to use his speed and when to be more patient. He's really starting to see things better. He's expressed that to me. He can see and feel and anticipate better because he's been in the system and with the same people year in and year out. I think that continues even now..." Packers coaches would like to get him more involved in called passing routes, according to Croom, "because he can be an effective receiver out of the backfield and we want to do a little more of that with him this year."

PRO CAREER

Sublime efforts over the past three campaigns have landed his name in prominent position among the club's all-time rushers... Became just the third player in club history to post three-or-more consecutive 1,000-yard seasons (also 2000-01), joining Jim Taylor (5, 1960-64) and Brockington (3, 1971-73) in having accomplished the feat... Finished with the fifth-best rushing season in Packers history, gaining 1,240 yards (fourth in the NFC) on 286 carries — a 4.3-yard average — despite missing two full games and sitting out the second half of two other contests due to injury... Possesses three of the top six rushing seasons in team record books... Now ranks seventh on the Packers' all-time rushing list with 3,802 yards, a total that is fourth among all NFL rushers over the 2000-02 seasons... Easily could ascend all the way to third place by early in the 2003 NFL season, entering this year only 24 yards behind No. 6 Gerry Ellis (3,826), 58 yards behind No. 5 Clarke Hinkle (3,860), 135 yards behind No. 4 Dorsey Levens (3,937) and 395 yards behind No. 3 Tony Canadeo (4,197)... Ranked second in the NFC in total yards from scrimmage per game (116.6), trailing only the Giants' Tiki Barber; finished fifth in the conference with 1,633 scrimmage yards... Over the 2000-02 seasons, his 5,348 total yards rank third in the NFL... At his best against division foes, has averaged 106.6 yards of total offense in 18 career contests vs. NFC North teams... Also tied for ninth in NFC scoring among non-kickers with 54 points on 9 touchdowns (7 rushing, 2 receiving)... Now has 14 career 100-yard rushing games to his credit with the Packers — second in team history to

Cornerback

Texas A&M-Kingsville Sixth NFL Season
Ht: 6-1 Wt: 185 First Packers Season
Born: Dec. 7, 1974 Acquired: T-03 (Phi.)

AI HARRIS

PRO CAREER

Fearless, in-your-face cornerback, was acquired in an offseason trade with Philadelphia to replace the departed Tyrone Williams at right cornerback...Had spent the past five seasons with the Eagles, where he developed a reputation as the NFL's top 'nickel' cornerback but remained stuck behind starters Troy Vincent and Bobby Taylor, both of whom were selected to the Pro Bowl last season (the fourth time for Vincent and first for Taylor)...Physical yet durable player, has yet to miss a game since his pro career took off in 1998 with Philadelphia — 87 in all (80 regular season, seven in the playoffs)...“Al Harris is a Green Bay Packer-type of cornerback,” says Bob Slowik, the Packers’ secondary coach. “He’s best up at the line of scrimmage, pressing the receivers. He’s a challenging-type of corner — that’s what really intrigued us the most about him — and he’s real good in coverage. His physical build fits the Green Bay Packer profile, which is a tall, lengthy corner who feels most comfortable up there in the receiver’s face. We were doing an offseason study of good third-down teams, and when we looked at the Eagles, Al just jumped out at us. He did a heck of a job in that role. He’s covered all of the receivers we play; he’s faced Terrell Owens, Randy Moss, he’s gone up against them all and did a marvelous job. Anybody that we have here with the Packers is going to have to play very physical — not only in the passing game, but in the run game — and we feel confident that Al will fit into that role, too, because of his aggressiveness and competitiveness.”...Is the possessor of measurable big-game experience, having played in the last two NFC Championship contests as an Eagle...Has 7 career interceptions, along with 41 passes defended and 171 tackles (133 solo), as a pro...Was traded to the Packers by Philadelphia this past March 3 in exchange for Green Bay’s second-round pick in the 2003 NFL draft (subsequently dealt by the Eagles to San Diego to move up 15 spots in the first round) with the Packers also receiving Philadelphia’s fourth-round this year (sent by Green Bay to Buffalo to ascend 15 spots in the third round to select DL Kenny Peterson)...Began his NFL career in 1997 as a sixth-round draft choice of Tampa Bay, spending his rookie year on the team’s practice squad...Subsequently released by the Buccaneers on the final preseason cut-down the next year, he was claimed on waivers by Philadelphia, where he went on to enjoy five highly-productive seasons (1998-2002)...Was rewarded by the Eagles with a five-year contract extension, through 2004, at midseason of the 1999 campaign...Had played the final two years of his collegiate career at Texas A&M-Kingsville after starting out at the junior college level (Trinity Valley)...Joins established Green Bay starter Mike McKenzie to give the Packers a pair of dreadlock-sporting cornerbacks.

Served as a key contributor to the Eagles’ fourth-ranked defense in his final season with Philadelphia...Was named as the NFL’s “best ‘nickel’ cornerback” by USA Today Sportsweekly...Played in all 18 of Philadelphia’s games (16 regular season, two in the playoffs), making a pair of starts, as the Eagles advanced to the NFC Championship contest for the second straight year...Led the team and matched his career high with 13 passes defended...Also totaled 25 tackles (18 solo) and 1 interception...Was in the lineup for the season opener at Tennessee (Sept. 8), replacing an injured Vincent (knee), and responded with his top tackle output of the year (4 stops)...Made 3 tackles in four other games...Leapt to intercept a Brad Johnson pass, intended for Keyshawn Johnson, early in the fourth quarter of eventual 20-10 triumph over Tampa Bay (Oct. 20) with the Eagles clinging to a three-point lead at the time; Philadelphia took over at the Bucs’ 42-yard line and drove for the game-clinching touchdown...Had 2 passes defended at Washington (Sept. 16), at Jacksonville (Oct. 6) and against St. Louis (Dec. 1)...Also started against Indianapolis (Nov. 10) when the Eagles opened in their ‘nickel’ alignment...Received

Strength of schedule, Packers history

Phil Bengtson, Vince Lombardi's hand-picked replacement, might have dealt with more pressure in 1970 than anyone who's ever coached the Packers. That season, his third and final as Green Bay head coach, ended at 6-8, with losses in four of his last five games (all on the road!). What's more, Bengtson faced the toughest schedule ever thrown at the Packers. Toughest schedules in team history, based on opponent records at the end of that season.

	W	L	Pct	Packers Finish	Notable opponents
1970	113	74	.604	6-8-0, tied for third, division	Super Bowl V champion Colts (twice), NFC champion Cowboys

Packers Helmets

- ▶ The Packers added their first and only helmet logo in 1961, the Lombardi 'G' emblem. Since, the club has made no significant changes to its helmet.
- ▶ Only two other teams have made no significant changes (including color alterations) since the G first went on the Packers helmet in '61. The Baltimore/Indianapolis Colts have sported their blue horseshoe since 1959. The Cleveland Browns shifted to "bald" helmets in 1960. The Pittsburgh Steelers introduced their unique helmets, with one bald side, the year after the Packers added the G, in 1962.
- ▶ Designed for Lombardi by equipment manager Dad Braisher, the G is one of the most recognizable team marks in sports, borrowed by several colleges and high schools, including Grambling State and the University of Georgia.
- ▶ The actual raised helmet G oval measures 3.125 inches at its tallest point, and 5 inches at its widest point. The thick decal is applied to each Riddell helmet by current equipment manager Red Batty and his staff.
- ▶ The middle white stripe is exactly 1 inch wide; the two green stripes are each 11/16 of an inch.

Tough, throwback player out of the mold of Ray Nitschke, Jim Taylor and Clarke Hinkle...The Packers' rock in the starting backfield for seven straight years, has played in 139 of the last 140 contests, including postseason...Despite a host of physical ailments, expected from such a violent position, extended a games-played streak to 114 (2002 including playoffs) until a 2002 injury halted the span...A fearless point man, welcomes the challenge of the league's best linebackers, taking tremendous pride in his blocking abilities...In a day of increased emphasis on individual accolades, ninth-year veteran is a true team player, considering himself first and foremost a glorified guard...Running on roads paved by Henderson and a solid offensive line, Packers backs have recorded 1,000-yard seasons in four consecutive years, and in five of the last six (Dorsey Levens 1997, 1999; Ahman Green 2000-2002)...Has blocked for four of the top six individual rushing efforts in team annals — Levens' 1,435 yards in 1997 (second), and Ahman Green's 1,387 in 2001 (third), 1,240 in 2002 (fourth) and 1,175 in 2000 (sixth)...This season, by blocking for a sixth career 1,000-yard rusher, can match NFL record held by Howard Griffith (1994, 1996-2000), testament, according to position coach Sylvester Croom, to pure hard work...That's an outstanding compliment," Croom says, "and one in which I'm sure he would take a great deal of pride. Anytime you get a 1,000-yard rusher, that's a tremendous team accomplishment, something that involves your offensive line, tight end and especially your fullback. No question, he's played a major role in Ahman's success the last three seasons. We look forward to more from him this year..."More would be if the Packers can average better than 100 yards per game rushing for a fourth straight season, which hasn't happened since 1984-87...Since Henderson dug in his heels as the team's starting fullback in 1996, no other club has a better record (78-34, .696)...And, since Henderson became the starting point man, the team has averaged 107.7 yards rushing per game (12,061 yards, 112 games); over the Packers' first four years in the 'West Coast' offense (1992-95), the team averaged only 96.0 yards.

The perfect, point-of-attack complement to a breakaway back like Green, he directly sprung Green on several bursts in 2001, and on at least two critical touchdown runs in 2002...Signed a four-year contract to return in March of 2002, the third time he had re-signed as a free agent...Physically the 21st century re-incarnation of Larry Csonka, John Riggins and Jim Taylor, the obvious difference — and likely the reason he hasn't received the national attention he deserves — is the Packers' 'West Coast' offense doesn't provide the carries those Hall of Famers received...And, Croom believes, because Pro Bowl voters can't put much value in intangibles...His assets are more than his blocking ability," Croom says. "The team values his leadership, pass receiving and special-teams contributions. He's an integral part of everything we're trying to accomplish here. As a result, we expect him to play at a high level..."That proven pass-catching ability helped the veteran last season become Green Bay's first full-time fullback to reach 200 catches...His 220 receptions rank fourth all-time among Packers backs, just 22 behind No. 3 Edgar Bennett (242)...He has good hands, and he catches the ball well in traffic," Croom says. "Plus, after the catch, he runs well. He always gives us the opportunity to gain good, positive yardage after he makes the catch..."With 220 receptions — almost 100 more than his 126 carries — he ranks 18th among all pass-catchers in team history...In fact, he needs only six more catches to surpass No. 14 Bill Schroeder (225)...Unlike most NFL starters, contributes significantly on special teams...Including a career-best 13 coverage tackles in 2002, has 21 special-teams tackles in the last two seasons, and 29 career; meanwhile, over the last four seasons, has only 26 carries...But humility isn't his strongest asset; that, most think, is his toughness...Personified that storybook toughness and team dedication in the second half of Green Bay's 45-17 loss at St. Louis in the 2001 NFC semifinals..."At half-time," Croom recalled, "we were down and we had a tough haul ahead of us. Will was in the last year of his contract, with a free-agent year coming up and he was seriously hurt. The doctors flat out at a glance...

- Can match Howard Griffith's NFL fullback record by blocking for a sixth 1,000-yard rusher in 2003 (Dorsey Levens, 1997 and '99; Ahman Green, 2000-02).
- Has played in 139 of the Packers' last 140 games, including playoffs.
- With 220 receptions, ranks fourth all-time among Green Bay backs, just 22 behind No. 3 Edgar Bennett (242).
- One of few NFL starters who consistently contribute on special teams, posted career-high 13 coverage tackles in 2002.
- Made his debut in the broadcasting booth last April, serving as a FOX analyst for two NFL Europe games.
- Grew up in Virginia, idolizing John Riggins.
- One of team's most involved players in Green Bay and Milwaukee communities.

told me, 'He's done.' Then, here he comes running out of the locker room..."While television cameras don't usually capture blocking collisions away from the ball, coaches analyzing film see everything Monday morning..."In the fullback role," Croom says, "people don't always see that toughness come out because he doesn't get a lot of carries. But on most snaps, whether he's catching the ball or attacking the linebacker, he's very, very physical. And, he plays hurt. He practices hurt. Then, he still plays well on Sunday for us..."After a collegiate career lacking in stats, which spawned zero invitations to postseason all-star games — or to the NFL scouting combine — the Packers targeted him as the player they wanted from the '95 draft to help jump-start their running game...Subsequently came to Tittletown as a somewhat unknown third-round draft choice and a preseason knee injury short-circuited his push for the starting lineup...Eventually won the starting fullback job late in '96 training camp, over the incumbent Levens, in large part due to his extraordinary blocking skills.

Served as the Packers' starting fullback for the seventh straight year...Scored 4 touchdowns (1 rushing, 3 receiving) on only 33 touches (7 carries, 26 receptions) — averaging 1 TD once every 8.25 times he handled the ball...Also maintained strong presence on special teams; despite being a starter, contributed a career-high 13 coverage tackles...Ended the year with 7 rushes for 27 yards and 1 TD...Also made 26 receptions (fifth on team) for 168 yards and 3 TDs — the first time in his eight NFL seasons that he has had more than 1 receiving touchdown...Played in 15 games, starting 12 times...Also saw action in postseason contest vs. Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Had played in 114 consecutive games (126 including playoffs) — the second-longest active streak on the team, behind only Brett Favre, and thought to be the longest in club history by a full-time fullback — until knee injury stopped string, making him inactive vs. Carolina (Sept. 29)...Had injured the left medial collateral ligament early in second half of win at Detroit (Sept. 22)...Returned to the lineup for Monday night win at Chicago (Oct. 7), catching 1 pass for 5 yards...On opening day vs. Atlanta (Sept. 29), scored the go-ahead touchdown (his first rushing TD since late in the '99 season) — a 1-yard plunge off left tackle, on fourth down, with 1:10 left in regulation, providing a 34-31 lead — in eventual 37-34, overtime victory...In 28-10 win at New England (Oct. 13), posted 200th career reception, a 3-yard touchdown catch (his first TD reception since the sixth game of 2000)...Later, in rematch vs. Chicago (Dec. 1), made a 1-yard TD reception to stretch the Packers' lead to 23-14 midway through the fourth quarter in 30-20 victory...Enjoyed season highs for receptions (5, also a club best) and receiving yards (33) in triumph at San Francisco (Dec. 15); also blocked 49ers LB Julian Peterson on Green's 9-yard TD run early in the third quarter that gave Green Bay a 10-6 lead it would not relinquish in eventual 20-14 triumph over the NFC West champions...Earlier had posted 4 receptions for 32 yards in victory vs. Washington (Oct. 20), he also threw a key block on Redskins LB Kevin Mitchell to help spring Green's game-clinching, 8-yard touchdown run late in contest...Caught a 9-yard touchdown pass to give Green Bay a 40-7 lead in its 40-14 victory vs. Detroit (Nov. 10), totaling 2 receptions for 14 yards on the day; also picked up an important block of Lions LB Barrett Green on Najeh Davenport's 43-yard run up the right sideline early in the second half...Six days earlier in Monday night win over Miami (Nov. 4), had thrown a key downfield block on Dolphins CB Jamar Fletcher to help Green Bay convert a third-and-18 — with a screen pass to Green — on the Packers' initial scoring drive...Threw a big block on Vikings S Ronnie Bradford on Tony Fisher's game-winning, 14-yard touchdown run with 1:06 remaining in 26-22 triumph vs. Minnesota (Dec. 8)...Matched his career high with 6 carries (for 26 yards) in regular-season finale at the N.Y. Jets (Dec. 29), a game that also saw him catch 2 passes for 6 yards...Caught 1 pass for 6 yards and registered a special teams tackle in playoff game against Atlanta (Jan. 4).

2001 The Packers' No. 1 fullback, played in all 16 games...Enjoyed such a productive year blocking for 1,000-yard rusher Green that he drew notice for postseason honors, including a second-team All-Pro selection by Football Digest...A participant on the majority of Green Bay's special teams units for the second straight year, posted 8 coverage tackles...Rushed 6 times for 11 yards and caught 21 passes for 193 yards while seeing action in all 18 regular-season and playoff contests...Saw action in his 100th

William Henderson has an opportunity to establish one of the NFL's more amazing records.

Henderson in 2002 joined Howard Griffith and Richie Anderson as one of three fullbacks in NFL history to block for a 1,000-yard rusher in as many as five seasons (minimum six starts each season).

Griffith — point man for the Rams' Jerome Bettis in '94, Carolina's Anthony Johnson in '96 and Denver's Terrell Davis (1997-98), Olandis Gary (1999) and Mike Anderson (2000), owns the league record by blocking for six 1,000-yard seasons.

But Henderson can tie Griffith this year. The Cowboys' Anderson also can match Griffith this season, although he was a tight-end/H-back hybrid during the '99 season.

Lambeau's famous playing surface

In the middle of the 1999 season, Ron Wolf gained approval to give Lambeau its current surface, replacing the former 'Sportgrass' foundation. The Packers field crew worked feverishly for two weeks to replace the field before former head coach Mike Holmgren returned with his Seattle Seahawks for a Monday night contest, Nov. 1, 1999. A closer look at the four-level surface:

- ▶ A natural-grass surface of 1 and 1/2 inches of sand-based sod (a 100 percent Kentucky Bluegrass field containing 40 percent Princeton 105 grass, 30 percent Midnight grass, 20 percent Adelphi grass and 10 percent Touchdown grass.)
- ▶ Immediately below it stands 3-5 inches of soil. Throughout the soil there are 8-inch deep holes filled with sand to maintain the grass during unsatisfactory weather conditions, helping to prevent a soggy field after rain or snow. The crew used 110 tons of sand to fill these holes.
- ▶ Underneath the soil lies 10 inches of sand; at the bottom of the layer, more than 30 miles of radiant heating pipe, capable of maintaining a root-zone temperature of more than 70 degrees, keeps the field from freezing during the winter.
- ▶ At the bottom is the foundation, a 4-inch base of pea gravel.

The grass surface was grown at Turf Farms in New Jersey and trucked to Green Bay. Turf Farms also supplies the field grass for Cleveland Browns Stadium and the Pittsburgh Steelers' Heinz Field.

In the future, Packers fields manager Allen Johnson hopes to replace the second layer (the soil) with all sand. This change would provide roots with the optimum amount of oxygen because of the density of the sand particles in comparison to the soil particles.

Sand is an essential element to the field crew in the process to create the ideal Lambeau Field. In addition to the 110 tons of sand to fill the 8-inch deep holes in the second layer, 135 tons of sand were used to topdress the field. When laid out over Lambeau Field this comes out to 3/8 of an inch.

Defensive Tackle

Fifth NFL Season
Fifth Packers Season
Acquired: D3b-99

Intimidating, determined veteran, enters camp as the team's No. 1 'Eagle' defensive tackle...One of the Packers' top priorities this past offseason, re-signed as unrestricted free agent on March 8 to torment offensive lines well into future...

Enjoyed breakout season in 2002, his first year as an exclusive starter...Perception throughout the organization and much of the league is that Hunt is a ridge on an iceberg that would sink both the Titanic and her sister...The next step, according to position coach Jethro Franklin, is to earn the respect of his opponents and the fans...He hasn't been to the Pro Bowl and he hasn't played for a Super Bowl champion," Franklin says. "The way we see him here, and the way the public sees him are two different things now. But if we continue to win, and he continues to take care of things, he will be viewed in a more respectable light. He just needs to get exposed..." Usually matched up one-on-one with guards when neighboring Gilbert Brown gets double-teamed,

PRO CAREER

...excelled in 2002 at clogging the three technique...Also threw in a career-best 5½ sacks last year, but with a little more focus, Franklin thinks he can still greatly improve his pass-rushing...He has the ability to be the complete package: a dominant pass rusher and a dominant run defender," Franklin says. "He's already shown flashes of great pass-rushing ability. This will be a pivotal year for him. We'll find out whether he can put all those things together..." The NFL might have 20 other defensive tackles who have similar size, experience and statistics...A few important assets, though, set Hunt apart...He's obviously a tremendously gifted athlete," Franklin says. "But he has incredible ability, mobility and athleticism, and that combination is really hard to find. That's what separates him from his peers. In that position, you don't want to be stiff. If you're limited mobility wise, you can't make plays. Being flexible allows him to do more things, and allows him to get out of a bad position. Being able to bend like he can allows him to make more plays closer to the ground, without being on the ground. It allows him to survive in there..." Can also get his 305 pounds well off the ground to block kicks (has two key blocks in his career, one each of the past two seasons)...Before becoming a full-time starter in 2002, provided valuable versatility, starting at tackle and end in both 2000 and 2001...May be on the verge of truly great things in the National Football League if he can continue the strides he has made over the past four seasons...The choice is his to make, though...Ninety percent of it is attitude," Franklin says. "Believing in what he's doing. Confidence. That comes from success. You draw confidence from the success you're able to produce. It all comes down to that; it's mental..." Came out of Division II Kentucky State as a relatively raw talent...Utilized primarily as a situational pass rusher as a 1999 rookie, then turned into a valued backup along the defensive line, making 11 starts in 2000 and six near the end of 2001...A junior-college and small-school standout, firmly proved him-

Ahead by 10 points at home

The Packers have now won an NFL-record 54 consecutive home games in which they've led by at least 10 points. The last time Green Bay blew at least a 10-point lead in a home loss was Sept. 12, 1993, when it relinquished 10-0 and 17-7 advantages in a 20-17 loss to the Eagles at Lambeau Field. On Dec. 22, 2002, vs. Buffalo, the Packers surpassed the previous record, 53, held by Pittsburgh (1989-2000).

PRO CAREER

Savvy and veteran defensive end, this year looks to rebound from a season-ending triceps injury that grounded his personal 2002 campaign...A versatile player and two-time Pro Bowler, will make the switch to the 'Power' end position this season as the Packers shuffle their lineup after the free agency departure of Vonnie Holliday... "He's an athlete, a football player," says Jethro Franklin, the Packers' defensive line coach. "There's going to be some things that are different but he won't struggle with them because he's not going to see anything that he hasn't seen before. And that's the most important thing. He has the experience and has been in certain situations, so he's going to know how to deal with them."...Slated to begin practicing in training camp, will look to pick up right where he left off last season before he was injured... "He started out a little slow in the preseason games and really came on in the regular season with the Carolina game," Franklin recalls, "helping us win that one by causing the fumble and getting us the ball back when they were in the Red Zone. Then he deflected the pass against the Bears that 'KGB' picked off and ran back for a touchdown. So he was really beginning to do a lot of good things before he got hurt. We hope he had a speedy recovery and that he can pick up right where he left off. He's a leader, a veteran guy who has experience and a heck of a football player. He's had success in this league and is striving to have greater success."...A much sought-after unrestricted free agent following the 2001 campaign, had signed with the Packers on March 26, 2002, after eight seasons in New Orleans...A rising star poised to take his game to the elite level following a strong 1998 season, suffered a season-ending knee injury in training camp the following summer...Came back with a vengeance in 2000, picking up right where he had left off and finishing with 12 sacks among 66 tackles to earn 'Comeback Player of the Year' honors from the Associated Press and a starting Pro Bowl assignment...Has played in 111 career games, with 109 starts, and registered 417 tackles (318 solo), 52½ sacks, 17 forced fumbles, 7 fumble recoveries and 6 passes defended...Finished tenure with Saints ranking fifth on the club's all-time sacks list.

2002 SEASON Started the first five games at 'Elephant' (right) defensive end in his initial season with the Packers...Suffered a season-ending torn left triceps in second half of win at Chicago (Oct. 7)...Underwent surgery to repair the triceps on Oct. 10, having been placed on injured reserve one day earlier...Contributed 17 tackles, including 2 sacks, plus 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery and 1 pass defended...Hit the arm of Bears QB Jim Miller, popping the ball into the air — teammate Kaber Gbaja-Biamila subsequently intercepted and ran 72 yards for a touchdown, giving Green Bay a 31-14 second-half lead in eventual 34-21 triumph — in addition to 3 tackles before leaving game at Chicago (Oct. 7) with triceps injury...Sacked the Falcons' elusive Michael Vick among 4 tackles in season-opening victory over Atlanta (Sept. 8); also had 1 pressure and 2 QB hits...Contributed 3 stops at New Orleans (Sept. 15) in game against his former team...Had a hand in a pair of Carolina turnovers inside the Packers' 20-yard line in 17-14 victory over the Panthers (Sept. 29)...Recovered a fumble by Panthers QB Rodney Peete late in the first half, he then sacked Peete at the Green Bay 15 late in the third period, forcing a fumble that teammate Tod McBride recovered...Also posted 6 tackles, 1 pressure and 3 QB hits in Panthers contest.

JUE

A standout as the team's 'Defensive Rookie of the Year' two years ago, a healthy and hungry Bawoh Jue is poised for a "comeback" — and pursuit of starting status — in the wake of an injury-shortened 2002 season...Defensive Coordinator Ed Donatelli, impressed with Jue's burgeoning revival in the team's '03 mini-camps, noted, "Bawoh came in and had a very strong rookie season, taking on the task of moving to safety in mid-season — a position he'd never played — and helped us go forward to a 12-win season. Going into Year Two, he had some health problems. He had a groin injury and we really weren't sure of the area that needed to be treated. As they did more research, they finally determined the groin area needed to be surgically repaired. That's part of why he was slow getting started in camp and ultimately placed on IR. The problem's been rectified — it's been fixed — he's had a very strong offseason program and just got into full swing in our last mini-camp. And he looked outstanding. He looked like he'd regained all of his speed — he looked quicker than ever — and he'll be in competition with everybody for the corner spots."...Played huge role in 2001, filling in for an injured LeRoy Butler at strong safety over the season's final 7 games...Has now played in 19 career games, with 7 starts, and tallied 39 tackles (31 solo), 2 interceptions among 5 passes defended and 1 forced fumble, plus 5 stops (3 solo) with the special teams.

2002 SEASON

Served as a backup cornerback for the first five weeks, until he was placed on season-ending injured reserve on Oct. 12, after being adversely affected by a hamstring injury and a chronic groin problem...Contributed in Green Bay's "dime" defense and on special teams while healthy...Played in each of the first two games, vs. Atlanta (Sept. 8) and at New Orleans (Sept. 15)...Contributed 1 assisted stop covering kicks against the Saints, but also sprained his right ankle in contest...Subsequently was inactive for game at Detroit (Sept. 22)...Returned to the field for win over Carolina (Sept. 29), knocking down 1 pass attempt...Suffered a left hamstring injury covering a kick late in the first half of Monday night win at Chicago (Oct. 7)...Had missed the first half of training camp with a lingering strain of his lower abdomen/groin from the team's April mini-camp...Underwent surgery to repair hernia/groin injury (Nov. 6), as well as postseason arthroscopic surgery to remove a bone spur from his right ankle (Jan. 16).

Names on the facade

The names gracing the east and west facades, one of the more awe-inspiring features of Lambeau Field's bowl, are often misidentified as the Green Bay "Ring of Fame" or "Ring of Honor."

It's an honest mistake. Most franchises induct former players, coaches and contributors into an exclusive club, usually called a Ring of Honor and containing on average 15-20 individuals. In Green Bay, though, the equivalent to that group is the Packers Hall of Fame, which this summer inducted its 129th and 130th members.

And unlike most other stadiums that display names on their facade, most of the Packers' individuals (12) actually played/coached on the field in front of them.

The bowl also lists the years of the Packers' NFL-record 12 world championships and, beginning this season, the team's four retired numbers.

Exceedingly tough, exceptionally bright and remarkably mature for his relative youth, assets accompanied by a highly developed work ethic, the inexhaustible Iowan proved a valuable and significant addition to the defensive line as a rookie in 2002...And, Packers defensive line coach Jethro Franklin assures, there is substantial promise of better things to come from the former Hawkeye in '03 and beyond, asserting, "Aaron's a young player who will learn with every 'rep.' He's tough — he fought through some injuries and played with a cast on his hand last season, so we know we're getting a hardnosed, tough guy who has real good ability — and who is going to eventually mature into the kind of player that we know he can be. His best asset? His knowledge. You know, for a guy as young as he is, he has tremendous knowledge of the game and he studies the game real well. And that's only going to make things happen for him more often in terms of play-making ability."...Demonstrated excellent ball awareness from the outset as a rookie while playing in 12 regular-season games, he found himself starting six at the 'Power' end position when injuries twice felled starter Vonnie Holliday along the way...Also saw reserve action in the playoff matchup with Atlanta (Jan. 4).

Totalled 26 tackles, including one-half sack, and 2 passes defended...Took over as the starter for a month at 'Power' end in Week 4 against Carolina after Holliday was sidelined with a torn pectoral muscle...Also started two games in the second half of the season (Nov. 10 vs. Detroit and Nov. 17 at Minnesota) when Holliday was out with a knee injury...Incurred a pair of injuries himself in the Vikings contest, breaking his right hand in pre-game warm-ups and later, while playing with a cast over the fracture, suffering a concussion that sent him to the sideline...Made his first-ever start in the Panthers contest after having been inactive for the initial three games of the season, he had an immediate impact, registering 7 tackles in the 17-14 win over Carolina (Sept. 29), including a pair of stops for loss...Dropped Panthers RB Dee Brown for a one-yard loss at the Packers' 12-yard line in the final two minutes, with Carolina driving for the potential game-tying or winning points...Contributed 1 tackle and 2 QB hits in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7)...Matched his season best with 7 stops at New England (Oct. 13), including a shared sack of Tom Brady (with Cletidus Hunt); also registered 1 pressure and 2 QB hits against the defending Super Bowl champions...Again equaled his season best with 7 tackles against Washington (Oct. 20)...Contributed 1 stop and 1 pass defended vs. Miami (Nov. 4), returning to a reserve role...Turned in 1 tackle, 1 pressure and 1 QB hit against Detroit (Nov. 10) as he took over for Holliday in the starting lineup...Also was inactive for game at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24), then played as a reserve against Chicago (Dec. 1)...Batted down a Daunte Culpepper pass vs. Minnesota (Dec. 8)...Picked up a pair of assists at San Francisco (Dec. 15)...Made 1 solo stop in postseason meeting with Atlanta (Jan. 4)...The Packers' first of two selections in the fifth round (156th overall) with a choice obtained in Green Bay's draft-day trade with Seattle to move up eight spots in the first round.

side... "He's going to bring great competition to the linebacker position in camp," Duffner says. "We have a wide-open situation at linebacker. You never know. That's going to be shaped when we put our pads on. He'll be right in the thick of things based on his attitude and preparation skills. He's anxious as the devil to play. He's anxious to be more productive and more of a contributor, that's for sure."...NFL debut with Packers last season came after two years of pure perseverance...Unconventional road began after standout collegiate career, when he signed as a non-drafted free agent with Carolina...Released by the Panthers before training camp, worked for the U.S. Postal Service during the 2000 NFL season...Exchanged his postal blues for an eccentric Memphis Maniax uniform and played during spring '01 in the short-lived XFL...Originally signed with the Packers in April of 2001, but was waived just days into Green Bay's training camp, then cut again by Seattle one month later...Sat out for another four months, getting only one tryout — a return to Green Bay — before re-signing with the Packers and spending the last few weeks of 2001 on the team's practice squad...Jumped at the chance to represent the Packers in NFL Europe the following summer, and excelled...Led the Amsterdam Admirals with 50 tackles in 2002, then returned to Green Bay, embarking on a third NFL training camp, only to find his name listed last on the Packers' depth chart...Nonetheless, fought through the preseason, beat out veteran competition, and — after stints with five pro teams in three leagues — earned a spot on an NFL opening-day roster...Obviously, his work ethic is evident in the obstacles he's overcome, but his constant willingness to improve his game separates him, too... "That's the first thing that stands out — is his work ethic," Duffner says. "Just this spring, in the weight room, he's noticeably improved his strength and athletic-movement skills. He's a bright guy who understands his alignment assignments and adjustments. He's a very effort-filled guy. His strengths are his intelligence, work ethic and improved size and speed."...In addition to his team-leading special-teams contributions, versatile defender filled in at all three linebacker spots in 2002...And, despite starting 10 games in Europe, and getting only a month-long break before training camp, played in all 21 Packers games (including preseason and playoffs).

Longwell in 2003

On the team's all-time list:

- Needs 37 points to surpass No. 3 Paul Hornung (760), 97 to surpass No. 2 Chris Jacke (820), and 100 to become the Packers' all-time leading scorer, surpassing Don Hutson (823, at right). Longwell enters 2003 with 724 points.
- Needs 15 field goals to surpass No. 1 Chris Jacke (173). Longwell enters 2003 with 159.
- Can match Don Hutson's franchise record (1939-45) by leading the team in scoring for a seventh consecutive season.
- With a point in the team's first four games, would score in a 100th consecutive contest, extending his franchise record. Would need to continue the streak into 2006 to near the all-time leaders.
- Needs 55 PAT to surpass No. 1 Chris Jacke (301). Longwell enters 2003 with 247.

- Enters 2003 having converted 54 straight PAT, needs to hit his first 21 attempts to surpass the No. 5 streak (74, Al Del Greco), 34 to surpass the No. 4 streak (87, Chris Jacke), 46 to surpass the No. 3 streak (99, Paul Hornung) and 51 to surpass his own No. 2 streak (101).

Also...

- Needs four games to reach 100 career (played consecutively).

LUCHEY

One-of-a-kind fullback, signed by the Packers as a free agent during the offseason after spending his first four years in the league with Cincinnati...Possesses tremendous agility and change of direction skills for a man of his size...Versatile, has measurable NFL experience at tailback, tight end and H-back, in addition to his primary position of fullback — talents that may be called upon in Green Bay...“Nick is a unique talent at the fullback position,” says Sylvester Croom, coach of the Packers’ running backs. “He has more size than the normal fullback at 265, 270 pounds — basically, he is the size of a tight end or an offensive PRO CAREER lineman. But at that size he has the type of agility and change of direction that you would find in a tailback. Plus, he has very good hands. He’s sort of a tight end-fullback-tailback combination type guy.”...Of his nine career starts in the NFL, three have come at tight end (2002), two at H-back (2001) and four at fullback (2000)...Entered the league in 1999 as a fifth-round draft choice of the Bengals, working his way into the lineup at fullback by midway through his second season after a year-and-a-half of special teams contributions...Was forced to miss the majority of the 2001 campaign after suffering an offseason knee injury...Returned to near full health last year, demonstrating tailback skills late in the 2002 season when injuries hit the Bengals at that position...“I would not try and tell you that Nick runs like a halfback,” Croom continues, “but he does have very good change of direction for a big man. He can, and has played the tailback position in NFL games, and played it very well. He can catch the football, which is a big part of our offense as far as our fullback. I think he can give defenders a problem after the catch as far as the ability to tackle him in that he can run over guys and also make guys miss, which is a tough combination when you weigh what he weighs. The other thing is that he’s physical enough to block defensive ends in pass protection or even for that matter line up, possibly, at the tight end position, which he did in Cincinnati as well. He allows so much flexibility, particularly in a backup role, and gives us depth at other positions.”...Signed with Green Bay as an unrestricted free agent this past March 11...Carried 32 times for 143 yards (4.5 avg.) and 2 touchdowns in his four seasons with Cincinnati (1999-2002)...Also made 24 receptions for 226 yards and returned 13 kickoffs for 161 yards...Previously had been a valued player at the University of Miami (Fla.) as the Hurricanes twice were Big East co-champions during his career (1995-96)...Served as the primary lead blocker in 1998 for Edgerrin James, who set a school single-season record with 1,416 yards rushing that year before becoming the fourth overall choice in the NFL Draft the following April by the Indianapolis Colts.

2002 SEASON In his final year with Cincinnati, played in all 16 games for the first time as a pro...Made three late-season starts as a second tight end...Filled a multiple role for the Bengals, seeing action at fullback, running back, H-back and tight end...Also led Cincinnati in special teams snaps with 216...Was pressed into late-game service at running back vs. New Orleans (Dec. 22) when Corey Dillon (elbow/thigh) and Brandon Bennett (ribs) were sidelined by injury...Though he had entered the Saints contest without a rushing attempt in the Bengals’ last 30 games, spurred fourth-quarter comeback victory with a career-high 59 yards rushing and 2 touchdowns (the first of his NFL career) on 12 carries in the final period...Ran for TDs of 1 and 3 yards to key 20-13 win over New Orleans, helping Cincinnati overcome a 13-7 deficit...Totaled 7 receptions for 46 yards, including a season-high 2 catches at Baltimore (Nov. 10)...Also returned 3 kickoffs for 40 yards and recorded 3 special teams tackles over the course of the year...Was in the starting lineup at tight end vs. Cleveland (Nov. 17), at Pittsburgh (Nov. 24) and against Baltimore (Dec. 1).

2001 Missed the majority of the year while rehabilitating an offseason knee injury...Played in four December contests, starting twice at H-back, before he was inactive for the final two games due to a calf strain...Did not have a rushing attempt or a pass reception during his limited action...Had torn the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee during the Bengals’ May mini-camp (May 6), necessitating May 24 surgery...Initially was placed on the physically unable to perform list on July 20, where he remained until late

Logo history

1950-53: In their first season after Curly Lambeau's 31-year reign, the "New Packers" introduce their first identifying mark; the logo is also present on 1950 stock certificates.

It changes colors over the four years, as the team experiments with several uniform combinations.

1954-61: Looking for a fresh look with new coach Lisle Blackbourn, the team unveils new uniforms and a new mark. The logo locates both Green Bay and Milwaukee on a Wisconsin silhouette. The passer wears No. 41, worn two decades earlier by both Arnie Herber and Clarke Hinkle.

1959-74: Sideline logo, worn on hats, shirts and jackets by coaches, equipment managers and trainers at both games and practice. Coincided with Vince Lombardi's first season, then retained by Phil Bengtson and Dan Devine.

1961-69: The primary logo during the Lombardi era, used on official Packers stationery and publications. The team won five world championships under the mark. Before the '69 season, after Lombardi's departure to Washington, team letterhead shifts to a helmet logo. The mark still sees use into the '70s, though.

1961-present: First and only helmet logo in team history, designed for Lombardi by equipment manager Dad Braisher and first applied to Packers headgear in 1961.

After introducing the G, the team immediately won two world titles (1961-62), and five over the mark's first seven years. Borrowed by scores of schools, college and high school.

1993: Commemorative logo, worn on jersey during '93 season, signifying the team's 75th professional season, since its birth in 1919. Wearing logo, team earned first playoff berth in 11 years, kicking off string of six straight postseason trips.

2003: Patch team to wear for first two home games to commemorate rededication of Lambeau Field, following three-year, $295 million renovation.

the '96 season...Ran for a career-best 27 yards in 1996 game against The Citadel...Majored in liberal arts.

The halftime edge

WHEN LEADING AT HALFTIME: Entering Week 12 of the 2002 season, at Tampa Bay, the Packers held a 20-game winning streak — longest in the league at the time — in games with a halftime lead. However, Green Bay couldn't hold a 7-3 halftime advantage in a heated 21-7 loss to the eventual Super Bowl champions. The Packers are still 23-2 under Mike Sherman with a lead at intermission.

ON THE TUNDRA: At Lambeau, the last time Green Bay lost a game it led at the half was Dec. 12, 1999, to Carolina. Under Sherman, the Packers are 15-0 in Green Bay in such instances.

BEHIND AT THE HALF: On Dec. 15, 2002, at San Francisco, the Packers erased a halftime deficit to win on the road for only the sixth time since 1992. Three of those six road games (also 9/30/01 at Carolina and 12/3/01 at Jacksonville) have come in the last two seasons. Overall in 2002, the Packers won four of the seven games they trailed at half, including a 3-0 home mark.

HALFTIME ADJUSTMENTS: Over the last two seasons, the Packers' offense has proven itself the NFC's best at executing half-time adjustments. In '02, the team posted five touchdowns on initial second-half drives, tied for fourth in the NFL behind Denver (7), New England (6) and Minnesota (6). However, since 2001, no NFC team has scored more touchdowns out of the locker room than Green Bay (9). In its 2002 playoff game vs. Atlanta, the team also drove for a touchdown to begin the second half.

Mike
McKENZIE

An old-school cornerback with new-wave style, the dreadlocked Floridian oozes quiet confidence and intensity in his weekly, hand-to-hand combat with the game's best receivers...In describing his playing style, 'physical' is spelled with all eight letters capitalized...Has put together a pair of strong seasons the past two years, building on an impressive all-rookie campaign in 1999 that was followed by an injury-plagued season the next year...Continues to be earmarked as one of the National Football League's top young cornerbacks, demonstrating further improvement each season as a pro... "Mike is a physical, challenging, athletic, tough, emotional, flashy playmaker," says Green Bay defensive backs coach Bob Slowik, who certainly is not adjective-deprived when it comes to describing McKenzie. "He is the guy who kind of leads the way for our corners as far as being physical - not only against the pass, but in the run game. He is just a physical, physical player. I mean, he is a hitter as a corner, when you talk about corners in the league - not just a tackler, he is a hitter. And his playmaking, like the acrobatic interception he had last year at Detroit, continues to be something that is eye-popping at times. I think he's gotten better each year. The playmaking aspect of his game has stayed the same - he's always been a playmaker and continues to be a playmaker. The thing that he's continuing to grow with is his knowledge of the game and his technique. I think he's starting to understand that technique really is the trademark of his profession. I think he's pretty close to having the whole package. If he just keeps doing what he's been doing, he's not far away from being just about anything you would want, especially if he can develop into a very consistent player..." Received league-wide notice for the big plays he made late in the 2001 season, particularly in the Packers' Wild Card playoff contest against San Francisco...Also was rewarded with a lucrative contract extension right around that time, signing a new deal on Jan. 7, 2002, that portends to keep him in Green Bay through the 2006 season...Had seemed to re-find his stride as a player in '01, recording a career-high 21 passes defended, after a sophomore season that was marred by a pair of knee injuries that kept him out of six games... "He seems like a guy that teams try to throw to for whatever reason," adds Slowik, "and teams regret it in the end. He seems to get a lot of action and always responds to it..." The Packers' third-round pick in 1999 (the team's third defensive back selected), he established himself as a playmaker early in training camp that year, staked claim to a starting cornerback spot by beating out incumbent Craig Newsome and fellow draft picks Antuan Edwards and Fred Vinson (both of whom were slowed by injuries), and went on to lead Green Bay in both interceptions and passes defended, earning all-rookie honors in the process.

PRO CAREER

Led the Packers in passes defended with 15, despite missing three October games, in his fourth straight season as Green Bay's starting left cornerback...Also intercepted 2 passes, made 64 tackles (sixth on team), including 1 sack, and recovered 1 fumble...Started 13 regular-season games, plus playoff contest with Atlanta, he was inactive for two games and did not play in the other...Matched his career high with 9 tackles against Buffalo (Dec. 22) while also helping to keep the NFL's top wide receiver tandem of '02, Eric Moulds and Peerless Price (194 combined catches), relatively in check, in part through 2 pass breakups...Had an interception in consecutive weeks early in the year...Picked off the Saints' Aaron Brooks at New Orleans (Sept. 15) among a season-best 3 passes defended...Then intercepted Detroit's Joey Harrington through blanket coverage of WR Az-Zahir Hakim, tipping the ball into the air and juggling it enough to keep it airborne before he could pull it in along the right sideline at the Lions' 41-yard line; the turnover led to the Packers' final touchdown and a 31-17 lead in the eventual 37-31 victory at Detroit in the Ford Field opener (Sept. 22)...Knocked down a pair of passes in rematch with the Lions in Lambeau (Nov. 10), as he also had done in a Week 4 win over Carolina (Sept. 29)...Limited the Vikings' Randy Moss to just 3 receptions (for 25 yards) - and none after the first quarter - in 26-22, come-from-behind win over Minnesota (Dec. 8)...Recorded his first NFL sack when he dropped Buccaneers backup QB Rob Johnson at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24)...Began the season by recovering a Willie Jackson fumble in Packers territory, along with recording 7 tackles, in opening-day victory over Atlanta (Sept. 8)...Also posted 7 stops in games against Miami (Nov. 4) and at Minnesota (Nov. 17)...Did not play in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7) after aggravating an existing groin injury during pre-game warm-ups...Subsequently was inactive for contests at New England (Oct. 13) and vs. Washington (Oct. 20) before returning to the lineup for Monday night matchup with the Dolphins.

Passing defense, 2002

The Packers' passing defense (186.7 yards per game) last season ranked third in the NFL, the club's highest ranking since leading the league in 1996, and second-highest since 1968. In '02, only the Bucs (50.4) allowed a lower completion percentage than Green Bay (54.0).

The Packers' 24 interceptions tied the Falcons for third in the NFL, behind Tampa Bay (31) and Baltimore (25). What's more, 11 players picked off passes in 2002, more than any Packers team since 1989 (13).

McKENZIE

2001 Opened at left cornerback in all 16 games for the second time in his first three seasons (also 1999)...Finished seventh on the team with 70 tackles (60 solo), plus 2 interceptions and a career-high 21 passes defended (one short of the team lead)...Also started both playoff games, tying for the team lead in pass breakups with 3, while also making 5 tackles...Named to the 'All-Madden Team' of then-Fox Sports analyst John Madden...Biggest game of year came in NFC Wild Card matchup vs. 49ers, turning in the two best defensive plays in 25-15 win...With just over five minutes remaining, Green Bay clinging to an 18-15 lead and Niners Pro Bowl receiver Terrell Owens running open down the right sideline, he made up ground to deflect the ball to teammate Tyrone Williams for an interception, negating an apparent would-be TD and helping to ensure that the Packers would hold on for the win...Earlier in the final period, soared high to knock down an end-zone pass to Owens...Was a key element in limiting Owens to only 40 yards receiving — his second-lowest output of the 2001 season — on 4 catches...Helped nail down 24-13 victory against Minnesota (Dec. 30) with a 38-yard interception return touchdown (his first in the NFL), picking off the Vikings' Spergon Wynn, among 3 pass breakups, with 5:25 remaining for Green Bay's final points; also played a big part in holding Minnesota's celebrated receiving duo of Moss and Cris Carter to a combined 3 catches, contributing 5 tackles in the process...Had registered his first interception of the year in win over Baltimore (Oct. 14), stepping in front of an Elvis Grbac throw just before halftime, in addition to contributing 4 tackles...Broke up 2 passes and posted 3 stops at Minnesota (Oct. 21)...Also registered 2 passes defended in rematch victory over Tampa Bay (Nov. 4), helping to shut down the Bucs' Keyshawn Johnson, he additionally made a key, open-field tackle of Mike Alstott late in the game to help get the ball back for Allen Rossum's game-winning, 55-yard punt return...Matched his career high with 4 passes defended, along with 4 stops, in triumph at Chicago (Nov. 11)...Knocked down 3 more passes the following week against Atlanta (Nov. 18), along with making 4 tackles...Also batted down 3 balls, in addition to recording 3 stops, in Thanksgiving Day win at Detroit (Nov. 22)...Made a season-high 7 tackles in rematch victory over Chicago (Dec. 9), equaling that total with 7 stops against Cleveland (Dec. 23); he also threw a tough block on Browns OL Jeremy McKinney during Williams' second interception return.

2000 Was the Packers' starter at left cornerback for the second consecutive year, but a pair of knee injuries limited him to 10 games, with eight starts, and handicapped his effort to reprise his 1999, all-rookie form...Was inactive for the other six contests...Finished with 8 passes defended, including 1 interception, and made 34 tackles (32 solo)...Was playing well in opener against the N.Y. Jets (Sept. 3), making a season-high 6 tackles, before suffering a lateral cartilage tear in his left knee...Subsequent arthroscopic surgery was performed on Sept. 6, forcing him to be inactive for the following five games...Returned to play in the Packers' 'nickel' package vs. San Francisco (Oct. 15), registering 1 pass defended...Was back at his starting left corner spot the following game in his hometown of Miami (Oct. 29), contributing 3 tackles...Enjoyed a breakout game in Monday night victory over Minnesota (Nov. 6), intercepting a Daunte Culpepper throw among 4 passes defended (tying his career high), along with posting 3 tackles...Suffered misfortune in the following week's contest vs. Tampa Bay (Nov. 12), incurring a lateral sprain of his left knee early in the game...Inactive the next week vs. Indianapolis (Nov. 19), he returned in a reserve capacity at Carolina (Nov. 27), breaking up a pass...Matched his season high with 6 tackles, plus a pass defended, at Chicago (Dec. 3)...Again hit the 6-tackle mark in season finale vs. Tampa Bay (Dec. 24).

1999 Started all 16 games at left cornerback for the Packers...Led club with 6 interceptions — becoming the first rookie to lead Green Bay in interceptions outright since Tom Flynn paced the team alone in 1984 with 9 — and 18 passes defended, one shy of the club rookie record of 19 (set by Newsome in 1995)...Tied for seventh on the team with 65 tackles (53 solo)...Garnered all-rookie honors from Football News and Football Digest...Made a splash in his first NFL contest, the season opener vs. Oakland (Sept. 12), picking off a Rich Gannon throw to James Jett in the end zone, recovering nicely on a play that he originally appeared to have been beaten...Established his career high with 9 tackles in Raiders game...Had a memorable day in season finale with Arizona (Jan. 2), enjoying career highs in both interceptions (2) and passes defended (4—since tied) in 49-24 win over the Cardinals...Both interceptions of Jake Plummer came at crucial moments — the first, early in the second quarter, led to a Packers touchdown, and the second, occurring midway through the fourth period, was at Green Bay's 1-yard line and shut down an Arizona drive that had reached the Packers' 23...Added 8 tackles in Cardinals contest...Earlier in the season, forced a similar fate on a Chargers drive, picking off an Erik Kramer throw in the end zone — among 2 passes defended — in a 31-3 victory at San Diego (Oct. 24); he also notched 8 tackles in the game, tying for the team lead...Recorded 2 passes defended in two other contests, at Detroit (Sept. 19) and at Minnesota (Dec. 20)...Notched a theft of a Jim Miller pass deep in Bears territory vs. Chicago (Nov. 7)...Led club with 7 tackles, to go with 1 pass defended, in rematch victory over the Lions (Nov. 21)...Chased down 49ers RB Charlie Garner from the opposite side of the field to make a touchdown-saving stop in Monday night win at San Francisco (Nov. 29)...Again picked off a Bears' quarterback, this time Shane Matthews, in 35-19 rematch victory at Chicago (Dec. 5)...Collided with teammate Jude Waddy vs. Carolina (Dec. 12) and suffered painful hip injury that forced him to miss much of the second half...Started the following week at Minnesota (Dec. 20) and played through the injury for the final three games...Was the first of two third-round draft choices (87th overall) by Green Bay in 1999.

COLLEGE Was a three-year letter winner (1996-98) at the University of Memphis, where he started the final two-and-a-half years...Had been red-shirted in 1995...A first-team All-Conference USA selection as a sophomore and junior, played in 32 straight games for the Tigers, with 26 consecutive starts...Finished career with 206 tackles, including 151 solo and 8 for loss, with 6 interceptions and 20 passes defended...Also a fine special teams performer, added 28 tackles (22 solo), 2 fumble recoveries and 1 forced fumble in coverage duties...Started 10 games for the Tigers in 1998 — the first two at free safety and the final eight at cornerback — when he was an honorable mention All-America selection by Football News...The team's second-leading tackler in '98, he finished with 80 stops (65 solo), plus 1 interception, 6 passes defended and 1 forced fumble...Started at free safety in the Tigers' first two contests, vs. Mississippi State and at Minnesota, before depth concerns at the cornerback position caused him to move back outside and play corner for the last eight games...In 1997, started all 11 games at cornerback and earned first-team all-conference recognition...Played in all 11 contests in 1996, starting the last five games at cornerback...Named to the Conference USA All-Freshman Team...Made an impact in his first start for the Tigers, recording a career-high 12 tackles and his initial collegiate interception in contest with Southern Mississippi, his theft killing a Golden Eagles drive in the end zone...Spent brief time as a wide receiver on the scout team during his '95 redshirt year...Majored in business management.

In Green Bay, where the local time is always 1963, the citizens worship their Packers with religious fervor, and Lambeau Field is their ageless cathedral. The benches are aluminum, the grass (when not iced over) is resplendent, and the fans are rabid but realistic without being rude. No wonder Packers players leap into the stands after scoring touchdowns. On a truly cold day you can feel the spirit of Vince Lombardi — even if you can't feel your toes.

 NALL

Tall, sharp signal-caller with big hands and good arm strength...After outstanding spring in NFL Europe, enters camp in duel with incumbent veteran Doug Pederson for highly scrutinized No. 2 job behind Brett Favre...In 2002, lived the life of a third quarterback in the long shadow of a future Hall of Famer who never misses a start...Suited up for every game but never got realistic chance of seeing action, not even a kneel down, and few snaps in practice...But this spring, as the Scottish Claymores' starter, received what every third quarterback covets... "He has experience now — professional game experience," Green Bay quarterbacks coach Darrell Bevell says. "That's what he has now that he didn't have before he left..." Not only received priceless experience, but also excelled...The league leader with a 95.9 passer rating, was named as the quarterback of the All-NFLEL team, voted for by a combination of NFLEL coaching staffs, media and fans voting online...With that priceless experience in tow, enters second NFL season, looking to turn more heads...But with every moment of success he enjoys this preseason, with every retirement question posed to Favre and his coaches, the questions about Craig Nall will surely increase... "I'm not comfortable having anyone replace Brett Favre," Bevell says, "and I hope that time doesn't come for a long while. Just like any quarterback here, Craig's going to have to compete, and make himself the best he can be. In time, he may be in a position to assume Brett's role, but whether it's Craig Nall or some other quarterback who's under center the day Brett's not there — whoever that player is — that player will never replace Brett Favre."...The Packers have been preparing for that day at least since Nall's 23rd birthday, when they drafted him out of Northwestern (La.) State...They sent him to Europe to gauge their initial reports on his ability and see him drive a professional team down the field, and specifically to improve his precision... "He really improved his accuracy, especially over the last three weeks," Bevell says...NFLEL marked his first non-exhibition playing time since college...The epitome of a sleeper, was rarely the subject of scouts' conversations in the fall of 2001, and drew noticeable draft interest from only two other teams — the Giants and Redskins — simply because he played only one full collegiate season (also not invited to any postseason all-star games, or the pre-draft combine)...Spent first four collegiate years (including redshirt season) in quarterback logjam at Louisiana State before transferring to Northwestern (La.) State for 2001 campaign...Move put him less than 150 miles from the home of Packers scout Alonzo Highsmith, who saw five 2001 NSU games, then convinced Green Bay at February meetings to "have a look at this kid"...Getting his first impression of Nall on film only months before the draft, offensive coordinator Tom Rossley immediately recognized his quick release and footwork... "The first thing you notice is there's no wasted throwing motion," he said after drafting Nall last year...Then, in mid-April, Rossley took some crisp, new footballs and traveled to see him, judge his arm strength (very difficult to evaluate on film) and, ultimately, to confirm Nall would fit into the Packers' system...Video of workout sold Green Bay's personnel staff, including GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman, who'd helped to recruit Nall out of high school in '96, when Sherman coached at Texas A&M...Physically, Rossley pointed out he's durable, virtually the same size as Favre, and like Favre, has large hands, ideal for gripping the ball in cold-weather games...Only major drawback was his lack of playing time in college.

- The quarterback on the all-NFL Europe League team, paced his counterparts in touchdown passes (18) and passer rating (95.9).
- Packers' third quarterback for every game of 2002 season.
- Selected by Green Bay on 23rd birthday in 2002 draft.
- Turned down Steve Spurrier, who didn't recruit Louisiana, but offered Nall full scholarship, only a few days after first watching him at the coach's University of Florida high school camp.
- Excelled in javelin competition, at both LSU and Northwestern (La.) State, as well as in high school.
- Name is pronounced NAHL.

NFL EUROPE

Started all 10 games for the Scottish Claymores...Guiding a league-leading offense, paced all quarterbacks in touchdown passes (18) and passer rating (95.9)...Completed 58.5 percent of his passes (151 of 258) and threw 7 interceptions, but had only 1 pick in the final four games, a span in which the Claymores were 4-0...In Week 8 against the Amsterdam Admirals (May 24), completed 22 of 31 passes for 313 yards and three touchdowns to win NFLEL 'Offensive Player of the Week' honors...In Week 9, had a perfect 158.3 quarterback rating against the Barcelona Dragons (May 31), completing 14 of 16 passes for 207 yards and 2 TDs...Scotland finished in a three-way tie for the league's best record, but trailed the Frankfurt Galaxy and Rhein Fire in both tiebreakers.

2002 SEASON

Served as the Packers' No. 3 quarterback...Was inactive for all 16 regular-season games as well as playoff contest with Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Had finished the preseason with a flourish after early accuracy troubles, ending non-league play with an 80.8 passer rating (20 of 45 for 290 yards and 2 TDs — with no interceptions)...Orchestrated the Packers' game-winning drive in the preseason finale vs. Tennessee (Aug. 30)...Became Green Bay's first drafted rookie QB on an Opening Day roster since Aaron Brooks in 1999...Drafted as the Packers' second of two picks in the fifth round (164th overall and 10th quarterback).

COLLEGE

Started only season at Northwestern (La.) State (2001), after transferring from Louisiana State...Littered three times at LSU (1998-2000) after redshirting in 1997...Most memorable collegiate contest came as redshirt freshman late in '98; came off bench without warning at Notre Dame and led Tigers on fierce comeback bid, in losing cause...Two starts at LSU were in bookend fashion, the last game on '98 schedule and first contest on '99 slate...However, that '99 opener, which came after he beat out two teammates in heated preseason competition, was first step toward eventual transfer to NSU...Bench at halftime, didn't start another LSU game, falling quickly behind Josh Booty (now with Cleveland), a more popular Louisiana product...Kept level head, and even volunteered to play receiver when injuries depleted position...Last run of LSU bad luck came, ironically, before game at Florida against Steve Spurrier, who had offered him a scholarship in high school; holding for placements in pregame, fielded low snap and kicker's foot broke his thumb, ending 2000 campaign...Frustrated, feeling he was as good as some of the other top collegiate QBs, outlook spiked after that season, when he transferred to Northwestern State...Beat out returning Demons starter and finally got first significant playing time...Answered by establishing single-season school passing record, leading NSU to Division I-AA playoffs and earning Southland Conference 'Newcomer of the Year' honors...Based in part to a microscopic interception percentage, the Packers rated Nall as a fourth-rounder, in the group below first-rounders David Carr and Joey Harrington...Earned B.A. degree in general studies.

PERSONAL Given name Craig Matthew Nall...Single...One of several Northwestern (La.) State products currently in NFL...Packers strength coach Barry Rubin is one of two former NSU players now in NFL coaching ranks (also Falcons' Bill Johnson)...Other former Demons include Rubin's teammates: QB Bobby Hebert, RB Joe Delaney and WR Mark Duper; as well as TE Jackie Smith, LB Gary Reasons and RB John Stephens...Threw for 5,038 yards and 38 TDs at Alexandria (La.) Senior High School...Named to Atlanta Journal-Constitution 'Super Southern 100,' Baton Rouge Advocate 'Super Dozen '97,' and New Orleans Times-Picayune Top 20 Blue Chip List...Considered after his senior year the best high school quarterback from Louisiana, a state that's produced several NFL QBs, turned down several national powers to attend LSU...Made official recruiting visit to University of Florida (turned down spot scholarship offer from Spurrier, who didn't recruit Nall's home state and never saw prep game film)...Nationally ranked as prep javelin thrower, also lettered three years in baseball (pitched, and played everything but catcher and center field, honorable mention all-conference utility player as senior)...Like Patrick Ramsey (Redskins), also threw javelin in college; finished 14th for NSU at 2001 NCAA Championships, after taking second at '01 Southland Conference meet (227-11)...At LSU, finished 16th in javelin at 2000 NCAA Championships...Personal best was 229-6, good for third at the 2000 Southeastern Conference Championships...As high school senior, posted the nation's fourth-longest throw, and won state...Competed against fellow Packers draftee Javon Walker in two high school sports as a senior, losing out on the football end to Walker's St. Thomas More High School, before being on the winning end in spring baseball contest...Youngest of four children (two brothers, sister)...Since high school, has worked with students of his mother, Susie, at the Louisiana Special Education Center...Also involved in Fellowship of Christian Athletes at NSU...Father, Malcolm, played linebacker at Northwestern (La.) State, before transferring to Louisiana College after freshman season...Uncle, Herman Nall, lettered four years at RB for Southern Mississippi and signed with the St. Louis Cardinals...Most memorable non-football experiences from Europe this spring were playing the Old Course at St. Andrew's, visiting the Berlin Wall, and relaxing on a Barcelona beach...Life's ambition is to repay debts to parents...Joined a group of Packers players and coaches in serving lunch to students at a local elementary school last fall...Enjoys fishing, hunting, water skiing and the internet...Interested in owning contracting business after NFL career (was construction management major at LSU before transfer; has worked as an assistant electrician)...Also has worked for an industrial vacuum service, making pitches to corporate clients...Born in Alexandria, La. ...Residence: Woodworth, La.

The NFL's third-quarterback rule

Provided that a club has two quarterbacks on its 45-player Active List, a third quarterback from its Inactive List is permitted to dress for the game, but if he enters the game during the first three quarters, the other two quarterbacks are thereafter prohibited from playing.

Teams can insert any of their three quarterbacks at any time, regardless of injury or depth-chart order (first string, second string, etc.). However, if the deactivated quarterback, i.e., the 46th player, enters in the first three quarters, neither of the other two quarterbacks can return to the game. If the deactivated quarterback enters in the fourth quarter or overtime, the other two quarterbacks can return.

Hannibal NAVIES

Versatile young linebacker who possesses the skills, size and speed to play at any of the three spots...Looks to crack the Packers' starting lineup, depleted by the off-season departures of Nate Wayne and Hardy Nickerson...Was signed by Green Bay this past March 19 as an unrestricted free agent after spending his first four NFL seasons with the Carolina Panthers...Started at weak-side linebacker for Carolina last season after beginning the 2001 campaign as the Panthers' starter on the strong side..."I like Hannibal's athleticism," says Mark Duffner, Green Bay's new linebackers coach. "He has real good quickness, short-area burst, shows agility, shows the movement skills that we think are necessary in a linebacker. He also has pretty good instincts. He's got a lot of background at the 'Will' (weak side) linebacker position, but initially we plan to train him to be our strong-side linebacker and he'll even get some snaps at middle linebacker. Honestly, he could line up at any of the three spots. As far as covering the tight end, which he'd be asked to do on the strong side, I don't see that as being a liability for him. Hannibal was an exceptional track athlete in high school — he can really run..."Played in 39 career games for Carolina (15 starts), totaling 98 tackles (64 solo), including 2 sacks and 1 forced fumble...Also had 1 fumble recovery, 1 interception, 1 pass defended and 10 special teams stops for the Panthers...Had entered the league as a fourth-round pick of Carolina in 1999 after a standout career at the University of Colorado.

ON THE ROAD: The Packers got off to a great start despite playing four of their first six away from Lambeau. After Week 6, the Packers were 3-1 on the road, having played more road contests than all but one other team (New Orleans, also four). The Packers won three of their first four road games for only the third time over the past 30 years (also 1987 and 1996). Green Bay won 10 of 14 road games from Dec. 3, 2000, to Oct. 13, 2002.

Adversity at every turn

The '02 Packers tied for the league's best record, despite one of the most injury-plagued seasons in NFL history.

GAMES LOST DUE TO INJURY: Including Mike Flanagan, whose broken thumb limited him to brief special-teams action over the first three games, 15 starters (14 positions) missed 63 combined games due to injury (67 including the playoff game). In 2001, only six starters (six positions) missed 24 combined contests (28 including playoffs).

LINEUP CHANGES DUE TO INJURY: Injury forced starters from the Packers' lineup 71 times (15 starters, 14 positions). Three players — Mark Tauscher, Earl Dotson and undrafted rookie Kevin Barry — started at right tackle. Injuries in 2001 forced the Packers to change starters at only six positions, and at 10 positions in 2000. Since Mike Sherman arrived, injury has failed to affect the lineup at just four positions: quarterback (Brett Favre 2000-02), left guard (Ross Verba 2000, Mike Wahle 2001-02), right guard (Marco Rivera 2000-02) and middle linebacker (Bernardo Harris 2000-01, Hardy Nickerson 2002).

THE REPLACEMENTS: Packers starters went down on a weekly basis. Their replacements were the team's collective MVP in 2002, although they posed a significant drain to the Packers' special teams. Injury forced all but two full-time starters — LG Mike Wahle and MLB Hardy Nickerson — to miss practice time. At right is a game-by-game look at injuries that robbed starters of key playing time.

also may be used as an inside rusher on some downs.... "Chukie plays fast, he plays hard and he gives great effort," says Jethro Franklin, Green Bay's defensive line coach. "We feel fortunate to have him, someone who has started in the league and who's had success. This guy has done it before. He just got caught in one of those situations where he got injured and things kind of went by him. Coming off the injury, he feels like he still has a lot to prove. He's versatile — he could play a lot of different places for us. He has some rush ability, plays the run well and will run all over the field."... Had entered the NFL in 1999, when he joined Indianapolis as an undrafted free agent... Was inactive for most of his first two seasons with the Colts (1999-2000), he spent the latter half of the '00 campaign on the Indianapolis practice squad... Made five starts for the Colts in breakout 2001 season while playing in all 16 games... Was limited a year ago by early-season back troubles that never really allowed his personal season to get off the ground under Colts' new coaching staff... Has played in 22 games over his first four NFL seasons, starting five, and has recorded 72 tackles (41 solo), 5 sacks, 1 forced fumble and 3 fumble recoveries... Stayed at "home" for his collegiate career, playing four seasons for Purdue (1995-98) after having attended high school in West Lafayette, Ind. ... By seeing action this year with the Packers, would become only the second Boilermaker to play for Green Bay in the last quarter-century (LB Fred Strickland, 1994-95).

2002 SEASON

Began final Colts campaign on the team's reserve/physically unable to perform list due to an offseason back injury, missing the first eight regular-season games... Activated on Nov. 9, saw his first action of the year the following day at Philadelphia... Also played in the ensuing two contests, vs. Dallas (Nov. 17) and at Denver (Nov. 24), picking up his lone tackle of the year against the Cowboys... Subsequently was inactive for the final six regular-season games plus playoff loss at N.Y. Jets (Jan. 4)... Had been placed on reserve/PUP on Aug. 26, remaining there until he returned to practice on Oct. 31... Re-signed with Indianapolis as a restricted free agent on May 21.

- Is in line to become just the second former Purdue player to suit up for the Packers in the past 25 years, joining LB Fred Strickland (1994-95).
- Has the longest fumble return in Baltimore/Indianapolis Colts history, a 95-yard TD excursion in the opening game of the 2001 season, at the N.Y. Jets.
- Spent nine years of his childhood in Nigeria.
- Pursuing his interest in a post-football career in college sports, he served as an intern in the enforcement department of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) at its Indianapolis headquarters in 2001.
- Name is pronounced CHOO-kee wah-KOR-ee.

2001 Made five starts while playing in all 16 games in the first opportunity for extended on-field action of his NFL career... Recorded 71 tackles (40 solo), including 5 sacks and 1 forced fumble, in addition to recovering 3 opponent fumbles — all career highs... Clinched season-opening victory at N.Y. Jets (Sept. 9) with 95-yard fumble return touchdown in the fourth quarter — the longest returned fumble in Colts history... Had a season-best 8 QB hits at Kansas City (Oct. 25) in his first NFL start, taking the spot of usual starter Brad Sciolli... Also replaced an injured Sciolli (ankle) at LDE in four of the team's last five games... Made a career-high 10 tackles, including sack of Aaron Brooks, in loss at New Orleans (Nov. 18)... Had recorded his initial NFL sack a month earlier vs. Oakland (Oct. 14) when he dropped Rich Gannon... Also sacked the Bills' Rob Johnson (Nov. 4) and the 49ers' Jeff Garcia (Nov. 25) in the second half of the year, then split a pair of sacks in two of the last four games... His half-sack of the Rams' Kurt Warner was part of a 7-tackle performance at St. Louis (Dec. 30)... Had recorded 8 stops a week earlier in rematch with the Jets (Dec. 23)... Posted 4-or-more tackles in nine different contests.

Sack analysis, 2001-02

AS A DEFENSE: Green Bay registered 43 sacks, tied for sixth in the league. The team has established the franchise record for sacks in two consecutive seasons: 95, including the 2001 single-season team record, 52. The 2001-02 teams broke the previous mark of 92 (1997-98 and 1984-85). Green Bay's 95 sacks over the last two seasons ranks third in the NFL, behind Pittsburgh (105) and Philadelphia (101).

AS AN OFFENSE: With an O-line that absorbed the most injuries of any unit, the Packers allowed only 27 sacks, ninth-fewest in the league. The team's 49 sacks allowed the past two seasons represent its fewest in a two-year stretch since 1973-74, when the Packers gave up 44. In the NFL since 2001, only San Francisco and elusive Jeff Garcia have allowed fewer sacks, 48. On first down, the Packers gave up four sacks, least in the NFL.

AS A TEAM: No other NFL club has produced a better sack ratio over the last two seasons:

Club	Sacks	Sk. Allowed	Ratio
Green Bay	95	49	+46
Pittsburgh	105	65	+40
Miami	84	52	+32
San Diego	80	51	+29
Philadelphia	101	76	+25

2000 Saw action in two early-season games, he then spent much of the second half of the year on the Indianapolis practice squad...Played against Oakland (Sept. 10) and at Buffalo (Oct. 1), primarily on special teams, prior to his release on Oct. 24...Was signed to the Colts' practice squad two days later, where he remained for eight weeks until re-joining the active roster on Dec. 22...Was inactive for the final regular-season game plus playoff loss at Miami...Also had been inactive for four other contests early in the year after not playing in the season opener.

1999 Played in one game for Indianapolis as a rookie after making the Colts' 53-man roster as an undrafted free agent...Made NFL debut on Nov. 7 vs. Kansas City...Was inactive for the Colts' other 15 regular-season contests as well as playoff loss to Tennessee...Had signed with Indianapolis on April 26 after he was not drafted.

What to look for from the 2003 Packers

- ▶ WITH 12 WINS: Green Bay would become just the fifth NFL team with 12 wins in three consecutive seasons — a feat only Miami (1983-85), Dallas (1992-95), Denver (1996-98) and San Francisco (1996-98) have accomplished.
- ▶ A PLAYOFF BERTH: Would mark Green Bay's ninth over an 11-year span (1993-2003). The most playoff berths the Packers have achieved over any previous 11-year period is six, from 1960-67. From 1993-2002, only San Francisco (also eight) has as many playoff berths. Miami and Pittsburgh have seven.
- ▶ WITH A .500 RECORD: The Packers would record their 12th consecutive non-losing season, extending the NFC's longest current run. The Dolphins, who've strung together 14 non-losing campaigns, own the league's longest active streak.
- ▶ WITH A 1,000-YARD RUSHER: Green Bay would have five straight seasons with a 1,000-yard back, matching the franchise record. Dorsey Levens (1999) and Ahman Green (2000-02) make up the current streak, behind an offensive line coached each year by Larry Beightol. The 1960-64 teams, led by Jim Taylor's five straight 1,000-yard efforts, represent the only instance in franchise history.
- ▶ THE PACKERS' FOURTH GAME: Will mark the franchise's regular-season league game No. 1,100. Entering 2003, only the Bears (1,130) have played more official NFL contests.

GM/HEAD COACH MIKE SHERMAN:

- ▶ With 12 victories would become one of three coaches in NFL history to win at least 12 games over three straight seasons. Only Denver's Mike Shanahan (1996-98) and Miami's Don Shula (1983-85) have done it.

GILBERT BROWN:

- ▶ Would become just the fourth true defensive lineman to play 10 seasons in a Green Bay uniform (Dave Hanner 13, Ezra Johnson 11, Henry Jordan 11).

DONALD DRIVER:

- ▶ With 1,000 receiving yards, would become just the fourth Packers player with consecutive 1,000-yard seasons, joining Antonio Freeman (1997-99), James Lofton (1980-81, 1983-85) and Sterling Sharpe (1989-90, 1992-94).

BRETT FAVRE:

- ▶ Needs 29 touchdowns to surpass No. 2 Fran Tarkenton (342). Favre enters 2003 with 314 career touchdown passes.
- ▶ Counting all recorded consecutive-starts streaks, needs to start the season's first two games to surpass No. 10 Winston Hill (174, 1963-76) and the first five games to surpass No. 9 Aeneas Williams (177, 1992-2002). Favre enters 2003 having started 173 consecutive games, already the league's longest active streak, and longest ever among quarterbacks.

COLLEGE Was a four-time letterman (1995-98) and one-year starter at Purdue University...Finished Boilermakers career with 88 tackles (47 solo), including 8½ sacks and 23 stops for loss, plus 3 fumble recoveries, 4 forced fumbles and 4 pass breakups...Enjoyed his top collegiate season as a 1997 junior, when he started eight games despite being slowed by an ankle sprain...Posted career highs in total tackles (55), solo tackles (22), tackles for loss (14) and forced fumbles (2) his junior season...Turned in a career-best 9 stops twice during '97, vs. Notre Dame and Ball State...Earned B.S. degree in organizational leadership and supervision.

PERSONAL Given name Chijioke Obinna Nwokorie...Nicknamed 'Chukie'...Born in Tuskegee, Ala. ...Engaged to Jamila Loyd, the couple plans to marry on April 17, 2004...Spent nine years of his childhood in Nigeria...Played only two years

- ▶ Needs three wins to surpass No. 4 Joe Montana (117), and 11 to surpass No. 3 Fran Tarkenton (125). Favre enters 2003 with 115 career wins as a starter.
- ▶ Needs to play in the first 13 games to surpass Forrest Gregg (187) for the longest consecutive-games streak in franchise history. Favre enters 2003 having played in 175 straight.
- ▶ Needs seven games to surpass No. 4 LeRoy Butler (181), 13 to surpass No. 3 Gregg (187) and 16 to surpass No. 2 Ray Nitschke (190) for most career games played in Green Bay. Favre enters '03 with 175 Packers games.
- ▶ With 20 touchdown passes, would match Dan Marino's NFL record for most consecutive seasons with at least 20. Marino did it 10 straight years, from 1983-92.
- ▶ By hitting 62 percent of his passes, should increase his career completion percentage to 62 percent. Should become the only player in NFL history to complete as much as 62 percent of his passes with as many as 6,000 attempts.

BUBBA FRANKS:

- ▶ Could become just the second Packers tight end with three consecutive Pro Bowl selections (Paul Coffman, 1982-84). Franks has started for the NFC each of the last two years. No other Green Bay tight end has started a Pro Bowl game.

KABERE GBAJA-BIAMILA:

- ▶ With 10 sacks, would become the first player in team history with double-digit figures over three consecutive seasons.
- ▶ On Green Bay's all-time sacks list, needs five-and-a-half to surpass No. 6 Vonnie Holliday (32), six to surpass No. 5 Bryce Paup (32½), nine-and-a-half to surpass No. 4 Tony Bennett (36) and 15 to surpass No. 3 Ezra Johnson (41½). He enters 2003 with 27 career sacks.

AHMAN GREEN:

- ▶ On Green Bay's all-time rushing list... Needs 25 yards to surpass No. 6 Gerry Ellis (3,826), 59 to surpass No. 5 Clarke Hinkle (3,860), 136 to surpass No. 4 Dorsey Levens (4,197), 396 to surpass No. 3 Tony Canadeo (4,197) and 1,223 to surpass No. 2 John Brockington. Green enters 2003 with 3,802 yards in Green Bay.

RYAN LONGWELL:

- ▶ On the team's all-time scoring list: Needs 37 points to surpass No. 3 Paul Hornung (760), 97 to surpass No. 2 Chris Jacke, and 100 to become the Packers' all-time leading scorer, surpassing Don Hutson (823). Longwell enters 2003 with 724 points.
- ▶ Needs 15 field goals to surpass No. 1 Chris Jacke (173) for most career FGs made with the Packers. Longwell enters 2003 with 159.

FRANK WINTERS:

- ▶ Would tie Jan Stenerud (17, 1983) as the most experienced NFL player in Packers history.

Green Bay's unique training-camp experience

The Packers are one of only a handful of teams who do not leave their regular-season practice facility during training camp.

But other than practice, the team does use a college setting to eat, sleep and meet together, at St. Norbert College in De Pere, a 10-minute drive from Lambeau Field.

The Packers' 45-year training-camp relationship with St. Norbert, launched in 1958 by head coach Scooter McLean, is the longest in league history. The Vikings (Minnesota State-Mankato, 39 years); Steelers (St. Vincent College, LaTrobe, Pa., 36 years); and N.Y. Jets (Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y., 35 years) are the only other teams with comparable training camp tenures. The Packers' full list of training camp sites, since Curly Lambeau launched the tradition in 1947:

- 1947-49 Rockwood Lodge (Bayshore area, north of Green Bay)
- 1950-53 Grand Rapids, Minn.
- 1954-57 University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point
- 1958-2003 St. Norbert College, De Pere, Wis.

Doug

Some athletes improve and prosper with age...At 35, eleven-year pro Doug Pederson is a prime and pertinent example...The amiable Louisianan, bidding to serve as Brett Favre's primary backup for a fourth consecutive season, appears to have found the proverbial fountain of youth...GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman, impressed with Pederson's verve and mobility, says of No. 18, "I think Doug Pederson played very well in our two mini-camps. For a player his age, his legs are very good and he is very elusive. And he's played very well with this offense — he has made very good decisions. I was very encouraged by what he did."...Reggie McKenzie, the Packers' director of pro personnel, is equally impressed, asserting, "Last season, he played the best I've seen him play to date. He may be 35 but he doesn't look like that when you see him running around. He's a really good athlete."...Pederson has had a long association with the indestructible Favre, the Packers' resident quarterback since 1992...In addition to the past two seasons in the role, he served as No. 4's immediate backup in 1998, in addition to serving as Green Bay's Third Quarterback in the back-to-back Super Bowl years of 1996-97...Impeccably sure-handed, he also has presided as the holder for placekicker Ryan Longwell in 1997-98 and 2001-2002...Pederson's professional upcurve actually began a year earlier, when he came into the 2002 season with a more imposing mini-camp presence...Sherman, patently impressed with a bigger and more "physical" Pederson, was pleased to observe, "He came in stronger than I remember seeing him, and more confident."...Pederson, venturing into the open market, had left the Packers in 1999 to become the starting quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles, moving on to assume the same role with the Cleveland Browns in 2000...Had been Green Bay's No. 2 quarterback in 1998 after two full seasons (1996-97) and part of a third (1995) as the team's No. 3 signal-caller...Earlier had earned the confidence of the Green Bay coaching staff — as well as that of Packers fans — with his outstanding play during the preseason in 1996, '97 and '98, completing a total of 94 of 176 passes for 1,161 yards and 9 touchdowns, with 4 interceptions, over those years in non-league action — a passer rating of 81.7 — while consistently moving his team down the field...Originally signed by the Miami Dolphins in 1991 as an undrafted free agent...Spent one year (1992) on Miami's practice squad, then was a reserve for that club for parts of three seasons (1993-95)...Received the majority of his early playing time in the then-World League, he was with the N.Y./N.J. Knights in 1992 and the Rhein Fire in 1995...An initial highlight of his pro career came in a 1993 contest at Philadelphia, when he entered the game after starter Scott Mitchell went out with a shoulder injury and directed the Dolphins to a 19-14, come-from-behind victory — giving Don Shula his 325th career victory to make him the winningest coach in NFL history...First signed with Green Bay as a free agent late in the 1995 season after injuries hit the quarterback position.

Had the opportunity to play under center in three games at mid-year, as well as in the regular-season finale, while serving as Favre's backup for a fourth year...Also was the holder for all field goal (34) and extra point (44) attempts...Completed 16 of 28 pass attempts for 134 yards and 1 touchdown, with no interceptions, for a 90.5 passer rating over the course of the regular season...Threw his first pass since the 2002 season

(when he started for Cleveland) in victory over Washington (Oct. 20)...Was incomplete with first-half pass attempt following high snap on field goal try in Redskins contest...He later played most of the second half after Favre was sidelined by a sprained knee early in the third quarter...Completed 9 of 15 passes for 78 yards, with no touchdowns and no interceptions (a 73.8 passer rating) against Washington, leading three scoring drives to post 13 points on the scoreboard and turn Green Bay's 17-6 halftime advantage into a 30-9 victory...With the game seemingly in hand, relieved Favre midway through the fourth quarter of 24-10, Monday night win over Miami (Nov. 4), completing 1 of 2 subsequent passes for 1 yard while also being sacked once...Was a perfect 3-for-3 for 12 yards (83.3 rating) in playing the fourth quarter of 40-14 rout of Detroit (Nov. 10)...With the Packers trailing by 25 points, relieved Favre early in the fourth quarter at the N.Y. Jamal REYNOLDS

The Packers discerning faithful, Jethro Franklin is convinced, will be seeing the "real" Jamal Reynolds for the first time during the 2003 NFL season... "He's going to come into the season as healthy as he's ever been...since, you know, the draft," says the Packers' astute defensive line coach, referring to the 2001 NFL selection meeting when the Green and Gold tapped the explosive Florida State All-American with the 10th pick in the first round... "He had surgery (on his left knee, in January of 2002)," Franklin pointed out, adding, "You know, he hobbled on it for a year before he had the surgery. And he's going to have more confidence. He finished up (last season) fairly well, and he's picked up where he left off. He'll be a lot more healed up and I think we'll see a good player there...I still say he's a good pass rusher...He has a knack of staying on his feet — almost catlike. You don't see him on the ground very often...So that's always good — you can't make plays on the ground....Has now played in 13 career games with the Packers, posting 13 tackles (9 solo), including 3 sacks, plus 2 fumble recoveries and 2 forced fumbles...Had arthroscopic surgery on January 28, 2002, to address a cartilage condition aggravated during the 2001 training camp.

Finished strong for the second straight year after being hampered during training camp and the first half of the season by the residual effects of January surgery on his left knee...Played in seven games, plus playoff meeting with Atlanta (Jan. 4), as a reserve...Was inactive for the other nine regular-season contests...Recorded 9 tackles, including 1 sack, plus 2 fumble recoveries...Also posted 1 special teams stop...Saw brief action in season-opening victory over Atlanta (Sept. 8), picking up 1 tackle when he chased down Falcons QB Michael Vick from behind...Subsequently was inactive at New Orleans (Sept. 15) when injury concerns necessitated keeping a fifth running back active...Got on the field for game against Carolina (Sept. 29) with Kabere Gbaja-Biamila (rib) inactive; recovered Dee Brown fumble in Panthers territory early in the fourth quarter of 17-14 win...Supplied a good amount of pass rush against Washington (Oct. 20), contributing 2 pressures, 1 QB hit and 1 tackle in Redskins contests...Posted a career-high 4 stops, plus 3 QB hits, in rematch win over Detroit (Nov. 10)...Dressed for win over Buffalo (Dec. 22) with Keith McKenzie (hamstring) inactive, recovered a fourth-quarter Drew Bledsoe fumble at the Bills' 39-yard line early in 10-0 victory; also had 1 pressure and 2 QB hits in Bills contest...Sacked the Jets' Chad Pennington among 3 solo tackles in regular-season finale at New York (Dec. 29), getting added time from scrimmage with McKenzie still inactive.

2001 Reaching the field for the last six regular-season games, closed out his initial NFL season with 4 tackles, including 2 quarterback sacks, plus 2 forced fumbles...Was sidelined during the latter portion of training camp and for Week 1 after suffering a hyperextension of his left knee in practice on Aug. 16...Returned to the practice field on Sept. 17, but remained inactive for games in Weeks 2-10...Saw his first professional game action in 28-21, Monday night victory at Jacksonville (Dec. 3), applying consistent pressure on Jaguars QB Mark Brunell throughout the contest; was rewarded for his efforts when he sacked Brunell in the final minute, forcing a fumble that teammate Nate Wayne recovered, to end the Jags' last-ditch effort to tie the game...Played on special teams and briefly from scrimmage in ensuing contests with Chicago (Dec. 9) and at Tennessee (Dec. 16)...Sacked the Browns' Tim Couch, forcing a fumble that teammate Gbaja-Biamila recovered to snuff out a Cleveland scoring threat that had reached deep into Packers territory late in the game, among 2 tackles in 30-17 victory (Dec. 23)...Also came in as a pass rusher against Minnesota (Dec. 30) and at the N.Y. Giants (Jan. 6), making 1 solo stop in the Vikings contest...Played nine snaps against both San Francisco (Jan. 13) and St. Louis (Jan. 20) during the postseason, getting 1 pressure in each game...Was the 10th selection overall and fifth defensive lineman chosen in the '01 draft, Green Bay having moved up seven spots in the round via the trade of quarterback Matt Hasselbeck to Seattle.

COLLEGE A four-time letterman at Florida State (1997-2000), starting two seasons, he won the 2000 Lombardi Award, presented annually to the nation's top lineman, to close out his collegiate career...Also captured All-America recognition as a senior...Led the Seminoles in sacks each of his two years as a starter...Enjoyed exceptional success in felling some of the most elusive quarterbacks in college football, including Virginia Tech's Vick (3 sacks in 2000 Sugar Bowl), Georgia Tech's Joe Hamilton (2 sacks in 1999 game) and Clemson's Woody Dantzler...With 3 sacks, helped Florida State win the national championship in 1999 with a 46-29 victory over Virginia Tech...Ranked fourth on FSU's all-time sack list with 23½...Also had 27 tackles for loss, tied for third in school history, and totaled 169 career tackles (93 solo)...He additionally forced 4 fumbles, recovered 3 and was credited with 3 passes defended...Majoried in sports management.

The Lambeau Leap

LeRoy Butler's spontaneous gesture after scoring a 1993 touchdown has turned into the team's most prominent modern tradition, emulated by many other players. Ironically, it also symbolizes the team's unique relationship with its fans. No doubt, the initial Lambeau Leap will go down as one of the most memorable moments of Butler's 12-year career.

Butler's leap took place late in a frigid game vs. the Los Angeles Raiders, Dec. 26, 1993, at Lambeau Field. The touchdown gave the Packers a commanding fourth-quarter lead, en route to a 28-0 shutout that clinched a playoff berth, their first of six consecutive postseason trips.

Chronology of the play:

- QB Vince Evans completes second-down swing pass to RB Randy Jordan, who takes ball to Raiders' 40-yard line.
- Butler forces fumble, recovered by Reggie White at Raiders' 35.
- White returns ball 10 yards before lateraling to Butler, who covers the remaining 25 yards into the end zone and leaps into arms of fans in south bleachers.

RIVERA

The ultimate hard-work success story, eighth-year pro enters the season on the heels of a signature, Pro Bowl campaign in 2002...Considered in recent seasons as the Green and Gold's top and most-complete lineman, the one-time sixth-round draft pick was finally recognized with the all-star honor, annually bestowed upon the league's top players...Nearly indestructible, continues to amaze teammates, coaches and observers with his ability to play through injury...Saddled with ailments over the past two years that would have kept the average player out of the lineup, he nonetheless answered the bell and never missed a game...Recognized for such efforts as the quintessential team player... "He's a Pro Bowl player who was long overdue," says Larry Beightol, the Packers' offensive line coach. "He had a great year. He is without question the toughest guy I have ever coached from a mental and physical standpoint. It's amazing what he is able to do when he has had injuries. They don't slow this guy down. There's something about him — his mental makeup — that he is able to continue to play at a very high level. He has one of the best work ethics of any player that I've ever been around. He's just a pleasure to coach."...Became the first Packers offensive lineman chosen for the league's annual all-star contest since Larry McCarren in 1983 (Frank Winters played in 1996, but did so as an alternate following an injury)...On the strength of the O-line's performance in 2002, Packers churned out 120.8 yards rushing per game, the fifth-best total in the NFC and the club's best showing in 17 seasons... "He is an all-around good football player," observes Beightol. "His main strength is that he is a very good run-blocker. He is technically sound. He works with good fundamentals, good techniques. He really puts pressure on the defensive players. He is a very solid leader and leads well by example for the rest of the offensive line. He is a guy that is respected by his teammates and the entire coaching staff as well. He is a real warrior."...The 2003 season will mark his fifth straight campaign at right guard, a position he took over in 1999 after serving as left guard in '98 — his initial season as a starter...A juggernaut in the weekly lineup, including playoffs has started 83 of the team's last 84 games, counting a 67-game streak (71 including playoffs) of consecutive games played — the fourth-longest active string on the team, behind only Brett Favre (175), Ryan Longwell (96) and Rob Davis (87)...Graded out as the Packers' best offensive lineman for the second time in the past three seasons (also 2000), according to Beightol...Repeatedly demonstrates resolve to remain on the field; in 2001, after suffering a broken hand in a Week 12 practice, continued to play with a cast for the remainder of the season... "I like to refer to this guy as Mr. Packer," Beightol summarizes. "He epitomizes what I think it means to be a Green Bay Packer. He loves his teammates, he loves his team. He's a guy that lives here year-round — trains here in the offseason. He's a terrific leader for the offensive line. If he makes a mistake, it's certainly an honest mistake."...The Brooklyn, N.Y., native made the team as an unheralded rookie in 1996, then worked his way into the starting lineup through two years as a backup and a season with the (then) World League's Scottish Claymores...With a strong performance in 1998's training camp, was able to hold off teammate Joe Andruzzi's challenge and claim the starting spot...Has now played in 93 career regular-season games, with 79 starts.

2002 SEASON

Raised his personal game to a higher level in his fifth season as a starter...Was voted to the initial Pro Bowl of his career...Did not miss a start in spite of having torn the medial collateral ligament in both knees, keeping intact a 67-game streak (71 including playoffs) of consecutive games played...Started in Week 4 against Carolina (Sept.

Rivera among Packers offensive guards, since 1958

Marco Rivera, the team's current offensive line leader and starter at guard since 1998, is expected to become only the fifth Packers player to start six consecutive seasons at offensive guard over the last 45 years.

In 1958, the team drafted Jerry Kramer, who along with Fuzzy Thurston (obtained the following year) would form the "Guardian Angels," prime blockers for Packers ground weapons Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung during the Lombardi era.

Grey RUEGAMER

A versatile and solid athlete, has played mainly as a backup the last few seasons... Signed as an unrestricted free agent April 10, 2003... Looks to be a firm and dependable reserve at both guard and center on the Packers' offensive line... A 1999 third-round draft choice of the Miami Dolphins, he spent time on the Pittsburgh Steelers' practice squad early in 2000 before signing with New England in November of that year; since has appeared in 33 regular-season games, with 3 starts for the Patriots, plus three postseason contests — including Super Bowl XXXVI victory over St. Louis... "He can add a lot of depth to our offensive line," says Green Bay offensive line coach Larry Beightol. "He has a big upside and is going to be really solid for us. We liked what we saw on the tapes. When you only have 53 players on your football team, you have to have players that can play different positions and play well. It's always been my deal that a backup has to be able to do a terrific job and be ready to go and know two to three spots of the game plan, which Grey can do. It takes a lot of work and dedication, but it can be done..." Beightol recognizes qualities in Ruegamer similar to that of current Packers offensive linemen Mike Wahle, Marco Rivera and Mike Flanagan... A young veteran in his fifth NFL season who has spent a lot of time on special teams and appeared in a few tight end roles... "He's a good size for us, a large guy for a center and average size for a guard," continues Beightol. "He looks like he can handle the weight and it doesn't seem to effect him when he moves from center to guard or either guard position. I liked him when he was coming out of Arizona State and believe he has an excellent opportunity to contribute to our football team."

The Lombardi Sweep & its companion plays

Vince Lombardi was convinced that defenses had become so sophisticated that it was time for the offense to go back to the basics — to avoid frills and to carry out fundamentals well. These principles were borne out in his Green Bay sweep (A), with either Paul Hornung or Jim Taylor (31) carrying the ball, following pulling guards Fuzzy Thurston (63) and Jerry Kramer (64) in a devastating end run.

The weak-side slant (B) and the companion play it set up (C) became the heart of the Packers' offense after defenses found ways to stop the sweep. Taylor "ran to daylight" wherever he found it.

The Packers now have scored in 185 consecutive games, extending the franchise record. The streak is 202 including postseason. The last team to blank Green Bay was Chicago, Oct. 17, 1991 (10-0 at Lambeau). The Packers have scored in every game under Vince Lombardi, Mike Holmgren, Ray Rhodes and Mike Sherman. Packers 2003 schedule notes

The historic Lambeau Field opener: The Packers and their fans will rededicate Lambeau Sept. 7 vs. Minnesota. In addition to all the festivities...

- Green Bay kicks off the schedule in Wisconsin for a seventh straight year and for the 17th time during an 18-year stretch.
- Since the 1986 opener, no other NFL team has opened at home more than the Packers.
- Green Bay is 6-2 over its last eight season-opening games at home, including a 1994 win in Milwaukee.
- The Packers enter 2003 with 11 consecutive regular-season home wins, the league's longest active streak.

Possibly an unforgettable afternoon: On Dec. 7 at home vs. Chicago, Brett Favre could be in line to surpass Forrest Gregg (187) for the team's longest consecutive games-played streak. Favre could tie Gregg on Thanksgiving, Nov. 27 at Detroit.

First trip to Oakland since Ford was in White House: The Oakland game (Dec. 22) will mark the Packers' first regular-season venture to that city since Oct. 24, 1976.

- The 27-year period is Green Bay's third-longest stretch without an appearance in one city/metro area (excluding games with defunct teams). The club went 41 years without an appearance in Buffalo (1938 vs. Chicago Cardinals, 1979 at Buffalo Bills) and 37 years without an appearance in Boston/Foxboro (1936 at Boston Redskins, 1973 at New England Patriots). And, the Packers have active streaks of 29 years without a trip to Baltimore (1974 against the Colts; streak will end in 2005) and 24 years without a trip to Washington (1979; streak will end in 2004).
- The Packers are tied with Oakland (33-15, .688) for the second-best winning percentage in the NFL from 2000-02. Philadelphia is 34-14 (.708). However, the Packers own the league's best mark since 2001 (24-8, .750), 1998 (tied with Titans, 25-28, .650), 1997 (65-31, .677), 1996 (78-34, .696), 1995 (89-39, .695), 1994 (98-46, .681) and the 1993 start of unrestricted free agency and the salary cap (107-53, .669).

Both Super Bowl teams on docket: The league scheduled only two teams — the Packers and Titans — to meet both Super Bowl finalists (Oakland and Tampa Bay). The Packers play both defending Super Bowl finalists for the second time in three years (also in 2001 vs. Baltimore and at N.Y. Giants).

Defending division champions: Overall, the Packers play four 2002 division champions — three over three consecutive weeks (vs. Philadelphia Nov. 10, at Tampa Bay Nov. 16, and vs. San Francisco Nov. 23). The team also meets defending AFC West champion Oakland, Dec. 22 at the Coliseum.

League's best starting team: Since 2001, the Packers are the league's best first-half team. They are 13-3 overall in Games 1-8 over the last two years combined (6-2 in 2001, 7-1 in 2002).

- In 2003, the Packers hope to continue that success with four of their first six at home.
- San Francisco (12-4), Miami (11-5), Philadelphia (11-5) and San Diego (11-5) round out the league's first-half leaders the last two years.

Holiday trips to California: The Packers have consecutive December trips to California (at San Diego Dec. 14, at Oakland Dec. 22) for the first time since 1963.

- Since Vince Lombardi took his post in 1959, the Packers are 12-4-2 in regular-season California games Dec. 1 or later.
- The team has never lost a road game to the Chargers (4-0). Green Bay's only loss in the city was Super Bowl XXXII.

Against familiar faces: The Packers meet five of their former coaches: Steve Mariucci (Detroit), Dick Jauron (Chicago), Andy Reid (Philadelphia), Mike Holmgren (Seattle) and Jon Gruden (Tampa Bay). Since 1997 including playoffs, former Green Bay coaches are 5-20 against the Packers.

Soldier Field opener historic to Packers, too: Green Bay's fourth game, a Monday night trip helping to dedicate the new Soldier Field, marks league game No. 1,100 in Packers history.

- Entering 2003, only the Bears (1,130) have played more official NFL contests.
- The Bears also stood across the field for Packers games No. 300 (Sept. 21, 1930, in Green Bay) and 800 (Oct. 21, 1985, at Soldier Field).
- The Packers are 16-2 vs. the Bears since 1994. In the current era (since the 1993 CBA), no team has enjoyed a better 18-game series stretch against a single opponent. And, with two wins against the Bears in 2003, the Packers would become only the sixth team in league history to record at least 18 wins over an opponent in a 20-game NFL stretch (also the Miami Dolphins, Washington Redskins, San Francisco 49ers, Cleveland Browns and Dallas Cowboys).

Series interruptions: Excluding playoffs, Green Bay halts its two longest series interruptions in 2003: Kansas City (Oct. 12, last met in 1996, at Arrowhead) and St. Louis (Oct. 19, last met in 1997, at Lambeau).

NFL Passer Rating System

The NFL rates its passers for statistical purposes against a fixed performance standard based on statistical achievements of all qualified pro passers since 1960. The current system replaced one that rated passers in relation to their position in a total group based on various criteria. The current system, adopted in 1973, removes inequities that existed in the former method and, at the same time, provides a means of comparing passing performances from one season to the next.

The system is used to rate passers, not quarterbacks. Statistics do not reflect leadership, play-calling and other intangible factors that make a successful professional quarterback. Four categories are used as a basis for compiling a rating:

- ▶ Percentage of completions per attempt
- ▶ Average yards gained per attempt
- ▶ Percentage of touchdown passes per attempt
- ▶ Percentage of interceptions per attempt

The average standard is 1.000. The bottom is .000. To earn a 2.000 rating, a passer must perform at exceptional levels, i.e., 70 percent in completions, 10 percent in touchdowns, 1.5 percent in interceptions, and 11 yards average gain per pass attempt. The maximum a passer can receive in any category is 2.375.

For example, to gain a 2.375 in:

- 1) completion percentage, a passer would have to complete 77.5 percent of his passes. The NFL record is 70.55 by Ken Anderson (Cincinnati, 1982).
- 2) percentage of touchdowns, a passer would have to achieve a percentage of 11.9. The record is 13.9 by Sid Luckman (Chicago Bears, 1943).
- 3) percentage of interceptions, a passer would have to go the entire season without an interception.
- 4) average yards is 12.50, compared with the NFL record of 11.17 by Tommy O'Connell (Cleveland Browns, 1957). To make it more understandable, the point rating is then converted into a scale of 100 (158.3 maximum). With superior statistics, a passer can surpass 100.

For example, to calculate Bart Starr's franchise record 105.0 rating in 1966, when he completed 156 of 251 passes for 2,257 yards, 14 touchdowns, and 3 interceptions, the totals would be:

▶ Percentage of completions — 156 of 251 is 62.15 percent. Subtract 30 percent from the percentage (32.15) and multiply the result by 0.05. The result is a point rating of 1.608.

NOTE: If the result is less than zero (completion percentage less than 30.0), award zero points. If the results are greater than 2.375 (percentage greater than 77.5), award 2.375.

▶ Average yards gained per attempt — 2,257 yards divided by 251 attempts is 8.99. Subtract 3 yards from yards-per-attempt (5.99) and multiply the result by 0.25. The result is 1.498.

NOTE: If the result is less than zero (yards per attempt less than 3.0), award zero points. If the result is greater than 2.375 (yards per attempt greater than 12.5), award 2.375 points.

▶ Percentage of touchdown passes — 14 touchdowns in 251 attempts is 5.58 percent. Multiply the touchdown percentage by 0.2. The result is 1.116.

NOTE: If the result is greater than 2.375 (touchdown percentage greater than 11.875), award 2.375.

▶ Percentage of interceptions — 3 interceptions in 251 attempts is 1.20 percent. Multiply the percentage by 0.25 (0.300) and subtract the number from 2.375. The result is 2.075.

Note: If the result is less than zero (interception percentage greater than 9.5), award zero points.

The sum of the four steps is 6.297 (1.608 + 1.498 + 1.116 + 2.075). The sum is then divided by six (1.050) and multiplied by 100. In this case, the result is 105.0.

This same formula can be used to determine a passer rating for any player who attempts at least one pass.

First overall NFL draft picks to play for Packers

Bobby Garrett, QB	1954	Six-player trade	Clev. Browns	Stanford	1954
Paul Hornung, HB	1957-62, 64-66	Bonus choice, '57 draft	Green Bay	Notre Dame	1957
Russell Maryland, DT	2000	Unrestricted free agent	Dallas	Miami (Fla.)	1991

NOTE: Jack Concannon (1964, Boston) and Jim Grabowski (1966, Miami) were taken first overall in AFL drafts, but opted to sign with the NFL teams that drafted them...From 1947-58, the first pick was a Bonus Choice, awarded to the winner of a random draw. That club, in turn, forfeited its last-round draft choice and was eliminated from future drafts. The Packers were next-to-last to get the Bonus, as it was abolished after 1958, when the last club had received one Bonus pick.

1. The stadium game clock is official. In case it stops or is operating incorrectly, the Line Judge takes over the official timing on the field.
2. Each period is 15 minutes. The intermission between the periods is two minutes. Halftime is 12 minutes, unless otherwise specified.
3. On charged team time outs, the Field Judge starts watch and blows whistle after 1 minute 50 seconds, unless television does not utilize the time for commercial. In this case the length of the time out is reduced to 30 seconds.
4. The Referee will allow necessary time to attend to an injured player, or repair a legal player's equipment.
5. Each team is allowed three time outs each half.
6. Time between plays will be 40 seconds from the end of a given play until the snap of the ball for the next play, or a 25-second interval after certain administrative stoppages and game delays.
7. Clock will start running when ball is snapped following all changes of team possession.
8. With the exception of the last two minutes of the first half and the last five minutes of the second half, the game clock will be restarted following a player going out of bounds on a play from scrimmage, or after declined penalties when appropriate on the referee's signal.
9. Consecutive team time outs can be taken by opposing teams but the length of the second time out will be reduced to 30 seconds.
10. When, in the judgment of the Referee, the level of crowd noise prevents the offense from hearing its signals, he can institute a series of procedures which can result in a loss of team time outs or a 5-yard penalty against the defensive team.
11. On kickoff, clock does not start until the ball has been legally touched by player of either team in the field of play.

Mark TAUSCHER

Lauded as a "big-time football player" by Packers offensive line coach Larry Beightol and en route to a prominent niche in team history, mountainous Mark Tauscher is being counted upon to make a full recovery from knee surgery which limited his third season as the Packers' starting right tackle to just two games in 2002... "I'm not a doctor, but knowing the young man like I do," Beightol says, "knowing how he has worked here in the offseason, knowing his character and how much it means to him to be a Green Bay Packer — taking that all into account — I think when it's all said and done, he'll be the starting right tackle on opening day."... Manifestly pleased over the prospect, Tauscher's veteran position coach asserted, "He's a very gifted player. He's a guy who certainly has exceeded all of our expectations. You

The deceptively cherubic Marshfield, Wis., native represents one of the great "rags-to-riches" stories in the Packers' long and distinguished history... A relatively obscure, seventh-round selection in the 2000 NFL Draft, Tauscher appears on his way to lofty status in Packers annals... After only three seasons, he already had Beightol, an 18-year NFL coaching veteran, reaching back for new superlatives to describe No. 65... Though primarily a tackle, Tauscher has the versatility to also play guard, which he was called upon to do for the first time as a pro late in the 2001 season... The football fates initially provided the former Wisconsin Badger with an instant opportunity when he was called upon to start the Packers' first three preseason games as a rookie in 2000 after veteran right tackle Earl Dotson was sidelined by back problems... He subsequently found himself stepping into that role when Dotson went down with a year-ending back injury on the second offensive play of a game at Buffalo in Week 2... Proceeded from there to make a profound impression on the Packers' coaching staff, playing so well over the course of the season that he was accorded NFL all-rookie honors... Joined fellow rookie Chad Clifton in the starting lineup during the 2000 season to give the Packers their first pair of rookie starting offensive tackles in 48 years; not since rookies Tom Johnson and Bob Dees had opened at tackle Nov. 16, 1952, at the New York Giants had it occurred for Green Bay... Packers' confidence in him was further documented when, despite his injury, he was signed to a six-year contract extension through the 2008 season, on Nov. 27, 2002.

All-time Packers players from University of Wisconsin-Madison (41)

Like a college team, the Packers historically have drawn well from their own backyard, obtaining 41 players via "in-state recruiting" from the University of Madison-Wisconsin, a 150-mile drive from Lambeau Field. In fact, only two other schools — Notre Dame (50) and Minnesota (44) — have produced more Packers players.

Following is a list of those who've played in a game for both the Wisconsin Badgers and Green Bay Packers.

Giants (Jan. 6) — the first action of his pro career at right guard...Helped Green Bay to rush for a season-best 222 yards in the Browns contest...Later had a large hand in neutralizing Michael Strahan as the Giants DE went for the NFL single-season sacks record in the final game of the year; picked off Strahan on Green's 25-yard scoring run in the first quarter of the 34-25 win at New York (Jan. 6)...Threw an important block on 49ers DE Troy Wilson to help Green get into the end zone on his game-clinching, 9-yard TD run with 1:55 remaining in 25-15, NFC Wild Card victory over San Francisco (Jan. 13)...Got on Rams DE Chidi Ahanotu to facilitate Green's 49-yard run early in the third quarter of Divisional playoff game at St. Louis (Jan. 20).

2000 Started the Packers' final 14 games at right tackle after the incumbent, Dotson, reherniated a disk in his back in the second week of the season, at Buffalo (Sept. 10)...Played virtually the entire Bills contest when was Dotson was forced out after the second play from scrimmage...Made his first NFL start the next week vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17)...Having seen special teams duty in the season opener, played in all 16 games as a rookie...Was named to the all-rookie team of Football News...Helped the Packers to average better than 100 yards rushing per game (102.7) for the first time since their most recent Super Bowl season (1997)...Stymied the redoubtable Reggie White in a Monday night game at Carolina (Nov. 27), holding the future Hall of Famer without a tackle or sack...With Clifton, formed Green Bay's first pair of starting rookie offensive tackles in 48 years (Tom Johnson-Bob Dees, Nov. 16, 1952, at the N.Y. Giants had been the last), the union first occurring when Clifton entered the lineup Oct. 15 vs. San Francisco...Was the first of five seventh-round draft choices (224th overall) by Green Bay in 2000.

COLLEGE Was one-year starter (1999) and two-time letter winner (1998-99) for Wisconsin's Badgers...Showed remarkable improvement and perseverance over his college career, making the team as a walk-on in 1995 and playing little for two straight seasons (1996-97) before contributing substantially his final two years, including a starting assignment as a senior...Was invited to both the Hula Bowl and East-West Shrine games, the only 1999 Badger to appear in two postseason all-star contests...Twice was selected to the Academic All-Big Ten team (1998-99)...Was a member of two straight Big Ten and Rose Bowl championship teams (1998-99)...Took over as the starter at right tackle in 1999, replacing the graduated Aaron Gibson (Bears)...Had backed up Gibson and left tackle Chris McIntosh (Seahawks), a pair of future NFL first-round draft choices, in 1997 and '98...Received a B.A. degree in history in 1999, he began work on a graduate degree while playing his final season for the Badgers; completed coursework and exams and received a master's degree in educational administration in May of 2003.

Hutson settles on the Bay

1962 Lambeau Field program feature, by Steve Boda Jr.

Green Bay has always had that special somebody, either on the field or in the back-ground, offering inspiration or carrying on the tradition for the City of the Bay that is unique in the annals of professional sports.

And yet, the Packers came perilously close to being denied one of their most popular on-the-field performers. Instead of catching passes and acquiring immortality in Green Bay, Don Hutson might well have been relegated to obscurity in, of all places, Brooklyn.

By 1935, the Packers and Green Bay had fought side by side through one crisis after another, adversity and discouragement. A proud and determined community rallied time and again to save ITS football team from the brink of disaster and forfeiture of a coveted franchise. Then came the formation of Green Bay Packers, Inc., and the Packers belonged to Green Bay and Green Bay belonged to the Packers.

It was also a time to reward the faithful Bayers by laying the foundation for an overdue championship. After sweeping to three titles in succession in 1929-30-31, the Packers had slipped from contention and the vaunted Bears were now the kings of the West.

In the early thirties Coach Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau found it necessary to replenish his forces as one by one, he, Verne Lewellen, Jug Eap, Lavvie Dilweg, Red Dunn, Tom Nash and other stalwarts wrote the final chapter on their active playing careers.

Lambeau was carefully grooming a home town product to step on the firing line and resume the aerial attacks so brilliantly conducted through the years by the Packer Coach himself, Lewellen and Dunn. He was Arnie Herber and his passing arm lacked nothing...except targets.

For years Lambeau was a familiar figure at the workouts of the Rose Bowl game participants and the December of 1934 found him at his favorite haunts in Pasadena. As he watched Alabama prepare for Stanford, his eyes were riveted on a lean and lanky Crimson Tide end.

Don Hutson was not merely fast, he was blinding fast. In addition to his combination of speed and agility, he had an uncanny ability to estimate the speed of a pass in flight, just the exact instant it was going to arrive at a given point. He could run in one direction with an opponent trailing him, while the pass he eventually was to receive was thrown in another; then, like a flash he would turn and invariably get to the point where the ball and he were to arrive, and he caught by sure hands.

But landing this target for the accurate-throwing Herber was another matter.

Hutson frankly admitted to the Packer coach that John (Shipwreck) Kelly of the football

Brooklyn Dodgers had approached him and he had a tentative agreement to sign with Kelly.

Both Lambeau and Kelly redoubled their efforts. Lambeau pointed out that Green Bay, with its emphasis on passing, was the place for Hutson in pro football. He stressed that Brooklyn, under Paul Schissler, relied on a ground attack, featuring power plays and that Hutson, at 185 pounds, would not fit in with the Dodgers' pattern of play.

Hutson was unveiled in Green Bay on Sept. 22, 1935, taking a starting position at left end against the Bears. The visitors kicked-off and Herber carried back to the 17. On the first play, Herber drifted back to pass. The Bears, familiar with previous Green Bay pass patterns, converged on the most likely receiver, Johnny Blood. The rookie left end was ignored.

Herber let go from the Packer 6 and Hutson pulled in the toss at mid-field. Challenging him was the Bears' fastest back, Beattie Feathers. Hutson sped on, eluded a futile, frantic lunge by Feathers, and crossed the goal for the game's only touchdown.

Mike WAHLE

Durable and productive, is now in his third year as a starter on one of the NFL's top young offensive lines...Among the more athletic players in Green Bay history to line up in the trenches, California native's impressive play in 2002 drew accolades from his position coach, Larry Beightol... "He is deserving of being a Pro Bowl candidate," confirms Beightol. "He is an excellent technician. He's excellent pulling on our counters and our power plays. He's a good in-line blocker and has become a terrific pass blocker over the last two years. He's dependable. He has not reached his potential. He's gotten better every single year. That's a tribute to him and his desire and wanting to be the best. That certainly shows up in his play..."

PRO CAREER

Has played in 65 consecutive regular-season contests (67 including playoffs) — every game since seeing his initial action in the finale of his '98 rookie campaign and the fifth-longest active string on the team, behind Brett Favre (175), Ryan Longwell (96), Rob Davis (87) and linemate Marco Rivera (67)...Was the only Green Bay offensive lineman who started every game and did not have to leave a contest due to injury in 2002; saw action on 1,130 plays, the most by any Packer last season... "He's logged more plays in the last two years than any of our linemen," says Beightol. "He's very tough and very physical. He really enjoys playing the game — a real competitor. He's a terrific athlete, going back to high school. It shows up here..." Joined Packers in 1998 as a promising supplemental draft pick...Toiled as a backup in his first year and subsequently found himself playing three different positions along the line over the course of the 1999-2000 seasons...Lost starting left tackle spot six weeks into the 2000 campaign after an injury, continued to work hard and seized the left guard spot in 2001, taking over for the departed Ross Verba...Proceeded to deliver a confident, strong performance in 2001, a key contributor in Green Bay surrendering the third-fewest sacks in the league (22) and the lowest total by a Packers team in 27 years (17 in 1974), as well as Ahman Green's 1,387 rushing yards — the third-best season total in team history...Drew serious attention as an unrestricted free agent, before re-signing with the Packers on March 11, 2002...At the relatively young "football age" of 26, is even a "younger" offensive lineman, having switched to the position from wide receiver prior to his 1996 season at Navy; with excellent work habits, is expected to continue his development...Has now appeared in 65 career games with the Packers, with 51 starts.

2002 SEASON

Completed his second straight season as the Packers' starting left guard, opening in all 16 games, plus playoff contest vs. Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Contributed, with his line mates, to a Packers rushing game that produced 120.8 yards per game in 2002, the fifth-best total in the NFC and the club's best showing in 17 seasons...Pulled to throw a key block on Redskins LB Jessie Armstead, helping to spring Green's 24-yard touchdown run and give Green Bay a 7-3 lead in its eventual 30-9 victory over Washington (Oct. 20)...Picked up a pair of important blocks on screen passes to Green in 24-10, Monday night triumph over Miami (Nov. 4)...First got a piece of Dolphins LB Zach Thomas to help Green Bay convert a third-and-18 on the Packers' initial scoring drive, he later played a role in blocking Dolphins S Brock Marion downfield on Green's 23-yard touchdown just before halftime...Threw a key block on Vikings DT Chris Hovan on Tony Fisher's game-winning, 14-yard TD run with 1:06 remaining in 26-22 triumph over Minnesota (Dec. 8)...Had made his first NFL reception late in loss at New Orleans (Sept. 15), pulling in a Brett Favre pass that had been batted into the air.

1998 Saw action in one game, was inactive for the 15 other contests...Made pro debut in the Packers' regular-season finale at Chicago (Dec. 27), participating on the team's kickoff return unit and also playing one snap from the line of scrimmage at the left guard spot for dinged starter Rivera early in the fourth quarter...Had been inactive for Green Bay's first 15 contests, also was inactive for NFC Wild Card playoff at San Francisco (Jan. 3)...Missed initial part of training camp due to a contract holdout, reporting on Aug. 6...Chosen by the Packers in the 1998 supplemental draft at the 24th position of the second round — he was the second of two picks overall in the draft — Green Bay foregoing its own 1999 second-round pick in the process.

COLLEGE Was a one-year starter and two-year letter winner (1996-97) at Navy...Started 11 games for the Midshipmen, seeing action in 17 contests overall...A late bloomer physically, recruited to the Naval Academy in 1995 as a 240-pound tight end; after finding a home on the O-line, eventually grew to the 6-6, 300-pound plateau...Had established himself as a top-flight player and leader at Annapolis, as evidenced by his selection as a team co-captain for his 1998, senior season in a vote by his coaches and teammates...Due to an NCAA ruling, however, had to forfeit his senior year of eligibility and subsequently resigned from the academy...In 1997, as a junior, started all 11 games at left tackle and helped pave the way for the nation's third-best rushing offense...Made transition to offensive line in 1996 as a sophomore, playing in six games as a reserve tackle and on special teams...Was a member of the junior varsity squad as a wide receiver his freshman year, he did not see any varsity action...Majored in economics.

Javon WALKER

Immensely talented second-year receiver, looks to further his professional development this season...The Packers' No. 1 pick in 2002, made meaningful contributions to last year's campaign, both as a third wide receiver and as a kickoff returner...

Flashed exceptional play-making ability and demonstrated maturity throughout the season... "He's got size and speed," says Ray Sherman, Green Bay's wide receivers coach. "He finished up strong toward the end of the season and got some playing time, which is a big plus for a young guy. Now we're looking for him to take the next step and be a better player, to step up and be a consistent player. He'll use his size and speed and be a force for us. For us to be successful, we need him to do that..." Is expected to compete with Robert Ferguson for the starting wide receiver spot opposite of Donald Driver... Bulkied up this offseason by adding 15 pounds of lean, muscle mass in a further effort to prepare for the rigors of an NFL season... "He'll need to stay physical and strong throughout the season," observes Sherman. "With the added weight, hopefully he'll be strong through the season and maintain the mass..." Breakout rookie performance came in Packers' playoff game vs. Atlanta, as he led all Green Bay receivers with 104 yards on 5 receptions, his first 100-yard receiving day as a pro and the only such contest for a rookie in team playoff history... "He did hit a bit of that 'wall' during the season," Sherman continues. "That's why it was good to see him play well in the last ball game. He was waiting for the opportunity, and when he got the chance he stepped up and made some plays. He showed signs of what he was capable of doing, so we're looking for more of that this season. Javon works hard and he's going to get better and better. I expect nothing but the best from him because of his work ethic. He'll do whatever it takes..." Already possessed a measure of professional athletic experience heading into his rookie season, earlier having played three seasons of minor-league baseball (one full campaign in 1997 and two summer seasons in 1998-99)... During his stint in the minors, capitalized on spring training time to learn about being a professional athlete from such baseball veterans as Tony Gwynn, Bobby Bonilla and Edgar Renteria.

2002 SEASON

Played in 15 regular-season games, starting twice, he was inactive for the other contest... Also saw reserve action in playoff game with Atlanta, culminating his inaugural campaign with a cornerstone performance... Enjoyed his initial 100-yard receiving day as a pro in Falcons contest (Jan. 4) — making him the only rookie in team playoff history to do so — while posting career highs in both receptions (5) and yards receiving (104) to lead all receivers, including a career-long 37-yarder... Had finished the regular season sixth on the team in receiving (tops among non-starters) with 23 catches for 319 yards (13.9 avg.) and 1 touchdown... end... "You take a nose guard and put him out there — and start him in a game out there and he holds up fairly well, you know he has some athleticism," Packers defensive line coach Jethro Franklin says of the massive Floridian and his "outside" baptismal.

PRO CAREER

"Big, strong, fast, can run... He made that start at Minnesota... And then we had New England — we had to go there — and Rod played some power end... And also at Chicago on Monday night... So he played out there, and when he got into the game he did a really good job. (And) you know, he's going to continue to improve." ...Walker later made one of Green Bay's key defensive plays of the season at his customary position, nose tackle, in the Packers' Dec. 1 rematch with the Bears in Lambeau Field while making his second start of the year in place of the injured Gilbert Brown... With the Bears leading 14-13 and positioned on the Green Bay 1-yard line midway through the third quarter, Walker anticipated the snap of Olin Kreutz, then submarined under Kreutz to reach up and knock the ball out of quarterback Jim Miller's hands, recovering the fumble himself; the Packers then capitalized on that happy turn of events, driving 90 yards to the go-ahead field goal and what became a permanent 16-14 lead en route to a 30-20 victory... Franklin, who expects Walker to compete for the starting nose tackle job in 2003, says, "Rod has developed real well. You know, he works at it... he's becoming a better student. The thing about it is I'm able to critique him now in the offseason, based on what he's done during the season and he's taken to that critiquing and I feel, again, that we're going to get a good year out of him." ...The 27-year-old Milton, Fla., native should be fully sound physically heading into the '03 season, Franklin notes, having undergone surgery on his right shoulder in the offseason... "He had some problems with it (the shoulder) last season," Franklin says, "and I'm glad we've got those things cleaned up." ...Walker, acquired from Tennessee in a trade on the day of the final training camp roster reduction in 2001, spent the last half of the 1999 season and the entire 2000 campaign with the Titans, primarily on their practice squad... He is only the second player from Troy State to play for the Packers, joining RB Larry Mason (1988).

2002 SEASON

Played in 13 games, making five starts, and was inactive for the other three contests... Also saw reserve action vs. Atlanta (Jan. 4) during the postseason... Registered 25 tackles, 1 forced fumble, 2 fumble recoveries and 2 passes defended during the regular season... Started three late-season games — vs. Minnesota (Dec. 8), at San Francisco (Dec. 15) and vs. Buffalo (Dec. 22), picking up 1 tackle each against the Vikings and 49ers before equaling his career high with 4 stops vs. the Bills as Green Bay held RB Travis Henry to a modest 2.3-yard average on 20 rushing attempts (for 46 yards)... Had made his first-ever NFL start when Brown (knee) was inactive at New Orleans (Sept. 15)... Matched his career high with 4 tackles against the Saints... A week earlier, had been inactive for season opener vs. Atlanta (Sept. 8) when Green Bay kept all of its speed rushers active in matchup with the Falcons' elusive Michael Vick... Also was inactive at Detroit (Sept. 22) and against Carolina (Sept. 29) with Brown healthy and in the lineup... Had 2 tackles, 1 QB hit and 1 pass defended as a sub in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7)... Made 1 stop at New England (Oct. 13) as he played at 'Power' (left) defensive end when Aaron Kampman shifted to the right side to fill the hole created by the season-ending injury to Joe Johnson... defensive threat in the lanes...Uses hand quickness that has proven to cause problems for opposing teams...A solid reserve with potential to extend his duties following a promising season back in the "active" fold... "Hopefully he will be a starter, but he knows he has to fight for it and it's going to be a very competitive position," says Jethro Franklin, the Packers' defensive line coach. "This is going to be a year where the injury he sustained his first year will be put behind him and he's going to do the things he's always done up until then. His quickness off the ball and ability to stay on his feet and play down the line is impressive. He had a tremendous knack of getting into the throwing lanes and deflecting passes before his injury — it's going to be a breakout year for him for those reasons. The sky's the limit."...Added strength with a committed offseason regimen to fully overcome the adversity of injury... "He had issues he had to battle through, which has taught him a few things about fighting and playing through pain, and it's made him stronger," says Franklin. "Now he can do things more efficiently if that pain persists. We're looking forward to seeing what type of year he's going to put together."...Has appeared in 25 games with the Packers and recorded 31 tackles (17 solo), 1 sack, 5 passes defended and 1 forced fumble.

The tunnel

Before entering the field from their new team tunnel, Green Bay players pass over three significant slabs of concrete. The Lambeau Field renovation caused the Packers to move their tunnel from the north end zone to the southeast corner. But one of the team's more prominent champions of its history, GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman, asked that three concrete slabs be transplanted from the old tunnel to the new. Now, on their way into battle, current players pass over the same ground as their legendary predecessors.

Despite moving its team facilities nearly 180 degrees across the bowl, the Packers still keep an important tradition. In pre-game warmups when both teams enter the field out of the same end zone, league custom calls for the visiting team to walk the farthest from its locker room and utilize the far half of the field. But in Green Bay, where each team enters the field from separate, south end-zone tunnels, the Packers still walk to warm up in the northern half, where their team tunnel and locker room had stood for 45 years. The practice usually baffles opponents visiting Lambeau for the first time since the renovation.

Over the last 36

- Green Bay has gone 28-8 over its last 36 regular-season contests, the league's best record in that stretch.
- The streak began in 2001 with a four-game December sweep of the Packers' NFC Central foes.
- Pittsburgh owns the NFL's second-best record during the stretch: 26-9-1.

Ahead by two scores

- Since 1992, when Green Bay establishes a lead of at least two scores (nine points or more) at any point in any game, the Packers are 94-7.
- They're 24-1 under Mike Sherman (9-0 in 2001 and 2002, 6-1 in 2000), with their only loss a disheartening Oct. 29, 2000, contest at Miami, where they led 17-0.
- Over the last 11 years at home in games with at least a nine-point lead, at any time, Green Bay is 64-1, its only Wisconsin blemish a Sept. 12, 1993, loss to Philly (relinquished 10-0 lead).

Imposing, physical cornerback, vies for an increased role in the Packers' pass defense after joining the team five games into the 2002 season...May push Al Harris for the starting job at right cornerback, left open by the offseason departure of

Tyrone Williams, in addition to competing for a role in Green Bay's 'nickel' and 'dime' defenses...Was the fifth overall selection in the 1997 NFL Draft, by Detroit...Had reached a stage in his professional development where, in his fourth season (2000), was playing at or near a Pro Bowl level...Suffered untimely rupture of his Achilles' tendon late in the '00 campaign, however, and has been working toward a return to that high level of play ever since...Initially joined Green Bay on Oct. 9, 2002, after multiple injuries hit the team's secondary...Was an immediate contributor four days later at New England in his Packers debut, providing a huge momentum swing by making an interception at the G.B. 7-yard line on the Patriots' opening drive of eventual 28-10 Green Bay victory...Had begun 2002 with Dallas, playing in the team's opening regular-season game, after signing with the Cowboys as an unrestricted free agent during the offseason...Spent his first five NFL seasons (1997-2001) with the Lions..."Last year Bryant was thrown right into the fire, lining up for us at New England and intercepting a ball early in the game when they were moving — that may have turned the tide of the whole game," recalls Bob Slowik, Green Bay's secondary coach. "Even with limited practice and preparation, he went in and was able to call upon his experience to do a heck of a job. We're looking for him to even get better as he's another season removed from his injury setback — he should be even healthier this year than he was last year. He's physical — he is physical. It's hard to find someone who's as big as Bryant Westbrook who's also able to go out and cover. And yet he's strong enough to go in there in the run game and take on fullbacks, tackle big running backs and cover tight ends. He adds a lot of versatility to that position for us that you usually don't find..."Though an unrestricted free agent, re-signed with Green Bay this past March 3...Has 3 career interception return touchdowns, including Pontiac Silverdome-record 101-yarder on Thanksgiving Day in 2000 (in the game prior to suffering his Achilles' tendon injury)...Twice injured himself against the Packers in 1999, pulling his right hamstring in the initial meeting of the teams, he then strained his left hamstring in the rematch...Was the Lions' leader in passes defended three times (in 1997, 1998 and 2000)...Earned consensus all-rookie recognition in '97, in addition to finishing fifth in rookie of the year voting.

2002 SEASON Spent the final two-thirds of the season with Green Bay, contributing on several occasions when injuries necessitated, after starting the year with Dallas...Played in six games as a reserve for the Packers, he was inactive for five other contests...Also saw action in the team's playoff game against Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Finished the regular season with 3 tackles, 1 interception among 3 passes defended and 4 special teams stops...Had been signed as a free agent on Oct. 9 to add depth at cornerback after injuries to Mike McKenzie (groin) and Bhawoh Jue

(hamstring-I.R.) depleted the position...Made an immediate impact in his Packers debut, at New England (Oct. 13), intercepting Tom Brady at the Green Bay 7-yard line on the Patriots' first series — a major momentum swing in the early-going of eventual 28-10 triumph for the Green and Gold...Played extensively in the 'dime' package against New England as the Patriots employed a spread passing attack for much of the contest, finishing with 3 passes defended and 1 tackle in addition to his interception and 2 special teams stops...Again was used as a 'dime' back the following week vs. Washington (Oct. 20)...Subsequently was inactive for Monday night contest against Miami (Nov. 4), as well as the next four games, with McKenzie back in the lineup...Got back on the field for battle with Minnesota (Dec. 8) when Williams (hamstring) was injury that required surgery the following day and which hampered him for a good part of the season.

1999 Was limited to 10 games (eight starts at left cornerback) by a pair of hamstring injuries as well as being hindered by a broken bone suffered in his hand early in training camp...Ended year with 34 tackles (28 solo) plus 6 pass breakups and 1 fumble recovery...Started the first two games, but pulled his right hamstring in the second contest, vs. Green Bay (Sept. 19), and was inactive for the next five games...Returned to the lineup for win over St. Louis (Nov. 7), he then made a season-high 7 stops the next week, at Arizona (Nov. 14)...Again injured himself against the Packers (Nov. 21), straining his left hamstring...Missed Thanksgiving Day game with Chicago four days later...Not yet at full strength, came back in a reserve capacity for the next two contests, vs. Washington (Dec. 5) and at Tampa Bay (Dec. 12), before starting the final three regular-season games...Also started wild-card playoff contest at Washington (Jan. 8)...Broke a bone in his left hand in an Aug. 2 training camp practice, an

1998 Built upon a solid rookie year to lead the Lions in both interceptions (3-1 tie) and passes defended (19)...Also posted a career-high 77 tackles (65 solo)...Started all 16 games for the first time as a pro...Opened at right cornerback in Detroit's first two contests after having switched sides with Kevin Abrams during the offseason, but returned to left cornerback for the final 14 games...Returned Trent Dilfer interception 34 yards for a touchdown in 27-6, Monday night victory over Tampa Bay (Sept. 28)...Later picked off passes in consecutive weeks, vs. Minnesota (Oct. 25) and Arizona (Nov. 1)...Made a career-high 11 tackles in early-season loss to Cincinnati (Sept. 13)...Subsequently posted 7 stops in games at Tampa Bay (Nov. 22), vs. Pittsburgh (Nov. 26) and at San Francisco (Dec. 14)...Knocked down 3 passes at Minnesota (Sept. 20) and in initial meeting with Buccaneers (Sept. 28).

Frank

Patently invaluable in an unscheduled return to a starting role last season, ageless and indestructible Frank Winters is poised to make history in a Green Bay uniform in 2003...Though not a career Packer — this is his 12th year in Titletown —

he would become just the second player in the team's 84-year annals to wear the Green and Gold in a 17th season, tying Jan Stenerud (1983)...Packers offensive line coach Larry Beightol, addressing Winters' imposing longevity and depth of commitment, says of the 39-year-old veteran, "I don't know anybody who loves being a Green Bay Packer or loves this organization more than that guy. He epitomizes what it means. He's an old throwback. He goes back to the old guys who had so much pride and loved playing here. That's what makes Frankie so special. He's a special guy and I would never count him out. Let me put it this way. When everything is said and done, I think he's going to be a guy who wants to be there in the mix. We've just got to wait and see because...somewhere along the line...you do have to retire. And I don't know if this is the year — it might be the year after...But we're certainly going to give him a chance to prove that he can play at a high level — like he has in the other years that he's been part of the Packers...Last year, we were so fortunate to have him because of what happened in our camp (the loss of incumbent center Mike Flanagan for the first three weeks of the regular season, and the subsequent, in-season loss of left tackle Chad Clifton, causing Flanagan to replace Clifton and Winters to take over at center). We would have been lost totally if we hadn't had this guy playing for us. He stepped right in — he didn't miss a beat. He played at a high level. What else can you say?"

O riginally targeted for a backup role heading into the '02 season, Winters subsequently found himself playing in all 16 games for the 10th time in his 16-year career — and making 10 starts, three for the injured Flanagan and seven others when Flanagan was pressed into service at left tackle because of injuries to Clifton...Versatile as well as willing, the venerable New Jersey native also lined up as a third tight end on occasion...A "team player" in the fullest sense of the term, he gracefully yielded the starting assignment at center to Flanagan a year earlier while returning to lend his sage counsel, valued support and leadership skills to his younger colleagues in the offensive line...One of the game's headiest performers, his presence provides great comfort to GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman, who is secure in the knowledge that the crafty veteran can enter a game at a moment's notice and make all of the team's pre-snap calls and adjustments without missing the proverbial beat...A hard-nosed athlete known for his freewheeling, "play to the whistle" style, he was able to develop himself into one of the league's better centers — he earned USA Today All-Pro honors in 1999 and went to the Pro Bowl in 1996 — after spending his first five years in the NFL primarily as a long snapper...Beginning with his second year in Green Bay, he went on to serve as the team's starting center for eight consecutive seasons (1993-2000), becoming in the process the only Packers offensive lineman to play in the Pro Bowl in a 18-year span — since Larry McCarren was named to the NFC squad in 1983...Along the way, he has demonstrated his acclaimed durability by starting every game in five of his 10 seasons with Green Bay (1993-96, 1999)...Overall, has played in 156 of a possible 176 regular-season games since coming to the Packers in 1992...Joined an elite club during the 2000 sea-

PRO CAREER

- ▶ Has now played in 231 career games, second among active NFL offensive linemen to only the 263 of Lomas Brown.
- ▶ Was inducted into the Western Illinois University Athletic Hall of Fame in February of 1999.
- ▶ Honored with "Frank Winters Appreciation Day" in home town, Union City, N.J., in 1998.
- ▶ Owns two restaurants in Cleveland.

five seasons in the league...A 'Plan B' veteran, he previously had joined both the Chiefs and N.Y. Giants through the league's former free agency system...Began his pro career with Cleveland, where he played in 28 games from 1987-88, he then saw action in 15 games for the Giants in 1989, and subsequently played in 32 league contests with K.C.

2002 SEASON

Thrust into starting role almost immediately when incumbent center Flanagan broke the thumb on his snapping hand early in training camp...Later saw much of his action (10 starts while playing in all 16 games for the 10th time in his career) as a result of injuries to left tackle Clifton, which forced Flanagan to fill in for Clifton...Started each of the first three contests — vs. Atlanta (Sept. 8), at New Orleans (Sept. 15) and at Detroit (Sept. 22) — as Flanagan had not yet fully recovered from thumb fracture...Came in at center late in the third quarter of win over Carolina (Sept. 29) after Flanagan moved to right guard to take over for Marco Rivera (quadriceps/knee)...Played one series at center early in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7) while Flanagan filled in at left tackle for Clifton (neck "stinger"); also was utilized as an extra tight end in Bears contest...Played at center for better than three quarters at New England (Oct. 13) when Flanagan was called upon to replace Clifton (knee) in the first period...Made his fourth start of the year at center on Oct. 20 against Washington with Flanagan filling in for Clifton on a game-long basis...Again started at center — and played the first quarter-and-a-half in Monday night game against Miami (Nov. 4) as Flanagan took Clifton's spot on the line until midway through the second period...Threw an important downfield block on Dolphins S Brock Marion to help Green Bay convert a third-and-18 — with an Ahman Green screen pass — on the Packers' initial scoring drive in triumph over Miami, before leaving the contest due in part to a rib injury...With the game in hand, saw action at center for much of the fourth quarter of 40-14 rout of Detroit (Nov. 10)...Got in only as a third tight end at Minnesota (Nov. 17)...Played center for the last quarter-and-a-half at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24) when Flanagan was forced out to left tackle after Clifton (pelvic sprain) left the game, a role he reprised for the final five weeks of the regular season and during the playoffs (vs. Atlanta, Jan. 4) with Flanagan starting for Clifton...Underwent arthroscopic surgery on his left knee following season (Jan. 8) to repair a lateral cartilage tear that occurred at San Francisco (Dec. 15).

Assumed new role as Packers' backup center after eight seasons as Green Bay's starter at the position...Also served as a backup long snapper, a specialty of his during his first five years in the NFL (with three other teams), and as an occasional third tight end...Played in four regular-season games and, though active, did not see action in the other 12 contests...Also did not see field duty during the Packers' two postseason games...Dressed for, but did not play in, each of the first four regular-season games as well as at Minnesota (Oct. 21), vs. Tampa Bay (Nov. 4), at Chicago (Nov. 11), at Jacksonville (Dec. 3), at Tennessee (Dec. 16), vs. Cleveland (Dec. 23), in Vikings rematch (Dec. 30) and at the N.Y. Giants (Jan. 6)...Saw limited playing time vs. Baltimore (Oct. 14), against Atlanta (Nov. 18), at Detroit (Nov. 22) and vs. Chicago (Dec. 9), coming in as an extra blocker in short-yardage and goal-line situations.

Served as the Packers' primary center for the eighth consecutive season, starting 14 games...Was inactive for one contest and did not play in the other as he battled through separate ankle and biceps injuries over the course of the year...Played in his 200th career regular-season game on Sept. 17 vs. Philadelphia...Forced out in the second quarter of Eagles contest after suffering a right ankle strain, he subsequently was inactive the next week at Arizona (Sept. 24), then dressed, but did not play, against Chicago (Oct. 1)...Returned to the starting lineup for game at Detroit (Oct. 8)...Later incurred a right biceps strain in the first half of rematch with the Bears (Dec. 3), he came back to play in the second half with his arm heavily taped — throwing a key block on Green's eight-yard TD run midway through the third quarter — before leaving the contest for good early in the fourth period of an eventual 28-6 victory...Still nursing the biceps injury the following week, he remained in the starting lineup for repeat matchup with the Lions (Dec. 10), throwing a key block on Detroit MLB Stephen Boyd to spring Green for a 39-yard TD run in the final minutes to seal 26-13 win...Efficiently handled the shotgun snap for the second straight year as Green Bay returned to using it in the latter half of the season.

Returned from serious leg injury incurred the previous year to start all 16 games for the fifth time in his NFL career (all with Green Bay) — though the first season since 1996...Named to the All-Pro team of USA Today...Consistently played at a high level throughout the season...In his 13th league season, utilized the shotgun snap for the initial time as a pro...Turned back a strong challenge by Flanagan during training camp to hold onto his starting job.

1998

Veteran Players

1997 Started in 13 regular-season games at center, plus all three playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXXII...Inactive for three early-season games (Miami Sept. 14, Minnesota Sept. 21, Detroit Sept. 28) after suffering a left mid-foot sprain at Philadelphia (Sept. 7), snapping a string of 82 consecutive games played (longest on the team at the time), including 74 straight starts...Teamed with guards Aaron Taylor and Adam Timmerman to hold the 49ers' vaunted inside duo of Dana Stubblefield and Bryant Young without a sack and to a collective 8 tackles in NFC Championship Game victory at San Francisco (Jan. 11)...Was one of the club's two offensive captains during the playoffs for the second straight year.

1996 Started all 16 regular-season games for the fourth straight year, exclusively at center...Also served for much of the season as the Packers' long snapper for placements...Anchored an offensive line which paved the way for a Green Bay running attack that averaged 114.9 yards per game, up from 89.3 in 1995...Also started all three postseason games, including Super Bowl XXXI...Represented the offense, along with pal Favre, as one of the team's six playoff captains...Played in the Pro Bowl for the only time in his career, going as the first alternate when the Cowboys' Ray Donaldson withdrew due to an elbow injury.

1995 Enjoyed one of the better seasons of his career...Started all 16 games (all at center) for the third season in a row...Also was the starting center for each of the team's three playoff contests...Served as the regular long snapper for field goals and extra points and was the backup snapper for punts...Had 1 stop on special teams.

1994 Showed his versatility as he started all 16 regular-season games — 10 at center and six at left guard...Also started at center for both playoff games...Was the Packers' starter at center throughout training camp, even starting at the position in the regular-season opener vs. Minnesota (Sept. 4)...Shifted to left guard and started there in games 2-7 as usual starter Guy McIntyre was out with a blood clot in his calf...Made the move back to center beginning with Monday night contest at Chicago (Oct. 31) as McIntyre returned to left guard spot...Made big play vs. Atlanta (Dec. 18) when he recovered a Favre fumble at the Packers' 14...Served as team's long snapper on kicks and backed up on punts, recording 1 solo special teams tackle.

1993 Quietly had a terrific season, missing only one snap the entire year (including preseason)...Started at left guard in the first four games after incumbent starter Rich Moran went down with a knee injury in training camp...Shifted to center to start the final 12 regular-season games plus both playoff contests after usual starter, James Campen, suffered a season-ending hamstring injury at Dallas (Oct. 3)...Handled all of the team's long-snapping duties, contributing 5 special teams tackles (3 solo) as part of that role.

1992 Appeared in all 16 games with 11 starts in his first season with Green Bay...Started three games at center after Campen (knee) went on injured reserve...Also started last eight games at left guard after Moran (knee) was placed on IR...Served as team's long snapper...Signed with Packers as a 'Plan B' free agent on March 17.

WISNE

An impressive, raw-boned and gifted tackle, provides depth on the offensive line in a versatile role exhibited at both the college and pro level...Strong and dependable backup, stepped in after season-ending losses of both starting tackles, Mark

Tauscher and Chad Clifton, who are expected to return in 2003, allowing Wisne to continue his supportive function... "Right now we have him working on the right side of our offensive line," says Larry Beightol, the Packers' offensive line coach. "I think it's a good spot for him, but he can really play either the right or left side and can play either guard or tackle. Right now we are trying to find the very best depth that we can because of what happened last year to the line. We have to have somebody besides Chad Clifton and Mark Tauscher, and we don't want to move Mike Flanagan to left tackle if we have another injury like we had this past year. We feel like Jerry fits for us and we'll find a spot for him on this squad."...A young and athletic performer, possesses a lot of tools and shows good feet movement — advantageous in the 'West Coast' offense run by the team... "He was a good football player coming out of Notre Dame," continues Beightol. "He's very physical, which fits the bill of things we like on this type of offense."...Has played in nine career games with one start.

2002 SEASON

Played in two games for Green Bay...Worked as a backup at right tackle over the last month of the season...Played on special teams at San Francisco (Dec. 15) and vs. Buffalo (Dec.

Packers Retired Numbers

Because the Packers have the fewest retired numbers — four — among the oldest major professional sports franchises, it is truly a significant honor.

By comparison, the Chicago Bears have 13, the NBA's Boston Celtics have 21 and baseball's New York Yankees 16.

In a pregame ceremony Sept. 11, 1965, Green Bay renamed its 8-year-old stadium Lambeau Field, following the legendary figure's death two months earlier. Under a new name, the facility hosted two of its most memorable games: The Packers' first sudden-death game, vs. the Colts, and the snowy '65 title contest, a win over Jim Brown and Cleveland. Before the season, the field underwent its third significant expansion (above).

DRAFTED: First Round

Nick BARNETT

Selected in the first round of the 2003 draft (29th overall)...First linebacker drafted in the opening round by the Packers since Wayne Simmons was taken out of Clemson in 1993; he was the first linebacker chosen overall in this year's draft...A four-year letter winner (1999-2002) at Oregon State; he started his last three seasons...A phenomenally gifted athlete, Packers had him rated as the top linebacker in the draft...A 2002 preseason candidate for the Butkus Award, given annually to the nation's top college linebacker, possesses outstanding speed and quickness, among the traits that attracted Green Bay's evaluators to him and eventually will land him as an every-down contributor on defense...Can attack the run head-on as well as chase ball carriers from sideline to sideline; his speed allows him to cover backs and tight ends down the field while defending the pass... "I wouldn't take a linebacker in the first round that couldn't be on the field every down, and he's an every-down linebacker," Packers GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman says. "The fact that he is an excellent pass-coverage linebacker helps us, particularly with the teams that we play..." A first-team All-Pacific 10 Conference selection as a senior, he played in 48 games overall, with 29 starts, during his career with Oregon State, racking up 249 tackles (143 solo), 8 sacks, 30 tackles for loss, 1 interception, 12 passes defended, 1 blocked kick, 3 forced fumbles and 2 fumble recoveries.

Spent his freshman season as a backup strong safety before moving to linebacker as a sophomore...Is expected to compete for one of the starting linebacker spots as well as contribute immediately on special teams...Considering the coaching staff's desire to field the club's best three linebackers, ultimately could line up at any of the three spots... "I think he's going to come in here and have an impact one way or the other on our team," Sherman continues, "whether it's immediately at linebacker or eventually, or immediately on special teams. He'll be a positive influence in the locker room. He loves football, this guy. He has a great work ethic. He's very humble but he has great vision for himself. He sees himself being a great player in this league. He's going to work as hard as anybody has ever worked. I'm telling you, this guy is a worker and has developed himself..." Became the first Oregon State product to be drafted in the first round since quarterback Terry Baker was taken with the first overall selection in 1963 by the then-Los Angeles Rams, and just the fourth Beaver overall to be chosen in the first round (B Ken Carpenter, 1950, to Cleveland Browns; B Joe Gray, 1938, to Chicago Bears)...Also became the eighth player the Packers have drafted from Oregon State.

A first-team All-Pac 10 Conference selection, he led the conference in tackles with 121 stops (62 solo)...Also named first-team All-Pac 10 by The Sporting News, in addition to being selected to play in the East-West Shrine game...Was a preseason candidate for the Butkus Award...One of four team captains, led a Beaver defense that ranked among the conference's top three in several defensive categories, including total defense (second), rushing defense (third), passing defense (first) and red zone defense (first); nationally, the Beavers ranked 11th in total defense...Started all 13 games for Oregon State at the strong linebacker position...In addition to his team- and conference-leading tackle total, he notched 6 sacks, 21 tackles for loss, 2 forced fumbles, 7 passes defended and 1 blocked kick...Notched double-digit tackle totals in eight of 13 games and registered a sack or half sack in seven contests...Set an Oregon State season record for defensive production points with 421½; he ranks 12th on the school's all-time list with 831½...Began the season in fine fashion with 11 tackles (5 solo), 3 tackles for loss and a forced fumble in victory over Eastern Kentucky...Added 11 stops (4 solo) and a stop for loss at Temple...Posted a half sack and 10 tackles (5 solo) vs. UNLV...Registered 2 passes defended, a tackle for loss and a season-high 8 solo tackles at 1999 Started out in the Beavers' preseason camp as a linebacker, but was moved to strong safety and earned regular playing time, mostly on special teams, with some spot action at strong safety...Played in all 12 games as a true freshman, finishing the season with 11 tackles (6 solo)...Posted 1 solo tackle in Oahu Bowl vs. Hawaii.

Rookie linebackers in the starting lineup

Nick Barnett could be the first rookie in 25 years to start the Packers' regular-season opener at middle linebacker. On Sept. 3, 1978, at Detroit, Coach Bart Starr opened the season with Mike Hunt at the position.

Since '78, six rookie linebackers have started the team's first regular-season game:

- ▶ SLB Na'il Diggs (2000)
- ▶ ILB Burnell Dent (1986)
- ▶ ILB Mark D'Onofrio (1992)
- ▶ OLB John Anderson (1978)
- ▶ ILB Johnny Holland (1987)
- ▶ MLB Mike Hunt (1978)

And, since '78, 15 rookie LBs have started at least one Packers game, but only eight have been primary starters:

- ▶ SLB Na'il Diggs (2000)
- ▶ ILB Brian Noble (1985)
- ▶ OLB Wayne Simmons (1993)
- ▶ MLB Rich Wingo (1979)
- ▶ ILB Johnny Holland (1987)

Green Bay's first of two fifth-round choices (147th overall), was the third player taken by the Packers in 2003...One of an incredible 24 defensive tackles drafted, including fellow Packers pick Kenny Peterson (third round, 79)...The 15th defensive tackle chosen, was one of 16 taken in the top 150 (six went in the first round)...Most analysts agree, the draft's surplus of quality DTs, with speed, ended with Lee, whom Mike Sherman traded up 18 spots to take, rather than risk he'd still be on the board at 165...Plus, the nose tackle position, the big-bodied run-stopper, is a key to the Green Bay scheme, and, depth is always a plus...Considered a still-developing player with a potentially significant upside, is the latest in long line of NFL selections based on potential and not college production...Most scouts and personnel analysts agree, the fifth round is the best place to take that type of player...Like many of those draftees, took an unconventional path to NFL...Didn't start, and totaled just 38 tackles, in two seasons at Oregon State, where he played in a deep and talented D-line...Plus, before he could don a Beavers practice uniform in 2001, had to clear two significant hurdles to put junior college behind him...First, sustained MCL and ACL tears to his knee in his last game at the College of the Redwoods (Eureka, Calif.)...The injury demolished his morale and kept him out of the weight room, and out of shape, that summer...Then, after taking an offer from Oregon State coach Dennis Erickson (a gritty junior-college recruiter and a key reason Lee finds himself in the NFL), was grounded by a former JC professor...The professor forgot to turn in a grade, which kept Lee without his AA degree and on the sidelines for the first 10 days of the Beavers' fall camp...When the professor turned in the grade, was far behind in both physical and mental preparations (the NCAA kept him out of practice and all school facilities, including meeting and weight rooms).

U-turn came after junior year (2001) at Oregon State...Tired of subtle barbs from coaches and teammates on weight and questionable work ethic, spent offseason transforming himself...Showed up for 2002 in best shape of his life...By then, solidified as the top backup behind starters Eric Manning and Dwan Edwards, made the most of his reserve role, now clearly defined...Draft stock spiked at Indianapolis combine, where some scouts timed his 40 at 4.88, one of the best times among defensive tackles, and faster than several linebackers...Sherman got a bonus look at him on a spring campus visit to scout OSU linebacker Nick Barnett, the Packers' eventual first-round selection...On draft day, couldn't contain ecstatic, energizing personality, and nearly hyperventilated during conference call with media shortly after his selection...Never more than a few seconds between broad smiles, is openly honest...Hides neither his faults, nor his voracious appetite for improvement...Didn't hide willingness to adhere to Packers' strict training guidelines when asked by Sherman on phone call minutes before team drafted him...That attitude convinced Sherman to draft him over an offensive lineman...Sherman's faith in

Lee's new position coach, Jethro Franklin, to develop him, was a key factor...Franklin also got a look at him on campus...“He wants to do things right,” Franklin says. “He tries to do everything right, almost to the point where he’s thinking about it more than letting it happen naturally.”...Sherman compares Lee to Buffalo defensive tackle Pat Williams, a junior-college product who played sparingly at Texas A&M, then went undrafted...Williams, now a starter, enters his seventh season this summer...Now in Green Bay, finds himself in situation similar to his first days in Corvallis, following only season playing at junior college...Another NCAA rule kept him on campus and away from Packers June mini-camp, with classes still in session...But unlike 2001, team this spring was able to work closely with him, providing detailed nutritional and training regimens, as well as video playbooks...Plan is to streamline him down to 310-315 pounds, then put on cleaner mass...Never highly recruited out of high school or junior college, and not even on NFL war-room boards until two months before draft, could be inspiring success story in several years...“Just in the short time I had with him,” Franklin says, “I would say this: He needs a little confidence. He needs a kick in the rear end, but he has the ability and a lot of things other guys don’t have.”...A two-year letter winner (2001-02), he played in 23 career games, making 38 tackles (22 solo), 3 passes defended, 1 forced fumble and 1 fumble recovery.

Notes, 2003 Green Bay Packers Draft

- ▶ Nick Barnett is the first linebacker drafted by Green Bay in the first round since Wayne Simmons (1993, Clemson).
- ▶ Including fifth-round pick James Lee, Green Bay now has drafted nine players from Oregon State. However, only three from the school have played in a Packers league game (Joe Francis, B, 1958-59; Ade Schwammel, T, 1934-36, 1943-44; and Esera Tualo, NT/DE, 1991-92).
- ▶ This marks the first time since 1984 the Packers did not take an offensive player in the first five rounds.
- ▶ Take away the four non-tradeable compensatory picks and the Packers used just one of their original seven picks entering the draft: first-rounder Nick Barnett.
- ▶ Including the NFL's last in-draft trade, Mike Sherman orchestrated five trades involving 2003 picks. Only one other team executed more deals: New England Patriots (six).
- ▶ The Packers tapped the same school — Oregon State — for two of their top three choices. The last time that happened was 1979, when Green Bay drafted two of their top three from Maryland: RB Steve Atkins (second round) and DT Charles Johnson (third round).
- ▶ Kenny Peterson is the 21st player drafted by the Packers from Ohio State. They've drafted more often from only six institutions: Minnesota (41), Wisconsin (36), Southern California (32), Notre Dame (27), Michigan (26) and Nebraska (22). They've also taken 21 players from Alabama.
- ▶ Brennan Curtin (6-foot-9) would be the tallest Packers player ever to enter a league game. Three 6-foot-8 players, DE/DT Ben Davidson (1961), OT Bill Hayhoe (1969-73) and DT Vernon Vanoy (1972), tie for the tallest to date.
- ▶ Curtin also would become the 51st Notre Dame player, following Tony Fisher and Jerry Wisne in 2002, to play for the Packers. No other school has produced more Green Bay players.
- ▶ Steve Josue is the first player drafted by Green Bay from Carson-Newman.
- ▶ DeAndrew Rubin is the first player drafted by Green Bay from South Florida.

Brennan
CURTIN

The Packers' sixth-round selection (212th overall) and tallest athlete (6-9) ever drafted by Green Bay...Will begin pro career on right side of Green Bay's offensive line...An athletic and smart player with explosiveness that is rare in bigger linemen... "He's a very good athlete for someone his size," says Green Bay offensive line coach Larry Beightol. "He has explosiveness in his hips and long arms which we attribute to pass protection. He can bend his knees and plays with leverage and I think he'll be a terrific player for us. When he is, it will be a steal..." A three-year letter winner at Notre Dame (2000-02); he started six of 11 contests as a junior and 11 games as a senior, making numerous key blocks along the way...A flexible player with good foot movement, will add strength and depth to the offensive line behind rehabbed starter Mark Tauscher. "You can never have too many good football players and I feel fortunate to have a young fellow like Brennan," says Beightol. "As soon as he starts to kick, it will be difficult for someone to get around this guy, he's capable of moving and bending. Some coaches don't like the big, tall guys because they aren't as mobile, but I've looked at it as if they can play and do the things that the other guys do, this is only a bigger individual and I'm not going to discriminate against him because he's tall. I couldn't believe he was still there in the sixth round, I kept holding my breath...We're excited about having him, the scouts did a fabulous job, we're fortunate to get him..." Overall, played in 28 contests, with 17 starts, in three seasons at Notre Dame.

State due to disciplinary action.

Notre Dame Connections

- ▶ Curly Lambeau enrolled at Notre Dame, and made varsity as freshman under Knute Rockne in 1918; Lambeau chose Notre Dame blue and gold as Packers' first uniform colors.
- ▶ Three of Green Bay's 11 starters, and four of its 16 overall players in its first official game had played at Notre Dame. More than 80 years later, no other college has produced more Packers players (50, including Tony Fisher and Jerry Wisne in 2002).
- ▶ Lambeau, credited with pioneering and evolving forward pass in NFL, adopted some philosophy from Rockne, who'd introduced the pass earlier at collegiate level.
- ▶ Lambeau also coached at East High School from 1919-21, and sent one of his prep stars, halfback Jimmy Crowley, to South Bend. Crowley, one of the Four Horsemen, returned and played for Packers in 1925 before entering coaching.
- ▶ Crowley coached at Fordham, where one of his linemen was Vince Lombardi, one of the Seven Blocks of Granite.
- ▶ George Strickler, Green Bay's publicity director from 1947-49, previously worked at Notre Dame (he once placed the Four Horsemen on horses for a photo shoot).
- ▶ After the 1921 season, the Packers used two active Notre Dame players in a non-league game against the Chicago Supremes; the league made an example of the Packers, and revoked the franchise (Lambeau reapplied successfully in 1922).
- ▶ Green Bay has drafted 27 players from Notre Dame, including Heisman winner Paul Hornung (first overall) in 1957.
- ▶ Jack Vainisi, credited with providing key scouting reports on pro and college players that stocked most of Lombardi's teams, played at Notre Dame. A congenital heart problem cut short his playing career, but he stayed in South Bend as a football manager, making several contacts at college level. Gene Ronzani knew those contacts would be of great value when he brought Vainisi to Green Bay.
- ▶ Dan Devine left the Packers in 1974 to coach at Notre Dame, where he won the 1977 national championship.

The 1918 Notre Dame varsity, including Coach Knute Rockne, Curly Lambeau and George Gipp.

(1999-2000), a junior college in Brenham, Texas...The fourth Cardinal to be drafted by the Packers, the first since 1980...A hard-working, physical player with great speed; he was considered by many clubs as the fastest player in the 2003 draft...Played a lot of off-coverage during his college career...“He’s fast, fast, fast, and inexperienced, but he’s conscientious of that,” says Bob Slowik, assistant head coach and defensive backs coach for the Packers. “It seems like he enjoys the game and he’s willing to be coached. He pays attention to the small details of coaching.”...A raw, intuitive player who can turn and transition when on the field, he fits the prototype of what the Packers look for in the secondary...“He needs to develop some skills since he’s never been a full-time starter, so he’s fighting an uphill battle from that standpoint,” says Slowik. “He has a lot of tools and he picks things up pretty quickly. As long as he has the tools, instinct and is willing to work, he has a chance.”...He earned the starting position at cornerback in seven of last eight games of his senior season, also excelling on punt and kickoff units which ranked among the nation’s best in 2002...Played in 26 games overall at Louisville, with eight starts, and totaled 44 stops (32 solo), 1 tackle for loss and 7 passes defended.

► Recorded by many teams as the fastest football player in the 2003 draft.

COLLEGE CAREER

Green Bay, as well as contribute on other areas of the special teams...“He was up in the top five of all the returners,” says Green Bay special teams coach John Bonamego. “The things I like about him is that he’s done both punt and kick returns and he’s done it for three years, and he’s excelled at both.”...Secure with carrying the ball, performs well at fielding both punts and kick-offs...“I look at several things and look at how the guy catches the ball, if he has range and can he move up and catch the short ball,” Bonamego continues. “He’s not a big man, but he runs bigger than he is...he can get his pads down, he’s a tough runner, being able to get those extra yards and spin off tackles.”...In 42 career games, with 18 starts, he gained 1,534 yards and 1 touchdown on a school-record 60 kickoff returns (25.6 avg.), with a long of 82 yards...He totaled 64 career punt returns for 1,049 yards (16.4 avg.), with a long of 91 yards, and 4 touchdowns...Additionally had 1,306 yards receiving and 14 touchdowns on 91 receptions (14.4 avg.)...“He has the ability to make the first guy miss and get up and keep going,” continues Bonamego. “He’s very productive and has played against some pretty good competition. Returns are a part of who he is and he’s an exciting prospect.”

Packers in the College All-Star Game, NFL All-Star Game

- ▶ From 1934-73 and 1975-76, the NFL participated in the annual Chicago College All-Star Game. The charitable contest, played during the preseason in either July or August, pitted the defending NFL champion against a group of standout collegiate players. An NFL players strike cancelled the '74 matchup.
- ▶ Soldier Field, even when the Bears were playing at Wrigley Field, served as the event's stage for all but two years. Dych Stadium in Evanston, Ill., hosted the game in 1943 and '44.
- ▶ Nearly every prominent Packers player, whether as a collegian, as a pro, or both, played in the game.
- ▶ The Packers actually lost their first contest, in 1937, when Slingin' Sammy Baugh and the collegians shut out Green Bay, 6-0. Legend suggests the Packers chalked up the embarrassing loss to shiny new uniforms, ordered by Curly Lambeau, which didn't "breathe" in the August humidity.

The compensatory system

Under terms of the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement, a team losing more or better compensatory free agents than it acquires in a year is eligible to receive compensatory draft picks.

The number of picks a team receives equals the net loss of compensatory free agents up to a maximum of four. The 32 compensatory choices announced usually in late March supplement the 230 choices in the regular seven rounds of the NFL Draft.

In 2003, the compensatory picks were positioned within the fourth through seventh rounds based on the value of the compensatory free agents lost.

Compensatory free agents are determined by a formula based on salary, playing time and postseason honors. The formula was developed by the NFL Management Council. Not every free agent lost or signed by a club is covered by this formula.

Teams are no longer allowed to trade compensatory selections, although they were during the early years of the system.

Draft-order ties

Draft-order ties are resolved by the cumulative record of each team's opponents. The team with the weaker opponents receives drafting priority. Within a tied segment, non-playoff clubs are given priority over playoff clubs. Priority of playoff clubs within a tied segment will be based on their advancement in the playoffs, but they will not drop out of their tied segment unless they participate in the Super Bowl. The Super Bowl champion will select 32nd and the runner-up 31st.

During the 1923 season, the Green Bay Press-Gazette published a major story announcing the Packers had signed Jack "Dollie" Gray, an end who'd received All-America honors at Princeton.

According to participation charts kept by George Calhoun, Gray started his only game played — a 24-3 loss to the Racine Legion at Bellevue Park.

Suspicious by Gray's performance, Curly Lambeau checked the player's background, only to discover he was an imposter. Lambeau quickly gave the player — whoever he was — his walking papers.

However, because he did play in a game, the Packers still list him on their all-time roster.

Rookies vs. first-year players

Rookies are players in their first year of pro football who have not been on another pro football team's roster for any regular-season or postseason games. First-year players are those who have played in other pro sports leagues (Arena Football League, etc.), have participated in previous NFL training camps, or have been on an NFL team's active, inactive or reserve list fewer than six games.

The rule originated when Lawrence McCutcheon, drafted by the L.A. Rams in 1972, played only three games his "rookie" season, then rushed for 1,097 yards in 1973. Today, due to McCutcheon and because rosters began expanding around the 1970 NFL-AFL merger (reserve lists formalized, etc.), that year is considered the beginning of the rookie rule. So today, for records purposes, the Packers use 1970 as a separator. From 1921-69, anyone who had yet to play three league games was generally considered a rookie.

Shoveling Snow at Lambeau

In a gesture symbolic of a community-owned team, the Packers for more than 37 years have asked citizens to shovel snow off the Lambeau Field bleachers.

Today, if the team needs help, it will place an ad in local papers and issue a press release, reminding fans not to forget to bring their own shovels. The Packers have most recently paid citizens $7/hour for their help.

The Packers haven't activated the plan recently, but the last few calls for snow removal have produced overwhelming numbers. The team usually turns away several hundred fans offering their services.

Fans clear the field and stands before the 1965 NFL championship, Jan. 2, 1966.

The Goalposts

From the Rule Book: "In the plane of each end line, there shall be a centrally placed horizontal crossbar 18 feet 6 inches in length, the top face of which is 10 feet above the ground. The goal is the vertical plane extending indefinitely above the crossbar and between the lines indicated by the outer edges of the goal posts. All goal posts will be the single-standard type, offset from the end line and bright gold in color. The uprights will extend 30 feet above the crossbar and will be no less than 3 inches and no more than 4 inches in diameter. An orange-colored ribbon 4 inches by 42 inches is to be attached to the top of each post."

History: The NFL moved its goal posts from the goal line to the end line prior to the 1974 season. In 1966, the year after Don Chandler's controversial field goal sent a Packers-Colts playoff game into overtime, the league raised the height of the goal posts to "a minimum 20 feet above the crossbar."

Green Bay — Despite a campaign that capped voters concerns over the use of tax money for professional sports, Brown County residents gave the Green Bay Packers a new lease on life on Tuesday, approving a half-cent sales tax to help rebuild aging Lambeau Field.
With a robust turnout, voters cast their lot

A vote for the future: Brown County voters on Sept. 12, 2000, approved a referendum that financed the majority of Lambeau Field's just-completed three-year renovation. The victory capped eight months of campaigning.

2002 Team Notes

QUICKLY: The Packers finished their 82nd NFL season 12-4, claiming the inaugural NFC North Division title, their first division crown since 1997, and 18th overall first-place finish...The team ranked sixth in the conference in total offense and sixth in defense...Green Bay finished in a tie for the NFL's best record, with Philadelphia and Tampa Bay.

CONSECUTIVE 12-WIN SEASONS: For just the second time in franchise history, the Packers posted 12 wins in two straight years (also consecutive 13-3 records, 1996-97).

AT HOME: Few if any coaches consider winning at home more important than Mike Sherman. Since his hiring in 2000, the team is 21-3 at home in the regular season (the NFL's best mark, two games better than Miami's 19-5). At home including postseason, Sherman is 22-4, and 28-4 in all organized games (including 6-0 in preseason).

AT HOME, 2002: Green Bay finished the regular season with the league's only 8-0 home record, the Packers' 11th undefeated home slate. And for the first time since postseason play began in 1933, the Packers did not play in the league championship game after finishing perfect at home. The team enters 2003 with 11 consecutive regular-season home wins.

SCORING STRIKES: The Packers quietly led the league in passing touchdowns (29). For the first time since 1991, three players — Brett Favre, Doug Pederson and Bubba Franks — threw for touchdowns. And, nine players caught touchdowns. In the NFC, only Arizona and Washington (10 each) had more players with touchdown receptions.

ON THE GROUND: Green Bay gained positive yardage on 90.2 percent of its carries, the league's sixth-best mark. Despite weekly adversity in its O-line and offensive backfield, the Packers rushed for 120.8 yards per game, more than any Green Bay team in 17 years, and fifth in the NFC in 2002.

PASSING DEFENSE: The Packers' passing defense (186.7 yards per game) ranked third in the NFL, their highest ranking since leading the league in 1996. In '02, only the Bucs (50.4) allowed a lower completion percentage than Green Bay (54.0).

GOOD PICKINGS: The Packers' 24 interceptions tied the Falcons for third in the NFL, behind Tampa Bay (31) and Baltimore (25). What's more, 11 Packers picked off passes, most since 1989.

Takeaway Town

Green Bay's 45 takeaways in '02 were six more than any team, and the Packers' most in 21 years, since 1981 (54). Since 2001 (plus-29), only the Bucs (plus-34) own a better margin.

TURNOVER RATIO: The Packers finished plus-17, tied with Tampa Bay for the league's best, and the best by a Green Bay team since 1972 (also plus-17). The '02 Packers held at least a share of the NFL lead for the first time since 1965 (plus-24).

TAKEAWAY STREAK: The Packers in their season finale Dec. 29 at the Jets snapped a streak of 26 games with at least one takeaway (including postseason). Then, they followed with another zero-takeaway loss, in the playoffs to the Falcons. Before the Jets game, including playoffs, Green Bay had forced at least one turnover in 35 of its last 36 games.

AFTER THE TURNOVER: The defense allowed points on just 39.3 percent of drives following a Packers turnover (11 scores, 28 turnovers). Only the Eagles (29.2 percent), Giants (37.0) and Chargers (37.5) kept their teams in the game at a better rate.

SINGLE-GAME BINGE: Green Bay's six takeaways vs. Buffalo Dec. 22 were its most in a game since Dec. 12, 1999, a 33-31 home loss to Carolina.

IN THE RED ZONE: The Packers forced nine red-zone turnovers, more than any team. Green Bay had five interceptions and four fumble recoveries on red-zone snaps. The Packers also had the best red-zone percentage, .164 (55 penetrations).

TURNOVER-FREE: The Packers on two occasions — both on the road in wet conditions, at New England (10/13) and at San Francisco (12/15) — played turnover-free football. The Packers now have won 13 consecutive zero-turnover games, since a loss Dec. 1, 1997, at Minnesota (14 including playoffs). Mike Sherman is now 7-0 when his club plays without a giveaway.

The NFL's largest employer

Since 2000, no NFL seamstress has sewn more names onto jerseys than the Packers' Marge Switzer. In that span, Green Bay is known to have led the league in players.

In 2002 alone, no other team listed more players on its participation chart (every player under contract — active, reserve, practice squad — from Kickoff Weekend to season's end):

Green Bay	89
Carolina	80
Atlanta	80
N.Y. Giants	80

GREEN BAY 37, ATLANTA 34 (OT)

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Sept. 8, 2002. Attendance: 63,127. Time: 3:36. Kickoff Weather: 83° F; Humidity: 64 percent; Wind: SW 9. GREEN BAY (AP) — Ryan Longwell's 34-yard field goal with 5:15 left in overtime gave Green Bay a 37-34 victory over the Atlanta Falcons on a steamy Sunday at Lambeau Field.

Atlanta's Jay Feely tied the game with a 52-yard field goal with five seconds left in regulation. That capped a drive that followed William Henderson's dive into the end zone on fourth-and-inches with 1:10 left that had given Green Bay a 34-31 lead.

The Packers avenged their only 2001 home loss behind Brett Favre, who completed 25-of-36 passes for 284 yards and two touchdowns, and Ahman Green, who rushed 27 times for 155 yards.

Henderson was stuffed at the line but, still on top of bodies, he lunged the ball past the plane. Following a replay review of several minutes, referee Ron Winter said: "There is no indisputable evidence to change the call." Henderson's TD capped a 14-play, 80-yard drive that began after Warrick Dunn's second TD, a 2-yard scamper with eight minutes left that put Atlanta ahead 31-27. But the Falcons drove 35 yards in six plays to get into position for Feely's 52-yarder that easily cleared the crossbar.

Favre's new trio of targets came up big. Donald Driver had seven catches for 78 yards, Terry Glenn had two catches for 60 yards, and Javon Walker caught four passes for 56 yards and a touchdown. Green, who left briefly in the second half with cramps, added six catches for 42 yards. The temperature at kickoff was 83 degrees, tied for the warmest ever opening day in Green

NEW ORLEANS 35, GREEN BAY 20

Louisiana Superdome, Sunday, Sept. 15, 2002. Attendance: 67,958. Time: 3:07. Kickoff Weather: (indoors)

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Aaron Brooks, who led the Saints to a 21-3 first-half lead, including an eight-play touchdown drive on his team's first possession, became the first of Brett Favre's former backups to defeat him since Ty Detmer in 1994.

The Saints (2-0) used their pressure defense to keep the Packers (1-1) in check. Green Bay gained 357 yards in total offense, but converted just 22 percent of its third-down attempts (2-of-9), compared to 70 percent for the Saints, who also had 357 yards total.

Favre, who was 9-0 in the Superdome coming in, including preseason games, a Super Bowl win, and two college victories, was on the run all game. He was 29-of-44 for 270 yards and two touchdowns, but was sacked once and broke his string of 158 straight passes without an interception. Favre also had two intentional grounding calls against him.

The Packers' first touchdown came after Darren Sharper's interception and ensuing 44-yard return set up Green Bay inside the Saints' 15. One play later, Favre hit a leaping Terry Glenn for a 14-yard score with 40 seconds left to make it 21-10 at the break.

Just over a minute into the second half, Keyon Craver picked up a fumble by Glenn and returned it 38 yards to increase the New Orleans advantage. But Favre made it 28-17 on a 26-yard TD pass to Donald Driver. Favre was 4-for-4 for 65 yards on the 71-yard drive.

In the second quarter, the Packers lost starting right tackle Mark Tauscher for the season with multiple knee ligament injuries.

Ford Field, Sunday, Sept. 22, 2002. Attendance: 61,505. Time: 3:26. Kickoff Weather: (indoors)

DETROIT (AP) — Brett Favre threw for 357 yards and three touchdowns as the Packers held off the Lions, 37-31, in Ford Field's first official game, spoiling rookie Joey Harrington's first start. Green Bay (2-1) led by 17 early in the final quarter, but Detroit (0-3) scored two TDs, including a 52-yard pass to James Stewart with 1:37 left to cut the deficit to 34-31. Darren Sharper then secured an onside kick. Ryan Longwell kicked a 47-yard field goal and Tod McKenzie sealed the Lions' fate, picking off Harrington's final pass.

Favre completed 31 of 47 attempts and on his first scoring toss, he moved past Warren Moon for fourth on the NFL's all-time touchdown-pass list with 292. Green Bay played minus injured running back Ahman Green, out with a quadriceps injury. Najeh Davenport carried the load and ran for 84 yards on 22 carries. Bubba Franks and Donald Driver also turned in big games.

After Detroit took a punt-return reverse 72 yards for the game's final points, Green Bay bounced back when Steve Warren tipped a Harrington pass at the line and Marques Anderson, making his pro debut, picked it off and raced 78 yards.

GREEN BAY 17, CAROLINA 14

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Sept. 29, 2002. Attendance: 63,329. Time: 3:22. Kickoff Weather: 65° F; Humidity: 87 percent; Wind: SE 5 mph

GREEN BAY (AP) — Ten years and two days after becoming Green Bay's starting quarterback — and starting every game since — Brett Favre found Donald Driver for a 22-yard touchdown with 4:10 left, leading the Packers to a 17-14 win over the undefeated Panthers.

Shayne Graham, signed by Carolina two days earlier to bolster its kicking game, missed a 24-yard field goal with 13 seconds left that would have tied the game.

Favre surpassed Joe Montana (3,409) for fifth place on the all-time completions list, and played in his 163rd consecutive game, establishing the third-longest streak in team history behind Forrest Gregg (187) and Willie Wood (166). The veteran also engineered his 25th career fourth-quarter comeback win.

Driver had the first two-touchdown game of his career — though he caught the first one from Bubba Franks on a trick play in the second quarter. With less than two minutes left in the half, Favre took the snap at the Carolina 36, dropped back a couple of yards and threw the ball to Franks. Franks then found Driver for a 31-yard touchdown pass. Officials initially said the Packers had thrown two forward passes, drawing a loud chorus of boos. Mike Sherman was called for unsportsmanlike conduct for charging onto the field. But replays clearly showed Favre's pass to Franks was backward, and officials agreed after reviewing the play.

Early-season injuries forced five Packers starters — William Henderson, Mark Tauscher, Terry Glenn, Ronnie Holliday and Antuan Edwards — out of the lineup. Injuries also kept three key reserves — Kaber Gbaja-Biamila, David Martin and Javon Walker — in street clothes, while Glenn and Marco Rivera did not finish.

GREEN BAY 34, CHICAGO 21

Memorial Stadium (Champaign, Mon., Oct. 7, 2002. Attend: 63,226. Time: 3:19. Kickoff Weather: 46° F; Humid: 61 percent; Wind: W 5

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Brett Favre passed for three first-half touchdowns to lead Green Bay to a 34-21 victory over the Bears, running his career record to 17-4 against Chicago.

Needing just 262 yards coming in to reach 40,000 career yards, Favre got there by halftime. He became the eighth overall, and third fastest to reach the milestone, in his 166th career game. Only Dan Marino (153 games) and Warren Moon (165) got there quicker.

The quarterback threw an 85-yard TD pass to Donald Driver in the first quarter — the second longest of Favre's career — and the Packers (4-1) took a 24-14 halftime lead. His longest TD pass was a 99-yarder to Robert Brooks in 1995. Against the Bears, of course.

Green Bay took control in the third quarter when Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila intercepted Chicago's Jim Miller and lumbered 72 yards for a touchdown as the Bears (2-3) lost their third straight. Starting defensive end Joe Johnson, lost for the season minutes later with a tripe injury, hit Miller to force the pivotal interception.

The win was Green Bay's 15th in its last 17 meetings with the Bears, this one coming on the grasslike artificial surface at the University of Illinois, where Chicago is playing while workers overhaul Soldier Field. Favre has directed nine straight road victories over the Bears.

GREEN BAY 28, NEW ENGLAND 10

Gillette Stadium, Sunday, Oct. 13, 2002. Attendance: 68,436. Time: 3:12. Kickoff Weather: 61° F; Humidity: 100 pct.; Wind: ENE 10

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Brett Favre threw three touchdown passes, giving him 301 for his career and leading the Green Bay Packers past the New England Patriots 28-10. Tom Brady, the Super Bowl MVP, threw three interceptions.

Favre moved into third place, ahead of John Elway's 300 scoring passes, and trails only Dan Marino's 420 and Fran Tarkenton's 342. The Packers (5-1) won their fourth straight as Ahman Green rushed for 136 yards and scored two touchdowns. The Patriots turned over the ball four times, lost two of the three replay reviews and committed critical penalties that led to two touchdowns.

The Patriots couldn't exploit a subpar Packers defense missing three starting defensive backs and starting defensive ends Joe Johnson and Vonnie Holiday. In fact, Green Bay turned in its best defensive effort, allowing just 4.3 yards per play.

With third-and-5 at the New England 16 and the Patriots ahead 3-0, Donald Driver caught a pass from Favre, but side judge Tom Hill ruled Driver was juggling the ball as he was pushed out of bounds at the 5. Mike Sherman's replay challenge overturned that, then Favre hit William Henderson for the touchdown.

Brady's first interception, by Bryant Westbrook — who'd signed with Green Bay four days earlier — ended the opening possession of the game at the Packers 43.

Late in the second quarter, Kevin Faulk dropped Brady's backward pass and Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila recovered on the Patriots 8, after rookie Marques Anderson alerted his teammates to the live ball. On the next play, Favre threw to Green for a 14-3 lead.

GREEN BAY 30, WASHINGTON 9

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Oct. 20, 2002. Attendance: 63,363. Time: 3:15. Kickoff Weather: 44° F; Humidity: 47 pct; Wind: NW 15 mph

GREEN BAY (AP) — Brett Favre hobbled off the field, leaving the Green Bay Packers to wonder how long they might be without their star quarterback. Favre, who started for the 164th consecutive time, sprained his left knee when LaVar Arrington sacked him in Green Bay's 30-9 victory over the Washington Redskins.

The Pro Bowl quarterback came out in the third quarter, was carted off the sideline and did not return. The next day, a magnetic resonance imaging test revealed no serious damage to the knee.

Ahman Green had the first three-touchdown rushing performance of his career, helping the Packers (6-1) to their fifth straight victory. Green ran for 88 yards on 24 carries and scored on runs of 24, 2 and 8 yards, the last one following Redskins quarterback Patrick Ramsey's fifth sack and third fumble, which was recovered by Rod Walker at the Washington 23 in the fourth quarter.

Backup Doug Pederson replaced Favre, the NFC's leading passer at age 33, who was carted off the sideline to a standing ovation from the record crowd of 63,363 at Lambeau Field.

Favre finished 11-for-14 for 89 yards and left with Green Bay ahead 17-6. Pederson was 9-of-15 for 78 yards, leading the Packers to two field goals and one touchdown in five series.

This was just the fourth time during the streak that Favre didn't complete the game because of injury. He was hurt against Minnesota in 1994 and '95, and against Tampa Bay in 2000.

GREEN BAY 24, MIAMI 10

Lambeau Field, Monday, Nov. 4, 2002. Attendance: 63,284. Time: 3:21. Kickoff Weather: 30° F; Wind: SE 6 mph; 28° Wind

GREEN BAY (AP) — Brett Favre didn't seem bothered by his sprained left knee as he guided Green Bay to a 24-10 victory over the Miami Dolphins. Favre, knocked out of his last start, extended his NFL record for consecutive regular season starts by a quarterback to 165. He overcame an early interception in the end zone to lead the Packers to their sixth straight victory. The Packers, who have the NFL's best record at 7-1, also recorded four more takeaways to increase their league-leading total to 27.

The Dolphins (5-3) had hoped Cris Carter would provide a similar spark as he came out of retirement in hopes of helping them to a championship. But Carter fumbled away his first reception, leading to Green Bay's first touchdown, and he was the intended target on an interception by Nate Wayne in the second half. He finished with three inconsequential catches for 31 yards.

Darren Sharper stepped in front of a pass by Ray Lucas and returned it 89 yards for a touchdown as the third quarter expired, giving Green Bay a 24-0 lead. Olindo Mare kicked a 46-yard field goal in the fourth quarter and Miami finally got into the end zone on Lucas' 1-yard keeper with 1:31 left — the first TD in eight quarters against Green Bay's defense.

Ahman Green accounted for all but 18 of the Packers' first-half yards. His 23-yard TD reception and 1-yard scoring run gave Green Bay a 14-0 halftime lead. The Packers, who have been down as many as seven starters during their six-game winning streak, had everybody back, including Chad Clifton, Mike McKenzie, Sharper and Vonnie Holliday.

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Nov. 10, 2002. Attendance: 63,313. Time: 3:30. Kickoff Weather: 50° F; Humidity: 86 percent; Wind: NE 6 mph

GREEN BAY (AP) — Brett Favre threw for 351 yards and two touchdowns, leading Green Bay to a 40-14 rout of the Detroit Lions. The Packers improved their NFL-best record to 8-1 while taking a five-game lead over second-place Detroit (3-6) in the NFC North.

After Ahmad Green (concussion) and Najeh Davenport (foot) left with injury, coach Mike Sherman took no more chances with Favre, who guided Green Bay on seven scoring drives in 10 possessions and completed 26 of 39 passes. He had 295 yards passing by half-time, a career-best. Donald Driver caught 11 passes for 130 yards and Ryan Longwell kicked four field goals in Green Bay's seventh straight victory — the team's longest streak within a season since 1963.

Former Packer Bill Schroeder had no catches and three drops, one of which was intercepted by rookie Marques Anderson and returned for a touchdown. Anderson also returned an interception for a TD in Green Bay's 37-31 victory at Detroit on Sept. 22. His score was part of a 27-point second quarter by the Packers, whose defense stiffened after allowing Joey Harrington's 64-yard touchdown pass to Az-Zahir Hakim on Detroit's first offensive play.

Favre threw an apparent 47-yard touchdown pass to Terry Glenn, who hauled in the pass at the 20 and dived at the 5-yard-line, slamming the ball just inside the pylon as he tumbled out of bounds. After a review, the officials ruled that Glenn's other elbow hit the ground inches shy of the goal line. Davenport went in from there for a 30-7 halftime lead.

MINNESOTA 31, GREEN BAY 21

HHH Metrodome, Sunday, Nov. 17, 2002. Attendance: 64,153. Time: 3:15. Kickoff Weather: (indoors)

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Daunte Culpepper threw for two touchdowns and ran for another, and the Vikings intercepted Brett Favre three times in a 31-21 victory. The Packers (8-2) have lost nine of their last 11 at the Metrodome and missed out on a chance to become the earliest team to clinch a division title in a 16-game season.

Michael Bennett's 62-yard run just before the 2-minute warning in the fourth quarter set up a 3-yard touchdown run by Moe Williams for the Vikings (3-7), which put the game out of reach.

Down by two scores in the third, Favre threw a 24-yard pass to Tyrone Davis on fourth-and-1. After Lance Johnstone's second third-down roughing-the-passer penalty, Favre found Bubba Franks for a 1-yard TD pass that cut the lead to 21-14.

Minnesota's Greg Biekert intercepted Favre twice, but both times Culpepper gave Green Bay the ball right back. Biekert returned his second pick to the Green Bay 5, but Culpepper fumbled the snap on third-and-goal at the 1, and Marques Anderson recovered.

Early in the fourth, Favre completed a third-and-10 pass to Donald Driver, whose catch and run turned into an 84-yard TD that tied the game at 21. But Gary Anderson's 32-yard field goal with 7:16 left put the Vikings up 24-21, and then their defense forced Favre into two straight three-and-outs before Bennett's run put the game away.

Raymond James Stadium, Sunday, Nov. 24, 2002. Attend: 65,672. Time: 3:01. Kickoff Weather: 70° F; Humidity: 63 percent; Wind: W 5 TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Tampa Bay intercepted Brett Favre four times and Brad Johnson threw two second-half touchdown passes as the Buccaneers beat the Packers 21-7 in a meeting of the teams with the best record in the league.

Favre was sacked three times and had little success against the vaunted Bucs defense after taking advantage of Tampa Bay's only turnover to give the Packers (8-3) a 7-0 lead in the first quarter.

Brian Kelly had two interceptions, setting up Tampa Bay's first TD and stopping another drive deep in Bucs territory with Favre working feverishly to try to wipe out a two-touchdown deficit in the last five minutes.

Favre, who dropped to 0-5 at Raymond James Stadium, threw a 4-yard TD pass to Donald Driver, his 20th of the season, giving him nine consecutive years with 20 or more — one shy of the NFL record set by Dan Marino from 1983-92. Linebacker Na'il Diggs set up the score with his 29-yard return of an interception that glanced off Keyshawn Johnson after Tampa Bay had marched from its own 20 to the Green Bay 33.

The Packers also sacked Rob Johnson twice to stop another promising drive and Brad Johnson (eye injury) re-entered the game after Tampa Bay's backup was unable to move the ball on the Bucs' first possession in the second quarter.

The Bucs (9-2) went ahead when coach Jon Gruden successfully challenged a ruling that Jurevicius didn't get both feet down in the end zone on his TD catch.

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 1, 2002. Attend: 64,196. Time: 3:05. Kickoff Weather: 23° F; Humidity: 60 pct; Wind SW 10mph; 13° wind

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Packers won their first division title in five years by forcing five turnovers and getting an outstanding performance by rookie running back Tony Fisher in a 30-20 victory over the Chicago Bears on Sunday.

Fisher, an undrafted free agent from Notre Dame, replaced Ahman Green, who hurt his left knee in the third quarter. Fisher ran 17 times for 91 yards and a touchdown. The Packers (9-3), who were coming off two straight losses, clinched the NFC North.

On a cold, windy day at Lambeau Field, Brett Favre threw two second-half touchdown passes and beat the Bears for the 18th time in 22 tries. The Packers (9-3) trailed 14-6 at halftime and appeared on their way to another defeat until Rod Walker recovered Jim Miller's fumbled snap at the Green Bay 1 early in the third quarter. It came one play after Marty Booker's apparent touchdown catch was called an incomplection, and the Bears lost a challenge. Green Bay then drove 90 yards — with Fisher accounting for half of them — and went ahead for the first time on Ryan Longwell's 27-yard field goal that made it 16-14. Favre added an 8-yard touchdown toss to Bubba Franks, and Fisher scored from 2 yards out with 1:10 left to make it 30-14.

Fisher was third on the depth chart until fellow rookie Najeh Davenport was lost for the season two weeks ago with a fractured left eye socket. Green hurt his left knee when he was tackled by Mike Brown at the end of a 29-yard run early in the third quarter.

GREEN BAY 26, MINNESOTA 22

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 8, 2002. Attend: 64,070. Time: 3:01. Kickoff Weather: 11° F; Humidity: 55 pct; Wind W 5 mph; 6° wind

GREEN BAY (AP) — Tony Fisher's 14-yard touchdown run with 1:06 left gave Green Bay its first lead and a 26-22 victory over the Vikings on Sunday night. Darren Sharper picked off Daunte Culpepper's desperation pass as time expired and returned the ball 66 yards before finally going down at the Minnesota 16. The victory by the Packers (10-3) enabled them to keep pace with Philadelphia and Tampa Bay for homefield in the NFC playoffs. By 30 days, this was the latest in the year that the league had ever scheduled a night game in Green Bay, and the temperature at kickoff was 11 degrees.

The Packers never led until Fisher's game-winning TD on first-and-10 from the 14. Green Bay got the ball at its 15 with 4:32 left. An interception by Jack Brewer with 2:12 remaining was negated by Corey Chavous' pass interference on Donald Driver, giving Green Bay the ball at the Minnesota 25. After Brett Favre made a first down with an 8-yard scramble on third-and-7, Fisher scored on the next play.

Fisher, a rookie free agent from Notre Dame who was making his first career start in place of Ahman Green (knee), finished with a career-high 96 yards on 25 carries. Robert Ferguson also set career highs with six receptions for 105 yards and the first two-touchdown game of his career. His 40-yard score pulled Green Bay to 22-20 with 10:48 left. His second score came when he caught the ball at the 20 on a broken play and raced to the right sideline, then dived the final 5 yards into the end zone.

GREEN BAY 20, SAN FRANCISCO 14

49ers Stadium, Sunday, Dec. 15, 2002. Attend: 67,947. Time: 2:45. Kickoff Weather: 58° F; Humidity: 86 percent; Wind S 22

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Brett Favre passed for 201 yards in a steady downpour, and the Green Bay defense stopped one last rain-soaked drive at its own 11 with 22 seconds left as the Packers beat San Francisco 20-14 on Sunday.

Ahman Green ran for 90 yards and a touchdown, and Donald Driver caught a TD pass as the Packers shrugged off the peltin rain and swirling wind to get 17 points in the second half while holding San Francisco scoreless in the fourth quarter.

Green Bay (11-3) won its third straight while limiting the Niners' offense to 263 total yards and earning homefield advantage in any possible playoff meeting between the teams.

After Ryan Longwell's 28-yard field goal with 4:41 left, Jeff Garcia drove the 49ers from their 26 to the 11 before throwing three incompletions, including a low throw under pressure to Eric Johnson on fourth down.

Terrell Owens caught eight passes for 75 yards and a touchdown — which he punctuated with a pompom-waving celebration — but the 49ers struggled to move the ball.

The Packers immediately took control after halftime, and Favre broke through a conservative game plan to throw downfield. Favre led a 79-yard drive from the kickoff, with Green scoring on a 9-yard run.

When San Francisco got the ball back, Garcia threw a pass as he was being tackled — and it ricocheted off the back of offensive guard Matt Willis and into the hands of Vonnie Holliday, who lateralled the ball to Na'il Diggs for a long return. Favre then struck again, hitting Driver for a 5-yard TD that put Green Bay up 17-6.

GREEN BAY 10, BUFFALO 0

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 22, 2002. Attend: 64,106. Time: 3:00. Kickoff Weather: 27° F; Humidity: 66 percent; Wind W 25 mph; 13° wind chill

GREEN BAY (AP) — Vonnie Holliday's record-setting day helped the Packers finish perfect at home. Holliday broke Bryce Paup's mark by sacking Drew Bledsoe five times, forcing him to fumble on three of them, in Green Bay's 10-0 victory over the Bills. Holliday's first forced fumble led to Green Bay's only TD and his last one ended Buffalo's hopes with 1:13 left and the Bills at the Green Bay 17.

The Packers (12-3) became the only NFL team to win all their home games in 2002. Green Bay also lost its best defender, safety Darren Sharper, who sprained his right knee on his league-leading seventh interception, in the first half.

The Bills (7-8) saw their playoff hopes crushed when Donald Driver caught an 11-yard touchdown pass from Brett Favre with 7:23 remaining. The score came one play after cornerback Nate Clements thought he had a long touchdown on a fumble return, but the officials ruled that Ahman Green had dropped the pass, on a windy, cold day.

Holliday, plagued by a torn chest muscle and a sprained knee this season, had just one sack coming into the game. He took off a restrictive shoulder harness last week against doctors' orders and had a solid game against San Francisco. He broke Bryce Paup's club record of four-and-a-half sacks (Sept. 15, 1991 vs. TB). Ezra Johnson (Sept. 3, 1978, at Det.) and Dave Purefory (Dec. 14, 1975, at LARm) also had five sacks, but the stat didn't become official until 1982. Holliday also dropped an interception at the Bills 20 with Green Bay clinging to a 3-0 lead early in the fourth quarter.

N.Y. JETS 42, GREEN BAY 17

Midwaylands, Sunday, Dec. 29, 2002. Attendance: 78,733. Time: 2:59. Kickoff Weather: 40° F; Humidity: 62 percent; Wind NW 12 mph; 33° wind

East Rutherford, N.J. (AP) — On their way to winning the AFC East, the New York Jets also prevented the Packers from securing home-field advantage in the NFC. Green Bay was also left with only one guaranteed home playoff game, after Tampa Bay won later in the evening. Philadelphia took the NFC's No. 1 seed, while the Buccaneers got No. 2. The Jets (9-7) needed help on the final day of a wacky season, and they got it from their archrivals, the New England Patriots. New York won for the eighth time in their last 11 games behind more sensational work by quarterback Chad Pennington, the AFC's leading passer who tied a career high with four touchdown passes.

In winning only their second division title, the Jets also knocked the defending champion Patriots and the Miami Dolphins out of the playoffs. The rout was far less dramatic than the New York Giants' 10-7 overtime victory over Philadelphia on the same field Saturday. But both New York teams are heading to the postseason together for the first time in 16 years, and the Eagles were not damaged by their loss the way Green Bay was by its defeat.

Whenever threatened by Green Bay (12-4), the spunky Jets responded. The Packers finished the first half with a touchdown drive that was vintage Brett Favre, but the Jets moved 60 yards in six plays with the second-half kickoff to Curtis Martin's touchdown run.

Green Bay closed to 14-10 at halftime on a 76-yard drive that took 95 seconds. Hanging tough in a collapsing pocket, Favre hit Terry Glenn for 21 yards, then rookie Javon Walker for 23 on fourth-and-10. Favre's bullet pass to the corner of the end zone hit Glenn perfectly with 5 seconds left in the half.

GREEN BAY (AP) — Undaunted by the storied stadium where his own coach lost in the "Ice Bowl" 35 years ago, Michael Vick made history of his own. The 22-year-old led Atlanta to a 27-7 upset of the Packers in a wild-card playoff before a record crowd of 65,358 stunned souls. The Packers (12-5) were the only team to go unbeaten at home during the regular season. And they had never lost a home playoff game since the NFL instituted a postseason in 1933, going 13-0 — 11 of the victories at Lambeau and two more in Milwaukee. The closest they had come was on New Year's Eve 1967, when Bart Starr knifed into the end zone with 13 seconds left to give Green Bay a 21-17 victory over Dallas in the coldest game in NFL history.

Brett Favre had won all 35 of his starts at home in which the temperature was 34 or below. This time, he was without Pro Bowl running back Ahman Green (knee) and leading receivers Donald Driver (shoulder) and Terry Glenn (concussion) in a futile second-half comeback attempt. The Packers, who just one week ago still had a shot at the home-field advantage, began their offseason much sooner than anyone expected. Pro Bowl safety Darren Sharper (knee) was unable to play, leaving the Packers without their fastest defender.

On the second play from scrimmage, Falcons center Todd McClure cut-blocked nose tackle Gilbert Brown, who went to the sideline for the most of the game. Then, Mark Simoneau beat the Packers' protection and blocked Josh Bidwell's punt near Green Bay's end zone and Artie Ulmer smothered the loose ball for a 14-0 lead. Kevin McCadam pushed Tyrone Williams into Green Bay punt returner Eric Metcalf. Falcons fullback George Layne recovered the muffed punt, and four plays later, the Falcons made it 21-0 when T.J. Duckett carried the pile 6 yards into the end zone. The fervent Falcons then stopped the Packers with a goal-line stand, nose tackle Ellis Johnson dumping Green for a 4-yard loss on fourth down. Over Favre's career, the Packers had scored 48 touchdowns and one field goal when they had first-and-goal.

Favre hit Driver with a 14-yard touchdown on the first drive after halftime, but Driver re-injured his dislocated shoulder on the play. It was the 13th straight playoff game in which Favre threw for a TD, tying Dan Marino's NFL record.

Johnny Blood

In 1922 while in college at St. John's (Minn.), John McNally had the chance to pick up some extra cash playing pro ball for the Duluth Eskimos.

Problem was, college players were not allowed on pro teams. In order to keep his eligibility, he needed an alias.

Allegedly, he and a teammate were strolling through Collegeville, Minn., and noticed a marquee advertising the movie Blood and Sand, starring Rudolph Valentino. McNally got his alias, dubbed his buddy "Sand," and lived the rest of his colorful life to its fullest.

Herber-to-Hutson: Did you know?

The Packers' Arnie Herber became the NFL's first long-bomb passer, and he did it with unusually small hands. At Green Bay West High School, Herber learned he could improve his distance and accuracy by palming the ball, rather than using the laces. His most-feared target, the incomparable Don Hutson, had flat feet, and trainers had to tape them in a special way. That taping job gave Hutson a strange running motion, which totally stumped opponents, because his loping style disguised his true speed.

President Kennedy assists Packers to 1961 championship

Vince Lombardi won an incredible nine straight postseason games, a streak he might not have launched without the help of President John F. Kennedy. The 1961 NFL championship took place during the Berlin Crisis, and the United States had called Ray Nitschke, Paul Hornung and Boyd Dowler into service. With Lombardi's persistence, Nitschke and Dowler obtained special weekend passes to play. Private Hornung, however, wasn't released until Lombardi called an old acquaintance, Kennedy.

"Paul Hornung isn't going to win the war on Sunday, but the football fans of this country deserve the two best teams on the field that day," Kennedy assured Lombardi, days before the game against the New York Giants.

The best team was Green Bay, by a 37-0 count, and after Kennedy released Hornung, the Golden Boy scored 19 points, an NFL title game record.

The Berlin Crisis pitted the U.S. against East Germany for several months, until the East German government backed down. The crisis ended in the summer of 1962. Kennedy visited Berlin and delivered a famous speech before he died in 1963.

Carried off the field

The Packers played a major role in launching the football tradition of carrying a coach off the field after a significant victory. The Packers lifted Vince Lombardi after at least five games (believed to be an NFL record). His players carried him (1) after his first NFL victory, a 9-6 win in his Packers debut, in Green Bay, Sept. 27, 1959, vs. Chicago; (2) after his first NFL championship, a 37-0 win over the Giants in Green Bay, Dec. 31, 1961; (3) after his third NFL championship, a 23-12 win over the Browns in Green Bay, Jan. 2, 1966; (4) after his fourth NFL championship, a 34-27 win over the Cowboys at the Dallas Cotton Bowl, Jan. 1, 1967; and (5) after his last game as Packers head coach, a 33-14 win over the Raiders in Super Bowl II at Miami's Orange Bowl, Jan. 14, 1968.

Nearly 30 years later, the Packers carried Mike Holmgren (below) after a 35-21 win over New England in Super Bowl XXXI, at the Louisiana Superdome.

Two great defensive backs, two good eyes

Bobby Dillon and Irv Comp, two of the leading interceptors in Packers history, had only two good eyes between them. Dillon, the team's all-time career leader with 52 thefts, played with a glass eye, after suffering an accident in childhood. Comp, who established the single-season franchise record with 10 interceptions in 1943, also was blind in one eye.

Memorable Vince Lombardi quotes

There is no substitute for work; it is the price of success.

Fatigue makes cowards of us all; high physical condition is vital to victory.

Two or three plays in a game spell victory or defeat; you never know when that play is coming up.

A winning football team must avoid mistakes with a passion; treat mistakes with a vengeance.

The harder a man works, the harder it is to surrender.

The goal line is the moment of truth; there is no room for a timid person there.

Every play must be considered a game breaker.

Physical pressure on an opponent is necessary; mental pressure will make him crack.

Desire is a hate for your opponent.

Football is a game of inches and inches make a champion.

Defeat must be admitted before it is reality.

If two teams are the same in physical ability, it is the team with pride that rakes in the chips.

Desire is cold fury burning within a man.

Every man must leave the field with the feeling that every spectator is convinced they have seen the best player in the country.

Pride is what causes a winning team performance.

Maybe winning isn't everything, but it sure comes way ahead of whatever is second.

On the goal line, the defense must attack.

Pursuit is an all out effort on defense.

Our greatest glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall. If the defense is scattered all over the field, it means that they are either confused, tired, or without desire.

Want it; desire it; earn it; take it.

Anything is ours providing we're willing to pay the price.

You must forget about being cautious or you are licked before you start.

Mental attitude is 75 percent of winning.

You need fear nothing as long as you are aggressive and keep going.

Football desire is built on pride and effort forged by raw combat.

We have been accused of playing mean, vicious, hungry football. It has been said we only play to win. How else is there to play?

You never lose a game if your opponent doesn't score.

Winning is a habit.

Covering kicks is football's biggest test of courage.

Good fellows are a dime a dozen; aggressive leaders are priceless.

You must force things to happen; you must grab the initiative.

You win games with aggressiveness and precise execution, not gimmicks.

Desire is a constant thing.

Confidence is contagious; so is a lack of confidence.

Pursuit is the shortest course to the ball carrier and arriving there in bad humor.

You will find the extent of a man's determination on the goal line.

Year-by-Year

Packers spring mini-camp history

Dan Devine coached collegiately for 16 years (Arizona State, Missouri) before Green Bay hired him in 1971. Shortly after his arrival, he implemented a college tradition: spring practice. That April, Devine took his new players to the University of Texas at Arlington and the Packers' first mini-camp, where he got his first look at No. 1 draft choice John Brockington. The team has held mini-camps every year since '71. In 1977, the Packers' revolutionary indoor facility allowed spring practice in Green Bay. However, the team migrated again to the Phoenix area in 1994, while workers completed the spectacular Don Hutson Center.

Year-by-Year

NOTE: Total Offense from 1932-49 includes lateral statistics, a category eliminated before the 1950 season. In 1947, the league began charting "yards lost attempting to pass." Passing figures from 1932-46 do not include this number. Totals from 1947-2002 are NET figures; passing totals from 1932-46 are GROSS. In 1963, Elias Sports Bureau and the NFL changed "yards attempting to pass" to "team sacks." In 1982, Elias officially began keeping individual sacks.

NOTE: Total Defense from 1932-49 includes lateral statistics, a category eliminated before the 1950 season. In 1947, the league began charting yards lost attempting to pass. Passing figures from 1932-46 do not include this number. Totals from 1947-2002 are NET figures; passing totals from 1932-46 are GROSS. In 1963, Elias Sports Bureau and the NFL changed yards attempting to pass to "team sacks." In 1982, Elias officially began keeping individual sacks.

Vince Lombardi Trophy

The Vince Lombardi Trophy, given annually to the Super Bowl champion, was re-named in honor of the former Packers coach shortly after his death in 1970, before Super Bowl V.

The gesture, made by commissioner Pete Rozelle, was arguably the greatest tribute in NFL history.

Each trophy, molded and customized every year for the Super Bowl champion, is sterling silver, created by Tiffany & Company. Three concave sides form a pyramid, which supports a life-size, regulation football.

The icon is 20.75 inches in height, weighs 107.3 ounces and is valued at more than $10,000.

Don Hutson's first NFL Reception, 1935

On the day's first play, vs. the Bears Sept. 22, 1935, at City Stadium, Don Hutson caught an 83-yard touchdown pass from Arnie Herber. Bears safety Beattie Feathers bought Herber's fake to Johnny Blood, springing Hutson, who was making his first NFL start after his debut the previous week. True Sport said Herber's pass covered 66 yards in the air. Green Bay won, 7-0.

Plane Pioneers

The Packers in 1938 became the first NFL team to fly to a road game. Fearing an air disaster would wipe out the entire team, the NFL forced the Packers to split the squad, and fly on two DC-3's (at right, Coach Curly Lambeau posed with half his team and their plane at Austin Straubel Field before a road trip in the early 1940s).

In those days, many fans turned out to see the humongous plane, more than the team. Players also took out life insurance policies. Al Carmichael and Howie Ferguson, for instance, each took out $50,000 policies, making each other the beneficiary. Players dined on food such as overtime cocktail grilled sirloin.

TWELVE TIMES WORLD CHAMPIONS

The Green Bay Packers have won more championships — 12 — than any other team in National Football League history.

- ▶ They won their first three by league standing (1929, 1930 and 1931), and nine since the NFL's playoff system was established in 1933 (1936, 1939, 1944, 1961, 1962, 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1996).
- ▶ Green Bay also is the only NFL team to win three straight titles, having done it twice (1929-30-31 and 1965-66-67).
- ▶ In addition, the Packers won the first two Super Bowls (over Kansas City in 1966, 35-10, and over Oakland in 1967, 33-14), as well as a more recent one (over New England in 1996, 35-21).
- ▶ Since the league implemented a playoff system in 1933, the Packers have played in the NFL's deciding game 12 times (10 NFL title appearances from 1936-67, two Super Bowls after the 1970 merger). Only the Giants (17) have played for more titles.

SUPER BOWL I

GREEN BAY 35, KANSAS CITY 10

Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, Sunday, Jan. 15, 1967; Attendance: 61,946; Weather: 72° F; sunny, hazy

The Packers launched the Super Bowl series by whipping Kansas City's AFL champions, 35-10, behind Bart Starr, Max McGee and a key interception by All-Pro safety Willie Wood.

Vince Lombardi's repeating NFL champions broke open the game with three second-half touchdowns. Wood set up the first, returning an interception 50 yards to the Chiefs' 5, with the Packers up only 14-10. Len Dawson's pass was intended for Kansas City tight end Fred Arbanas.

McGee, replacing Boyd Dowler (injured on the Packers' first series), after having caught only four passes all season, snared seven from Starr for 138 yards and two touchdowns. Elijah Pitts ran for two other scores, one on a 5-yard run in the third quarter, the other on a 1-yard bolt in the final period.

The Chiefs' only touchdown came on a 7-yard pass from Dawson to Curtis McClinton.

Starr, the game's first MVP, completed 16 of 23 passes for 250 yards and two TD. The aging McGee caught both scores, 37 yards in the first quarter and a 13-yard catch in the decisive third period.

The Packers collected $15,000 per man and the Chiefs $7,500 apiece — the largest single-game shares in the history of team sports at the time. The game was not a sellout; more than 30,000 seats remained empty.

SUPER BOWL II

GREEN BAY 33, OAKLAND 14

Miami Orange Bowl, Sunday, Jan. 14, 1968; Attendance: 75,546; Time: 2:34; Weather: 68° F; PC, 52% humidity, wind W 14 mph

Acquiring a third straight NFL championship two weeks earlier, the Packers embellished that record-tying parlay by winning a second consecutive Super Bowl. This time, they dispatched the AFL champion Raiders, 33-14, in a game that drew the first $3-million gate in football history.

Bart Starr again earned the game's most valuable player as he completed 13 of 24 passes for 202 yards and one touchdown, and directed a Packers attack that was in control all the way after building a 16-7 half-time lead.

Don Chandler kicked four field goals (39, 20, 43 and 31 yards), and All-Pro cornerback Herb Adderley returned a Darryle Lamonica interception 60 yards for a touchdown.

Leading 3-0 at the quarter, the Packers got three Chandler field goals and a 62-yard scoring pass from Starr to split end Boyd Dowler before half. They then left the Raiders behind with a 10-point third period. Donny Anderson scoring on a 2-yard run and Chandler with his final field goal.

The game ended Vince Lombardi's nine-year reign as Packers coach. He won six Western Conference championships, five NFL titles and two Super Bowls, a record unprecedented in pro football history.

SUPER BOWL XXXI

Louisiana Superdome, New Orleans, La., Sunday, Jan. 26, 1997; Attendance: 72,301; Time: 3:21

Using several momentum-turning big plays, the Packers held off resilient New England to capture their first world championship in 29 years. For Green Bay, the victory also marked its league-high 12th NFL championship as well as its third Super Bowl triumph.

The Packers jumped to an early 10-0 lead. Brett Favre, sensing a Patriots blitz, audibled on Green Bay's second play from scrimmage, hitting late-season pickup Andre Rison on a wide-open post pattern for a 54-yard touchdown pass. On the ensuing New England possession, Doug Evans intercepted Drew Bledsoe at the Patriots' 28, which led to a 37-yard field goal by Chris Jacke.

New England then was able to turn the tide in its favor, however, as Bledsoe took his club on two long drives for touchdowns. The first, which covered 79 yards and culminated in a short pass to Keith Byars, was aided by two long throws to Pats running backs and a 26-yard pass interference penalty. The second, starting at the New England 43, was spurred by a leaping, 44-yard reception by rookie Terry Glenn. When tight end Ben Coates caught a four-yard TD pass from Bledsoe, the Patriots momentarily had their only lead of the game and had completed the highest-scoring first quarter in Super Bowl history.

Green Bay rebounded to re-take the lead when Favre, seeing Patriots' strong safety Lawyer Milloy at the line of scrimmage in tight coverage on Antonio Freeman, watched Freeman elude Milloy's "bump" and lofted a perfect aerial to Freeman along the right sideline. Freeman, able to out-run New England's late-arriving free safety, covered 81 yards for the longest reception in Super Bowl history. After another Jacke field goal, Favre took advantage of a Mike Prior interception and escorted his troops on a nine-play, 74-yard march just before halftime which ended when, on a bootleg left, he lunged the ball over the goal line as he was rolling out of bounds.

Taking a 27-14 edge out of the locker room at halftime, Green Bay maintained that lead until late in the third quarter, when the Patriots' Curtis Martin made a magnificent 18-yard run up the middle of the Packer defense to pull New England to within six points at 27-21.

That margin was short-lived, though, as Desmond Howard returned the ensuing kickoff 99 yards for a back-breaking touchdown (the longest in Super Bowl history), bursting through the center of the Packers' well-blocked wedge, then juking kicker Adam Vinatieri to bolt free. Howard, who had 244 total return yards in the game including key punt runbacks of 32 and 34 yards, was voted the game's most valuable player, becoming the first special teams player to be so honored. A subsequent, successful two-point conversion, where Favre found Mark Chmura along the back of the end zone, gave the Green and Gold an insurmountable two-touchdown lead.

The top-ranked Green Bay defense, which had four interceptions of Bledsoe, was led by Reggie White, who sacked the New England quarterback a Super Bowl-record three times, including twice in a row on the possession immediately following Howard's scoring return.

Favre, playing less than an hour from his hometown of Kiln, Miss., completed 14 of 27 passes for 246 yards and two touchdowns without an interception, while his counterpart, Bledsoe, threw for 253 yards and two scores on 25-of-48 passing.

"This trophy...this is it. It was named after Vince Lombardi. You play in Green Bay. As important as it is to any other team and any other player, it means more to us.

"Back in July, we set our goals. And I'm so proud of you. You made every single goal. You earned it, you worked for it.

"And before we came out for the second half, what did you do? You locked arms. Do it right now, men. Do it right now.

"To the coaches, players, organization, trainers, equipment people, everybody, this trophy is for you, men. Everybody. Everyone had a say in it, everyone got it done. I'm proud of you."

SUPER BOWL XXXII

Qualcomm Stadium, San Diego, Calif., Sunday, Jan. 25, 1998; Attendance: 68,912; Time: 3:25; Weather: 67° F sunny

Behind a dominating rushing performance by San Diego native Terrell Davis, four-time Super Bowl loser Denver garnered its first-ever victory in the NFL's title game to dethrone the reigning champion Packers in what some called "the best Super Bowl ever."

In the process, the Broncos also ended a 13-game Super Bowl winning streak by the National Football Conference representative and sent Green Bay to its initial Super Bowl defeat after three triumphs.

Davis, named as the game's most valuable player, averaged 5.2 yards per carry as he rushed for 157 yards and three touchdowns, including the final, decisive score with less than two minutes remaining.

After the opening possession — a 76-yard scoring sequence by Green Bay — it appeared (falsely) that the game might turn into just another rout by the NFC against an overmatched AFC opponent. The Packers easily traversed the field, capping the drive with an arching, 22-yard touchdown pass from Brett Favre to Antonio Freeman at the back of the end zone. Freeman tap-dancing to get his feet down, and Green Bay had a 7-0 lead less than five minutes into the contest.

But the Broncos stormed back, scoring the first three times that they had the ball to commandeer a 17-7 advantage. After Davis went over from a yard out for Denver's initial points, the Broncos forced a pair of turnovers in Green Bay territory. First, Favre was intercepted when he prematurely unloaded a pass for Robert Brooks while under a heavy blitz, a miscue which resulted in a one-yard touchdown run by Broncos quarterback John Elway on a bootleg to the right. Then, after Favre fumbled when hit by Denver safety Steve Atwater on another blitz, the Broncos tacked on a long field goal by Jason Elam.

Green Bay mounted an impressive, 95-yard touchdown drive to consume the latter half of the second quarter and pull to within 17-14. Favre lofted a perfect aerial to tight end Mark Chmura in the back right corner of the end zone just 12 seconds before halftime, a pass which narrowly skirted the finger tips of a leaping defender.

Davis, who had missed the entire second quarter after experiencing migraine headache symptoms, fumbled on the first play from scrimmage of the second half, an error which turned into a game-tying Ryan Longwell field goal only minutes later.

The Broncos went ahead again late in the third period, when Davis scored his second touchdown of the game to culminate 92-yard, seven-plus minute drive. And when, on the ensuing kickoff, Freeman fumbled at his own 22, things looked dire for Green Bay as it stared at a potential two-touchdown deficit heading into the final quarter. But when the Broncos went for the jugular on their first play, free safety Eugene Robinson intercepted Elway in the end zone.

Favre completed three passes to Freeman on the ensuing Green Bay possession, including a 13-yard crossing route for the receiver's second touchdown which knotted the score at 24 with thirteen-and-a-half minutes remaining. Freeman made nine receptions (for 126 yards) on the day to equal the club's all-time playoff record.

After the Packers failed to take advantage of one fourth-quarter drive which neared midfield, Denver ran the ball down their throat for the game's winning touchdown, a drive which covered 49 yards in only five plays — four on the ground. Davis strolled into the end zone untouched up the middle for a 31-24 lead with just 105 ticks of the clock left.

Still facing the relentless blitzing which had characterized the play of the Denver defense throughout the game, from his own 30-yard line Favre moved the Packers 39 yards down the field on four straight passes to Dorsey Levens to reach the Broncos' 31 with 42 seconds remaining.

But when his next three throws fell incomplete, including a fourth-down pass intended for Chmura which was knocked down by linebacker John Mobley, the game was Denver's, giving Elway a long-awaited Super Bowl victory after he personally had endured three losses. In the process, the Broncos became just the second wild-card team to capture a Super Bowl. Favre, while not turning in his usual MVP-like performance, completed 25 of 42 passes for 256 yards and three touchdowns with one interception. Elway, who did not complete a pass to one of his wide receivers until late in the third quarter, threw for 123 yards on 12-of-22 passing while being intercepted once.

1936 NFL Championship
Dec. 13 at Polo Grounds, New York

Although New York was not represented in the title playoff, the game was played at the Polo Grounds because George Preston Marshall, upset with Boston support, was shifting his Redskins franchise to Washington, D.C. In front of 29,545, Don Hutson caught a 48-yard touchdown pass from Arnie Herber in the first three minutes, and the Packers never trailed. Green Bay's two second-half scores were set up, respectively, by a 52-yard pass from Herber to Johnny Blood and when Lon Evans blocked a punt.

Dec. 11 at Polo Grounds, New York

The Packers overcame an early 9-0 deficit, spawned by two blocked punts deep in their territory, but could not hold off the Giants in the second half. Early in the second quarter, Green Bay began to close in when Arnie Herber capitalized on a Paul (Tiny) Engelbreten interception by lofting a 40-yard touchdown strike to Carl Mulleneaux, cutting the Giants' margin to 9-7. But the Giants converted a midfield fumble by Packers fullback Eddie Jankowski into a 16-7 lead. Green Bay trimmed the margin to two points before the half, when Clarke Hinkle crashed over from the 6-inch line following a 66-yard Cecil Isbell pass to Wayland Becker.

During the opening minutes of the second half, the Packers took their only lead, when an Engelbreten field goal presented them with a 17-16 edge. The Giants, however, stormed back with a 61-yard scoring drive, capped by a 23-yard pass from Ed Danowski to Hank Soar. Soar fought his way over the goal line from the 2, with Hinkle clinging to one leg, for what proved to be the winning touchdown. A playoff-record 48,120 sat in on the proceedings.

1939 NFL Championship
Dec. 10 at State Fair Park, Milwaukee

The Packers gained long-awaited national respect with the first shutout in an NFL title game, 27-0. Despite bitter 35-mph winds, both Arnie Herber and Cecil Isbell passed for touchdowns in securing a the team's fifth world championship before 32,279 fans.

Green Bay mounted a 7-0 halftime lead, by dint of a Herber scoring strike to Milt Gantenbein, as the Giants missed on three field goal attempts. The Packers pulled away in the third quarter on a 29-yard field goal by Paul (Tiny) Engelbreten, and a 31-yard TD pass from Isbell to Joe Laws, set up by Laws' 30-yard punt return. The Packers added 10 more points in the fourth quarter on a 42-yard field goal by Ernie Smith and a short scoring run by fullback Eddie Jankowski. Green Bay intercepted the Giants six times and held them to only 164 total yards.

CHICAGO BEARS 33, PACKERS 14

Dec. 14 at Wrigley Field, Chicago

In a playoff contest necessitated when the two teams finished the year 10-1, each having given the other its lone loss, the Packers fell victim to Chicago's offensive trio of George McAfee, Norm Standlee and Hugh Gallarneau in the 16-degree cold at Wrigley Field.

After the Bears fumbled the opening kick-off, Green Bay grabbed an early 7-0 lead, on Clarke Hinkle's 1-yard plunge. But Gallarneau's touchdown on an 81-yard punt return narrowed the gap to 7-6, before Chicago exploded for 24 second-quarter points to essentially settle the issue. The Bears rushed for 277 yards, including McAfee's team-record 119. Standlee ran for 79 and added two touchdowns.

With peerless pass-catcher Don Hutson employed primarily as a decoy, fullback Ted Fritsch emerged the offensive hero in the Packers' sixth world title victory.

Fritsch scored both Green Bay touchdowns, a 1-yard run on fourth-and-goal, and a 28-yard pass-and-run collaboration with Irv Comp in the third. Meanwhile, Ward Cuff scored the Giants' touchdown with a 1-yard plunge on the initial play of the fourth quarter, a drive which saw New York advance past its own 35-yard line for the first time in the game. Joe Laws, the Packers' veteran, 34-year-old all-purpose halfback, set a playoff record with three interceptions, and rushed for 74 yards on 13 carries.

Dec. 26 at Franklin Field, Philadelphia

The Packers couldn't hold a 13-10 fourth-quarter lead, yielding a late surge to the Eagles, who scored the deciding points on a 5-yard burst by Ted Dean.

Green Bay had stopped Philadelphia at its own 4 late in the third quarter, then recaptured the lead on a 7-yard TD pass from Bart Starr to Max McGee. But on the ensuing kickoff Dean's 58-yard return ignited the Eagles, and led to his game winning touchdown with 5:21 remaining. Green Bay made a last-ditch effort, driving to the Eagles' 22, but on its final play, Philadelphia's Chuck Bednarik stopped Jim Taylor at the 8 as time expired.

The contest marked the Packers' first title game appearance in 16 years. It would also mark Vince Lombardi's only playoff loss.

Dec. 31 at *City Stadium, Green Bay

Paul Hornung, on leave from the Army, tied a playoff record with 19 points, keying the Packers' rout of the Giants in the first title game ever played in Green Bay.

A team-record 39,029 watched the Green and Gold erupt for 24 points in the second quarter. In all, the Packers scored seven times against the NFL's top defensive team, amassing four touchdowns and three field goals. The defense, meanwhile, proved a devastating complement, intercepting four passes and recovering one fumble, while limiting New York to six first downs and 130 total yards.

Two interceptions, by Ray Nitschke and Hank Gremminger, set up the team's second and third touchdowns, while the fumble recovery (by Forrest Gregg) led to Hornung's second field goal. Hornung's final FG came after Jesse Whitenton's interception.

Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, New York

In a raw, cyclonic setting (13-degree temperatures and 40-mile per hour winds), the Packers led the entire game, a primitive, hand-to-hand struggle. Ray Nitschke, the game's eventual MVP, proved the principal frustration to New York, seeking redemption for a shutout humiliation in the '61 title game. Early in the contest, Nitschke deflected a Giants pass, triggering an interception that blunted the drive at the Green Bay 10. The linebacker also recovered two fumbles, one that led to the Packers' only touchdown, and another that set up a 29-yard Jerry Kramer field goal, whose trio of three-pointers provided the eventual margin.

The Giants' only TD came after blocking a Max McGee punt in the Green Bay end zone, midway through the third quarter.

1965 Western Conference Championship
Dec. 26 at Lambeau Field, Green Bay

Don Chandler's game winning field goal, at 13:39 of sudden death, ended the Packers' first-ever overtime game, and their only such playoff contest. His 25-yard kick sent Green Bay to the NFL championship, after both the Colts and Packers ended the regular season 10-3-1.

Chandler's first field goal, a game tying 22-yarder with 1:58 in regulation, remains controversial. Baltimore loyalists, led by coach Don Shula, claimed it sailed wide right. The kick, which flew high above the upright, actually triggered the league to extend the goal posts' height for the following season.

The Colts, playing without starting quarterback Johnny Unitas (knee) and his backup Gary Cuozzo (dislocated shoulder), used halfback Tom Matte as a full-in. Matte completed only five passes, but did gain 57 yards rushing.

Baltimore held a 10-0 halftime lead, scoring 21 seconds into the game when linebacker Don Shinnick returned a Bill Anderson fumble 25 yards for a touchdown. Bart Starr, in pursuit, injured his ribs on the play. Green Bay's first from scrimmage.

Zeke Bratkowski replaced Starr for the balance of the afternoon, completing 22 of 39 passes for 248 yards. The Packers moved to within 10-7 in the third quarter when Paul Hornung scored on a 1-yard run, setting the stage for Chandler's heroics.

After four inches of snow softened the Lambeau surface, the Packers used their running game to rally past Cleveland, and a crowd of 50,777 celebrated the team's third championship in five years.

Jim Taylor (27-96) and Paul Hornung (18-105) amassed 201 yards rushing helping the Packers overcome an early 9-7 deficit.

Packers defenders, meanwhile, allowed only 50 yards to Cleveland's Jim Brown, the league's leading rusher with 1,544 yards during the year.

In the third quarter, Bart Starr finally settled the see-saw battle, escorting the Packers on a 90-yard, 11-play drive, ending when Hornung scored on a 13-yard sweep around the Browns' right perimeter. Kickers Don Chandler and Lou Groza booted five total field goals.

Jan. 1, 1967, at Cotton Bowl, Dallas

Bart Starr, in one of his finest hours, threw four touchdowns, and Tom Brown thwarted a last-minute Cowboys bid, leading Green Bay to its second straight title and fourth in six years.

With 28 seconds left, Brown stunned most of the 74,152 fans, when he intercepted Don Meredith's fourth-down pass in the end zone.

The Packers mounted a quick 14-0 lead, after Starr hit Elijah Pitts on a 21-yard touchdown, and rookie Jim Grabowski returned a fumble 18 yards for a score. But an explosive Dallas comeback cut the margin to 21-17 by halftime, and 21-20 after Danny Villanueva's third-quarter field goal. Starr then hit Boyd Dowler and Max McGee with 16- and 28-yard scoring passes, respectively, to provide a cushion against the Cowboys' late surge.

Dec. 23 at County Stadium, Milwaukee

Travis Williams scored two touchdowns, and the Packers weathered three early turnovers, downing the Rams in the first regularly-scheduled conference playoff in NFL history.

After L.A. got on the board first with Roman Gabriel's 29-yard scoring pass to Bernie Casey, the Packers responded with 28 unanswered points, in one of Milwaukee County Stadium's more memorable games.

Williams rushed for 88 yards on 18 carries, while Bart Starr threw for 222 yards with one touchdown and set a team record by completing 73.9 percent of his passes (17 of 23). End Carroll Dale caught Starr's scoring toss, one of six catches for 109 yards. The Packers also sacked Gabriel five times, including three-and-a-half by Henry Jordan.

Green Bay's kicked off a trio of postseason wins that included the legendary Ice Bowl NFL championship eight days later, and a second straight Super Bowl victory.

Bart Starr's game-winning touchdown, a 1-yard dive behind Jerry Kramer and Ken Bowman with 13 seconds remaining, clinched a third straight Green Bay championship and ended the "Ice Bowl."

Starr's score, on third down with no timeouts left, climaxed a 68-yard, 12-play drive which began with 4:50 on the clock. In all, 50,861 watched the coldest game in league annals. Kickoff temperature was 13 below zero and wind chill was minus-46.

Like the year before, the Packers grabbed an early 14-0 advantage. But this time the Cowboys came back, gaining a 17-14 edge on the first play of the fourth quarter, when Lance Rentzel caught a 50-yard touchdown from halfback Dan Reeves. The contest was later voted the greatest game in pro football history.

John Brockington, the Packers' 1,000-yard rusher, had to settle for 9 yards on 13 carries as the Redskins used a five-man defensive line to shut down the running game. Washington's Larry Brown rushed for 101 yards on 25 carries.

Jan. 8, 1983, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

The Packers halted a first-quarter Cardinals drive at the 1, then scored a franchise-record 41 points to open the Super Bowl Tournament, following the strike-shortened 1982 season.

Lynn Dickey culminated two long TD drives with passes to John Jefferson and James Lofton. The Packers then capitalized on a pair of St. Louis turnovers, converting each into Eddie Lee Ivey TDs.

Green Bay led 28-9 at half, and 41-9 in the fourth. Dickey (17 of 23, 260 yards, no interceptions) tied a team playoff record with four TD passes. Jefferson (six catches) set a club postseason mark with 148 receiving yards, including a 60-yard TD reception, another record. And, Jan Stenerud kicked a 46-yard field goal, longest in team playoff history.

- ▶ The team canceled marching band performances after noticing blood on a few of the musician's faces.
- ▶ Packers fans several times during the contest leaned over the front row to unplug the Cowboys' heated benches.
- ▶ After the game, several fans passed out soon after warming up. Their thawed systems finally registered the alcohol they'd consumed to keep warm during the game.

Dallas' late 74-yard touchdown drive ended all Green Bay comeback hopes, in front of 63,972 fans.

The Packers pulled to within four, 30-26, when Mark Lee returned a fourth-quarter interception 22 yards for a touchdown. Green Bay in the second half rolled up 363 yards total offense and outscored Dallas, 19-17. But despite a team-record 466 overall yards, the Packers couldn't overcome a slow start and a 20-7 halftime deficit.

Lynn Dickey (19 of 36) threw for a team playoff-record 332 yards (19 of 36). Split end James Lofton emerged with 109 yards on five receptions and spiced the Packers' second-half comeback by taking a reverse 71 yards for a TD, matching the NFL's longest postseason run from scrimmage.

The Cowboys' Dennis Thurman intercepted three passes, returning one 39 yards for a touchdown and another to end the Packers' last-gasp possession in the fourth quarter.

Favre's pass, a scrambling, across-the-body throw from extreme left to extreme right, found Sharpe wide open in the end zone with 55 seconds remaining. It capped a see-saw battle with the NFC Central Division champion Lions.

Earlier, rookie safety George Teague returned an Erik Kramer interception 101 yards for a touchdown, longest in NFL playoff annals, giving Green Bay a 21-17 lead. Sharpe (five catches, 101 yards) also made the record book, tying an NFL playoff mark with three touchdown receptions.

The Cowboys' 17-point second-quarter surge overcame an early Packers lead and gave the eventual Super Bowl champions momentum they would not relinquish.

But the Packers held that momentum in the first quarter. They stopped Bill Bates short on a fourth-down fake punt, and capitalized on great field position to score the game's first points, a Chris Jacke field goal.

Brett Favre (331 yards) fell 1 yard shy of the Packers' postseason record, and Sterling Sharpe (six receptions, 128 yards) turned in a second straight 100-yard effort. Dallas' Troy Aikman completed 28 of 37 passes for 302 yards and three touchdowns, while Michael Irvin added nine catches for 126 yards.

PACKERS 16, DETROIT 12

Dec. 31 at Lambeau Field, Green Bay

Spurred by a classic defensive performance, the Packers outlasted Detroit in Green Bay's first home playoff game since 1982. Coordinator Fritz Shurmur held the NFL's leading rusher, Barry Sanders, to a career-low minus-1 yard, on 13 attempts, and limited the Lions collectively on the ground to minus-4 yards — erasing a 31-year-old league playoff record.

Brett Favre directed several long drives, including a 76-yard excursion on the game's opening series, capped by a 3-yard touchdown run by Dorsey Levens. Green Bay, who controlled the ball for 37-plus minutes, played turnover-free throughout, entertaining the 58,125 fans. Chris Jacke added three field goals, including a Packers postseason-record 51-yarder.

The Lions pulled to within 13-10 in the fourth quarter, on Dave Krieg's 3-yard touchdown pass to Brett Perriman, and reached the Packers' 11-yard line on their final drive in the game's closing moments. But the Green Bay defense stiffened, recapturing the ball on downs, before Packers punter Craig Hentrich took an intentional safety to run out the day's final seven seconds.

DALLAS 35, PACKERS 9

1994 NFC Divisional Playoff

Jan. 8, 1995, at Texas Stadium, Irving

The Packers couldn't overcome a 28-9 halftime deficit, and despite 327 yards of total offense fell to Dallas' arsenal of offensive superstars in the NFC semifinals.

Trailing only 7-3 in the first quarter, the Packers pinned Dallas deep in its own territory. But Troy Aikman then connected with Alvin Harper on an NFL playoff-record 94-yard touchdown pass. Aikman threw for 337 yards, and three Dallas receivers — Michael Irvin (111), Harper (108) and Jay Novacek (104) — had 100-yard Packers flanker Robert Brooks, moving into the spot usually occupied by an injured Sterling Sharpe, equalled his career best with eight receptions, for a game-high 138 yards.

PACKERS 37, ATLANTA 20

Dec. 31 at Lambeau Field, Green Bay

Utilizing a balanced offensive attack, including Edgar Bennett's franchise playoff-record 108 rushing yards, Green Bay toppled the Falcons on a foggy, 30-degree afternoon. The Packers had earned their first NFC Central crown in 23 years.

Jeff George's 65-yard touchdown pass to Eric Metcalf gave Atlanta a 7-0 edge three minutes into the game and stunned the crowd of 60,453. But the Packers quickly regained control, scoring two first-quarter TDs.

Green Bay broke open the game midway through the second period, when rookie Antonio Freeman became the first Packers player to return a kick for a postseason touchdown, running a punt back 76 yards. Then, with less than one minute in the first half, Mark Chmura caught a 2-yard touchdown from Brett Favre, capping a 14-play, 85-yard drive, extending the lead to 27-10.

Favre's third TD toss — a perfect, lofting spiral to Dorsey Levens with just under eight minutes left — cemented the issue. Favre completed passes to nine receivers, while Bennett averaged 4.5 yards on the ground, with one TD, on 24 attempts.

PACKERS 27, SAN FRANCISCO 17

1995 NFC Divisional Playoff
Jan. 6, 1996, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Physically menacing the 49ers offense, Green Bay shocked the defending Super Bowl champions and advanced to the NFC Championship for the first time.

The victory, especially sweet for San Francisco native Mike Holmgren, marked the coach's first game against the club that launched his pro coaching career.

After the Niners blocked a field goal to end Green Bay's opening drive, the Packers defense set the tone for the rest of the game. On San Francisco's first play, Wayne Simmons drilled fullback Adam Walker on a screen pass, forcing a fumble that rookie Craig Newsome returned 31 yards for the day's first points. The Packers then mounted 62- and 72-yard scoring drives on their next two possessions; Brett Favre's touchdown passes to Keith Jackson and Mark Chmura, respectively, gave Green Bay a 21-0 second-quarter advantage.

Favre, the NFL's MVP, completed 21-of-28 passes (75 percent), while Jackson, whose two long receptions over the middle set up Packers scores, caught four for 101 yards. Robert Brooks' four catches totaled 103 yards.

The Packers defense forced four turnovers and battered Steve Young all afternoon, with three sacks and countless knockdowns, forcing him to attempt an NFL playoff-record 65 passes in a futile comeback bid. Meanwhile, San Francisco's receiver nonpareil, Jerry Rice, made 11 receptions but had few yards after the catch.

Green Bay posted the only road victory by an NFC team in the divisional playoffs from 1990-99.

1995 NFC Championship
Jan. 14, 1996, at Texas Stadium, Irving

Green Bay, one win from its first Super Bowl in 28 years, held a fourth-quarter lead before succumbing to the offensive firepower of the eventual league champions.

Emmitt Smith (35-150), behind his massive offensive line, rushed for three touchdowns, ending the Packers' season at Texas Stadium for the third straight year.

After the Packers converted a blocked punt into a field goal, Troy Aikman threw two TD passes to Michael Irvin. Brett Favre answered with two scores of his own — a team postseason-record 73-yard pass to Robert Brooks and a Keith Jackson connection — to vault Green Bay into the lead, 17-14. The Cowboys added 10 points before halftime, though, to go up 24-17.

Green Bay got the second half's first 10 points, including Favre's 1-yard touchdown pass to Brooks, and held a 27-24 lead at the end of three quarters.

But Smith's talents glistered in the fourth quarter. His two rushing TDs — sandwiched around Larry Brown's drive-killing interception in Dallas territory — gave the Cowboys their third Super Bowl appearance in four years.

PACKERS 35, SAN FRANCISCO 14

Jan. 4, 1997, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

Jump-started by their special teams, specifically two punt returns by Desmond Howard, the Packers took the first step toward an eventual berth in Super Bowl XXXI by eliminating the 49ers for a second straight year. With rain since early morning on a cold and dreary day the field offered less-than-ideal footing, and deteriorated into a quagmire by game's end. Despite the weather, 60,787 spectators (three no-shows) still showed up.

After the 49ers went three-and-out on their first drive, Howard weaved his way through several defenders for a 71-yard touchdown just 2:15 into the game. Then, midway through the first quarter, Howard broke free on a second punt return, traveling 46 yards before San Francisco tripped him up at its 7. Moments later, Brett Favre hit Andre Rison on a 4-yard touchdown pass to give Green Bay a 14-0 advantage.

After an Edgar Bennett TD, the 49ers converted two Green Bay special-teams miscues into 14 points, bringing the game back within reach. First, San Francisco punt bounced off Chris Hayes' leg and the 49ers recovered at the Green Bay 26, setting up a Terry Kirby touchdown catch. Then, when the Packers failed to field a short kickoff to open the second half, San Francisco recovered at the Green Bay 4, and, on the next play, Elvis Grbac's naked bootleg trimmed the Packers' lead to 21-14.

To their credit, the Packers stormed back on their next possession, going 72 yards in 12 plays, a drive capped when Antonio Freeman recovered Bennett's fumble in the end zone.

Neither team gained many yards in the sloppy conditions. Green Bay racked up only 210 yards, including a club postseason-low 71 passing. Bennett was the Packers' workhorse, running for 80 yards and two touchdowns on 17 carries. Steve Young's broken ribs, suffered one week earlier, forced him out after two series and San Francisco managed just 196 total yards.

PACKERS 30, CAROLINA 13

Jan. 12, 1997, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

The Packers overcame two early deficits to defeat upstart Carolina and earn a berth to their first Super Bowl in 29 years, largely on the strength of Dorsey Levens' 205 yards. It was the first title game in Green Bay since the legendary 1967 "Ice Bowl."

Not quite 10 minutes into the game, linebacker Sam Mills intercepted Brett Favre deep in Green Bay territory, setting up Kerry Collins' 3-yard TD toss to Howard Griffith.

On the first snap of the second quarter, Levens evened the score, out-jumping Carolina's Eric Davis at the right edge of the end zone on a 29-yard touchdown reception. The previous play, Levens had rushed for 35 yards on third-and-1.

Carolina converted a Favre fumble, near midfield, into a field goal, but the Packers stormed back with 10 points in the final minute of the first half. Favre connected with Antonio Freeman for a touchdown on a 6-yard fade with 48 seconds remaining, capping a 15-play, 71-yard drive. When the Panthers then attempted to move down field, rookie Tyrone Williams made a diving interception at the Packers' 38, which Chris Jackie turned into a 31-yard field goal 10 seconds before halftime.

Late in the third quarter, Edgar Bennett strolled untouched through the middle on a 4-yard touchdown, giving Green Bay a 27-13 lead. Levens set up the score on the previous play, going 66 yards down the right sideline on a perfectly executed screen.

Green Bay put up 479 net yards, a team playoff record. It churned out 201 rushing yards (99 on Bennett's 25 carries, 88 on only 10 attempts by Levens). Levens also made five receptions for 117 yards, and Favre completed 19 of 29 for 292 yards.

While the weather certainly was cold — 3 degrees with a minus-17 wind chill — the storyline before the game was the field, ravaged against San Francisco the previous week, when rainy conditions turned it into a mud pit. The Packers installed an all-new surface days prior to the game, with sod trucked in from Maryland on more than two dozen semis.

The George S. Halas Trophy, symbolic of the National Football Conference Championship, was presented to president Bob Harlan, general manager Ron Wolf and head coach Mike Holmgren in an on-field ceremony following the game.

PACKERS 21, TAMPA BAY 7

Jan. 4, 1998 at Lambeau Field, G.B.

In a hard-fought, defensive struggle — much like their two earlier meetings — the Packers' offensive superiority overwhelmed the Bucs on a gray day. Dorsey Levens' team playoff-record 112 rushing yards helped Green Bay maintain control.

The Packers fended off three first-half field-goal opportunities. On the first, Bob Kuberski surged up the middle to block Michael Husted's 43-yard attempt. On the second, Keith McKenzie stuffed Tampa Bay's fake field goal for no gain. Then, on the third, Bucs long snapper Dave Moore sailed the ball over his holder's head.

After Kuberski's block, Brett Favre moved 67 yards for the team's first score, a touchdown pass to Mark Chmura. Rookie Ryan Longwell then hit two field goals, the second set up by a Tyrone Williams interception in Bucs territory.

Tampa Bay, making its first playoff appearance in 15 years, got its only points after intercepting Favre and driving 94 yards for a Mike Alstott touchdown. But the Packers kept the Bucs at arm's length, when Levens, who had 88 yards after halftime, punched in a short touchdown run early in the fourth quarter and Favre converted a two-point conversion on a quarterback draw.

Warren Sapp forced two fumbles and sacked Favre three times. The two combatants openly jawed throughout the contest in an intriguing side show.

1997 NFC Championship
Jan. 11, 1998, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Green Bay, in its third straight NFC Championship, never allowed the 49ers to get started and advanced to a second consecutive Super Bowl. In the process, the Packers purged San Francisco for a third straight year, the second time at 3Com.

From the outset, on a rain-swept afternoon, the Packers were able to pick on San Francisco's cornerbacks, moving 76 yards on their first possession.

Early in the second quarter, Eugene Robinson stepped in front of a Steve Young pass and weaved across the field 58 yards to the 49ers' 28. Two plays later, Antonio Freeman caught a short slant from Brett Favre, cut back against the grain and broke several tackles for a 27-yard touchdown, and a 10-0 Green Bay lead.

Late in the opening half, the 49ers had to settle for a field goal after three straight incompletions from the Green Bay 10. Then, in the waning seconds, Favre connected with Freeman on a 40-yard bomb, to set up the half's final play, Ryan Longwell's 43-yard field goal, against a difficult wind.

Longwell, who attended nearby Cal one season earlier and had been released by the 49ers just before training camp, added his third field goal midway through the fourth quarter, giving Green Bay a more comfortable 13-point lead.

The Packers' defense, which held San Francisco to just 33 rushing yards on 18 overall carries, sacked Young in the fourth quarter four times, twice by Keith McKenzie. When Green Bay sacked Young on fourth down at his own 11 with just under four minutes remaining, the Packers quickly capitalized, scoring after two Dorsey Levens runs.

Levens broke his own, week-old franchise playoff record with 114 rushing yards — the first 100-yard effort allowed by the 49ers during the '97 season — and again did much of his work in the second half. Freeman totaled 107 yards on four catches, and punter Craig Hentrich helped Green Bay to handily win the field-position battle, depositing all five of his punts inside the 49ers' 20.

Following Levens' score, the Niners' Chuck Levy returned the kickoff 95 yards for San Francisco's lone touchdown, with 2:52 left in the game.

On the field after the game, with a smattering of fans remaining, the George S. Halas Trophy, representative of the National Football Conference Championship, was handed over to the rain-soaked trio of president Bob Harlan, general manager Ron Wolf and head coach Mike Holmgren.

SAN FRANCISCO 30, PACKERS 27

Jan. 3, 1999, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Steve Young's touchdown pass to Terrell Owens, over four defenders with three seconds remaining, ended the Packers' season. The 49ers ended their five-game Green Bay losing streak, a stretch that covered four years, including elimination from the 1995-97 playoffs. The Packers, in the postseason for a team-record sixth consecutive year, went winless in the playoffs for the first time in the span.

After a critical interception, Brett Favre got the ball at his own 11, trailing 23-20 with 4:19 left. His 47-yard bomb up the left sideline to rookie Corey Bradford put the Packers in scoring range at the 31. Then, four plays later, Favre saw the 49ers stack eight men at the line, audibled and found Antonio Freeman on a sprint-and-go pattern for a 15-yard TD and a 27-23 lead with 1:56 left.

But Young drove 76 yards in the final two minutes, culminating in his game-winning, 25-yard bullet to Owens, who had dropped several passes. Earlier during the controversial drive, rookie Scott McGarrahan appeared to strip Jerry Rice at the Green Bay 41, and Bernardo Harris recovered, but officials ruled Rice down.

Strong running games bolstered both teams. Garrison Hearst ran for 128 of the 49ers' 178 rushing yards, while Dorsey Levens broke his own team playoff rushing mark with 116 yards. Greg Clark's two TD catches each came after Green Bay turnovers. Favre threw for 292 yards and two touchdowns, both to Freeman.

Two Packers icons — all-time sack leader and future Hall of Famer Reggie White, and head coach Mike Holmgren — saw their Green Bay careers end. Holmgren, 84-42 overall in seven Packers seasons, became the Seahawks' executive VP of football operations/general manager and head coach five days later.

PACKERS 25, SAN FRANCISCO 15

Jan. 13, 2002, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

Brett Favre orchestrated four second-half scoring drives, while Mike McKenzie and Tyrone Williams collaborated on a game-turning fourth-quarter interception as Green Bay ended the 49ers' season, 25-15. The win improved Green Bay's all-time record in home postseason contests to 13-0, including 11-0 at Lambeau Field.

Before the 1970 merger expanded the playoff system, NFL teams tied atop their division were pitted in single games for rights to attend the league championship. The Packers played two such games, losing to the Bears in 1941 and defeating the Colts in 1965.

Packers NFL Title Games and Playoffs

Favre lobbied with coaches at halftime to open up the passing game, then threw for 226 of his 269 yards in the final two quarters, steering Green Bay back from a 7-6 deficit. Led by Favre, Green Bay in the second half produced points on four of its first five possessions. The quarterback engineered marches of 72, 81, 49 and 93 yards, fighting off a 49ers rally that had tied the contest, 15-15, with 12 minutes left in regulation.

McKenzie halted an ominous Niners drive halfway through the fourth quarter. The cornerback batted an underthrown pass, like a volleyball, into the hands of a nearby Williams at the Packers' 7. McKenzie had broken up another potential Terrell Owens score earlier in the fourth. After the pick, the Packers drove 93 yards to extend their lead, on Ahman Green's 9-yard TD run.

Inspired by the return of injured starters Nate Wayne and Gilbert Brown, the Packers also held the league's No. 2 rushing offense to only 71 yards on the ground. Brown recorded his first sack since 1997 on the game's first play from scrimmage. Cletidus Hunt kept the Niners off the scoreboard early when he blocked a Jose Cortez field goal attempt in the second quarter.

ST. LOUIS 45, GREEN BAY 17

Jan. 20, 2002, at Dome at America's Center

St. Louis parlayed eight Green Bay turnovers into 35 points, and ended an outstanding Packers season, 45-17. The Packers suffered the largest margin of defeat in team postseason history.

Brett Favre, in his 16th career postseason game, matched an NFL playoff record with six interceptions. St. Louis returned three INTs for touchdowns, and four of the six picks were tipped either at the line of scrimmage or by the intended receiver. The timing of the first three interceptions combined to put the game out of reach.

Favre's initial interception, early in the first quarter, was a read miscommunication with Bill Schroeder, and Aeneas Williams caught 29 yards for the day's first points. Favre answered by marching 65 yards in five plays, getting a great effort from Antonio Freeman on a 22-yard TD pass, to tie the game, 7-7.

But with St. Louis up 14-7 in the second period, Kim Herring picked off Favre and returned it 45 yards to the Green Bay 4. Two plays later, Kurt Warner hit James Hodgins on a 4-yard pass to extend the Rams' lead.

The third interception, in the third quarter, all but sealed the win. Tommy Polley grabbed a pass deflected by Grant Wistrom and sprinted 34 yards for a TD, creating a 31-10 St. Louis advantage.

Lost in the eight turnovers, which doubled the Packers' previous 2001 season high, was a strong effort by the Green Bay defense, which limited the league's best offense to its lowest yardage in 21 games. The Packers gave up only two big plays — a 38-yard run by Marshall Faulk late in the first quarter and a 50-yard pass from Warner to Torrey Holt. Green Bay also held St. Louis to 13 first downs, its lowest total since the Rams began their offensive explosion in 1999.

The Packers saw a penalty nullify a 95-yard kickoff return, which would have cut the Rams' lead to 21-14 in the second quarter.

Jan. 4, 2003, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

Undaunted by the storied stadium where his own coach lost in the "Ice Bowl" 35 years before, Michael Vick led Atlanta to a shocking upset before 65,358.

The Packers, the NFL's only 8-0 home team in 2002, had never lost a home playoff (13-0). Brett Favre was without Pro Bowl back Ahman Green (knee) and top receivers Donald Driver (shoulder) and Terry Glenn (concussion) in a futile second-half comeback attempt.

The NFC North champion Packers, who tied for the league's best record and just one week prior had a shot at the NFC home-field advantage, began their offseason much sooner than expected.

Green Bay, without top defender and Pro Bowl safety Darren Sharper (knee), even got a snowstorm but still couldn't corral any momentum. After a Vick touchdown pass gave the Falcons a quick 7-0 lead, Mark Simoneau beat the Packers' protection and blocked Josh Bidwell's punt near Green Bay's end zone. Artie Ulmer smothered the ball for another Atlanta touchdown. Then, Kevin McCadam pushed Tyrone Williams into Green Bay returner Eric Metcalf, and George Layne recovered the muffed punt. Four plays later, T.J. Duckett's TD made it 21-0. The fervent Falcons also stopped the Packers with a goal-line stand.

Favre, who had two interceptions and a fumble, hit Driver with a 14-yard touchdown on the first drive after halftime, but Driver re-injured his dislocated shoulder on the play. It was the 13th straight playoff game in which Favre threw a touchdown pass, tying Dan Marino's NFL record.

PACKERS IN THE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The Green Bay Packers have 20 individuals who spent the majority of their careers with the club in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, including 2003 addition James Lofton. The Packers' total is second only to that of the Chicago Bears, who have 26. The Pittsburgh Steelers (17) and New York Giants (16) are next, while the Washington Redskins (15) round out the top five.

In addition, five other players who played briefly for Green Bay — defensive end Len Ford, linebacker Ted Hendricks, guard/coach Walt Kiesling, kicker Jan Stenerud and safety Emlen Tunnell — have their busts displayed in the Hall of Fame.

Biographies of the Packers' 20 primary HOF players follow:

Packers Hall of Fame, Green Bay

The Packers Hall of Fame, which now has a new and expanded home in the Lambeau Field Atrium, owns a unique place in the history of professional football. Now in its 28th year, it was the first permanent hall of fame devoted to one team.

Founded by William L. Brault, a local loyalist and restaurateur with a deep appreciation for Packers history and tradition — as well as the intriguing potential for a projected Hall of Fame — it was formally dedicated on April 3, 1976, by then President Gerald R. Ford. To date, 130 individuals — players, coaches and contributors — have been enshrined, including linebacker Mike Douglass and broadcaster Jim Irwin, inducted in July.

For the record, the Hall of Fame was informally launched by Brault in 1966 as a series of exhibits displayed in the concourse of the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena — exhibits that had to be removed each autumn to make room for the Green Bay Bobcats hockey team and its schedule. The annual induction banquets were subsequently launched in 1970 but the "Hall" did not become a permanent, year-round entity until 1976.

With a new design complemented by a variety of additional, state-of-the-art exhibits, it re-opens in September of 2003.

Pro Bowl Voting

- The NFL is the only pro sports league that combines all-star voting by fans, players and coaches.
- NFL players and coaches cast their Pro Bowl ballots usually in Week 15.
- Mike Sherman and the PR department ask that players (1) not vote for their own teammates, and (2) offensive players & coaches vote for defensive players, and vice versa.
- The consensus ballots of fans, players and coaches each count one-third toward determining the 42-man AFC & NFC rosters.
- Fan voting is used to break any tie.
- Brett Favre was the NFL's top fan vote-getter in 2002 (670,401) and 2003 (930,270).

- In 2001, the league began announcing AFC & NFC starters separately. The NFL names entire rosters the Wednesday before Week 16 games, and the starters during Wild Card Weekend.
- The NFL became the first professional league to offer online voting, in 1995.
- Fans cast a record 51,677,578 votes in 2002 on NFL.com and at RadioShack stores nationwide.
- According to the current collective bargaining agreement, each Pro Bowl player on the winning team earns $30,000; each Pro Bowl player on the losing team earns $15,000.

GREEN BAY'S 24 OVERTIME GAMES

- ▶ The lone postseason game, a historic 13-10 victory over the Colts in a 1965 Western Conference playoff, was the franchise's first overtime game.
- ▶ The NFL adopted the overtime rule for league games after the '73 season.
- ▶ In addition to regular and postseason, the Packers have played six overtime games in preseason.

Monday, Nov. 6, 2000, 11:39 p.m., Vikings 20, Packers 20, Wayne Larrivee & Larry McCarren, Packers Radio Network...

McCarren: Here they come.

Larrivee: Favre pop fly to the right side, Freeman trying to adjust to it, and it's incomplete, nearly intercepted by Cris Dishman.

McCarren: Wait a second...

Larrivee: Wait a minute. Freeman picked it up. It bounced into his hands!

McCarren: It rebounded into his hands.

Larrivee: Touchdown!

McCarren: Touchdown. We win.

Larrivee: Packers win. I don't believe it.

McCarren: Wayne, it was meant to be. It was meant to be.

Larrivee: I can't believe it... Dishman thought that ball was on the ground. That ball stayed alive, Dishman tipped it and it looked like he broke it up. I thought the play was over. Freeman made the grab, took it into the end zone. Touchdown Packers! 43-yard touchdown and they win.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

On Monday Night Football for an 11th consecutive season, the Packers make three more appearances on ABC's prime-time series in 2003, including the Soldier Field rededication.

- The Packers own the NFC's longest MNF appearance streak — 11 seasons (1993-2003). Minnesota (15, 1987-2001) and Dallas (11, 1991-2001) both ended long stretches in 2002. In the NFL, only Miami (13, 1990-2003) and Denver (12, 1992-2003) have longer streaks.
- From 1996-2003, the league has featured three teams during the regular season on MNF more than any other — Denver, Green Bay and Miami — each 18 times. San Francisco has 17.
- Prior to the current 11-year string, Green Bay didn't appear for six straight years, 1986-92.
- Brett Favre is 13-8 in 21 Monday night starts (1993-2002). He was 6-1 during his three consecutive MVP seasons, 1995-97.
- Favre and Robert Brooks own the MNF record for longest pass completion, a 99-yard touchdown strike at Chicago, Sept. 11, 1995 (Packers franchise record, tied NFL record).
- The Packers are 20-18-1 in the regular season on MNF, which consistently ranks among the nation's top 10 shows.
- This year marks the 20th anniversary of a memorable Oct. 17, 1983, Redskins-Packers game, still the highest scoring game in MNF history — a 48-47 overtime track meet. Facing the defending Super Bowl champions, the Packers prevailed in a contest featuring 11 touchdowns, 11 extra points and six field goals. Jan Stenerud's 20-yard FG with 54 seconds left decided the issue. The 'Skins' Mark Moseley missed a 39-yard try as time expired. The contest also represented the highest scoring game in the Packers' history, surpassing Green Bay's 52-35 loss at Detroit in 1951.

THE SHRINE GAME

- Green Bay plays host to the Carolina Panthers in the 54th annual Upper Midwest Shrine Game, one of the NFL's longest team traditions.
- Each season, the Packers donate a percentage of the gate to the Shriners' Hospitals for Children.
- The Shriners' facilities provide specialized medical services, helping children with birth defects and other injuries, at absolutely no cost.
- To date, the series has raised more than $2.6 million for the Midwest Shrine's burn centers and hospitals for crippled children.
- Trisha Bowker presided as the 2002 Shrine Queen.

Packers Annual Charity Games THE BISHOP'S CHARITIES GAME

along with the Dave Thomas Foundation for Adoption

- In 1961, the Diocese of Green Bay approached Vince Lombardi about playing a second charitable contest in Green Bay (the Shrine game was already a fixture in Milwaukee).
- Lombardi, a devout Catholic, agreed to the contest. The original contract gave the Packers, their opponent and the church each one-third of the gate receipts.
- During the 1970s, the Packers and the church changed the contract so that the Diocese would receive a flat donation, rather than a percentage.
- For more than 30 years, the church handled much of the game's business-related tasks, including game program and advertising sales, using a network of volunteers covering 14 Northeastern Wisconsin counties. The Packers assumed many of those tasks beginning in 1994.
- To date, the series has raised more than $2.7 million.

BIRTH OF A TEAM, AND A LEGEND

On Aug. 11, 1919, a score or more husky young athletes, called together by Curly Lambeau and George Calhoun, gathered in the dingy editorial room of the old Green Bay Press-Gazette building on Cherry Street and organized a football team. They didn't know it, but that was the beginning of the incredible saga of the Green Bay Packers.

Lambeau and Calhoun struck the initial spark a few weeks before, during a casual street-corner conversation. It was apparently a "Why not get up a football team?" remark, but once they were interested they wasted no time.

Calhoun

Lambeau

First they talked Curly's employer — a war-time industry called the Indian Packing Company, where he worked as a shipping clerk for $250/month — into putting up money for jerseys.

Because the company provided jerseys and permitted the use of its athletic field for practice, the club was identified in its early publicity as a project of the company. With this tie-in the name "Packers" was a natural, and Packers they have been ever since, although the Indian Packing Co. had practically faded out of the picture before that first season was half over.

That first season the team won 10 and lost only one, against foes from Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Games were played in an open field with no fences or bleachers, and interested fans "passed the hat." But the team was so successful by 1921 that Lambeau was backed by two officials of the packing plant in obtaining a franchise (Aug. 27, 1921) in the new national pro football league that had been formed in 1920. Cash customers didn't quite pay the freight and the team had to be forfeited at year's end.

This was the first in a long series of troubles that the now famous team overcame, for in 1922 Lambeau gained other backers and bought the franchise back for $250, including $50 of his own money. Troubles continued during that season. One game was rained out and the insurance company wouldn't pay off because the official amount of rain was one one-hundredth of an inch short of that required in the policy.

However, another storm late in the season, when the Packers were scheduled to play the Duluth Kelleys, threatened to throw Lambeau further into debt. But A.B. Turnbull, Green Bay Press-Gazette general manager, advanced Lambeau the Duluth guarantee. He then lobbied town businessmen ("The Hungry Five") behind the team, and formed the Green Bay Football Corporation.

From those modest and somewhat tenuous beginnings, the Packers have gone on to earn national stature and virtual worldwide recognition by winning more championships (12) over the intervening 80-plus years than any team in pro football.

These achievements, while representing a town of just around 100,000 in competition with the country's largest markets, have endeared the Packers to the nation. The David vs. Goliath concept and the team's unique status as a publicly owned corporation has intrigued generations.

The Packers' colorful saga spans 84 years from the "Iron Man" period of the first decade under founder Curly Lambeau, to the present day, which finds Mike Sherman presiding as the team's 13th head coach.

THE IRON MAN ERA

With good financial backing, Lambeau picked up college stars from all over the country, plus some unknowns who turned out to be "greats." In 1929, tiny Green Bay won the first of three straight national professional football championships, pacing stalwarts from New York and Chicago in league standings (the playoff system began in 1933). The 1929-31 title teams featured all-time pro greats like Red Dunn, Verne Lewellen, Cal Hubbard, Bo Molenda, Jug Earp, Mike Michalske, Johnny (Blood) McNally, Bill Kern, Arnie Herber, Clarke Hinkle, Lavvie Dilweg, Tom Nash, Milt Gantenbein and Hank Bruder. In many games, players would go for almost the full 60 minutes. These teams were hailed all over the country as some of the greatest ever.

1929

THE HUTSON PERIOD

Trouble flared again in 1934, when a fan fell from the stands, sued and won a $5,000 verdict. After their insurance company went bankrupt, the Packers went into receivership and were just about to fold when Green Bay businessmen came to the rescue again, raised $15,000 in new capital and reorganized the club.

About this time (1935), a player from the team of Don Hutson came to the club. He actually signed two contracts, with Green Bay and the Brooklyn Dodgers. But commissioner Joe Carr awarded Hutson to the Packers, because Green Bay's postmark was earlier.

Men who influenced the Packers' infancy

- George Whitney Calhoun, sports editor, Green Bay Press-Gazette; team manager, publicist and traveling secretary from 1919-47; used paper to personally target and recruit local athletes for first gathering in 1919, and to draw fans to games during financially shaky early seasons. Passed his hat along sidelines at Hagedorn Park to raise money for team.
- Earl "Curly" Lambeau, founder and first team captain; persuaded employers to purchase equipment and join American Professional Football Association (became NFL); starred as player from 1921-28; coached team for 31 seasons.
- Frank Peck, Lambeau's boss at Indian Packing Company, handed team $500 for first uniforms and equipment.
- John Clair, chairman, Acme Packing Company, bought team and Indian Packing Company in 1919; convinced by Lambeau to apply for franchise in new American Professional Football Association (NFL); forfeited financially unstable team after '21 season.
- Don Murphy, Lambeau's friend; drove to Canton and 1922 league meeting with Lambeau, who wanted to re-enter league (NFL banished franchise for using active college players in 1921); upon arrival, Murphy sold his Marmon Roadster for $1,500, gave $200 to Lambeau to meet most of $250 re-entry fee (Lambeau chipped in $50 of own money), and used some of rest to buy Green Bay train tickets. In return, Lambeau allowed Murphy to play in one game (he covered on season's first non-league kickoff at Duluth, Sept. 24).
- Andrew B. Turnbull, general manager, Green Bay Press-Gazette; first president of Packers corporation; kept team afloat in 1922, then rallied local businessmen to purchase stock and turn Packers into non-profit corporation in August, 1923.

The Packers played independently from 1919-1920. After joining the American Professional Football Association (renamed NFL in 1922), they played their first official league game Oct. 23, 1921, a 7-6 win over the Minneapolis Marines at Green Bay's Hagemester Park.

With about six minutes left in the fourth quarter, the Marines muffed Cub Buck's punt, and Dave Hayes recovered at the Minneapolis 35. Three plays later, with the crowd chanting "throw a forward," Curly Lambeau hit Buff Wagner for 18 yards. The franchise's first completion, the play set up Art Schmael's 4-yard touchdown run. Lambeau's extra-point, with Buck holding, gave the Packers their first win.

From his first game on, Hutson became the terror of the league and the secret of Green Bay's next three championships. His arrival and corresponding attendance increases allowed the team to buy itself out of receivership in 1935. With Herber and Cecil Isbell pitching and Hutson catching anything they threw at him, despite any kind of a stop-Hutson defense, Green Bay won championships in 1936, 1939 and 1944.

After Hutson's retirement, Packer fortunes again declined. The disastrous pro football war, between the NFL and the new All-America Football Conference, brought on another financial crisis after the 1949 season. From 1946-48, the financially strapped Packers lost two of their three No. 1 draft choices to the AAFC, unable to bid with the rival league. Desperate for new income, the Packers held an old-timers game and intra-squad scrimmage on Thanksgiving Day, 1949, and raised $50,000.

In the midst of the turbulent times, Lambeau lost an internal power struggle — which ultimately began when he used $25,000 to purchase Rockwood Lodge for training camp. Lambeau resigned, Jan. 31, 1950, ending his 31-year run in Green Bay, to become the Chicago Cardinals' head coach.

RONZANI REGIME

To replace Lambeau, the Packers hired Gene Ronzani of the Bears, the most significant step in yet another major reorganization and rebuilding effort. Nearly $125,000 was raised in a giant 1950 stock sale all over the state. Under Ronzani, Green Bay's best season was 1952; the Packers were in the thick of the title chase until the season's last weeks. In 1953, the team played erratic ball and Ronzani resigned with two games remaining.

The Packers Story

Vainisi

BLACKBOURN TAKES OVER

The Packers overhauled their front office and coaching staff in 1954, hiring Verne Lewellen, all-time Packers great, attorney and businessman, as general manager. Reaching into the college ranks, Green Bay named Lisle Blackburn, of Marquette University, its third coach. The Packers were 17-31 during Blackburn's four years (1954-57).

On April 3, 1956, voters approved a referendum to fund construction of a new stadium. The Packers dedicated the facility (renamed Lambeau Field in 1965), Sept. 29, 1957.

McLEAN MOVES UP

Likable Ray "Scooter" McLean moved up from being an outstanding assistant coach to guide the destiny of the Packers for 1958. McLean resigned in December after a 1-10-1 record, the worst in Packer history in his lone season as head coach.

THE LOMBARDI ERA

The Packers took their time after McLean's resignation. Vainisi conducted Phase II of the '59 draft by himself, as the team debated whether to hire a general manager as well as a coach, or one person for both positions. The search spanned from the CFL to the college ranks, and even included a GM application from Curly Lambeau.

On Jan. 28, when team president Dominic Olejniczak recommended to the committee a little-known Giants assistant, longtime committee member John Torinus replied, "Who the hell is Vince Lombardi?"

The committee, and the world, quickly found out. Within hours after his arrival on Feb. 2, Lombardi told the committee, "I want it understood that I am in

Solid football, shaky finances, 1922-35

- ▶ Packers use two active Notre Dame players in non-league game against Chicago Supremes after 1921 season. Upset at teams using illegal players, league makes example of Packers, strips Green Bay of team (Jan. 28, 1922). NFL owners reinstate Packers at Canton league meeting, after Lambeau apologizes, pays $250 franchise fee, making him team's new owner.
- ▶ Fearing weather would scare fans in 1922, team purchases rain insurance for Oct. 8 Racine game; if official precipitation was at least .1 inches, insurance would pay Racine's guarantee; rained only .09 inches, game drew minimal attendance, and Packers stuck with debt to opponent.
- ▶ On Nov. 4, 1922, with team too poor for rain insurance and fearing another sparse turnout for next day's game with Columbus, Andrew Turnbull advances Lambeau funds to pay guarantee, then after season recruits local businessmen, turns Packers into non-profit corporation in August, 1923, and holds first stock sale, raising $5,000.
- ▶ Small-town Packers gain national respect, defeating mighty Giants at Polo Grounds, 7-0, Nov. 18, 1928.
- ▶ Lambeau signs Johnny Blood, Cal Hubbard and Mike Michalske before '29 season, wins three straight NFL titles (1929-31).
- ▶ Fan falls from bleachers, sues, court awards $5,000. Packers turn to their public-liability (mutual) insurance company, but it's casualty of Great Depression; team needs additional $2,500 to settle with creditors.
- ▶ Circuit Court Judge and Packer fan Henry Graess turns team into receivership of CPA Frank Jonet, Packer stockholder who allows team to be reorganized from Green Bay Football Corporation to Green Bay Packers, Inc.
- ▶ President Lee Joannes organizes 1935 stock drive, raises $15,000, pays off all debts.

complete command here." Two days later the Packers officially gave Lombardi both titles.

In his first season, 1959, Lombardi lifted the Packers to a 7-5 record, netting unanimous 'Coach of the Year.' Then in 1960, the Packers captured the Western Division title, only to lose the NFL title game at Philadelphia. However, Lombardi rebounded to win world championships in 1961, '62, '65, '66, and '67.

His teams, which finished no lower than second from 1960-67, became the standard of football excellence. Over a nine-year span as head coach, Lombardi went 98-30-4 (.758), including 9-1 in postseason, winning his final nine playoff games, a feat unparalleled in pro sports.

BENGTON PERIOD

Following the third consecutive title in 1967, Lombardi turned over the head coaching duties to Phil Bengtson and one year later announced that he was leaving Green Bay to coach and manage the Washington Redskins. Lombardi coached the Packers from 1968-1970, compiling a 20-21-1 record. He resigned in December, 1970.

THE DEVINE DAYS

Dan Devine, one of the nation's three most successful college coaches, succeeded Bengtson as head coach and general manager in January of 1971. After settling for a 4-8-2 record during his first season, Devine and the Packers appeared on the road to new heights when 1972 produced a 10-4 record and the team's first Central Division title since 1967. But the Packers' Super Bowl hopes dissolved in the second half of '73 and they slipped to 5-7-2. They continued their recession in '74, going 6-8, and Devine resigned.

THE STARR TREK

The most successful field general in pro football history, who led the Packers to five world championships from 1961-67, Bart Starr accepted the challenge to lead the Packers out of the NFL wilderness, agreeing to a three-year contract as head coach and general manager, Dec. 24, 1974. Starr asked for "the prayers and

Lombardi at a glance

- In early 1959, president Dominic Olejniczak phoned George Halas to ask about Lombardi. Halas reluctantly told him if the Packers hired Lombardi, the Bears would be in trouble. Lombardi's teams were 13-5 against Halas.
- His first club in '59 went 7-5; roster of '58 squad (1-10-1) included LB Bill Forester, T Forrest Gregg, DB Hank Gremminger, T Dave Hanner, HB Paul Hornung, G Jerry Kramer, E Max McGee, LB Ray Nitschke, QB Bart Starr and FB Jim Taylor—all keys to '60s dynasty.
- Lombardi's players carried him off the field at least five times, including his first and last games coached (Sept. 27, 1959, vs. Chicago; Super Bowl II).
- Had little patience for players who made contract demands, and did not discriminate. Lombardi shipped 1950s superstar Billy Howton to Cleveland. Then, in 1964 when future Hall of Famer Jim Ringo and his agent showed up in Lombardi's office, the coach allegedly left for five minutes, then returned to tell them he'd just traded Ringo to the Eagles.
- Revamped uniforms in 1959, (they've barely changed since); asked equipment man Dad Braisher to design G helmet logo, added in 1961.
- Oldest of five children, he toiled several years (including a job at duPont for $20/week) before landing only previous head coaching post—at St. Cecilia's (N.J.) High School, where he also taught chemistry, physics, algebra and Latin.
- Recruited to Fordham by Jimmy Crowley, who played football at Green Bay East High School.

First quarterbacks

The Green Bay Press-Gazette, in editions following the inaugural league game Oct. 23, 1921 vs. Minneapolis, listed Adolph Kliebhan as the first starting quarterback in team history.

Kliebhan, however, played his only career league game that afternoon, and didn't see many plays.

While Kliebhan was the first starter, Curly Lambeau was really the team's first "field general." Lambeau would have started the Marines game had he not kept himself out after starting each of the four non-league contests. Lambeau threw both Packers passes that day. In fact, he started four of the team's remaining five games (Art Schmael started the Packers' second game, vs. Rock Island Oct. 30, 1921; Lambeau started the last four).

Toward the end of Lambeau's playing days, he turned mainly to Red Dunn. However, Arnie Herber, who played from 1930-40 and like Lambeau hailed from Green Bay, was the team's first pure passer. Don Hutson, credited with inventing pass patterns, formed the Herber-Hutson combination, which terrified opponents from 1935-40.

From Lambeau to Bart Starr to Brett Favre, more than 125 Packers players have attempted a pass, many in the 1920s, and the snap usually went to the halfback, who also called the cadence.

patience of Packer fans everywhere...We will earn everything else."

Although he had to settle for a 4-10 record in 1975, the baptismal season of a massive rebuilding project, Starr gave fans new hope by assembling a sound organization and restoring a positive attitude, underscored by three victories in the last five games of the '75 season. He continued the resurgent trend in 1976, leading the Packers to a 5-9 record, highlighted by a three-game, mid-season winning streak. Major and key injuries slowed the comeback in 1977 but a strong finish produced a 4-10 mark. Hopes soared in 1978 when the Packers posted their first winning slate since 1972, an 8-7-1 record, only to be temporarily dampened in '79 by a record rash of injuries which spawned a 5-11 mark. Another injury epidemic, one which saw 27 players on injured reserve during the course of the season, struck in 1980, forcing the Packers to settle for a 5-10-1 record.

Rebounding strongly in 1981, they rallied from a disappointing 2-6 start to mount one of the most dramatic comebacks in Green Bay history, closing with a 6-2 rush (an 8-8 mark), one win shy of the playoffs.

The Packers continued the upsurge in 1982, when they qualified for the playoffs for the first time since 1972 by going 5-3-1 during a strike-interrupted season. They then embellished that performance by routing St. Louis 41-16 in the first round of the NFL's Super Bowl Tournament, before bowing to Dallas (37-26) despite a record-setting, 466-yard offensive effort. Starr was relieved of his head coaching duties Dec. 19, 1983, after the Packers finished the season 8-8 and missed the NFL playoffs on the season's final week.

THE GREGG ERA

On Dec. 24, 1984, Forrest Gregg, a former Starr team-mate and one of the premier offensive tackles in football history, became the ninth head coach. Gregg had maneuvered Cincinnati into Super Bowl XVI following the 1981 season. Gregg, whose 19-6 Cincinnati record over the 1981-82 seasons was the best in pro football, received a five-year contract.

In taking over, he declared, "I took this job to field a winning team. That will happen."

Gregg's prediction began to bear fruit in the second half of the 1984 season when the Packers rebounded from an injury-ridden 1-7 start to win seven of their last eight.

Because of injury and other complications, however, the 1985 season followed the '84 script, the Packers getting off to a slow 3-6 start before mounting a strong finish to again close at 8-8 by winning five of their last seven.

Gregg, convinced the time had come to rebuild a team that was 8-8 three straight years, and was "starting to get old," made sweeping personnel changes in 1986. The young Packers, their task complicated by injuries to key performers, got off to an 0-6 start, then began to mature in mid-season and went on to finish 4-12.

Following the 1987 season, when the Packers finished third in the NFC Central (5-9-1), Gregg resigned (Jan. 15, 1988) to become head coach at his alma mater, Southern Methodist University.

INFANTE SIGNS ON

Nineteen days later (Feb. 3), Cleveland Browns offensive coordinator Lindy Infante, recognized throughout the NFL as a brilliant innovator, signed a five-year contract. Plagued by turnovers and kicking problems, Infante's first team, in 1988, was 4-12, but left fans with hopes for '89 and the future by winning the last two games.

Building on that positive note, Infante in 1989 escorted the Packers to a 10-6 record — their best in 17 years — and within one game of the playoffs, spicing that turnaround with a league-record four one-point victories.

In 1990, subsequent high hopes for the team's first postseason berth in a non-strike year since 1972, evaporated when the Packers — with a contending, 6-5 record after 11 games — ended the year with five straight losses.

The Packers' continued to decline in 1991 (4-12). New executive vice president/general manager Ron Wolf dismissed Infante Dec. 22. Green Bay had hired Wolf, Nov. 27, with full football operations authority.

THE HOLMGREN ERA

Wolf named Mike Holmgren, architect of San Francisco's four-time Super Bowl champions, to succeed Infante, Jan. 11, 1992. Holmgren, sought by five other NFL clubs, got a five-year contract.

In his first season, 1992, the former USC field general directed the Packers to a 9-7 record and within sight of the playoffs. He became only the third Packers head coach with a winning record in his first season, punctuated by a six-game winning streak, the team's longest since 1965.

Holmgren took his team to the playoffs in 1993 — despite losing four starters to injury. Forging a second straight 9-7 record — against a considerably more demanding schedule — Green Bay got its first playoff berth in 10 years. In the first round, the Packers came from behind in the last minute to beat Detroit, 28-24. They then fell at Dallas, 27-17, in the divisional round.

In 1994, the Packers registered a third consecutive 9-7 mark and second straight playoff trip — the first time that had happened since the Tittletown days of the '60s. Riding a three-game winning streak into the postseason, they parlayed a record defensive performance and a turnover-free offensive effort into a 16-12 victory over Detroit — their first home playoff game since the '82 season — holding the incomparable Barry Sanders to minus-1 yard in 13 attempts. The Packers advanced without the services of All-Pro receiver Sterling Sharpe, whose neck injury, diagnosed after the regular-season finale, ended his brilliant Green Bay career. For a second straight year, the Packers' run ended in Dallas, 35-9.

Closing ranks with great results following Sharpe's loss, the 1995 Packers put together one of the hallmark seasons in their history. Winning six of their last seven games, they captured their first NFC Central Division crown since 1972, then made their best postseason showing in more than 28 years, forging all the way to the NFC Championship Game.

En route, they closed the regular season 11-5 — their best mark since the 1966 NFL championship club (12-2) — and followed by dispatching the Falcons, 37-20, in a first-round playoff at Lambeau Field. Building on that triumph, the Packers mounted one of the premier performances in their postseason history, formally dethroning the defending Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers in their own 3Com Park, 27-17. Again, however, dreams of a Super Bowl floundered in Dallas, 38-27, in the NFC title game, after leading 27-24 at the end of three quarters.

Putting nearly three decades of disappointment emphatically behind, the Packers rewarded their long-patient faithful in 1996. Shunting aside eight of their first nine foes, they swept to a 13-3 record and their second straight division championship. Then, they captured their first NFL title since 1967, dispatching New England, 35-21, in Super Bowl XXXI at the Superdome.

Displaying impressive consistency on both sides of the ball, they documented their superiority, outscoring three opponents 100-48 in a postseason sweep. Appropriately, the first two wins were before their Lambeau loyalists — a 35-14 divisional triumph over the 49ers and a 30-13 win over the upstart Carolina Panthers in the NFC title game.

In annexing a 12th NFL championship, extending their own league record, the Packers joined an elite group of teams with three-or-more Super Bowls (Dallas, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Oakland and Washington).

The Packers thus entered 1997 with an opportunity to win back-to-back Super Bowls for a second time — and came breathtakingly close to achieving their objective.

Sweeping to a second consecutive 13-3 mark, tying a club record with 13 wins, they primed for the playoffs ending the season with five straight wins. After a third consecutive division title, they launched their bid at Lambeau in workmanlike fashion, turning back Tampa Bay in the divisional playoff, 21-7. The win padded their all-time home-field, postseason record to 12-0, extending the longest such winning streak in pro football history.

Forced to win on the road for a return to the ultimate game, the Packers smothered the 49ers on a soggy, rain-swept afternoon in San Francisco, 23-10. Garnering a berth in the Super Bowl, Green Bay held the Niners without an offensive touchdown.

In a see-saw affair, Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego found the Packers trailing Denver at halftime, 17-14. Hopes of a repeat were high, however, when quarterback Brett Favre engineered an 85-yard drive, knotting the contest, 24-24, early in the fourth quarter. But the Broncos later scored with only 1:45 remaining and a last-minute Packers drive fell short when Favre's pass for tight end Mark Chmura fell incomplete inside the Denver 20, with only 28 seconds left, sealing the Broncos' 31-24 win.

A third straight Super Bowl trip, a realistic goal at the outset, eluded the Packers in 1998, their 80th season. Historic accomplishment, however, did not as they advanced to the playoffs for the sixth year in a row, a team record, while posting a seventh consecutive winning season. Green Bay overcame multiple injuries, including the loss of Pro Bowl running back Dorsey Levens (out nine games) and center Frank Winters (stretch run and postseason), each with a broken leg. They set another team record by stretching their Lambeau Field winning streak to 25 games — the second-longest in NFL history — before falling to Minnesota Vikings Oct. 5. They finished 11-5, equaling another team standard by posting a double-digit victory total for the fourth consecutive year (11-5 in 1995, 13-3 in both 1996 and 1997). The only other time Green Bay had strung together four seasons of 10-plus wins was 67 years earlier — Curly Lambeau's triple NFL champions of 1929-32 (12-0-1 in 1929, 10-3-1 in 1930, 12-2 in 1931 and 10-3-1 in 1932).

In the wake of these considerable achievements, the Packers' season came to a dramatic and painful end in an NFC Wild Card game at San Francisco, when a 27-23 lead abruptly dissolved into a 30-27 49ers victory. Steve Young's 25-yard touchdown pass to Terrell Owens sealed the game with just three seconds left.

Only five days later, Holmgren resigned to become head coach and direct football operations for the Seattle Seahawks.

ROUGH RHODE(S)

The Packers launched 1999 under Rhodes in breathtaking fashion, literally winning three of the first four in the last minute.

Despite a sprained passing thumb, Favre's heroics brought his team from behind on all three occasions. His 1-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Thomason pulled out a victory over Oakland, 28-24, with only 11 seconds left in the opener. His 23-yard TD strike to Corey Bradford propelled the Packers past Minnesota, 23-20, with 12 seconds left in Week 3. And, his 21-yard scoring throw to Antonio Freeman snatched victory from Tampa Bay's grasp, 26-23, with 1:05 to play in Week 4.

Fate, however, suddenly stopped smiling as Green Bay lost four of its next five. After a three-game winning streak (Detroit, San Francisco, Chicago), three straight losses put the six-year playoff streak in jeopardy. On the season's final Sunday, Dallas' late-afternoon victory over the Giants eliminated Green Bay. The Packers (8-8) missed the playoffs for the first time since 1992, ending seven straight winning seasons.

Saying the Packers lacked the needed toughness and fire, Wolf relieved Rhodes hours after the season finale.

THE PRESENT

After searching more than two weeks, Wolf surprised many NFL observers by naming Mike Sherman, the Seahawks' offensive coordinator and Green Bay's tight ends coach from 1997-98, as the Packers' 13th head coach, Jan. 18, 2000.

A quietly confident, 21-year coaching veteran, Sherman immediately promised to bring structure, discipline and team chemistry to the 2000 Packers. He also shared his long-time love affair with the Green Bay Packers and their tradition, dating back to his Massachusetts childhood, when he would read Vince Lombardi's books on football each night before bed.

To his considerable credit, Sherman in 2000 surmounted multiple injuries, including Favre's prolonged bout with elbow tendinitis, and finished 9-7, inches from the playoffs.

Not easily turned aside, he persevered, through an 0-2 start, and even when the record slipped to 5-7 by the end of November. Sherman rallied his troops for a rousing finish, beating NFC Central rivals Chicago, Detroit, Minnesota and Tampa Bay (in overtime), to complete a December sweep. The only other Packers coach to win his last four games in his first year was Lombardi in 1959.

The Packers defeated more teams with winning records (six) than anyone in the league, went 5-2 against playoff teams and rediscovered the Lambeau Field advantage by winning their last five in Green Bay.

- Packers were first to open hall of fame and museum (1967).

One month after that stirring finish, Wolf retired as the team's executive vice president and general manager, Feb. 1, and president Bob Harlan quickly named Sherman to replace Wolf. Sherman became the first head coach with the GM title since Bart Starr in 1960.

Wolf's impressive nine-year tenure included the team's first Super Bowl (1996) in 29 years, back-to-back NFC titles (1996-97), 101 total victories (including eight in the playoffs), eight winning seasons (1992-98, 2000), six straight playoff appearances (1993-98) and the NFL's best regular-season record (83-45) since the 1993 advent of free agency.

Harlan moved quickly to replace Wolf with Sherman. Now with full authority over football, Sherman answered in 2001 by returning the Packers to the playoffs, improving his winning percentage to .656 (21-11), best in team history over a coach's first two seasons.

Behind Favre (first NFL player with 10 straight 3,000-yard seasons) and explosive Ahman Green (club-record 1,981 yards from scrimmage) the Packers went 12-4, but couldn't grasp the division title, despite sweeping the division champion Bears.

In the playoffs, Green Bay avenged its 1998 loss to the Niners, extinguishing a late-game drive when Mike McKenzie and Tyrone Williams collaborated on a crucial interception. The next week, Favre tied a postseason record with six interceptions, three of which were returned for Rams scores, and the Packers bowed to the eventual NFC champion, 45-17.

In 2002, Green Bay overcame its most injury-plagued season in recent memory to tie for the league's best record, 12-4. Despite injured starters missing 63 combined games, the Packers clinched their division, the inaugural NFC North title, on Dec. 1, earlier than any NFL team, and any other year in franchise history (four games remaining).

On offense, the Packers for the first time in their history did not return a starting receiver, after releasing Antonio Freeman and allowing Bill Schroeder to leave in free agency. Nonetheless, Brett Favre finished two votes shy of a fourth MVP, and Donald Driver emerged to lead the team in receptions (70) and receiving yards (1,064).

Defensively, behind Pro Bowler Darren Sharper, the team ranked third in the NFL against the pass and led the league with 45 takeaways, six more than any other team. What's more, for the first time since 1965, the Packers held at least a share of the league lead in turnover ratio (plus-17).

Until the league regularly scheduled postseason in 1933, NFL titles, including the Packers' first three crowns (1929-31), were decided by winning percentage in league standings.

However, the official league standings from 1921-71 did not recognize ties in figuring winning percentage (since 1972, ties have been considered half of a win).

That rule actually cost the Packers a fourth consecutive championship in 1932 (Green Bay is the only NFL team to win as many as three straight titles — 1929-31 and 1965-67).

The Chicago Bears (6-1-6) and Portsmouth Spartans (6-1-4) finished "tied" for first, ignoring their ties. The Bears won the title by defeating Portsmouth after the season, a game that counted in final regular-season standings.

Several Packers fans use the '32 championship to counter Bears supporters who say Don Majkowski threw an illegal TD pass to beat Chicago in the 1989 "Instant Replay" game.

Packer Patents

Football historians generally credit the Green Bay Packers with inventing several aspects common in today's game. The team is believed to be the first to...

- ▶ Implement daily practice (Curly Lambeau, 1920s).
- ▶ Innovate the forward pass into pro game (Lambeau used the "unsportsmanlike" play at will at East High School, then after only semester at Notre Dame in 1918 brought Knute Rockne's "secret weapon" to early NFL).
- ▶ Introduce a mascot at pro game (dog named Olive, because he liked to eat Durkee olives, 1919).
- ▶ Install a stadium public address system (City Stadium, 1925; local radio shop owner Peter Platten installed speakers powered by six-volt wet-cell batteries; former Packer Jim Coffeen was team's first PA announcer).
- ▶ Have cheerleaders on sidelines (several games in 1931, from Green Bay East and West high schools).
- ▶ Use pass patterns (Don Hutson, 1935, ran a deep post to catch first career pass, 83-yard TD vs. Bears, Sept. 22, 1935).
- ▶ Charter an airplane to fly to a road game (1938).
- ▶ Have "tailgating" fans (some evidence to suggest it was introduced at Bellevue Park, 1923-24, but undoubtedly perfected in new City Stadium's spacious parking lots, 1957).

Of all the reasons that make the Green Bay Packers and their story so incredible and unique, the most significant is simply this: The team is literally owned by its fans.

Presently, 111,507 people (representing 4,748,910 shares) can lay claim to a franchise ownership interest.

Shares of stock include voting rights, but the redemption price is minimal, no dividends are ever paid, the stock cannot appreciate in value, and there are no season ticket privileges associated with stock ownership. No shareholder is allowed to own more than 200,000 shares, a safeguard to ensure that no one individual is able to assume control of the club.

The team has had three owners, all in its first four years, 1919-22. The first owner, Indian Packing Company, paid an unofficial purchase price of $500 to supply Curly Lambeau with uniforms and equipment. In turn, Lambeau and team manager George Calhoun called the club "Packers."

Shortly thereafter, Acme Packing Company bought Indian Packing Company and all its assets, including the fledgling team. In 1921, Lambeau convinced new owners John and Emmitt Clair to apply for membership in the new American Professional Football Association (early NFL).

With the team already headed for bankruptcy, the APFA revoked the franchise after Lambeau used illegal college players in a non-league game later that year. But before the 1922 season, Lambeau by himself reapplied and the league reinstated the Packers, with Lambeau as owner. When rain threatened to sink the team in '22, A.B. Turnbull came to the rescue.

Turnbull, publisher of the Green Bay Press-Gazette, grocery man Lee Joannes, attorney Gerald Clifford and Dr. W. Webber Kelly cancelled Lambeau's $2,500 debt, then rallied the community behind the team. In August, 1923, with more than 400 in attendance at a local Elks Club, the club was transformed into a non-profit entity, the Green Bay Packers Corporation. The five men, including Lambeau, were nicknamed the Hungry Five.

There now have been four stock drives in the 84-year history of the team. The first stock sale, which took place at that 1923 meeting, saw local merchants raise $5,000 by selling 1,000 shares for $5 apiece, with a stipulation that the purchaser also had to buy at least six season tickets.

The second, in 1935, raised $15,000 after the corporation had gone into receivership. At that point, the non-profit Green Bay Football Corporation was reorganized as the Green Bay Packers, Inc., the present company, with 300 shares of stock outstanding.

The third, in 1950, came on the heels of founder Curly Lambeau's 30-year dominion, when the club's officers arranged to amend the corporation's bylaws to permit the sale of up to 10,000 total shares of stock (opening up more than 9,500 shares for purchase), to limit the number of shares that any individual could own. The team also increased the number of directors from 15 to 25.

The response to the '50 drive was inspiring, with people from all across Wisconsin, as well as former Green Bay residents living in other states, coming forward to buy the $25 shares of stock. Roughly $50,000 was raised in one 11-day period alone. Reportedly, one woman from a farm near Wrightstown, Wis., showed up at the team's offices with $25 worth of quarters in a match box. A total of about $118,000 was generated through this major stock sale, helping to put the Packers on a sound financial basis once again.

The fourth came late in 1997 and early in 1998. It added 105,989 new shareholders and raised more than $24 million, monies which were utilized for the Lambeau Field redevelopment project. Priced at $200 per share, fans bought 120,010 shares during the 17-week sale, which ended March 16, 1998.

With the NFL supporting the plan, the existing 1,940 shareholders overwhelmingly voted to amend the articles of the corporation on Nov. 13, 1997. The vote authorized the Packers to sell up to 1 million shares to raise funds for capital improvements, and received a 1,000 to 1 split on their original shares. Fans immediately were able to call a special toll-free number, or tap into the team's web site for information on how to buy the 400,000 shares made available to the public.

Events that helped to stabilize Packers financially, 1922-66

- ▶ A.B. Turnbull's actions, 1922-23 — When rain threatened to keep fans away, bankrupt Packers, Turnbull told Lambeau and George Calhoun to play their games and that he'd bail them out of debt. Turnbull then organized local investors, turned team into non-profit organization in 1923, and raised $1,000 in team's first stock drive.
- ▶ Court decision to appoint receiver, 1935 — After fan who fell from City Stadium bleachers sued Packers, team petitioned for friendly receiver, while litigation ran its course. Henry Graess, circuit court judge and Packers fan, appointed local accountant Frank Jonet as receiver. Despite Great Depression, Packers prospered during receivership (1934-37), thanks in part to growing popularity of NFL.
- ▶ Second stock drive, 1935 — President Lee Joannes raises $15,000 in "Save the Packers" stock drive, getting donations from fire fighters, policemen, high school students, housewives, civic leaders and other citizens.
- ▶ Joe Carr's sending Don Hutson to Green Bay, 1935 — College star signed two contracts, including one with Brooklyn football Dodgers. League President Joe Carr awarded Hutson to Packers because team's contract was postmarked earlier. Hutson, pivotal in 1936 world championship and greatest player in Green Bay history, helped team to climb out of court receivership.
- ▶ NFL's installation of college draft, 1936 — Kept small-market teams like Packers competitive with big-city opponents.
- ▶ Lee Joannes donation, 1937 — Packers president paid $6,000 to settle case of fan who fell from stands in '34, then convinced court to end receivership period.
- ▶ Decision to play games in Milwaukee, 1939 — Allowed Packers to tap larger market. As a result, the Packers now have one of the largest territories in sports (the NFL has traditionally given teams only 75-mile radius). By playing in both Green Bay and Milwaukee (1939-94), Packers thwarted any efforts to establish another competing pro football team there.
- ▶ Decision to invest in war bonds, 1940s — Money in reserve carried team despite losses of at least $25,000 in 1943 alone, as World War II depleted rosters.
- ▶ Intrasquad game, Thanksgiving, 1949 — Packers brought old-timers back, drawing City Stadium sellout, $50,000.
- ▶ Third stock drive, 1950 — After Lambeau's departure, team raised nearly $118,000.
- ▶ Bert Bell's push for league-wide TV package, 1950s — With help from Congress, commissioner laid groundwork for CBS-TV deal that allowed all teams, large market and small market, to share revenue, eventually in place by the '61 season. Pete Rozelle in '66 signed first NFL TV package, with CBS and NBC, giving Packers more than $1 million (which allowed Vince Lombardi to sign Donny Anderson to the team's first long-term contract).

The initial response to the recent stock offering was staggering. In the first 11 days, roughly one-third – or $7.8 million – of the total amount transacted was sold. Paid orders poured in at a rate of 3,500 per day during this early period, generating about $700,000 each day. The sale hit its high point during the first week of December as fans purchased shares as holiday gifts.

Shares of stock were purchased by citizens from all 50 states, in addition to fans in Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Over half (or roughly 64,300) of the new shares during the 1997-98 offering were bought by Wisconsin residents, followed by inhabitants of Illinois (9,600), Minnesota (4,300), California (3,700), Florida (2,900), Michigan (2,800), Texas (2,500) and Ohio (2,000).

Today, an annual meeting of stockholders is held in July – most recently at Green Bay's new Resch Center. As a means of running the corporation, a board of directors is elected by the stockholders. The board of directors in turn elect a seven-member Executive Committee (officers) of the corporation, consisting of a president, vice president, treasurer, secretary and three members-at-large. The president is the only officer who receives compensation. The balance of the committee is sitting gratis.

Shares of stock cannot be re-sold, except back to the team for a fraction of the original price. Limited transfer of shares (ie., to heirs and relatives) is permissible.

Based on the original 'Articles of Incorporation for the (then) Green Bay Football Corporation' put into place in 1923, if the Packers franchise was sold, after the payment of all expenses, any remaining monies would go to the Sullivan-Wallen Post of the American Legion in order to build "a proper soldier's memorial." This stipulation was enacted to ensure that the club remained in Green Bay and that there could never be any financial enhancement for the shareholder. The beneficiary was changed from the Sullivan-Wallen Post to the Green Bay Packers Foundation on the basis of a shareholder vote at the November 1997, meeting.

Notable Packers financial figures, 1919-58

- $16 Amount each player received after first season, 1919. Players divided up profits after last game, some of which came from George Calhoun's hat, passed along the sidelines like a church offering.
- $500 Sum given to Curly Lambeau by Frank Peck, his boss at Indian Packing Company, for team's first uniforms.
- $250 Amount NFL charged Lambeau before '22 season for re-entry; league forfeited franchise after Lambeau used illegal college players in '21 game vs. Chicago Supremes. Using $50 of own money, he got rest from friend Don Murphy. After joining Lambeau on drive to Canton league meetings, Murphy sold his car (Marmon Roadster), gave Lambeau needed funds, then purchased tickets home. In exchange, Murphy got to play briefly in '22 non-league opener...George Haas, despite rivalry, was instrumental in persuading league to allow Packers back...Following Green Bay reinstatement, using Packers as example, NFL asked each club for $1,000 to guard against using college players.
- $2,500 Deficit new owner Lambeau faced after rain-ravaged 1922 season. No games were ever rained out, but weather did its toll on home attendance. Following season, with help of A.B. Turnbull, Packers became publicly owned corporation, and new team leadership raised additional $1,000 in team's first stock offering.
- $5,000 Verdict awarded to fan who fell from stands at City Stadium in 1934 and sued team. Packers public-liability mutual insurance company was already going bankrupt, so team forced to pay $2,500 to company's creditors. Fan's fall sent Packers into receivership.
- $15,000 New capital generated by Lee Joannes' 1935 stock drive, the second in team history.
- $300 Don Hutson's weekly game check as rookie in 1935, one year before first college draft. In midst of Great Depression, city of Green Bay had only two banks. Both banks had to write Hutson a weekly check, each for $150.
- $1,149 Share each player received for winning 1936 championship, after Boston Redskins owner George Preston Marshall moved the game to the Polo Grounds.
- $6,000 Amount Lee Joannes, president of Packers Corporation, loaned team to bail it out of receivership (settling the fan's damage judgement). Joannes held the Packers in his personal possession as security. According to Forbes (September, 2001), the Packers today are worth $392 million.
- $10,000 Amount team used to purchase Liberty war bonds, with profits from 1941 NFL playoff loss, 33-14 to Bears, one week after Pearl Harbor.
- $25,000 Price paid by Lambeau to purchase Rockwood Lodge, on shores of the bay north of city, for team's new training facility. Move drew heavy criticism from executive committee.
- $75,000 Amount paid by insurance company to Packers after Rockwood Lodge burned to ground in January 1950, shortly after Lambeau departed for Chicago Cardinals.
- $118,000 Funds created by third Packers stock drive, in 1950.
- $75,000 Price CBS paid Packers to televise 11 games each year from 1956-58. Teams in larger markets got much more money. Thanks to foundation laid by commissioner Bert Bell and U.S. Congress, league in 1961 season instituted current policy of league-wide TV package, allowing Packers equal share, despite small market size.

ALL-TIME GREEN BAY NUMBERS

► Players who wore multiple numbers during their Packers tenure are denoted with an asterisk (*).

► All players in this section are believed to have played in at least one league game in the corresponding number. Players who were listed on a numerical program roster but did not play that season were omitted.

► The team invites anyone who can provide further evidence, using the same criteria, to contact the public relations office.

Did you know...

In 1952 the National Football League established a system for numbering players, with a vague exemption for "nationally known players." A year later, such players as Otto Graham (60 to 14) changed their jerseys to conform to the system. According to the mandate, quarterbacks and kickers were numbered 1-19, running and defensive backs 20-49, centers and linebackers 50-59, defensive linemen and guards 60-79 and receivers 80-89.

Titeltown: Green Bay, Wis.

As though he had a hunch Vince Lombardi would win four more NFL titles over the next six years, Jack Yuenger first coined Green Bay "Titeltown" after the team's 1961 NFL championship, a 37-0 triumph over the New York Giants. Yuenger, Green Bay Press-Gazette advertising manager, printed the city's new nickname on celebratory signs for fan distribution. The '61 title, the Packers' sixth of an NFL-record 12 world championships — and first under Lombardi — was earned in Green Bay, the first championship game ever played in the city.

1923-24: Plain, gold jersey with nine thin navy-blue stripes on each sleeve; gold leggings, dark gold pants.

During World War II, the team had at least three alternate jerseys (these two, and another white design), complementing the trademark blue uniform made famous by the incomparable Don Hutson (pictured in lower left column). The Packers until the league signed major television contracts in the late 1950s several times wore white at home.

1935-36: Team introduced green, and changed jerseys during season; began with plain dark green jersey with gold numbers and green pants, then shifted to green-vested shirts with bright gold sleeves (from neck to wrist), numbers and pants, and tall, plain green socks.

Throwback jersey worn in 1994, NFL's 75th anniversary; modeled after late '30s uniform, satin-ched with cloth arms, gold pants, and two gold stripes on high navy socks; Packers also wore similar white uniforms (not necessarily only on road), with bright gold numbers and faded gold shoulders; in the late '40s, the team still used this design, but changed the blue to green.

1946-49>

1950: Plain, bright gold shirts with simple green numerals, gold pants and gold socks.

1951: First stripes (single green line) appear on gold pants; mild green jersey with gold numbers and first stripes on sleeves (two gold rings on each arm) since 1924; green socks with two thick gold stripes.

1950-51: Solid, plain purplish navy shirts with gold numbers, plain gold pants, navy socks.

1953: Darker green shirts with same striping and thicker gold numbers; team occasionally wore green shirts with shiny green pants; also used gold jersey with white sleeve stripes and green numbers, and had available gold pants with green stripe.

1954-58: Solid navy blue jersey returns, with new three-stripe design in gold on sleeves and socks, and faded gold pants. "TV numbers" on shoulder appear in '56 for first time; team also uses solid white helmets and uniform, with single navy stripe down pants, and navy jersey with white striping and numerals.

Nickname origin

In the Green Bay Press-Gazette on Aug. 29, 1919, two weeks before the team's first organized game, George Calhoun first publicly identified the team as the "Indian Packers."

Curly Lambeau received $500 from his employer, the Indian Packing Co., for uniforms and equipment, and for use of the company's lot for practice. In exchange, Lambeau and Calhoun agreed to call the team "Packers." Early fans, many of whom were working-class citizens, immediately embraced the name, widely publicized by Calhoun.

Calhoun also called them simply "Indians" briefly in 1919, but that moniker seemed to fold with the company, soon purchased — along with the team — by Acme Packing Co. In 1921, the team's first season in what is now the NFL, its owners had "Acme Packers" put on the jersey, setting the name in stone.

While "Packers" has served as the primary nickname since the team's embryonic stages, fans and sportswriters also have called them the Big Bay Blues, or the Bays. Lambeau in 1922 applied with the name "Blues," but public opinion quickly vetoed him.

A packer is someone who works at a packing house, an establishment for slaughtering, processing and packing livestock into meat, meat products and byproducts. "Green Bay Packers" is the longest standing team name in NFL history.

NOTE: Basketball's oldest names are the Boston Celtics and New York Knicks (both 1946)

1959-60: New head coach Vince Lombardi revamps uniforms; basic design and colors are still in place today; early Lombardi scheme did not include helmet logo, and called for three-striped design on socks; all players were asked to wear same style cleats.

1961-65: Few changes, other than the team's first and only helmet logo, which made its debut in 1961; by 1965, most players were wearing five stripes on their socks.

1969: The Packers with the rest of the league wear a commemorative logo on top of their left shoulder, signifying the league's 50th anniversary.

1974: Majority of players begin wearing white shoes.

1975: Three stripes (green-white-green) on pants grow noticeably wider, by more than an inch.

1981: Socks lose gold and white striping, shifting to plain, solid green.

1984-87>

New head coach Forrest Gregg makes most changes to uniform since Lombardi in 1959; team adds logo to float on each sleeve's striping, uniform numbers rest on each hip, pants striping is altered to include gold down, "TV numbers" move from arm to shoulder and a gold and white collar enhances neckline.

1988: The G remains on the sleeve, but the pants lose the uniform number. The team adds a single gold ring to its socks.

1989: Pre-1984 striping returns to pants (green-white-green); G logo disappears from sleeves.

1991: Small NFL shield added to V of neck.

Team for first time since 1958 plays as a unit with only three stripes on sleeve (shifting down from five stripes); NFL shield added to lower left thigh.

2002: "NFL Equipment" insignia replaces the NFL shield on the jersey neck and pants thigh.

NFL Free Agency 101

- ▶ Two categories: restricted (RFA) and unrestricted (UFA). RFA must complete three accrued seasons. UFA must complete at least four.
- ▶ Accrued season: Six-plus regular-season games on club's active/inactive, reserved-injured or physically unable to perform lists.
- ▶ Signing Periods: RFA — early March to mid April; UFA — early March—first day of first NFL training camp (or July 22, whichever is later).
- ▶ RFA must receive qualifying offers (salary level predetermined by collective bargaining agreement) from old club. If RFA signs offer sheet from new club, old club can match it and retain him. If old club opts not to match offer, it may receive draft-choice compensation, depending on amount of qualifying offer. If no offer sheet executed, RFA's rights revert to his old club after signing period.

- ▶ UFA are free to sign anywhere. If old club extends tender offer (110 percent of previous year's salary) by June 1, team regains rights when UFA signing period ends. If no tender offered by June 1, UFA may sign with any club at any time.

ALL-TIME PRACTICE SQUAD, 1989-2002

The NFL in 1989 created a five-player developmental squad. In 1990, the league changed the name to practice squad. Players can leave a practice squad for another team only if they join a roster of another NFL team. The 144 players who've spent time on Green Bay's developmental/practice squad.

LAMBEAU FIELD

REBIRTH OF A LEGEND

The crown jewel of the National Football League, Lambeau Field this year becomes a year-round destination venue — to be enjoyed by Packers fans in a variety of ways, on an everyday basis — after undergoing a dramatic facelift that added a host of new amenities and attractions. The conclusion of the redevelopment project will be marked by the September 7 Dedication Game against long-time divisional rival Minnesota.

Featuring the only true retro-look in the entire league, the glorious tradition and history of the Packers is carried forward in the "like-new" Lambeau Field with its heart — the original seating bowl — being saved. The same hallowed ground where many of the NFL's greatest moments have transpired will continue to exist, a canvas where current players can paint their own memories in future years.

At the same time, the structure has been transformed from a football stadium that fans could use only 10 days a year to a Packers cultural center that can be enjoyed throughout the year. Within the five-story Lambeau Field Atrium, located on the stadium's east side, is a new, 25,000-square-foot Packers Hall of Fame, corporate meeting or event facilities for 25 to 1,200 people, seven different eating options highlighted by a one-of-a-kind brew pub (Curly's) with interactive areas, and a larger Packers Pro Shop (see page 532 for a full listing of the Atrium dining, entertainment and retail options).

Just outside the Atrium are bronze statues of team founder Curly Lambeau and legendary coach Vince Lombardi. Sculpted by Julie Rotblatt-Amrany (Lombardi) and Omri Amrany (Lambeau) of Fine Art Studio of Rotblatt-Amrany in Highland Park, Ill., at a cost of more than $400,000, each statue is 14-feet tall, atop three feet of steps and a four-foot base. Nearby the statues are several park benches — making the plaza area a great place to sit and soak up the majesty of Lambeau Field.

On gamedays, fans benefit from many of the same 21st-century amenities typically found in the shiny but sterile, newer facilities that have sprouted up across the country in recent years — everything from wider concourses (including a new, upper concourse) to enhanced concession areas to modernized and increased restroom facilities (particularly for female fans), to a club level for private box and club seat patrons.

Two new scoreboards also are in operation starting with the 2003 season. Developed by Daktronics, Inc., of Brookings, S.D., the new boards — one each in the north and south end zones — measure 41 feet high and 162 feet wide. Both feature full-color LED video displays of 27 feet high by 48 feet wide, in addition to scoring, statistical and general information panels.

The 32-month, $295 million redevelopment of Lambeau was completed on time — and on budget — with the Packers remaining in Green Bay to play all of their games throughout the process. Put into motion by a county-wide referendum that approved a half-cent sales tax increase on Sept. 12, 2000, the project was financed jointly by the City of Green Bay, county taxpayers, the Packers and the NFL.

The Packers' football facilities — a vital element in attracting players in today's ultra-competitive NFL — also were enhanced greatly by the stadium's redevelopment, debuting in time for the 2002 season. The centerpiece of these quarters is a breathtaking, 64- by 120-foot, football-shaped locker room with 64 stately, wooden lockers. Another 25 lockers can be found in an adjoining, auxiliary locker room, to be utilized during training camp.

The new football facilities also feature a much larger training room with all of the latest therapy pools as well as a permanent X-ray machine, a new weight room, individual position meeting rooms with theatre-style seating, a 150-plus seat team auditorium, a basketball court with a parquet floor, two racquetball courts, a team dining room and a players' lounge.

Not forgetting the Packers' rich tradition and history at Lambeau, GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman took three slabs of concrete that were located in the team's former field tunnel at the north end — which were walked over by many of the greatest players in club history — and had them moved to the new tunnel, in the southeast corner, that the players began using during the 2002 season. A nearby bronze plaque recognizes the presence of the concrete from the old tunnel.

In July 2002, all of the team's administrative and football operations offices also relocated to within the Lambeau Field Atrium on the stadium's east side.

Other benefits realized through the redevelopment project include a modern system of field lights that is more than eight times brighter than the previous stadium lights and a new visiting team locker room. Also, a larger, more comfortable and modern press box that can seat in excess of 250 media members for a playoff game — and positioned along the sidelines — debuted in 2002.

Opened in 1957, Lambeau Field had seen numerous smaller-scale changes through the years, including seven prior seating expansions and the addition of private boxes. But, as new stadiums rose throughout the NFL in the 1990s, Lambeau Field became outdated. As a publicly-owned team, the Packers must generate a significant amount of income from their home to remain competitive. Challenges with capacity, as well as the need for updated private boxes plus more club seats, restrooms and concessions, made redevelopment a necessity.

Faced with these challenges, Packers president & CEO Bob Harlan went to work in October 1999, assembling a plan to protect 80 years of Packers history and ensure the club's continued viability. After several feasibility studies and overwhelming support for renovation, as opposed to building a new stadium, the redevelopment plan was dubbed the proper course of action. Unveiled by Harlan in January 2000, the plan ultimately won voter approval that September with the hard work of people committed to preserving pro sports' most unique franchise.

"Our fans overwhelmingly asked us to save Lambeau Field," Harlan said. "This plan accomplishes that while giving the Packers an economic base to build for the future in Green Bay. We want this to be the No. 1 destination in Wisconsin. We're going to build a stadium that the rest of the National Football League wished it had."

Included in the redeveloped stadium are 11,625 additional seats, including roughly 6,000 more bowl seats, to increase Lambeau's capacity to 72,515. Over 4,000 of the new seats were available for use during the 2002 season with construction ongoing.

Lambeau Field Upgrades

|------------|---|
| TICKETS | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ► Increase in stadium capacity from 60,890 in 2001 to 72,515 in 2003. ► The Packers are making available 4,000 tickets per game to Brown County residents 18 and over who do not hold season tickets, starting this season. ► The team was able to further reduce its season-ticket waiting list, which still stands at 60,202; roughly 1,500 names have come off since 2001. |
| CLUB LEVEL | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ► 166 state-of-the-art private boxes featuring increased square footage and high-end custom finishes. ► Club seating increases from 1,920 indoor seats to approximately 3,000 indoor and 3,000 outdoor seats. ► An exclusive club level can be accessed by private box and club seat holders on game day. Available to the general public during the year for functions. |
| AMENITIES | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ► Concession points of sale doubled (to almost 300). ► Dramatic increase in women's restroom facilities (180 to 556); men's restrooms increased from 436 to 708. ► Disabled seating increased from 56 to 733. ► An upper concourse was added and existing concourses were widened. |

The block of new seats helped the Packers to remove almost 1,500 names from their season ticket waiting list — which still has more than 60,000 names on it — between both ticket packages. Additionally, Brown County residents without season tickets have a chance to purchase the remaining 4,000 new bowl tickets on a game-by-game basis; in 2003, every Brown County resident who signed up for these tickets and sent in their money got four tickets. Disabled-accessible seats also increased dramatically through the development project, rising from 56 to 733.

Redevelopment financing

|---|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ► Total cost: $295 million ► Referendum passed by Brown County voters Sept. 12, 2000. ► $160 million in bonds from half-cent sales tax in Brown County. ► $9.1 million for stadium infrastructure improvements from the State of Wisconsin. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ► $125.9 million from the Packers, the City and the NFL...Team asked fans for one-time seat user fee ($1,400 for seven-game 'Green Package' ticket holders, $600 for three-game 'Gold Package' ticket holders) in 2001...Proceeds contributed from the 1997-98 stock sale and an NFL loan...Additionally, the club pledged to cover any project cost overruns in consideration of its authority to direct the design of the building and stadium construction. |

The main concourse — previously so narrow in some places that it had become a safety problem — also was expanded significantly. And, a new, upper concourse, complete with concession stands and restrooms and which increases the ease in which fans can move through the facility, fully debuts in 2003 with the project's completion after partial use last season.

Concession stands and restrooms have been greatly expanded as well, lessening the time a fan is out of his/her seat. Concession points-of-sale increased to 281 on the main and upper concourses alone, up from 186. Availability of women's restrooms, far below meeting the needs of female fans in the old stadium, increased from 180 to 556 total. Men's restrooms now are at 708, up from 436 previously.

The centerpiece of the redeveloped stadium is the Lambeau Field Atrium, a 366,000-square-foot, five-plus-story structure on the east side. Miller Brewing Company, through a sponsorship deal announced in July 2002 that extends through the 2012 NFL season, is a partner with the Packers in the development of the Atrium and is the sponsor of the area's main entrance gate. Welcoming fans is a glass wall, facing Lombardi Avenue, measuring over 180 feet long and 80 feet high.

The completion of Lambeau Field Atrium and its many attractions creates an 'entertainment district' at the legendary stadium, a concept pioneered at venues like Camden Yards in Baltimore and Jacobs Field in Cleveland.

Revenue generated from the new Packers Pro Shop, Packers Hall of Fame, Curly's Pub, the Atrium eateries and other restaurants, the stadium club and special events, as well as other Atrium businesses, is essential to the Packers' long-term survival. In just the first year, with only the new Pro Shop open and several gate sponsorships sold, the Packers' NFL revenue ranking for the fiscal year 2002-03 jumped to 10th, up from 20th the prior year.

The project's voter-approved financing came in the form of a half-cent sales tax in Brown County — where the Packers make their estimated $144 million annual economic impact — that supports over $160 million in bonding. The state of Wisconsin approved funding of an additional $9.1 million for stadium infrastructure improvements. The Packers, the City and the NFL contributed $125.9 million from a one-time seat user fee ($1,400 for seven-game ‘Green Package’ ticket holders, $600 for three-game ‘Gold Package’ ticket holders, in 2001), proceeds from the 1997-98 stock sale and an NFL loan. And, the club pledged to cover any project cost overruns in consideration of its authority to direct the design of the building and stadium construction.

The Packers' contribution to the project ranked as the fifth-highest in NFL history. Tommy Thompson, Wisconsin governor at the time, signed into law enabling legislation May 13, 2000, in a ceremony held on the playing field. Later, on Jan. 3, 2001, the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Stadium District Board approved a new Lambeau Field lease agreement between the district, the Packers and the City of Green Bay; the lease's primary term runs for 30 years after the opening of the redeveloped stadium this year. A groundbreaking ceremony, involving then-governor Scott McCallum, area dignitaries and Packers officials and players, subsequently was held on May 19, 2001.

The NFL's longest-tenured facility, Lambeau easily ranks as one of the most recognized and envied locales in all of sports, a fact recognized in 1999 when Sports Illustrated named it the eighth-best venue in the world to watch sports — and the lone NFL stadium to make the magazine's list of 20. Even after the recent changes, Lambeau maintains its nostalgic and intimate feel with totally unobstructed sightlines. Permeated by history, tradition and mystique, the view from inside can be awe-inspiring.

Dedicated as City Stadium Sept. 29, 1957 — a day that saw Green Bay topple the hated Chicago Bears, 21-17 — ceremonies included Vice President Richard Nixon and NFL Commissioner Bert Bell. In 1965, the team renamed the facility Lambeau Field following the death of E.L. 'Curly' Lambeau, the Packers' founder and first coach.

Originally built at a cost of $960,000, an amount shared equally by the Packer Corporation and the City of Green Bay, the facility was financed by way of a bond issue that received 2-to-1 voter approval in a municipal referendum conducted April 3, 1956.

Located in southwest Green Bay, surrounded on three sides by the village of Ashwaubenon, Lambeau Field originally was built on farmland, purchased for $73,305. The stadium's original architect, Somerville Inc., favored the current site because it was sloped, making it perfect to build a bowl.

Lambeau Field, now in its 47th NFL season, is the longest continuously-occupied stadium in the league —

10 years more than the next-closest venue, Qualcomm Stadium in San Diego at 37 years. In pro sports as a whole, only the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park (92 seasons) and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field (90 seasons) have longer active homefield tenures.

Including the recently completed project, eight seating additions — all paid for by the Green Bay Packers, Inc. — have increased capacity from its original 32,150 to 38,669 in 1961, to 42,327 in 1963, to 50,852 in 1965 and to 56,263 in 1970. Construction of 72 initial private boxes in 1985 moved capacity to 56,926, and a 1990 addition of 36 boxes and 1,920 theatre-style club seats changed the number to 59,543.

The seventh seating addition, a $4.7-million project in 1995, put 90 more private boxes in the previously open north end zone, for the first time giving the stadium the feel of a complete bowl and upping capacity to 60,890.

Ultimately, the eighth — and just finished — addition bumps stadium seating capacity to 72,515 in time for the 2003 season. During the 2002 campaign, with work ongoing, capacity fluctuated between 65,290 and 66,110 as the season progressed.

Earlier, in the spring of 1997 the Packers installed a specially designed gravel drainage system, that allows the playing field to effectively handle up to 15 inches of rain per hour, as well as irrigation and radiant heating systems. The current heating system, which replaced the 30-year-old coils installed by Vince Lombardi, includes more than 30 miles of radiant heating pipe and is capable of maintaining a root-zone temperature of 70-plus degrees, allowing grass to grow throughout the winter months. The field itself is a 100 percent Kentucky bluegrass surface, on top of a 3-5 inch soil foundation.

Also prominent within the stadium are the names of the 20 Packers players and coaches elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, among them 2003 inductee James Lofton, and the Packers' 12 NFL Championship seasons. An addition this year is the Packers' four retired jersey numbers, which were placed on the north end zone façade.

In recent years, Lambeau Field has become the NFL's toughest road game. On the heels of the league's only perfect 8-0 mark in 2002, Green Bay holds a 68-11 (.861) regular-season record at Lambeau since 1992, plus a 6-1 mark in the playoffs, for an overall record of 74-12 (.860). Even more imposing,

Original construction

- Proposal: The Packers' Fred Leicht, who supervised the 1925 construction of City Stadium, in May 1955 submitted a proposal for a new, 32,000-seat facility.
- Referendum: Passed April 3, 1956 (11,575 to 4,893), while community leaders continued debate over a site.
- Site: In late April 1956, the Packers hired an engineering company to study proposed locations. The company in July 1956 recommended the corner of Highland (now Lombardi) Avenue and Ridge Road.
- Land: City Council purchased farmland owned by Victor and Florence Vannieuwenhoven in August 1956 for $73,305.
- Contract: Awarded early in 1957, with groundbreaking as soon as weather permitted.
- Time: No longer than nine months, in time for '57 opener.
- Cost: $960,000 in municipal bonds; the Packer Corporation paid $634,700 in interest and principal.

the Packers have won 71 of their last 82 games in Green Bay (including the six postseason victories), since Oct. 10, 1993.

In the midst of nearly four full seasons at home without a defeat — prior to a 1998 Monday night loss to Minnesota, their last setback at Lambeau had come in the 1995 season opener — the Packers established the NFL's second-longest home winning streak (25). Only the Miami Dolphins (1971-74) have won more consecutive regular-season home games (27).

Over the past two decades, prior to the start of the just-completed redevelopment project, the Packers organization itself had spent more than $50 million on improvements to the stadium, the previous club administration building and training facilities, including construction of the original indoor practice structure in 1982 and its replacement, the Don Hutson Center, in 1994 at a cost of nearly $4.7 million.

Lambeau now is owned by the City of Green Bay and the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football Stadium District; retirement of the city's original $960,000 deficit was celebrated at a mortgage burning ceremony in May of 1978.

The Lambeau bowl

One of Lambeau's special characteristics is its classic seating bowl, now exclusive to Green Bay. The bowl design, common in many traditional college football stadiums, remains virtually untouched following a $295 million stadium renovation. Did you know...

- The original architectural firm, Somerville, Inc., favored the Lambeau construction site because it sloped, perfect for building a bowl.
- The bowl's outstanding sightlines are generally credited to Dick Gustafson, who worked closely with John Somerville during the design phase.
- Some of Gustafson's inspiration came from Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor, where he went to college.
- Despite seating more than 62,713 (including an additional 6,601 from the recent renovation), the bowl still offers the NFL's highest percentage of great seats. Somerville credits that intimacy to the fact that the stadium was the first in the world designed exclusively for pro football.
- The original stadium district instructed Somerville to design a facility that could easily expand, and allow for off-season construction projects to be completed by August.
- The first significant project came just one year after the stadium's opening campaign. Workers replaced the original wooden bleachers with aluminum benches before the 1958 season.

Lambeau Field

Sold out on a season-ticket basis since 1960, Lambeau was not the Packers' only regular-season home until 1995. The team maintained two separate ticket packages after moving all games to Green Bay, eliminating four annual dates at Milwaukee County Stadium.

'Gold' ticket holders (made up primarily of former Milwaukee season patrons) have a three-game package consisting of the annual Midwest Shrine preseason contest plus the second and fifth regular-season home games each year.

'Green' season customers (made up of original Green Bay ticket holders) have a seven-game package consisting of the annual Bishop's Charities preseason game and the remaining six regular-season contests.

OTHER HOMES OF THE PACKERS, 1919-94

THE SANDLOT YEARS

Inevitably, procedures at Packers games have come a long way since 1919-20, when the team subsisted on the contents of George Calhoun's hat. At that time, there were no ushers, cheerleaders, band or public address system, which hadn't yet been invented. There weren't even any seats, and admission was free.

From 1919-56, the Packers played their Green Bay games — including their first league contest — at virtually the same address. Their first home games were at Hagemeister Park, a vacant lot marked with a football gridiron, adjacent to East High.

There were no gates because there wasn't a fence. Spectators just dropped off the Walnut Street trolley and walked to the sideline, or drove their own cars and parked about 10 yards behind the ropes stretched around the playing field.

If they felt like it, they either sat in their automobiles or on top of them, but most preferred to get out and follow up and down the field. By moving as play progressed, one always had a '50-yard line' location and was handy to any donnybrook that might require a little help. In fact, when things got exciting, the crowd sometimes spilled right onto the field, surrounded the scrimmage in a big circle and virtually took part in every play. Teams didn't huddle in those days, or the fans would have been in that, too.

When the half ended, teams grabbed blankets and adjourned to opposite end zones where they relaxed and talked over the tactics of the next half. The crowd formed a ring around the players, a practice encouraged since it made a handy wind break. Fans weren't bashful about joining the discussions either, sometimes with surprising results. At least one early game was pulled out of the fire by a spectator's halftime suggestion.

In 1920, the city built a section of stands — a small bleacher that held about 200 — giving the Packers their first justification for charging admission. The next year, a portable canvas fence was erected around the perimeter and a regular admission charge inaugurated.

BELLEVUE

When Hagemeister was dug up in 1923 to make way for a new East High School, the Packers shifted to the new baseball grounds at the end of Main Street, Bellevue Park (left). Crowds of 4,000-5,000 stormed the fences to boo the hated Chicago Bears. Green Bay was 9-2-1 in 12 league games at Bellevue from 1923-24. Eight of the nine Packer wins were shutouts, and the team won its last seven at the stadium, including a 5-0 home slate in '24. The lone tie was a scoreless affair in 1923.

CITY STADIUM

Bellevue obviously was inadequate and too far out, lacking about every amenity needed for football. Agitation to build a new stadium somewhere near the original site culminated in the erection of City Stadium, behind the new high school.

The new facility was barely completed in time for the 1925 opening, but it was an immediate success (the Bears opener drew a record crowd of 5,389). It was a typical small-town park of its day (pictured at bottom), with wooden fences and stands on both sides between the 30-yard lines. Seating capacity was gradually increased until it seated 15,000 by 1934, with the end zones still uncovered. With the filling in of the area around the end lines, the ultimate capacity of just over 25,000 was reached (inset at left, middle photo).

After World War II, City Stadium gradually faded from its once proud position as one of the favored fields in the National Football League, to an inadequate and obsolete installation. As pro crowds increased it was impossible to expand the stadium any further. With limited capacity, the Packers found it increasingly difficult to schedule top opponents at home. On Nov. 18, 1956, the Packers lost their final game at the stadium, to the 49ers. A new City Stadium, on Green Bay's west side, opened the following year (renamed Lambeau Field in 1955).

MILWAUKEE

The decision to play games in Milwaukee (including State Fair Park, above inset; and County Stadium, above right) played a key role in the Packers' survival. It allowed the team to tap a larger market and thwart any efforts to establish another competing pro football team there. The Packers played games in Milwaukee for 62 straight years (1933-94) until opting — mostly for financial reasons — to move all games to Green Bay beginning with the 1995 season.

LAMBEAU FIELD ATRIUM

Key to making Lambeau Field a year-round destination venue is the 366,000-square-foot Lambeau Field Atrium, more than five stories high on the east side of the stadium.

Included within the Lambeau Field Atrium are a number of dining, entertainment and retail options for Packers fans of all ages.

New Packers Hall of Fame — Located one level below the main Lambeau Field Atrium floor, the new Packers Hall of Fame is over 25,000 square feet of Packers artifacts and celebration of past glory. A rebuilt office of legendary coach Vince Lombardi and lockers of all 20 Packers in the Pro Football Hall of Fame are among the highlights of this unique space. A moving, 12-minute movie about the Packers, produced for the team by NFL Films, starts the Hall of Fame experience, which does not end until the visitor reaches the plaques of all 130 members of the Packers Hall of Fame and a display of the team's three Super Bowl trophies.

Lambeau Field Stadium Tours — Highlighted by a walk through the team tunnel to the hallowed ground of Lambeau Field, stadium tours allow fans to experience the Packers' history-rich facility first-hand and see several behind-the-scenes areas, including the visiting team locker room. Sixty minutes in duration, outstanding photo opportunities await themselves throughout each guided tour.

Special Events — Lambeau Field, through the Atrium floor and the upstairs Legends Club, now is capable of handling every type of special event. From the many fine points that an elaborate corporate meeting requires to the extensive details and stress of a wedding reception, the Special Events department (920/490-5962) can coordinate any function with catering provided by nationally-known and award-winning Levy Restaurants. The Special Events department also is offering Atrium Tailgate packages on gamedays — a great tailgate experience on the Atrium floor, complete with live entertainment, before every home game.

Curly's Pub at Lambeau — The focal point of the entire Atrium complex is Curly's Pub. Offering a little bit of everything for everyone, this restaurant, sports bar and interactive area serves up a menu like no other. Generous portions, creatively prepared and served at a very reasonable price, makes this the place to come for the entire family. Watch any sporting event on the 75-plus monitors throughout Curly's. Play pool, darts or air hockey in the bar area, or get more into the action with the Pub's custom football interactive games. Or simply sit back and watch all of the action — either on the Packers' practice fields or down in the Atrium.

Paparazzi Pizzeria — A family-style pizzeria, wood-burning oven pizza and your favorite pasta dishes highlight the menu. An outstanding dessert or a shake can be added to any meal to complete the dining experience.

Frozen in Time Cones — An old-time ice cream parlor that takes you back in time, great Breyers ice cream is served up in every way possible. Giant scoops of ice cream, great malts or the banana split you cannot live without are among the selections — with no calories, of course.

Atrium Eateries — Four locally-based eateries located within the Lambeau Field Atrium will be open roughly 100 days per year for special events and on gamedays. They are:

► Brett Favre's Two Minute Grill — Serving great Cajun favorites like jambalaya and their famous steak sandwich, this eatery is an extension of the very-successful full-service restaurant located blocks away from the stadium.

► Chili John's — A Green Bay institution since 1912, their world-famous chili is the highlighted item on the menu, which also includes their soon-to-be world-famous chili hot dogs.

► Fratello's Presto — A Fox River Valley favorite, this Italian eatery offers individual fresh-baked pizzas, creative pasta dishes and homemade tiramisu.

► Meat Packing Company — A new restaurant concept developed by Fratello's exclusively for Lambeau Field, overstuffed sandwiches, giant bratwursts and delicious desserts are featured on the menu.

Packers Pro Shop — Owned and operated by the Packers, the new, two-story Packers Pro Shop is nirvana for the Packers fan of any age, with over 2,000 individual items in stock. A unique place to simply visit, the Pro Shop has a refurbished 1957 Packers Chevy pickup on display, along with a Packers pool table, authentic helmets from all 32 NFL teams and framed, authentic jerseys from some of the team's Hall of Famers, among other things. The Packers Pro Shop is open year-round from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays, 10-5 on Saturdays and 11-5 on Sundays, with special hours for training camp, on gamedays and on holidays.

Pro Shop Extra Points — An extension of the highly successful Packers Pro Shop, a full line of Curly's Pub and Packers Hall of Fame merchandise is offered in one location.

Lambeau of the 21st century:

The new Lambeau Field, including a five-story Atrium that can host most any event, including weddings and corporate receptions, is expected to become one of the top destinations in the entire Midwest. The stadium is now open to Packers fans year-round.

Common opponents within division

At the NFL Spring Meeting on May 22, 2001, in Rosemont, Ill., NFL owners unanimously approved realignment, coinciding with the Houston Texans' 2002 debut. The 32-team league calls for a harmonic scheduling rotation, in comparison with awkward formulas used in previous seasons. Each team within a division now plays 14 common opponents, as follows:

- ▶ Each team plays home and away against its three division opponents (six games).
- ▶ Each team plays the four teams from another division within its conference on a rotating three-year cycle (four games).
- ▶ Each team plays the four teams from a division in the other conference on a rotating four-year cycle (four games).
- ▶ Each team plays a pair of intraconference games based on the prior year's standings (two games); i.e., first-place teams in a division will play against the first-place teams from another division within the same conference, etc. (two games).

NFL scheduling format, 2002-09

The NFL is in its second year of an eight-year period that will take each team through a cycle of games — home and away — against every other team in the league. In these eight seasons, every team will play every other team at least twice — once home and once away. After the 2009 season, a decision will be made on whether to continue with the same rotation or modify it.

"The new scheduling formula is one of the most positive aspects of realignment," Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said. "The new formula guarantees that NFL fans will see every team play each other on a regular, rotating basis. The formula will eliminate the many aberrations of the past in which teams either did not play for long periods of time or did not play in another team's stadium for many years."

In determining how to begin the divisional rotation in 2002, the displacement of teams from their old divisions in the new alignment was taken into account. Preference was given to scheduling games with former division rivals and other regional opponents for clubs realigned from otherwise intact divisions. For example, in 2002 pairing the NFC North and NFC South will give Tampa Bay games against its former NFC Central rivals (Chicago, Detroit, Green Bay, Minnesota). The new scheduling format includes the following elements:

- ▶ An increased common-opponent emphasis with every team in a division playing against 14 common opponents.
- ▶ All teams will play each other on a regular basis, home and away, for a more consistent presentation of attractive games, eliminating the many schedule aberrations of the past.
- ▶ Teams are guaranteed to play all nondivision opponents in their conference at least once every three years, and at home at least once every six years.
- ▶ Every AFC team will play every NFC team once every four years, and at home once every eight years.
- ▶ A team's record from the previous year will have less of a bearing on its schedule, with only two (rather than four) opponents based on the previous year's standing. Thus, the so-called "easy" fifth-place schedules are eliminated.
- ▶ The division in which a team resides will be less of a factor in a team's won-loss record with 10 of 16 games each year being against non-division teams.

Under the new scheduling formula, every team within a division will play 16 games as follows:

- ▶ Home and away against its three division opponents (six games).
- ▶ The four teams from another division within its conference on a rotating three-year cycle (four games).
- ▶ The four teams from a division in the other conference on a rotating four-year cycle (four games).
- ▶ Two intraconference games based on the previous year's standings (two games). These games will match a first-place team against the first-place teams in the two same-conference divisions the team is not scheduled to play that season. The second-place, third-place, and fourth-place teams in a conference will be matched in the same way each year.

PACKERS RADIO NETWORK

Wayne Larrivee and Larry McCarren enter the fifth season of a new era of broadcasts across the Packers Radio Network in 2003. Though both are veteran broadcasters, the two joined together for the first time in 1999 to bring the color and excitement of Green Bay Packers football to fans throughout Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and three more-distant states.

McCarren & Larrivee

Larrivee, who grew up as a fan of the Packers in his native Lee, Mass., joined Green Bay's broadcast team after 14 seasons as the radio voice of the Chicago Bears (1985-98) on WGN and WMAQ Radio in Chicago. Earlier, he had done play-by-play of Kansas City Chiefs games for seven years (1978-84) on KCMO Radio in Kansas City. Known for his thorough preparation and his moderated, yet enthusiastic, call of the action, Larrivee's more-recent credits also include play-by-play of Chicago Bulls basketball on WGN-TV since 1991, Big Ten Conference football and basketball for ESPN Regional and Raycom, co-host of the nationally syndicated Pro Football Weekly radio program the past 17 years, and Chicago Cubs baseball.

"Wayne's work speaks for itself," says Jon Schweitzer, vice president and general manager of WTMJ Radio. "He's one of the finest play-by-play people in the country."

Highly-decorated, the 48-year-old Larrivee was named Illinois 'Sportscaster of the Year' in 1997 and is a seven-time winner of the Silver Dome Award, presented by the Illinois Broadcasters Association, for best radio football play-by-play. More recently, in 2000, Larrivee was selected as the best football play-by-play broadcaster in the state of Wisconsin at the annual Achievement in Radio Awards.

A 1977 graduate of Emerson College in Boston with wide-ranging talents, Larrivee also has done play-by-play of University of Iowa football, Quad Cities (Iowa) Angels minor league baseball, University of Missouri basketball and Kansas City Kings basketball.

McCarren first joined the team's broadcasts in 1995, working his first four seasons with Jim Irwin and Max McGee. Inducted into the Packers Hall of Fame in 1992, he also is a favorite among television viewers in northeast Wisconsin. Sports director at WFRV-TV in Green Bay since 1988, he additionally served previously as co-host of Inside 1265, the official television program of the Green Bay Packers. He three times has been voted Wisconsin 'Sportscaster of the Year' (1994, 1996, 2002) by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association.

An iron man at center for the Packers for 12 seasons (1973-84), McCarren played in 162 consecutive games — the fourth-longest streak in team history — helping him earn the nickname 'Rock.' He was voted to the Pro Bowl in 1982 and '83. Earlier, he had been a co-captain at the University of Illinois as both a junior and senior. McCarren, 51, originally is from Park Forest, Ill.

Radio station WTMJ, which has been broadcasting the team's games since November of 1929, continues its long-standing role as the flagship station of the Packers Radio Network. That designation continues into this century as the two parties announced an extension to their radio broadcast rights agreement in 2002.

The Packers Radio Network is made up of 62 stations in 50 markets and five states.

GREEN BAY PACKERS BROADCAST PARTNERS

Announced Feb. 10, 2003, the Green Bay Packers, Green Bay's WFRV-TV (NewsChannel 5), the CBS station that is part of the Viacom Television Stations Group, and Milwaukee's WTMJ-TV entered into a new and comprehensive three-year broadcasting partnership that will bring year-round Packers programming, in addition to preseason games, to fans throughout Wisconsin and the upper Midwest.

In what is regarded as an NFL model for year-round brand extension, the partnership will produce the most comprehensive and varied team programming in the club's 74-year broadcasting history.

The agreement also provides for outdoor billboard advertising and other media supporting Lambeau Field as a year-round destination venue for family entertainment, dining and Packers football excitement.

The Lambeau Field Atrium will be the site of a television studio that will serve as a hub for regular on-site programming by WFRV-TV and WTMJ-TV, including news, sports and/or weather, throughout the year.

The new broadcasting package will include:

- ▶ Televising, by CBS Sports and WFRV-TV in conjunction with Milwaukee's WTMJ-TV, Packers preseason games over an expanded, eight-station network throughout the state of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, with CBS network production, personnel and the latest network-quality technology.
- ▶ A top-notch broadcast team that includes CBS's Kevin Harlan calling the play-by-play and Fox Sports' Bill Maas providing the analysis. WTMJ's Jessie Garcia will serve as the sideline reporter and WFRV's Larry McCarren will join the crew for pregame and halftime segments.
- ▶ An informative half-hour show prior to each preseason game.
- ▶ A half-hour preview show during training camp.
- ▶ A new Packers "Fifth Quarter" show Sunday nights during the season, originating from Curly's Pub in the Lambeau Field Atrium, that will include player guests.
- ▶ A half-hour Holiday special highlighting the Packers' extensive and ongoing community relations efforts.

As well as a first-rate on-air broadcast lineup, the new partnership entails an excellent production team. CBS's Ross Schneiderman, a five-time Emmy Award winner, will serve as producer and Suzanne Smith, a three-time Emmy Award-winning producer and director for CBS, will work as director for the game telecasts.

In addition to WFRV-TV and WTMJ-TV, the games will be televised over WKOW/ABC, Madison, Wis.; WAOW/ABC, Wausau/Rhineland, Wis.; WXOW/ABC, La Crosse, Wis.; WQOW/ABC, Eau Claire; WYOW/ABC, Eagle River, Wis.; and WJMN/CBS, Marquette, Mich.

An ancillary benefit afforded by the agreement will be the creation of special programs about Lambeau Field Atrium and the Packers Hall of Fame, plus the ability to promote Lambeau Field and Brown County tourism on a regional basis through CBS/Viacom-owned TV stations in Chicago, Detroit and Minneapolis, in addition to Green Bay.

The partnership also will provide the Packers an opportunity to salute Wisconsin's high school athletes as well, through supporting messages during broadcasts of the WIAA basketball tournaments and other prep events.

NFL TRANSACTION INFORMATION

WAIVERS

The waiver system is a procedure by which player contracts or NFL rights to players are made available by a club to other clubs in the League. During the procedure, the 31 other clubs either file claims to obtain the players or waive the opportunity to do so—thus the term “waiver.” Claiming clubs are assigned players on a priority based on the inverse of won-and-lost standing. The claiming period is three business days from the beginning of the League Year through April 30, 10 calendar days from May 1 through the last business day before July 4, and 24 hours after July 4 through the conclusion of the regular season. If a player passes through waivers unclaimed, he becomes a free agent. All waivers are no recall and no withdrawal. Under the Collective Bargaining Agreement, from the beginning of the waiver system each year through the trading deadline (October 14, 2003), any veteran who has acquired four years of pension credit is not subject to the waiver system if the club desires to release him. After the trading deadline, such players are subject to the waiver system.

ACTIVE/INACTIVE LIST

The Active/Inactive List is the principal status for players participating for a club. It consists of all players under contract who are eligible for preseason, regular-season, and postseason games. Teams are permitted to open training camp with no more than 80 players under contract and thereafter must meet two mandatory roster reductions prior to the season opener. Teams will be permitted an Active List of 45 players and an Inactive List of eight players for each regular-season and post-season game. Provided that a club has two quarterbacks on its 45-player Active List, a third quarterback from its Inactive List is permitted to dress for the game, but if he enters the game during the first three quarters, the other two quarterbacks are thereafter prohibited from playing. Teams also are permitted to establish Practice Squads of up to five players who are eligible to participate in practice, but these players remain free agents and are eligible to sign with any other team in the league.

Aug. 26 Roster reduction to 65 players
Aug. 31 Roster reduction to 53 players
Sept. 1 Practice Squad established, up to five players

In addition to the squad limits described above, the overall roster limit of 80 players remains in effect throughout the regular season and postseason. The overall limit is applicable to players on a team's Active, Inactive, and certain Exempt Lists, players on the Practice Squad, and players on the Reserve List as Injured, Physically Unable to Perform, Non-Football Illness/Injury, and Suspended by Club.

RESERVE LIST

The Reserve List is a status for players who, for reasons of injury, retirement, military service, or other circumstances, are not immediately available for participation with a club. Players on Reserve/Injured are not eligible to practice or return to the Active/Inactive List in the same season that they are placed on Reserve. Players in the category of Reserve/Retired, Reserve/Did Not Report, Reserve/Exclusive Rights, and players who were placed in the category of Reserve/Left Squad in a previous season may not be reinstated during the period from 30 days before the end of the regular season through the postseason.

TRADES

Unrestricted trading between the AFC and NFC is allowed in 2003 through October 14, after which trading will end until 2004.

NFL TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

The following procedures will be used to break standings ties for postseason playoffs and to determine regular-season schedules (NOTE — tie games count as one-half win and one-half loss for both clubs).

TO BREAK A TIE WITHIN A DIVISION

If, at the end of the regular season, two or more clubs in the same division finish with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the following steps will be taken until a champion is determined:

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games between the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
5. Strength of victory.
6. Strength of schedule.
7. Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
8. Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
9. Best net points in common games.
10. Best net points in all games.
11. Best net touchdowns in all games.
12. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

NOTE: If two clubs remain tied after a third club is eliminated during any step, tie-breaker reverts to Step 1 of the two-club format.

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
5. Strength of victory.
6. Strength of schedule.
7. Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
8. Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
9. Best net points in common games.
10. Best net points in all games.
11. Best net touchdowns in all games.

TO BREAK A TIE FOR THE WILD CARD TEAM

If it is necessary to break ties to determine the two Wild Card clubs from each conference, the following steps will be taken:

- A. If all the tied clubs are from the same division, apply division tie-breaker.
- B. If the tied clubs are from different divisions, apply the following steps:

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head, if applicable.
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in the games played within the conference.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
4. Strength of victory.
5. Strength of schedule.
6. Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
7. Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
8. Best net points in conference games.
9. Best net points in all games.
10. Best net touchdowns in all games.
11. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

1. Apply division tie-breaker to eliminate all but highest ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to Step 2. The original seeding within a division upon application of the division tie-breaker remains the same for all subsequent applications of the procedure that are necessary to identify the Wild Card participants.
2. Head-to-head sweep (apply only if one club has defeated each of the others or one club has lost to each of the others).
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
5. Strength of victory.
6. Strength of schedule.
7. Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
8. Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
9. Best net points in conference games.
10. Best net points in all games.
11. Best net touchdowns in all games.
12. Coin toss.

When the first Wild Card team has been identified, the procedure is repeated to name the second Wild Card (i.e., eliminate all but the highest ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to Step 2.) In situations which three teams from the same division are involved in the procedure, the original seeding of the teams remains the same for subsequent applications of the tie-breaker if the top-ranked team in that division qualifies for a Wild Card berth.

OTHER

TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

1. Only one club advances to the playoffs in any tie-breaking step. Remaining tied clubs revert to the first step of the applicable division or Wild Card tie-breakers. As an example, if two clubs remain tied in any tie-breaker step after all other clubs have been eliminated, the procedure reverts to Step 1 of the two-club format to determine the winner. When one club wins the tie-breaker, all other clubs revert to Step 1 of the applicable two-club or three-club format.
2. In comparing records against common opponents among tied teams, the best won-lost-tied percentage is the deciding factor since teams may have played an unequal number of games.
3. To determine home-field priority among division-titlists, apply Wild Card tie-breakers.
4. To determine home-field priority for Wild Card qualifiers, apply division tie-breakers (if teams are from the same division) or Wild Card tie-breakers (if teams are from different divisions).

TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES FOR ANNUAL NFL DRAFT

If two or more clubs are tied in the selection order, the strength-of-schedule tie-breaker is applied, subject to the following exceptions for playoff clubs:

1. The Super Bowl winner is last and the Super Bowl loser next-to-last.
2. Any non-Super Bowl playoff club involved in a tie shall be assigned priority within its segment below that of non-playoff clubs and in the order that the playoff club exited from the playoffs. Thus, within a tied segment a playoff club that loses in the Wild Card game will have priority over a playoff club that loses in the Divisional playoff game, which in turn will have priority over a club that loses in the Conference Championship game. If two tied clubs exited the playoffs in the same round, the tie is broken by strength of schedule.

If any ties cannot be broken by strength of schedule, the divisional or conference tie-breakers, whichever are applicable, are applied. Any ties that still exist are broken by a coin flip.

MEDIA INFORMATION & POLICIES

CREDENTIALS

All credential requests should be directed to Lee Remmel, executive director of public relations. Requests may be sent via email (koenigs@packers.com), FAX (920/496-5749) or U.S. mail (P.O. Box 10628, Green Bay, WI 54307-0628). Credentials will not be mailed, unless the requesting outlet provides a Federal Express or UPS number, and should be picked up in person at the Packers' public relations office, located on the third floor of the Lambeau Field Atrium. Credentials not obtained prior to game day will be left at Press Will Call — west side. The will call booth opens three hours prior to kickoff.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS

MIKE SHERMAN PRESS CONFERENCES

General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman regularly will hold four weekly press conferences during the regular season: Mondays and Wednesdays at 12 noon in the service-level auditorium of the team's new administration building, Fridays immediately following practice on the field, as well as at the conclusion of each game. Postgame news conferences at home games also will be held in the auditorium.

During training camp, Sherman will be available out on the practice field each day following the morning workout.

Any other requests for time with General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman, as well as any queries for an interview with an assistant coach, should be directed to a member of the Packers' public relations department.

PLAYER AVAILABILITY

During the regular season, the locker room is open for player interviews five days a week. On Monday, the locker room is open for 30 minutes upon completion of the players' workout/meetings (time to be announced). On Wednesday and Thursday, the locker room is open from 12:15-1:00 p.m. and for up to one-half hour following practice and before meetings, beginning 10 minutes after the finish of practice. On Friday, the locker room opens 20-30 minutes after the end of practice for a half-hour period. At the conclusion of all games, the locker room will be opened following the NFL's standard "cooling off" period. The locker room will be closed on the players' "off" day (generally Tuesday) and on Saturday.

Quarterback Brett Favre will be available once a week in the media auditorium (usually on Wednesday after practice), as well as after games.

The locker room is closed during training camp.

Any requests to interview players other than at the aforementioned times should be directed to a member of the Packers' public relations department.
